What do I owe the years, that I should love
And sing the praise thereof?
Perhaps the lark's clear carol wakes with morn,
And winds, amid the corn,
Clash fairy cymbals; but I miss the joys,
Missing the tender voice—
Sweet as a throstie after April rain—
That may not sing again.

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COM-PANIES IN EUROPE.

[From the Cosmopolitan.]

It seems a little odd that while the United States are constantly coming to Europe for capital, Life Insurance Companies in New York should be at the same time establishing branches in London, Paris and other leading cities of the Continent. Formerly the agents of English Life Insurance Companies had offices in Wall street, and did a large business in America. But now the tables are turned. While branches of British Fire Companies are flourishing all over the United States, British Life Companies are flourishing all over the United States, British Life Companies are driven from the American field. This is owing, not so much to prejudice against foreign capitot as to the superior system of life insurance invented, we may say, by the Americans, and chiefly by the New York Life Insurance Company, one of the oldest, largest and richest companies in the United States, and which has recently opened offices in London and Paris. In the fine new building, Nos. 76 and 77, Cheapside, our old familiar friend, "The New York," has opened a sulte of elegant offices, and unfuried its banner to the breeze of British favor. As was to have been expected, it has already caught a little of the breath of British jealousy. But this will soon blow over. Even Englishmen are becoming less insular, and more cosmopolitan. They begin, reluctantly, to acknowledge that certain "good things" come from the Nazareth over the water beside the "Almighty Dollar." And the American system of life insurance is one of them. The general European agent of the "New York" is Mr. Harry S. Homans, who has associated with him Mr. Cornellas Walford. Both of these names are well and widely known in the insurance world. Mr. Homans comes of what we may call good "insurance stock." Smith Homans and Sheppard Homans are "authorities" on all insurance, questions in the United States, and Harry S. Homans, during the United States, and Harry S. Homans, during the United States, and Harry S. Homans, during the United States, and Harry S. Homan [From the Cosmopolitan.] It seems a little odd that while the United are "authorities" on all insurance questions in the United States, and Harry S. Homans, during the United States, and Harry S. Homans, during a residence of some sixteen years in San Franci s built up a life insurance business of a million and a half of dollars a year. His associate, Mr. Walford, has devoted his life to the same calling, and what the twain do not know about the business in which they are engaged, to use an Americanism, is not worth knowing. The following admirable letter has beed called forth by a little national boasting on the part of a so-called insurance "organ" of this Cay:

"SEE—In your issue of the 11th Instant Loh.

In your issue of the 11th instant, I observe a remark under your 'Notices to Correspondents,' as follows:

"The fact of the matter is that there are no life offices in the world that can approach the English and Scottish offices in point of security."

the observation quoted was made without acconsideration.

"Circumstances have induced me recently to pay especial attention to the American life insurance offices, and, as the result, I am prepared to maintain against all assailants the following propositions:

1. That as large a proportion of the whole of the American life offices are thoroughly sound and solvent gas of the English and Scottish life offices.

2. That the features of the American life offices are as liberal to the insured, as sound in

2. That the features of the American life offices are as liberal to the insured, as sound in principle and as honest in practice as those of the English and Scottish offices.

3. That the management of the American offices is as careful, as able, as scientific, as economical, and as successful as that of the modern times bave originated with the American offices, and are now being adopted by

can offices, and are now being scope of the plant offices.

"I have been careful to speak of equality only. If any discussion arises by the acceptance of this challenge, I reserve to myself the right of showing that there are some advantages on the side of the American offices which the English and Scottish offices cannot well reach. The high rate of luterest which can be realized on perfectly good securities in American offices which can be already to the security of the securities in American of the securities of the securitie

I have accepted the position of associate manager of one of them. I enclose for your own information a copy of the certificate of the Hon. William Barnes (a man well known and deservedly respected here) as to the position of that company. I have become one of its champions in Europe. I ask but fair fighting, and no favor. It is in this spirit I now address you. its champao, it is ing, and no favor. It is in ing, and no favor. I

"CORNELIUS WALFORD.
"New York Life Insurance Company, No's.
76 and 77, Cheapeide, E. C., 16th March, 1870." The company represented in London by Messrs. Homans and Walford shows a record of prosperity without a parallel in the financial world. Extensive and judicious advertising, with sagacious and honest management, are the secrets of its wonderful success. We, who know this company well in its "day of small things," can hardly believe the figures it now annually reports to the public. We quote the following as an "eye-opener:"

MESSRS. JACOB LIPPMAN & BRO., Savannah, Ga.:

Gents—I have before me your esteemed letter of the 14th Instant, containing various documents relative to your "German Bitters." After a careful examination I must confess that your Bitters is really what you represent it to be, an old German recipe of Dr. Mitcherlich, of Berlin, Prussia.
It will no doubt be excellent for Dyspepsia, General Debility and Nervous Diseases, and it is a good preventive of Chills and Fevers. I find it to be the most delightful and pleasant stomachic.

I remain, yours trally,
(Signed)

AUG. P. WETTER.

Kirkland Mills, Ga., March 22, 1870. MESSRS. Jacob Liftman & Bro., Druggists, Savannah, Gs.: Gentlemen-I have introduced your Great Ger Gentlemen—I have introduced your Great German Bitters here to my customers and I friends, and I find better sale for them than any I have ever kept before. Those who have tried them approve of them very highly, and I do not hesitate in saying that they are far soperior in value to any other Bitters now in use.

Yours, respectfully,

(Signed)

W. KIRKLAND.

DAVIS & MILLER'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES. QUALITY STILL FURTHER IMPROVED.

We beg leave respectfully to call the attention of the public to our Superior Plavoring Extracts. As ten years have now chapsed since we first instructured them to the notice of the American public, we deem it unnecessary at present to enter into a lengthy description of their merits, &c. There is hardly a city or fown of any note in the country into which they have not found their way. The reason of this widespread popularity and daily increasing demand is owing entirely to their pecusiar excellence and intrinsic worth. Being determined to make them the Standard Extracts of the day, we have still further improved their quality, and now we firmly and honestly believe that they stand without a rival. Our Vanilla Extract cannot be surpassed for richness and delicacy of flavor. It is a strictly pure and highly concentrated Extract of Vanilla Beans. In short, we think it the best that is made, at least, this is the decision of the best judges in the courty. We don't pretend to compete in price with many of the so-called Flavoring Extracts of the day, which are really but worthless compounds undeserving of the name.

For quality and style, we defy competition. give no taste to the water and are applicable in
