And here, every morning during the trial, upon arising from their beds, these ladies kneeled together, and asked wisdom of God to enable them to properly and wisely discharge their new duties. The men. meantime, were drinking whistey and playing

-Commissioner Delano has issued a circular to assessors throughout the country, in which he says the practice which has heretofore prevailed of publishing the annual list of assessments made in the income returns of taxpayers must be discontinued. He believes that this practice is not for the best interests of the government, but that it is in many respects objectionable and offensive. This, however, will not prevent the public from inspecting lists, as heretofore, under the provision of section 19, act July 13, 1866.

-It is reported in Paris that the Prince Imperial of France, who has lately passed his four teenth year, is soon to be betrothed to a "German princess of high lineage." As the Emperor of Austria has one daughter, the Archduchess Gisele-Louise-Marie, who is now in her fourteenth year, it is supposed she may be the "party of the second part." She was born on the 12th of July, 1856, while the Prince Imperial was born on the 16th of March, 1856, so that the Austrian Princess is just four months younger than the French Prince.

-Captain Hall, the Arctic explorer, has, it is thought, hit upon the true theory of travel and exploration in the icebound regions of the North. In his next expedition he will not make the mistake which was fatal to Sir John Franklin's expedition-that of attempting to subsist his men on ship food. He and his men will live upon the food appropriate to the Arctic regions, and will thus, it is believed, obtain the hardinood which will enable them to prosecute their discoveries to the very pole.

-It may interest vessel owners and seamen to learn that the experiment of water ballast for iron ships has been satisfactorily tested and promises to have a marked effect in the economy of navigation. Vessels built with water compartments can thus take in or discharge ballast at any time, keeping themselves in perfect trim. Steamers thus provided may begin a voyage with no ballast but their coal. As this is exhausted, water could be pumped in, and the necessity of starting with an overloaded ship in order to carry sumcient coal for the voyage and ballast to serve when the fuel is nearly exhausted, could be entirely overcome. The plan has already been extensively adopted in pleasure and racing yachtto diminish the danger of the vessel sinking in case of being capsized. Many of the finest Tyne built ships are now being constructed on thi the most interesting subject now agitating the public mind. The Senate Finance Committee, as has been stated, has reported as a substitute for the House bill a proposition to continue the tax after this year at the rate of three per cent. In the meantime remonstrances are pouring in upon senators from every part of the country, earnestprotesting against any further imposition of the tax. It is known that quite a number of the large corporations of the country are refusing to pay any further income tax on their dividends, holding that those to whom they are due are not chargeable with the income tax after the year 1869, and the Pennsylvania Central Railroad has obthined the written opinion of eminent counsel, sanctioning this refusal. In view of these circumstances the internal revenue department is in great embarrassment, not knowing whether to make scizures or not."

-A Washington dispatch of Wednesday to the New York Tribune says: "The question of the continuance of the income tax, as appears by 1 etters and information received here, is probably 1 enough.

-Mexico is in a state of ferment. The San Luis and Zacatecas rebels still show signs of life. Generals Cadena, Martinez and the rest of that class of revolutionary leaders are still on the war path. Unable to take the field in large numbers, they have fallen back, as a dernier resort, on a guerilla system of warfare, fighting and levying forced loans, bushwhacking and making descents on undefended villages and towns. Negrete has made his escape from the capital, notwithstanding the vigilance of the police to effect his capture, and moves about in the vicinity of Puebla incognito, dreaded by everybody. Fears are entertained of an attack on the City of Mexico. The railroad, however, is safely guarded, and has not been touched by the insurgents. Juan Lucas was in the Puebla mountains, still fighting against the government. The Apaches have descended upon Northern Sonora and Chihuahua, and murdered many citizens. An engineering party for the Rio Grande and Guayamas Railroad had not been heard from. Congress was to meet on the 1st of April, when the abolition of the free zone was expected. The mining interests are yet undisturbed by the rebellion, but the commerce of the country is depressed. The volcano at Cebourco is emptying, and a shock of earthquake was recently felt at Oaxaca. These are the incidents which go to make up the latest intelligence from this unhappy land.

Weighed and Found Wanting.

There are none so blind as they who will not see; and the Lords of Misrale, who would peer contentedly forever through the jaundiced spectacles of party politics, refuse to clear from their sight the mists of prejudice or the films of selfish feeling. Perhaps they are right. A popular movement is now afoot whose success is their destruction. Well may they, therefore, threaten with awful consequences those who dare to assert that South Carolina has not the "wisest, purest "and best government" known to modern civilization. Fortunately, however, tangible facts are not easily overcome, even by the combined powers of rhetoric, innuendo and downright abuse. The State Government of South Carolina is weighed in the balance and found wanting-wanting in honesty, wanting in ability, wanting in a due appreciation of the necessities of the times, wanting in a proper regard for the habits and temper of the people. And now an effort is making to obtain for the State a capable and temperate government, which shall represent the interests of all classessustaining every project whose aim is the protection of labor, the education of the poor, the elevation of the lowly, and the steady development of agriculture, manufactures and general trade. Such a government we have not, and such a government we cannot have unless better and wiser and toftier men than our present rulers are placed in public office.

The Radical administration has been in power more than two years. It has had vast opportunities for usefulness; it might have won public respect and public trust. But the guilty scheming of some, and the inexperience or ignorance of others, have caused our State government to be a by-word and reproach in the mouths of honest men. Even The Nation, the head and front of American Republicanism, is forced to declare that "the "Legislature which has just been adjourned "the most contemptible in point of ability." J. E. Carlisle, J. C. P. Jeter, J. E. DeLoach, The whole object of legislation and official W. H. Norman, B. H. Rice, Jasper Gibbes, broken up at Altona, Henry County, III. They action has been, not the common good, but individual profit. In one notable instancethe financial policy of the administrationthe measures which improved the State credit filled to overflowing the coffers of official speculators. But apart from this, the history of the last two years is a loathsome record of nepotism, extravagance and fraud. There has been no adequate appreciation of public right or private privilege. Nothing hes been done for the effectual protection and security of the working classes. Personal aggrandizement has been the sole purpose of the plotting and contriving which have brought shaine and disgrace upon the fair fame of the State. There has been a modicum of wise and proper action; but what is this against the long array of foolish and wrongful legislation? But one-half penny-worth of bread to this intolerable deal of sack ! To secure the good and avoid the bad; to cast out the unfaithful stewards, and put in their place faithful servants of the public; to retain whatever there may be of trustworthy in the existing administration, and join to it fit representatives of the whole people; to obtain, in fine, a government under which commerce and agriculture may flourish, and the high and the low may enjoy prosperity and content-this is the whole aim of the CITIZENS' or REFORM PARTY. It does not seek the downfall of Republicanism or Democracy; for its object is dear to all good men, whatever their party name. It does not seek class aggrandizement: for it recognizes the right of all classes to representation in the councils of the State. It pledges to the white man a just and exact government; and it promises the colored man, and secures to him, the continued enjoyment of all his rights, and the amplest assertion of his position, under the law, as a citizen of South Carolina. CITIZENS' OF REFORM PARTY deserves the cor-

An Inviting Field for Immigrants.

The New York Tribune is still calling upon the overcrowded population of the Northern cities to form colonies and remove to the South and West. It says : "There never before were so many acres inviting "immigrants, as there were never before so many who might improve their prospects by immigrating, as in this year 1870." The Tribune truly says "it is the work of "twenty years to hew a farm out of the "primitive forest." This is what immigrants have to do in new and unsettled countries. Another great difficulty in such countries arises from the remoteness of mills, stores, smiths, &c., "the wretchedness of roads and "the absence of bridges," &c. These difficulties do not exist in South Carolina. There are numerous farms, with all necessary buildings on them, that can be purchased at low rates-farms that are within a convenient distance of mills, stores, &c. The Tribune seems to favor what it calls "emigrating colonies," that will furnish their own mills, stores, schools, brickyards, &c. &c. We have no manner of objection to this. It is all the same to us whether immigrants come singly or in colonies. For them it is, no doubt, better to come in the latter way so that they will, in the very beginning, have a congenial society of their own. There are great bodies of excellent land in this State which can be purchased low by the aggregate capital of these colonizing companies. What we want is to sell our surplus lands, and to thickly populate the State as rapidly as possible a with respectable, enterprising and industrious population.

When we think of the prospective value of our agricultural and mineral lands, and of our manufacturing sites, &c., now on the market, our only wonder is that Northern capitalists should permit them to remain on the market an hour longer than is necessary to close a bargain. A few thousand dollars invested now will, in a few years, grow into a great fortune.

The Free Trader tells the story of a young and skilful London printer, who hearing of the high wages earned by his craft in the new world, made haste to change his base to New York, where $30 a week seemed a very agreeable substitute for one-third that sum in his native land. He, however, soon found the gain more apparent than real. Board and lodging, strange as it may seem, was nearly double in price. A hat costing $3 in England, was SS in New York; a coat, valued at S7 in London, could not be got for less than $25 in New York; boots, $3 and $4 a pair in England, were $8 to $12 in Yankeedom, and every necessary of life was in proportion. The English printer soon took nimself back home, satisfied with the knowledge he had gained as to the difference between the old world and the new. The Free Trader pertinently asks: Is not this also the case of the American mechanic? And we may add that Protective tariffs are the main cause why £1 in England will go as far $15 in the United States.

THE Protectionist, a journal published in New York, announces in its number of February 25th, that it will be issued weekly hereafter, instead of monthly as heretofore, 'in order to counteract more effectually the "increasing dissemination of the pernicious "Free Trade doctrines of the Free Trade press of the country, which includes within its ranks most of the influential journalists of the United States."

Ar the regular monthly meeting of the Union County Agricultural Society, the following gentlemen were appointed to represent "was one of the most corrupt assemblages | this society in the Agricultural and Mechani-"that ever legislated for a State, and one of cal meeting in Charleston, on the 3d of May J. DAVIS & MILLER'S

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

We beg leave respectfully to call the attention of the public to our Superior Flavoring Extracts. As ten years have now elapsed since we first introduced them to the notice of the American public, we deem it unaccessary at present to enter into a lengthy description of their merits, &c. There is hardly a city or town of any note in the country into which they have not found their way. The reason of this widespread popularity and daily increasing demand is owing entirely to their peculiar excellence and intrinsic worth. Being determined to make them the Standard Extracts of the day, we have still further improved their quality, and now we firmly and honestly believe that they stand without a rival. Our Vanilla Extract cannot be surpassed for richness and delicacy of flavor. It is a strictly pure and highly concentrated Extract of Vanilla Beans. In short, we think it the best that is made, at least, this is the decision of the best judges in the country. We don't pretend to compete in price with many of the so-called Flavoring Extracts of the day, which are really but worthless compounds, undeserving of the name.

For quality and style, we defy competition.
