-The carpenters and joiners of Atlanta, Geor gia, have organized on the co-operative plan, and will take contracts for building. Each member is allowed stated wages, while the profits go into the general treasury of the association as a segave them a $2000 contract.

-Western Texas will not again be subject to droughts, as it is fast becoming a timber country. Within the last ten years the whole face of the country has changed, and young forests are now growing in what was formerly a naked prairie. Rains throughout this section have been general, and the prospect for bountiful crops was never better. -The McFarland trial in New York will bring out evidence from some persons who will not appear in court. Vice-President Colfax is one of those persons. The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says that a commission was sent there about a month ago to get his testi. mony, and Mr. Potter, one of the New York representatives, was deputized to put him under oatl and take his unswers to a large number of questions, written out and forwarded by the districattorney and McFarland's counsel. It is understood that this course was pursued with reference to a number of individuals whom it was not practicable or advisable to put on the stand.

-The printers of the Cincinnati Commercial. to the number of thirty-five, have struck, and in consequence, that paper appeared on Friday half its usual size; but on Saturday it got back to eight pages with the use of some old matter. The of the Third Congressional District, the strike was because Halstead, proprietor of the $13,000 for printing, the $20,000 for the Commercial, announced his purpose to pay only single price for tabular work, recognized generally among printers as two-priced work. Halstead states that he don't care about the money value of the double charge on tabular work, and that on some other classes of work he pays more than the actual expenditures were $1,296,752. the Union prices, but that he chooses to manage The expenses of the year were more than the business of his own office without interference from any society.

-The Washington correspondent of the New York World says: "The Southerners are urging a number of schemes of internal improvement and commercial communication upon Congress. One of these is a railroad on the line of the thirtysecond parallel, and cognate railroad schemes; another, the reconstruction of the Mississippi levees; another, the line of steamers from Norfolk to the Mediterranean ports, which, besides capturing the commerce of Southern Europe, is ex pected to cause a large immigration to Virginia and the Southern States. President Grant is said to favor this line, and to take much interest in the subject of the Mediterranean commerce. Another line strongly urged is between New Orleans and the Mexican ports on the Gulf. It is stated that while the commerce of the United States with | control he will maintain peace. The truth Mexico is only $8,700,000, that of Great Britain is of the case seems to be that Tennessee is in $33,400,000, the result of her steamship lines, and that nearly the whole of this could be diverted to New Orleans and New York. It is noteworthy in this connection, that Southern politicians are no longer averse to the extension of national aid to numerous private feuds which survived it, measures of commercial development, and that and the anomalus condition of society durthey mean to claim for their section the same favor that has already been given to enterprises more immediately, benedicial to the North. The old State Rights men who formerly refused gov. ernment aid, have accepted the new situation, the "loyal" man. Both classes enjoy a prac-riedly, but slowly and deliberately, and as he went | Evening Post appear to contain the gist of over sentence after sentence of the letter, he would ever and anon stop for a short time and look steadily at the jury, as if to study the effect on them of what he was reading. To say that the jury looked dumbfounded would not give the faintest idea of the expression of utter astonishment which the countenance of every one of them wore when the reading was finished. The sensation the letter produced on the audience was utterly indescribable. As the hideous facts were disclosed, the prisoner went, although it was evident that he exerted his utmost to repress his feelings. He bowed his head in his hands when was read that part of the letter revealing the fact that "long years" before he had ever dreamed of the blow that was to fall upon him, there was an under-current even then that was destined to carry away from him those he loved above all else on earth. Although little Percy, not quite understanding why his father was so cast down, endeavored to attract his attention by taking hold of his hand and tugging at it in a child sh sort of way, he paid no attention to him, and sat immovable as a statue, with his head buried in his hands all the while.

Promise and Performance.

If the financial secrets of the present State Government could now be laid bare, as, at no distant day, they assuredly will be, the people would with one voice demand is a matter which affects all classes and all that waste and extravagance should cease, parties. The trouble does not arise from any and that our public affairs should be conducted, as of old, with honesty, economy and efficiency. In due time the transactions be traced back to the days of slavery, when of the Land Commission, of the Financial Agency at New York, of the Bureau of Agricultural Statistics, and other kindred institutions, will be exposed and explained, and then only will it be known how far the State ted, though, no doubt, they have been greatly has been plunged into debt by these three exaggerated. The evils of this unsettled state years of reckless spending. The facts and of society have fallen upon all classes alike, figures which the State officials make public, and whose correctness cannot be gainsaid, are interesting reading, all the same; for even they show that the one great need of the State-for merchant and mechanic, artisan and laborer, poor and rich, gentle and simple-is that honest, intelligent, and frugal government, which can only be obtained by the triumph at the polls of the the citizens themselves, and if the United CITIZENS' REFORM PARTY.

In his report submitted to the Legislature in October 31, 1868, the Comptroller-General, himself a Radical, submitted his estimate of the amount of money which would be needed for carrying on the State Government during the year ending October 31st, 1869. This estimate was carefully prepared, and was "deemed sufficient (by the Comp-"troiler-General) to pay the current expenses "of the State Government." Comparing this estimate of what was "deemed sufficient" for the year ending October 31, 1869, with the amount actually spent during that period, the taxpayers may see for themselves how far the present government fulfils its distance west of Laramie City, and stray animals | promises, and husbands the resources of the

Is there needed any stronger argument for the CITIZENS' PARTY-for RETRENCHMENT and REFORM?

The Facts of the Case.

Governor Senter, of Tennessee, is unable to satisfy either of the advocates or the opponents of more Congressional interference with the State of Tennessee, but he promises that if Federal soldiers are placed under his a disturbed and distracted condition, the result not of political feeling, but of the general demoralization caused by the war, the ing the social and political changes of the last few years. Whatever the number of lawless acts, the "rebel" suffers as often as and most of them say they want a fair share of tical immunity from the consequences of crime; both classes make laws and break them, and both classes, with few exceptions,

the facts of the case:

"I have endeavored to give fairly the statement of each side, that it may be seen how difficult it is for one at the North to understand our real condition. So thoroughly partisan, on one side or the other, are most of the reports sent from the State, that we sometimes despair of being correctly understood. Now, though it would be very unsafe to follow either of the above statements, neither one is altogether untrue. That in Tennessee, Union men, or Northern men, or colored men, as a class, are unsafe in life or property is utterly untrue. That they are ever murdered or outraged, as belonging to any of these classes, is either a very foolish or a very wicked falsehood. Thus, a statement has been made on the floor of Congress that all the Union men in one of the districts of this county had been notified to leave, and that one had been murdered already. It was false, of course. But when we are told that human life in Tennessee is perfectly or even tolerably protected by the law, one cannot but demur. Murders and outrages are not invented by politicians, though their causes may be misstated for party ends. That these occurrences have been unpleasantly frequent during the past few months is notorious, and our people have deplored it. It rebellious spirit, as our Radicals delight to believe, but lies far deeper than that. It can the law protected property, but left life to the * Moreover, it canindividual. * * not be denied that there is in certain parts of the State a lawless, a brutal element, and in some cases gross outrages have been committhough undoubtedly the negroes, as the most helpless, have suffered the most. But that it is unsafe for them to live in the country, is simply ridiculous. They swarm in and about our cities and frequent the vilest haunts of vice, while many of our country people find it almost impossible to obtain household servants. These facts are notorious here. None deplore these outrages more sincerely than States troops are really needed in any locality to assist the civil authorities, they will be heart ily welcomed by the great mass of the people It is no kindness to the Southern people to conceal any of these facts. Indeed, if this apprehension of Congressional interference arouses each community to the importance of protecting life by law, and of repressing lawlessness of every kind, it will not be without some good effect." What Tennessee needs is, to be let alone. Necessity and self-interest will, in time, bring about a temperance of act and a lawabiding spirit more lasting and sincere, though longer in coming, than the tranquillity which reigns under the rule of the Winchester rifle.

A GENTLEMAN writing from Barnwell says: "The tax collector is here again. This tax affair is nothing better than rob-"bery in disguise. Heaven only knows "when the end shall be." Our correspondent is reminded that Heaven helps them who help themselves, and that the only way for our people to help themselves is by working vigorously for the CITIZENS' RE-FORM PARTY.

WE commend to the attention of our cotton planters the letter from Mississippi, printed this morning. Its moral is too obvious to need explanation.
