December 27th: 8 o'clock, 38: 10, 42; 12, 46; 2, 49: 4, 48: 6, 48: 8, 48.

HUNTING. - Several ambitious gentlemen tried the woods and marshes for a day's sport during Friday and Saturday. The universal verdich however, appears to be that the thermometer was in sympathy with the game, and that colder fun of the kind has rarely been enjoyed in South Carolina.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP VIRGINIA.—This valuable iron steamship left Philadelphia on Saturday last, and arrived here at an early hour on Tuesday morning, with a fair freight, and will leave here on next Saturday morning, connecting with Boston steamer at Philadelphia. In the absence of a direct line, this offers inducements to shippers to the Eastern cities.

LIGHTNING SPEED .- A subscriber at Midway begs us to call the attention of the Postoffice department to the fact that the mails are carried by Midway on the express train at "a lightning speed," so that, two or three times a week, the postmaster falls to exchange the mails with the agent on the train. This is a serious annoyance to the neighborhood.

MASONIC ELECTION .- At the annual convo cation of Friendship Lodge, No. 9, A. F. M., held at Masonic Hall, December 26th, the fo'lowing officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: A. A. Goldsmith, W. M.; J. N. Nathans, S. W.; J. H. Loeb, J. W.; A. Moroso, treasurer; L. Loeb, secretary; I. W. Hirsch, S. D.; J. J. Loeb, J. D.; D. Loeb, J. Wartheim, stewards; J. T. S. Harrisson, organ ist; J. J. Beasley, tiler.

ADVERTISER'S HANDBOOK .- We have received from S. M. Pettengill & Co., the well known and trustworthy advertising agents of 37 Park Row, New York, a copy of their "Advertiser's Handbook," which will be found invaluable to the advertising public. The list of periodical publicacurate, although there are some errors in the enu meration of the South Carolina press.

ETHERIAL MILDNESS COME .- The sunshine yesterday compensated us in part for the Arctic atmosphere of the three preceding days. The weather resumed its spring-like influences, overcoats and shawls could be laid aside with impunity, and as Willis once wrote, "A mouthful of the noon was delicious." The ladies were out on King street by brigades, and whatever may have been their previous complaint of King Frost woman-like, they "hugged the offender and forgave the offence"-sex to the last.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER.-Edward Wright, Isaac Pinckney and Frank Owens were brought before Commissioner Porteous, yesterday morning, charged with neglect of their duty as managers, during the late election, at Heniss Cross Roads precinct, in Beaufort County. The evidence against Wright showed that, up to 11 o'clock on the day of election, he did not require even the formality of an oath of any person who chose to vote, and he was forthwith committed, in default of bail, to jail, for trial at the January term of the United States District Court. In the case of Pinckney and wens, the absence of material witnesses compelled a postponement of the examination, and they were accordingly re manded to jail until to-day, when their case will receive further investigation.

CLUBS AND STARS .- The Mayor's Court presented quite a lively appearance yesterday morning, and the docket was prodigiously long, which seldom befalls this branch of our judiciary. The violation of the Mayor's holl lay proclamation was a fruitful source of arrests, and the regular cases of intoxication were greatly increased by the jovial tendencies of the merry season. The appreciation of this tendency was observable in the sentences of the Mayor, and the votaries of the jolly god in almost every case escaped their usual sentence. The torpedo fines were largely in the majority, and the offence in all cases being glaring, and the offenders caught flagrante delictu, out of the whole band, twenty-four in number, only two escaped the proclaimed penalty of nearly fifteen years he wielded an innuence their amusement. Two escaped with a fine of $2 among members of Congress so potent, that he each. An aggravated case was visited with a fine of $10, and the remainder had to choose between paying $5 for their amusement or going to the Heuse of Correction for five or ten days.

The cases of "drunk and disorderly" were in general pardoned, and a fine imposed only in the cases where resistance to the police was added to Several cases of firing pistols, fighting and as sault received appropriate fines. Twenty-two cows, found going at large, were discharged on a deposit of as many dollars by the owners, and two others, older offenders, were made to deposit $2 each before release. Lastly, a horse and cart, found at large, on Monday evening, in Spring street, were returned to the owner.

Robert Johnson, arrested for vagrancy and being caught under suspicious circumstances, was sent to the House of Correction for twenty days as a vagrant. Henry Freeman, one of the hands on the steamer Emille, was arrested Monday night for broaching the cargo. He stands committed for trial Fore Trial Justice Schroder to-day.

MORTUARY RECORD .- The deaths in Charles ton, as reported by Dr. Robert Lebby, City regis trar, for the week ending December 24, were 18, of whom 5 were whites and 13 were colored.

COLONEL CHARLES KANAPAUX.—This old citizen was buried on Saturday last from St. Mary's Church. For many years he was identified with the public interests of Charleston, and he filled various official positions with honor and ability. In former times he was colonel of the first regiment of artillery, South Carolina militia, and was followed to the grave by members of the various organizations to which he was attached. He was a pure and good man, and a thorough patriot.

ON THE WATCH .- Mayor Pillsbury, on Monday afternoon, was the recipient of a handsome gold watch and chain, valued at $350, and a goldheaded case-a tribute of regard from the police force and a number of civilians. The affair occurred at the Guardhouse, the presentation speech being made by Colonel R. W. Seymour. The Mayor made his acknowledgments in a graceful way, and the company adjourned to the neighboring restaurant of Wulbern, where the usual good things were said and done around a wellspread dinner table.

BABES IN THE WOOD .- During the cold snap on Thursday night—and our readers will remember it was comething to snecze at-two little fellows walked from a plantation to one of the landings of the steamer Emilie on the Santee. Returning, they were lost in the dark, and night found them homeless. Fortunately each was provided with a blanket, and, finding a soft spot on mother earth, they cuddled there industriously until morning. The 'golden exhalations of the dawn" found them alive, but demoralized, and stiff as a pair of fence rails.

DEATH OF REV. PHILIP GADSDEN .- The com munity will hear with pain that this aged divine, so long known in the State in connection with the holy labors of the Episcopal Church, has at last been gathered to his fathers. A nutive of Charles ton, born in 1798, and educated partly at Yale College, he was ordained by Bishop Bowen in this city about fifty years ago. At first he devoted himself to the duties of missionary life, but subse quently became the rector of St. Paul's Parish and summerville, where he remained until about six years ago, when he resigned on account of in health. Mr. Gadsden suffered during the last six weeks, and died on Monday at the house of his son, the superintendent of Rev. Mr. Porter's school. The funeral services were held at the Church of the Holy Communion yesterday afternoon at half-past six o'clock, Rev. Mr. Porter and Rev. Mr. Howe officiating. A large congregation was in attendance, including the entire Episcopal clergy of the city. The remains will be taken to Summerville to-day, to be interred near the Episcopal Church of that village, of which he was the DEATH OF JAMES W. GRAY, Esq. -Our community will be pained to learn that this venerable and useful citizen of Charleston passed away from earthly scenes yesterday morning. Few men have lived seventy-six years, the best part of a century, and crowded into it more of the true capital of manhood than did Mr. Gray. Born in this city in 1794, he graduated in the South Carolina College when it was under the administration of the eminent President Maxcy. Immediately thereafter, he commenced the study of the law it Abbeville with his cousin, Benjamin Yancer, Sr. completing the same in Charleston, in the office of Judge Huger, with whom Mr. Yancey had formed a professional connection. Among the college assmates of Mr. Gray were Governor McDuftle and Hon, Wm. C. Preston, and Mr. Gray took either the second or third honor. After graduating at the bar, he entered into copartnership with Colonel Cross, but in November, 1829, he was elect ed master in equity, which office he retained until it was abolished in 1869. Thus for forty years, faithfully, and in a distinguished manner, he served the interests of the public, and from all classes won the tribute which is ever paid to hon est worth and eminent ability. The silver cord was locsened only after he passed the alloted three score and ten of man's life, but in all that life he was engaged in writing in characters of light those lessons to which we direct youth, and those virtues which invite emulation. The funeral will take place at half-past 1 o'clock, this afternoon, at the Unitarian Church.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN WILLIAM CORRIE.-This well-known citizen of Charleston died at the Milis lonse on Monday morning, about half-past o'clock. For several weeks he had been suffer ing from an acute disease which threatened a fatal termination at any moment, and the result was not therefore attended with surprise on the part of either his physician or his friends. Few men in this generation, have lived a more eventful career than Captain Corrie, and probably no civilian who has not occupied public post tion was more widely known. His acquaintances might be counted from Maine to California, and they embraced many of the most distinguished men of the country. Born in Charleston about the year 1817, he received a good English school education, and then entered upon commer cial pursuits, many of his contemporaries well remembering the time when he was a first-class salesman in a dry goods store on King street with his relative, Mr. George H. Milnor. It is said that at that time he was one of the few who command ed the highest salaries paid for this kind of service. Later in life, say about the year 1840, events called him to the City of Washington, where for was regarded as one of the cht-fs of the "lower house." In this capacity, as a lobby member, he succeeded in securing the passage of several im portant bills, involving the appropriation of large sums of money, and himself was liberally rewarded by those in whose behalf he acted. In one instance he received as a fee fifty thousand dollars, and altogother met with a pecuniary and peculiarly fitted to command and influence mea in the various stations of life-especially men of the world. Of handsome presence and graceful carriage, with man'y qualities written in every lineament of his face; gifted as a conversationalist and reminiscent; possessing a fund of anec dote, an extraordinary knowledge of human nature, and a keen appreciation of the arts; charming as a host at his own dinner table, whereon the luxury was almost boundless, he attracted around him politicians, officers of the political success quite unprecedented in those army and navy, and the most distinguished civilians of the United States. During this period he was largely interested in and identified with the yachtsmen of New York and the South, was frequently called upon to officiate as judge or referee in various matches, and thus became familiar with the sailing qualities of. the fastest pleasure boats on the coast. Blest with abundant means, he purchased the best of thesethe now historic yacht Wanderer-and on one of his first cruises carried with him several members of the Cabinet and other Washington celebrities Political excitement on the subject of slavery running high at the time-about the year 1859-Capt. Corrie conceived the idea of going to the coast of Africa, taking in a cargo of slaves, and bringing them to the South. How he fitted up his beautiful craft, eluded the officials, yet ran boildy into various ports, carrying the pennant of the New York Yacht Club and wearing its uniform; how he aroused suspicions of a filibustering out being first or last discovered, are matters of familiar history. We only refer to them to illustrate the bold, adventurous and impulsive character of the man. Whatever he did, was done on a comprehensive scale. There was not a mean trait in his composition. In wealth he was prodigal; in poverty he was generous to his own hurt. He was true as steel, and in society exhibited the qualities which attracted and retained friends. His State had no truer or more unselfish son, and his loss will be keenly felt by an unusually large number of persons. The funeral took place yesterday morning, the services being performed by Rev. Mr. Elliott.

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL.

The New License Bill.

A regular meeting of Council was neid last evening at the usual hour, and a quorum, consisting of the Mayor, and Aldermen Geddings, Potter, Cunningham, Holloway, Voigt, Greene, Col lins, L. F. and E. P. Wall, Thorne and Howard, were punctually present.

A petition from L. E. Stoppelan was read, asking leave to establish a steam grist mill in the upper part of King street. On motion, referred to he committee on steam engines.

The re election of the old officers of the Fire Department, M. II. Nathan, R. M. Alexander, C. . Aimar and F. L. O'Neill, at the late meeting of the board of firemasters, was confirmed by the Council. The special committee of the Pire Department was instructed to confer with the board of firemasters on matters of importance to the Fire Department, in accordance with a petition to that effect of the board of firemasters, read by Alderman Voigt. Alderman Howard then desired to know why those street lamps at the foot of Hasel street were not lighted. A long discussion ensued upon this subject until the Mayor refused to hear anything more on the subject, and a call was made for bills. On motion of Alderman Collins, the bill to regu late licenses for 1871 was taken up.

3 and 4 had been already passed to their third reading, the clerk should commence at section 5. Section 5 was rend and passed, with several amendments, to its third reading. Section 6 was read and passed as in the old

It was moved and carried that, as sections 1, 2

Section 7 was read by clauses, and the follow ing amendments made: License for retail apothecaries was reduced from $30 to $25; for sailor boarding houses from $50 to $25; bowling alleys $25 for each alley; commercial or produce brokers $50-the words "other than factors or store keepers" added. In clause relating to "retail dealers in goods," &c., &c., after $25 the words "whose annual sales are over $10,000 and less than $30,000, $50" inserted; saw mills, license increased from $75 to $100; public halls for exhibitious, charged $100 per annum, instead of $5 per day; public stables, $50, the words "or livery" inserted; public sale stables, $100, the word "public" stricken out; sellers of samples, or othervise, charged $59 a quarter year, or any part thereof, instead of $15; local peddlers, $5 per month; itinerant, $50 per month, instead of $50 a year for all peddlers; wholesale liquor dealers $150, amended by adding "wholesale liquor dealers who take out a license for other merchandisc in the same establishment, $100;" "retail liquor dealers who have to take out a separate license for merchandise, $100," amended by inserting the words "in the same establishment;" "cattle brokers and dealers in horses and mules, each $50," amended by inserting "who keep no stables:" "carters, draying, hack-driving, wagoning, (one-horse,) $20, reduced to $15, and a two-horse icense for same, former y $30, reduced to $25; "each dog kept in the city, $2," amended by ad-companies shall pay $150 for a license. Section 8 was then read and passed. On motion, the bill had its third reading by the title. The rules were then suspended, and the bill ordered to be engrossed for ratification, and ding "including price of badge," and lastly, an additional item added to the effect that telegraph

its title changed to an ordinance. The "ordinance to regulate licenses" for 1871 was then passed in due form by the Conneil. Alderman Geddings now presented bills to the amount of $393 53 against several public instituions, which were, on motion, ordered to be paid. The attention of Council was then called to the sinking fund created in 1824, and, there being no chairman for it, on-motion, Alderman Cunlingham was appointed chairman. The Council then adjourned.

THOUGHTEUL .- Remembering the season and its associations, the policemen presented a box of groceries, luxuries, &c., to the widow of their dead comrade, Martin, who was killed in the discharge of his duty.

A SWASHING BUSINESS.-The results of Christmas trading were never better exemplified than on Saturday night last, when the confectionery store of Mr. Fleming, on King street, was so thronged that the floor gave way. Under the circumstances the customers preferred the seller up tairs to the cellar down below, and sugar-drops to subterranean drops.

MILLER'S ALMANAC. - This venerable Charlesion institution, with its typographical brow whitened by the snows of fifty-four winters, again anneances its annual appearance to-morrow, and may be hall at the places announced in the advertisement. There are scores of people who take their "Alfred Davids" on Miller's Almanac, and swear by its predictions of erratic weather and visiting comets as faithfully as if the information came from the wrial clerk himself. In fact, who can do without it?

CREMBS .- On Friday afternoon several of the teachers of the St. Philip street Public School were presented with handsome gifts by the schol-

Parties having bills against city institutions are r. quested by the city tressurer to send them in at once to the respective boards, so as to enable the city officials to close their accounts for the current year.

On and after the second day of January, the January coupons of the city fire lean bonds will be paid by the city treasurer at his office.

THE GERMAN LUTHERAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL-CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL .- The annual festival of the German Lutheran Sunday-school was celebrated on Monday evening last, at the new hall of the Deutscher Freundschaftsbund, which had been kindly lent by that society for the occasion. The hall was opened at 7 o'clock precisely, and soon the little ones, with eager faces and unticipating the delightful evening in store for them, came crowding in. No wonder, for notwithstanding their large number, every one of the scholars received a present or prize of some kind.

In a short time the fine hall was densely crowded, and soon there was not standing-room, so that a great many visitors were unable to gain admision.

The entertainment was opened by the scholars singing a Christmas ode, accompanied on the plane by Professor Otto Muller, who kindly volunteered services, and added not a little to the effect of the performance. At the conclusion of the ode a prayer was offered up by the Rev. L. Muller, the kind and respected pastor of the school. The performances of the scholars now commenced, and consisted chiefly of piano music by the young ladies connected with the school and speeches and dialogues by some of the boys and girls, in terspersed with beautiful pieces of vocat music The closing scene was the distribution of the prizes umong all of the Sanday school scholars without exception. The prizes were all numbered according to classes, and the numbers placed in the hands of the teachers of the respective classes. Each senolar then drew a numbered ticket out of a hat, and upon being presented to the teacher, the prize called for by the number drawn was delivered to the drawer. This pleasant and exciting scene went on for some time, and prizes were awarded to three hundred and afty children of the school. The young people were supplied during the performance with cakes and apples, and all seem to have enjoyed the evening's entertainment in a wonderful degree. In the northwest corner of the hall stood a large Christmas tree, laden with | Geo. T. Hope, President Continental Fire Insurcargo of negroes on an island in Georgia, with. a precious burden of fruit and ornaments seldom seen elsewhere than at a German festival. It was lighted in the most beautiful manner with colored wax candles, and altogether got up in a style to do credit to the taste and fancy of the decorators. The greatest harmony and quiet injoyment prevailed during the whole evening, and the bright young faces and happy hearts that went home to their parents on that evening, convinced all that the festival was indeed one of the great-
