WASHINGTON.

[FROM THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.] WASHINGTON, March 25. The balances in the Treasury are : Currency,

$5,250,000; gold coin, $65,000,000; gold certificates, $40,000,000. The Postoffice Department employees are engaged in filing the bids for 3300 mail routes in the Southwestern States, which are to be let on the first of April. The proposals are very numerous. Ten or twelve thousand proposals are expected. It will be a month after the bids are opened before the routes are put in operation under the successful bids. The revenue to-day is $300,000. The next payment of coin interest on the debt takes place on May first, when seventy five millions

The railroad lobby was strong to-day. The following gentlemen were on the floor of the House to-day, many of them in violation of the rules: Ex-Governor Fletcher, Generals Terry, Craig and Dodge, Colonels Gess and Abell, Messrs. Ames and Coates, and ex-United States Secretary Hoar.

In the House, Pollard moved as a privilege question, that Bailey, from the Third Louisiana District, be seated. Paine objected, as Bailey was before the Elections Committee. Blaine sustained the objection. No action. Nothing from committees.

In the Senate, Wilson introduced a bill to reduce the number of officers and men in the army, and to fix their pay. The joint resolution for the disposal of the public lands in Florida, Alabama, Mississippl and Arkansas, under the Homestead laws, was discussed, and the Senate, after an executive session on the San Domingo treaty, adjourned

THE CAUSE OF CUBA.

General Review of the Military Situation in the Island-Causes, Effects and Future Chances of Military Move-

The Havana correspondent of the New York Times writes under date of March 16: .

We are at present in a state of comparative uncertainty regarding the probable course of events, or the turn affairs may take. Sympathizers with the Cuban cause are quiet, and appear to be satisfied with the news they receive from home and abroad. The Spaniards continue to believe that the revolution is over, and that only isolated and powerless bands of insurgeats remain in the field. We are at present in a state of comparative

GENERAL JORDAN.

General Jordan's head-quarters were at Maganbomba last week, and he is now in the Caunao region. Jordan is undeubtedly a very able man, but it rumor is to be believed he is thoroughly disgusted with the so-called civil administration or House of Representatives. Cespedes gives no sign of life, and certainly has not shown any talent as a military leader. General Jordan's head-quarters were leader.

Jordan is hampered in his movements by the orders of the President or other executive bodies, that is to say, if the intercepted corres-pondence of different Cuban leaders give a pondence of different Caban leaders give a correct view of the matter. That some of this intercepted correspondence has been of great use to the Spaniards is abundantly proved by the failure of Jordan's well-contrived and carethe failure of Jordan's well-contrived and calefully worked-out plan to prevent the Spanish troops from leaving the Cluco Villas or advancing from Puerto Principe to the very centre of the Cuban strongholds.

PROSPECTS.

Both parties will be compelled to undergo much privation and many sufficings before either will be enabled to say that the day is theirs. The idea of many Spaniards that the revolution will be over before May, is simply preposterous. There is no proof to warrant such a foolish idea. The war will remain in a state of abeyance from May until November. Spain will be compelled to send about 10,000 or more soldiers to replenish the losses caused by sickness, bullet, or because the time of sickness, bullet, or because the time of the soldiers has expired. The Cubans must the soldiers has expired. The Cubans must make strenuous efforts to bring arms and ammunition, and if' possible some good leaders into the country, and then the rest of the world will simply be in the same state of uncertainty as hitherto, and Micawber-like, will wait for something to tura up. The insurgents appear to find little difficulty in maintaining themselves nearly all over the island, which the Spaniards cannot do. There is an immense difference between a regular army and bodies of men who have scanned tyery inch of the country, are thoroughly acevery inch of the country, are thoroughly ac-climatized and know where to look for some-thing to eat. In some parts of the Camaguez the Cubans have been raising different kinds of fruits and regetables, and beef being a plen-tiful article, there is little fear of their starving. The whole war is reduced to nothing but a grand hunt, where superior powers of endugrand nunt, where will decide.

The Trial of Prince Pierre Bonaparte. Tours, March 23.

The High Court of Justice opened at 11 o'clock. Witnesses were examined to prove that Fouville said Victor Noir slapped the Prince in the face. The lawyers for the prosecution dwell with effect on some grave contradictions in this testimony. A number of policemen testified to the remarks made by Fouville after his arrest. The prosecuting lawyer created a sensation by declaring that the original report of the police in this case was not to be found, and only a copy dated ten days later could be produced. One witness swore he heard Fouville exclaim, "If his pisto; had not missed fire he would have shot the Prince." This had a favorable effect on the spectators, who are evidently beginning to lean to the cause of the Prince.

Witnesses for the prosecution were n ex amined. Arnould testified that Victor Noir had no intention of attacking the accused when he went to his house.

Henri Rochefort was called as witness for the prosecution. There was much agitation ville" and reinsert "Barnwell." among the spectators at the announcement of his name. Rochefort entered the court-room accompanied by two gendarmes, and took his place on the witness-stand. He was pale but very calm. He replied quietly to the interrogations, and after repeating the contents of the letter sent to him by the accused, which occasioned the visit of Noir and Fouville, he retired to the bench reserved for journalists Many of the latter shook hands with him when he took his seat

The wife of Louis, the brother of Victor Noir, was called to testify. She was much agitated. She said Victor Noir could not have slapped the Prince, because the gloves on his hands were found to be intact.

Other witnesses corroborated the statement of Arnould that Victor Noir did not intend to quarrel with the Prince.

Moore, the reporter of the Moniteur, testified that the witnesses who now swear to Fouville's admission that Noir slapped the Prince, did not say so at first. Mr. Milliere and other witnesses testified to the physical weakness of Victor Noir, and the improbability of his striking the Prince, as the defence alleged. During the intermission of the court many friends of M. Rochefort gathered around him. The gendarmes interfered, and surrounding the prisoner, kept his friends back.

The Irish Penal Land Bill. LONDON, March 24.

In the House of Commons Mr. Gladstone denied, amid much merriment, the reports recently published in Spanish newspapers and elsewhere, that Mr. Bright had offered to retrocede the Rock of Gibraltar to Spain.

The bill for the enforcement of laws in Ire land was then taken up. Mr. Gladstone closed the debate. He was sorry to say that the tone of the discussion might be classified under three heads. 1st. Criticism of the bill itself. 2d. Criticism of the government; and 3d. still hearing by Judge Underwood. Covernor | Criticism of the motive for introducing the bill. The state of Ireland, so far as ordinary crime was concerned, was satisfactory. Agrarianism, however, was rampant. He took this occasion to deny the responsibility of much The Deserct News, commenting on the pas- that had been attributed to him. His sentiments toward Ireland had been vilely misrepresented. He admitted the injustice of legislating for exceptional cases, but it was wrong longer to withhold the law of reform. A strong sense of its necessity alone prompted the present measure. Its provisions were strong, and he hoped they would be effectual. If so, evil would soon vanish, and Parliament might resume that beneficial legislation, on which alone it was safe to build permanent hopes for the future. The House then divided, The clipper ship Patriarch made the trip and the bill was passed as follows: For the bill 425; against 13. The House then adjourned until noon on Monday.

The Upshot of the Famous Mordaunt

Divorce Case.

The London correspondent of the New York

Times writes: The comments of the press on the Mordaun divorce case are very curious. After publish-ing twenty or thirty columns of the most un-pleasant and unhappy details of this affair, because the whole public wanted to know what lords and ladies and princes of the blood were doing, they turn about and are shocked and indignant at such a revelation. A member of Parliament appeals to the Home Secretary to know if such matters cannot be hushed up, or privately investigated. Mr. Bruce thinks not. The English love publicity. They will greedily print and read anything, if it has only been rehearsed in a court of justice. And Mr. Bruce is of opinion that the cause of morality has wither gained than lost by the recent year. rather gained than lost by the recent expo-

At a volun-teer dinner the toast to the Prince was refused by several voices. Then his wonderful letters to Lady Mordaunt were published, and he went upon the stand and declared upon his oath that his relation to the lady was just what they indicated. The next day the Queen sent for the Prince and Princess to dine with her at Buckingham Palace, and they have ever since been living in the most affectionate relations. So good comes out of evil, and virtue, even in this world, is at times rewarded.

DANGEROUS MEANS OF FRAUD .- We have had in this city recently a case in which a genuine check for a small amount was successfully altered to one of a much larger amount and but for the unusual care of the parties to whom it was offered would have been paid. Its fraudulent character was not suspected from anything on its face, and was detected only from the fact that the party of-fering it was unknown. A check of a promifering it was unknown. A check of a promi-nent New York banker, drawn for a small amount, was recently altered to one of several thousands, and was paid. The alteration is effected first by the use of an acid, which re-moves the entire filling in of the blank checks in writing ink without in the least soiling the paper, when the blank may be filled at plea-sure. We have a check before us which was simply touched with the core from a hottle simply touched with the cork from a bottle containing this acid, and the effects is the ea-tire removal of all trace of the words and letters touched. How widely this acid may be known we cannot say, but the effectual manner that it does its work should put all persons in the labit of drawing checks as well as those paying checks of the state of th

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE NEWS.] COLUMBIA, S. C., March 25. To-day, Judge Melton granted a rule on Secretary Cardoza to show cause why a mandamus should not be issued, requiring him to certify to Section 19th of the "Code of Procedure," relating to the place of holding courts for Barnwell County, as enrolled, ratified and approved by the Governor. The rule is made returnable on Tuesday next. Attorney-General Chamberlain, Chancellor Carroll and C. D. Melton are counsel for the Secretary of State, and Pope and Haskell for the relators. The mandamus is asked for upon the ground that the Secretary of State is merely the custodian of acts, and has no authority whatever to correct clerical errors, after the enrolment, ratincation and approval, and as he did erase the word "Barnwell" as being a clerical error, as he believed, and inserted "Blackville," it is asked that the court compel him to erase "Black-

ALL ABOUT THE STATE.

The Anderson Intelligencer says: "A fire proke out in the residence of Captain John W. Daniels, on Main street, near the public square, on Thursday afternoon last. The alarm brought large number of citizens in the together a large number of citizens in the shortest time, and every exertion was at once put forth to save the contents of the burning building, as it was apparent that efforts to extinguish the flames were useless. The fire progressed rapidly, and it was with great diffi-culty that even a portion of the furniture was saved. It was a large two-story frame building, formerly used as a hotel, and the danger to other buildings was imminent. Hence, the efforts of the crowd were immediately directed to the protection of the residences of Mr. Henry Garrison and John Wilson, Esq., on the opposite side of Main street, and the almost superhu-man exertions of active and brave men accomdished this object, and in all probability saved plished this object, and in all probability saved a goodly portion of the town. The residence of Mr. Samuel Crawford, a frame building, nearly adjoining Captain Daniel's house, was not so iortunate, however, and we regret to chronicle its entire destruction also. A small building on the corner of the Benson lot, occupied by Mr. Thos. Wildman as a marble establishment, we likewise entirely consumed. The ishment, was likewise entirely consumed. The wind was exceedingly high at times during the fire, and changed about in different directions. Under the circumstances, without a fire organization, it seems really won-derful how the progress of the devouring element was so speedly checked. The loss may be set down as follows: Captain Daniels ence and furniture, $750; insured for $400. Mr. Crawford's residence, $300; on which there was no lusurance. The house occupied by Mr. Wildman, and belonging to Mr. J. B. Earle, $150. We are informed that Mr. Crawford saved nearly everything, except the house, while Mr. Wildman secured his marble without any considerable damage. Other parties met with losses from the confusion incident to the removal of their furniture during such a scene of excitement, but only in a few instances from which is common on like occasions.

"On Sunday evening last, about dark, the alarm of ire again rung out, and proceeding in the direction indicated, we found the stable of Mr. J. B. Clark, on McDuffle street, being rapidly consumed by the flames. Promeasures of precaution were adopted to vent adjacent buildings from igniting, and in a short time the fre was subdued to an extent that afforded relief to those in probable dan-ger. It is not known how this fire originated, ger. It is not known how this fire originated, and there are numerous speculations on the subject. We are not inclined to think it the work of an incendiary, after careful inquiry, although this opinion may be erroneous. The loss sustained by Mr. Clark is inconsiderable." Deaths.

20 SHAKING AND BURNING .- IT IS not necessary to journey from the tropics to Alaska in order to experience the extremes of heat and cold. Thousands undergo all the inconveniences of this thermometrical change every day. or every other day, as the case may be, without the trouble of moving over the threshold. A word with these involuntary shakers. What are they doing to expedite their return to a medium tem perature?-to break the chills and banish the fever? Are they dosing themselves with quinine, thereby imperiling the soundness of their bones and impairing the vigor of their brains and nervous system ! Some of them are, no doubt, but not the majority of them, it is believed. The value of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as a harniless and certain specific for fever and ague, is understood and appreciated in all parts of the country where intermittents prevail. The residents of such localities begin to take it early in the spring as a protection against the miasma by which they are surrounded; not all of them, perhaps, for a blind adherence to error is the specialty of some people, but the greater number. If there is any fixed fact in therapeutics, it is this, that the Bitters are a far better safeguard against all the varieties of periodic maladies produced by unwholesome exhalations than any drug or compound in the materia medica of the profession. This assertion is made with all due respect to the faculty, but being an important truth, and one that nearly concerns the health of large settlements in various parts of the country, and indeed of the public at large, it is made fear lessly. Founded on ample and unimpeachable testimony, it defles disapproval. To break up chills and fevers, as well as to prevent them, there is nothing so reliable as this street, New York, and at all Druggists and Growholesome vegetable restorative. mch21 6

This eminent chemist, for many years past, has been endeavoring to create a chemical preparation that would combine the valuable properties of a harmless, reliable coloring, and at the same time render its use impossible to be detected by the closest observation. By the use of the ordinary Hair Dyes, the hair presents a dead appearance, and it is not noticed at a glance that it is dyed.

By using this scientific compound, the coloring of the hair is so skilfully medified and mellowed as to defy detection, thus giving to the world an article that has been long and fruitlessly sought for, and guaranteed to give entire satisfaction. Perfectly colorless-no stain to the skin. Se sure and ask for SALVIA'S HAIR COLORING. Prepared at the Laboratory of A. A. SOLOMONS & mch22 tuths3 CO., Savannah, Ga. NO MURE MEDICINE. - SEVENTY

A GRAND EPOCH IN SCIENCE. From the time when, in 1834, Dr. RUGGE discov ered "Carbolic Acid" and its extraordinary medical effects, nothing in the history of Medicine has equalled it. Largely used by the French physicians in treatment of consumptive and scrofulous diseases, it was introduced by the Court Physician of Berlin, MAX ERNST HENRY, into Prus sia, and from thence to the United States. No thing else of the present day can equal HEN-RY'S SOLULION OR CARBOLIC CONSTITUTION it to the public .- [Editor "Argus." jan17 lyr Railroad Supplies.
