daunt scandal and all the rest of that sort of thing to the failure of the Queen to set a public example of what is right and proper through "the -court of an English sovereign."

-It is rumored that Judge Bradley, the newlyelected associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, declines to sit on the legal tender case, in consequence of his having been counsel in several suits bearing upon the subject previous to his appointment as judge. K this should prove true, the court will probably be equally divided on the question, in which case the former decision

-The Plebiscitum, which is to ask from France an approval by popular vote of Napoleon's new scheme of reform, is expected to take place in May. The points presented by the Senatus Consultum which the people will be invited to approve are-first, that the Senate shall share legislative power with the Corps and the Emperor, but cannot initiate taxation; second, that the taken from it; third, the constitution can only be will best show where the enormous increase modified by the people on proposition to the Em. has been:

-The Scientific American gives an account of the manufacture of perfumery in Southern France, and the cultivation of flowers for that purpose, the latter business being much more extensive than might at first be supposed. Orange blossoms seem to be in the greatest demand, there being seven hundred and thirty-seven tons of that material worked up into odors annually. Roses come next in popular favor, of which there are used two hundred and sixty-five tons yearly; then of jessamine fifty tons, of violets thirtyseven tons, and of geranium leaves fifteen tons. The scent of daffodils is among the least popular, two tons and a half of that blossom being all that the fashionable nose will inhale.

-The Philadelphia Star says: "Dr. Hewson, a well known physician of this city, and an advocate of 'the dry earth treatment of wounds,' concerning which there was such a lively discussion some months ago, has continued this method of treating wounds with very favorable results. In a late medical journal he cites a case of compound fracture of the leg, the limb being kept at rest by means of sand bags. In the absence of these, dry earth was substituted, which had the effect of en tirely dispelling the offensive odor of the wound, and their use was continued with the most happy results: the earth was changed every three or four days. Again he states, that a man affected with scurry, which had resisted all other treatment, was entirely cured by being buried up to the neck in soil for about twenty minutes."

-The expiration of the Bessemer patent has so greatly lessened the cost of steel, that it is superseding iron on many of the railroads in this country. It is far more durable than iron, and much better suited on that account to roads with heavy lines of freight and travel. But at the same time it is much more brittle in cold weather, and has for this reason, been the cause of frequent acci dents at the North. The difficulty has been obviated to some extent by placing a steel cap over the iron rail. The superior safety, as well as comfort in travelling, over the Southern lines in winter, is a generally admitted fact. Unfortunately we have no lines to compete with those of the North for the trade and travel of the West at present. But, when they are completed, such considerations will be the feather that will turn the scale in our favor, other things being equal. -Miss Kate Field, discoursing of female employments and the "unfeminine," says "that ten years ago every female human being taller than an infant, that wore a round hat, was considered unfeminine. Now, round hats are poised on the most fashionable noses, at an angle that would drive Euclid wiid. Lecturing to-day occupies the position formerly accorded to the round hars. Ten years hence, society will draw the line 'unfeminine,' say at women who, having too much honest pride to hang as burdens about the necks of their friends or relatives, take up active business and dare to make as much money as their brothers. Evidently society would go to pieces did it not insist upon drawing a line somewhere. To my conscience it is vastly more unfeminine to be guilty of the grecian bend, to enamel, to make conquests of men merely for the sake of counting scalps, to induige in slander, to dress extravagantly, to sit in the parlor, and allow the cook to overdo or underdo everything edible in the kitchen, to feed children on pastry and hot bread, to consign little ones to incompetent nurses-than it is to lecture." -The New York World of Saturday says : "The colored citizens of the city yesterday commemorated the passage of the Fifteenth amendment by a procession and other festivities. The Fifth avenue and several other of the most public thoroughfares presented the carious speciacie o thousands of well-dressed negroes riding in coaches driven by white coachmen, walking in platoon; preceded by the best martial bands that could be secured, and figuring in the purely ornamental and picturesque capacity of grand murshals and dashing about on spirited horses as aides. The spectators seemed to re- saved to the people.

gard it as a monster minstrel entertainment, in which all the traditional 'Dandy Jims' and 'Dan Tuckers' were stepping high to lively mu sic. Pompey rarely, if ever, exhibited more pomp; but it is only just to add that he seemed quite satisfied with demonstrating his ability to get up a stunning procession as well as the white folks, and went beamingly and peacefully through with his little sport, to his own infinite satisfaction and the serious disturbance of nobody else. If the Fifteenth amendment is to saddle us with a new order of street display, we may congratulate ourselves that it is at least harmless and amusing." -There seems to be a disposition on the part of Great Britain to reconcile as speedily as possible the differences with our government growing out of the vexed question of the Alabama claims Everything that has occurred since Grant's accession to power, in the way of diplomatic discussion of the subject, shows a very great anxiety on the part of her Majesty's Government to arrive at a satisfactory adjustment. Lord Clarendon, in his correspondence with Ministers Motley and Thornton, evinces a strong desire to have negotiations reopened, and to have the claims disposed of dishonorable to either of the great powers. Clarendon, however, does not like to make the first to make an advance quite yet, but will adhere to the views expressed in his dispatch of September 25. "Although the United States are anxious for a settlement on a liberal and comprehensive basis of all the questions which now interfere with the entirely cordial relations which they desire to exist between the two governments, they do not now propose or desire to set any time for this settlement. They will, however, be ready, whenever her Majesty's Government shall think the proper time has come for a renewed negotiation, to entertain any propositions which that government shall think proper to present, and to apply to such propositions their earnest and sincere wishes and endeavors for a solution honorable and satisfactory to both countries." It is now intimated that Clarendon well comprehends ' the situation," and will soon offer some basis of settlement. Premier Fish is also giving the matter his most serious attention, and it is said the subject will be laid before the cabinet early in the present week.

The Need of Retrenchment and Reform

A day or two before the adjournment of the State Legislature on the first of March last, Senator Leslie, who is nothing if not a Radical, made a vigorous attack upon the State Government, and declared that "the "Appropriation Bill alone, if any one would 'criticise it truthfully and show it up as it "should be done, would damn every one" of the leaders of the Radical party. How far even the amounts set down in an Approprition Bill will cover the expenses of a year. none but a Radical official can know. In some cases, however, a wink is as good as a nod, and as Senator Leslie said, without contradiction, that the cost of the legislative session would be at least two hundred thousand dollars, and the appropriation for the purpose was just one hundred and forty thousand dollars, it is only reasonable to look for a large deficiency in that quarter, and, also, in other directions. Indeed, the Appropriation Bill hints that something of the sort may be expected, and provides twenty thousand dollars to meet the deficiency in the appropriation for legislative purposes in the preceding year. But it may not be right to assume beforehand that the different departments will spend more than is authorized by law, and a plain comparison of what is granted this year with what was granted for the year 1867 must be fair, and will certainly be interesting.

The whole expenses (according to the Appropriation Bill) of the year 1867, were goes bravely on. $314,580, against (exclusive of interest) $721,169 for the year now current. This is a good beginning, and a comparative table

Bringing together the expenditures under the different heads, we have:

SUMMARY. Contingent Funds..... 25,000 125,000 Total.....$154,800 $611,890

Put in another shape, the estimated general expenses for the year 1870 are more than four times as much as the estimated expenses for 1867. Where $150,000 was sufficient three years ago, more than $600,000 is now drained from the pockets of the people. Well might Senator Leslie fear the effect upon the people of an exposure of this monstrous extravagance. It may not dispatch to Hades, as Mr. Leslie thoughtfully suggests, all the leaders of his party, but it is enough to convince the people of the absolute necessity of RETRENCHMENT and REfinally in some way or other which would not be FORM. And these they can only obtain through the victory, at the polls in October, of the CITIZENS' REFORM PARTY.

The Party of Reform.

The Greenville Enterprise does not object to the resolutions of the Press Conference as far as they go, but thinks that some distinct measures of reform and progress might have been proposed. There may be time for this, it suggests, at the meeting of the June Convention, and it advises that the following amendments to the State Constitution be

1. That any public officer who accepts a bribe shall be disqualified, foreyer thereafter, from holding office in the State.

2. That persons convicted of offences which are felonies at common law, be disfranchised and disqualified from holding office, and that these disqualifications shall not be removable by the Governor.

3. That members of the Legislature shall be ineligible for five years to any new office created during their term of service in the Legislature. 4. That the Governor should not have the power to appoint county officers, whose election, in all cases, should be by the people. The Enterprise thinks that there should also be a distinct approval of the really good changes made in the constitution and laws since reconstruction, and a decided condemnation of acts which are oppressive and injurious. It also says that the repeal of "the "Code of Procedure" should be considered, and should be pressed upon the attention of the people. Our contemporary believes that such measures as these would enlist the majority of the voters of the State in the great CITIZENS' REFORM movement. We may remark, however, that the convention itself must determine, whether it will propose anything more than the election of honest men, or the broad platform of Retrenchment and Equal Rights. A simple statement of a plain fact is, in a popular canvass, the most effective weapon of attack and defence.

THE Barnwell Journal suggests that a convention be held in Barnwell on May 14th for the purpose of nominating delegates to the CITIZENS' REFORM PARTY Convention, which meets in Columbia on June 15. It suggests that the citizens of each school district send one white and one colored delegate to the county convention. The work

PRESIDENT GRANT adheres to his determination to recommend the passage of a Universal Amnesty bill, but some of the bitter-end Radicals are working hard to dissuade him from taking so just and wise a step. 'Mr. Grant is requested "to stick."

THE New England and Pennsylvania High Tariff men have agreed to admit cotton machinery free of duty, so as to secure the carpet-hag vote for the Tariff bill. We are thankful for small favors, and will ask more the next time-and get it !

Later News from Cuba.

The Cuban Junta in this city have advices from Key West and Cuba dated April 8, which make no mention of the collapse of the revolution reported in Havana telegrams of the previous day. The Junta are officially advised that Jordan 'has made a junction with Agramonte, and, with a combined force of 4782 men of all arms, is moving in search of Valmaseda. This general has a force of about 4500 men, and a lively engagement is looked for. The Junta believe that the Havana dispatches announcing the "crushing out of the "rebellion" are only the forerunners of another glorious victory.
