The Charleston Market.

[FOR THE WEEK ENDING JULY 28.] THE OROFS .- There has been no change in the favorable aspect of veg tation during this period; the weather has been dry, with an abundance o heat, and the crop news has generally been good. with, however, an occasional complaint of backwardness and other defects The corn crop has had sufficient rain to secure the proper maturity of the plant, and the rice has received its last flow of fresh water, and those crops may be conaidered as made, so far as it relates to field culture. The Agricultural Burean at Washington puts forth the following on this subject: "The increase of acreage of cotton, as indicated by the neturns of the county correspondents, averages twelve per cont, and aggregates nearly 1,000,000 of acres. It is almost litefally true that the people are devoting atheir energies to the culture of collons The condition of the crops is so far favorable for a good yield; fully an average in
