Where shall be the wayworn wanderer's Last long home and restruishrine? In the South land under palm trees? Under lindens by the Khine?

Shall I in a desert somewhere
Be entombed by some strange hand?
Or beside the moaning seacoast
Slumber, burked in the sand?

Ah well I there as here, above me Shall Cod's heaven beam as bright, And the stars for death lamps o'er me Shall be hung throughout the night!

THE INFALLIBILITY QUESTION.

Views of Dr. Newman.

The London Standard, of April 6, publishes the following letter from Dr. Newman, one of the most distinguished accessions to the Church of Rome which has been made during the present century, to Dr. Ullathorne, Roman Catholic Bishop of Birmingham.

of Birmingham.

Rome onght to be a name to lighten the heart at all times, and a Council's proper office is, when some great heresy or other evil impends, to inspire hope and confidence in the faithful; but now we have the greatest meeting which ever has been, and that at Rome, infusing into us by the accredited organs of Rome and of its partisans (such as the Civillits (the Armonia) the Univers, and the Tablet) little less than fear and dismay. When we are all at rest, and have ne doubts, and—at/least practically, not to say doctrinally—hold the Holy Father to be infallible, suddenly there is thunder in the clear sky, and we are told to prepare for something, we know not what, to try our faith, we knew not how. No impending danger is to be averted, but a great dimentity to be created. Is this the proper work of an Ecumenical Council?

As to myself personally, please God, I do not expect any trial at all; but I cannot help suffering with the many souls who are suffering, and I look with anxiety at the prospect of having to defend decisions which may not be diment to my own private judgment, but may be most difficult to maintain logically in the face of historical facts.

my own private ludgment, out may be insected as the faithful facts.

In What have we done to be treated as the faithful never were treated before? When has a definition de fide been a luxury of devotion and not a stern, painful necessity? Why should an aggressive, insolent faction be allowed to "make the heart of the just sad, whom the Lord hath not made sorrowful?" Why cannot we be let alone when we have pursued peace and thought no evil?

Lassure you, my Lord, some of the truest minus are driven one way and another, and do not know where to rest their feet—one day determining "to give up all theology as a bad job," and recklessly to believe henceforth almost that the Pope is impeccable, at another tempted to "believe all the worst which a book like Janus says,"—others doubting about "the capacity possessed by bishops drawn from all corners of the earth to judge what is fitting for European society," and then, again, angry with the Holy See ifor listening to "the finitery of a clique of Jesuits, Redemptorists and converts."

Then, again, think of the store of Pontigal scandals in the history of eighteen centuries, which have partly been poured forth and partly are still to come. What Murphy inflicted upon us in one way, M. Venillot is indirectly bringing on us in another. And then, again, the blight which are still to come. What Murphy indicted upon us in one way, M. Venillet is indirectly bringing on us in another. And then, again, the blight which is failing upon the multitude of Anglican ritualists, do, who themselves, perhaps—at least their leaders—may never become Catholics, but who are leavening the various English denominations and parties (far beyond their own range) with principles and sentiments tending toward their ultimate absorption into the Catholic Church.

With these thoughts ever before me, I am continually asking myself whether I ought not to make my feelings public; but all I do is to pray those early docters of the Church, whose intercession would decide the matter, (Augustine, Ambrose and Jerome, Athanasius, Chrysostom and Basil,) to avert the great calamity.

If it is God's will that the Pope's infallibility is defined, then is it God's will to throw back "the times and moments" of that triumph which He has destined for His kingdom, and I shall feel I have but to bow my head to his adorable, inserutable Providence.

table Providence.

You have not touched upon the subject yourself, but I think you will allow me to express to you feelings which, for the most part, I keep to myself.

THE MARTYRS OF THE TRAPEZE.

Something of the History of an Acrobatic Family.

(From the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Telegraph.)

[From the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Telegraph.]

Seeing in many city papers an account of an accident which occurred in Baltimore recently to little Zoe DeLave, the first female gymnast in this country, and the first female that performed the now less novel feat of "the flying trapeze," I am tempted to write for your readers a few facts concerning the troupe of which she is a member. My information is from a lady who became acquainted with them during a stay of a week or two they made at a hotel at Great Valley, Cal.

The "De Lave Troupe," or "family," consists of Monsieur (whose specialty and sole part of their entertaiument is an act on the tight rope,) his wife, a German girl about twenty-one years now, and who is advertised as Lilla, and Zoe, a child about twelve, years old, his daughter by a former marriage. In the first part of their entertainment, before the real fatiguing business commences, Lilla dances some of the fancy dances well known in the days of the ballet. Then she and Zoe do the double and single trapeze, rings, parallel bar, in the days of the ballet. Then she and Zoe do the double and single trapeze, rings, parallel bar, &c., in short, all the business that the Hanlons are so famous for, only that they do different parts much more rapidly than the Hanlons. Zoe also does an act on the tightrope. M. De Lave once crossed Kiagara, River on a rope, with Zoe, then six years old, walking in front of him. One of her feats is for Lilla to precipitate herself from the gallery celling of a theatre, catching a trapeze or ring hanging from about the centre of the ceiling, where she hangs by her feet, and Zoe fings herself to her, is caught, and is again sung to some one on the stage, whose business it is to catch her, and who does it or not, as the ease may be, as we had an instance of in prices are quoted, holders are more anxious to business it is to catch her, and who does it or not, as the ease may be, as we had an instance of in Philadelphia this fail. Mrs. DeLave has warned her husband time and again that the child was getting too heavy, and some day she should be unable to catch her. This and the flying trapeze not are the most dangerous of all the leats they attempt, and, in doing these, Zoe is continually missing her hold, and has narrowly escaped death several times.

These girls detest the life they are obliged to lead. Mrs. have not read to the server of the se missing her hold, and has narrowly escaped death several times.

These girls detest the life they are obliged to lead. Mrs De Lave says every night, when she goes upon the ropes, the cold perspiration, started by sheer horror, breaks out over her, so the rosin put there to prevent slipping will not stay upon her hands. She enters upon every performance with a protest. Zoe has musical raient, that, if cultivated, would lead to fortune much quicker than the means she at present is obliged to adopt. She is small of her age. Blender, though muscular—her face thin and peaked—she is not what would be called a pretty child. She is ignorant—does not even know how to read. She is self-willed—will not even venture upon either tight or slack ropes until satisfied they are secure. Her father has educated her to believe that as long as he stands by the rope or har she will never be hurt, at least dangerossly. This, of course, gives her confidence. He exeases his sternness to them by saying miless they do just as he orders they would, in many instances, have been killed. But this will never palliate the braidittes he was known to have been guilty of in Philadelphia. At the time my informant met Tailties ne was known to nave octa gain; or the printed plan. At the time my informant met them, Do Lave was independently wealthy, and promised, after exhibiting Zoe at the Paris Exporomised, after exhibiting Zoe at the Paris Exporomised at the Paris E

RUSSELL'S SOOTHING CORDIAL FOR INFANTS TEETHING.

ALLAYS INFLAMMATION OF THE GUMS, CURES CHOLIC, CHOLERA INFANTUM, DYSENTERY, AND ALL DISEASES TO WHICH CHILDREN ARE SUBJECT WHEN TEETHING.

CONTAINS NO ANODYNE.

RUSSELL'S SOOTHING CORDIAL is offered to the public with an absolute gnarantee against all danger from its use. Read the following certifi-

Mr. J. B. RUSSELL, one of our careful and intelligent Pharmaceutists and Apothecaries, has submitted to my examination the formula for the preparation of a Soothing Cordial prepared and vended by him.

It affords me pleasure.

It affords me pleasure to express a favorable opinion of its safe and efficient adaptation to the particular cases of site it is designed to relieve.

E. GEDDINGS, M. D.

Having had occasion to prescribe Russell's Soothing Cordial in severe cases of Bowel Complaints in children and delicate females, I have been much pleased with its effects. I consider it a valuable medicine in all cases, in which it may be advisable to avoid the use of anodyne, and particularly for family use, as it is perfectly safe.

W. T. WRAGG, M. D.

CHARLESTON, S. C. 1868.

I certify that I have most successfully used RUSSELL'S Soothing Cordial in the Summer Complaints of infants. He has fully exhibited the ingredients of his remedy, and the tecllous method of preparation. I recognize the prescription—containing no anodyne whatever—as a most safe and efficacious one in bowel affections of children. When much pain or restlessness attends the affection, doses of Paregoric can be added to the prescribed doses of the Cordial according to the age of the patient. The compound, though more often, acts in an efficient manner without any addition of anodyne. often, acts in an emerical manufacture of anodyne.

In the Diarrhoa of the aged, in increased doses, it is of great value as a remedy; never disagreeing with the stomach—increasing appetite, improving digestion, and acting as a slow but efficient astringent agent.

W. M. FITCH, M. D.

CHARLESTON, S. C., 1869.

Dear Sir—I have used your Soothing Cordial for Diarrhoca in teething children, and find it a very excellent preparation. It has a great advantage over most preparations of the kind in containing no Onlyne or Narrodia.

over most preparations of the Linds of the case of these are required they can be added in proportions applicable to the case.

I therefore can recommend its use in the affections for which it is designed.

Respectfully years, &c..

T. L. OGIER, M. D.

MOUNT PLEASANT, S. C., 1868.

Mr. J. B. Russell:

DEAR SIR—I have used your Soothing Cordial for children extensively in my practice, and most cheerfully testify to its merits. I have found it, without an exception, to accompleh all it claims, and consider it superior to anything in use for children.

Its freedom from anodyne of any kind recommends it as a perfectly safe preparation in the hands of mothers and inexperienced nurses.

Very respectfully, &c..
