DEEDS OF VIOLENCE AND BLOOD.

Brutal Marder of & White Man by Negroes at the Race Course. At the close of the races yesterday, there were several noticeable symptoms in the aspect of the motier growd betokening an approaching row, and several minor disturbances took place, It was almost impossible to keep the crowd, among whom the negroes largely predominated, from the track. An impromptu bar-room in the rear of the stand kept dealing out liquors at a furious rate; and one or two fights were the consequence of the constantly increasing excitement in the tipsy throng.

THE TRAGEDY. By general consent, the races seemed now to be considered over, and few who saw the disorderly crowd, cared about prolonging their stay. Finley, who was seated in a buggy, turned his horse from the crowd, and drove towards the gate. When about half way between the stand and the fair building, he was overtaken by a colored man named William Darrell. Darrell was apparently much inflamed with liquor, and shouted to Finley, "Why don't you shoot now, you son of a b-h." Finley stopped, saying he would not stand that, and, jumping from his buggy to the keeping it gallantly to the home stretch. Here ground, drew his revolver, and fired two shots at Darrell. Darrell now closed in, and a scuffle ensned. Frank Mason, another colored man, then charged up in a gallop on horseback, and drawing a revolver, fired at Finley from his horse. He missed his aim. He then dismounted, and approaching very near to Finley, fired two shot at him, one of which entered his right side, above the hips, and came out at the back.

now ensued. As the wounded man fell to the ground the enraged crowd of negroes, who had been meanwhile rushing from the stand, reached the scene of bloodshed, and with cries and yells of hatred they rushed upon the prostrate and bleeding body, beating it with clubs and trampling it under foot. All attempts to disperse them were vain, and not until they had fully glutted their cowardly hate were the few white men present enabled to take up the body and place it in a wagon. AWAITING DEATH.

The half dead man was taken to his residence in King street, and every medical aid quickly afforded him. After an examination of the wound the physician gave it as his opinion that the bullet had passed through the vitais and an internal emorrhage had set in, and that unless a reaction took place in less than two hours death must ensue. The sufferer lay insensible and very pale, and when our reporter last heard from him was not expected to live half an hour. THE MURDERER IN JAIL.

Frank Mason, the man who fired the fatal shot, was identified on the spot and surrendered to the police, and along with Wm. Darrell was brought to the city and lodged in the Guardhouse on the charge of marder. This shocking crime speedily broke up the concourse, and the crowd soon dispersed homeward, discussing the fearful tragedy which had so lately been enacted before their eyes. The Attack on the Street Car.

The details of the attack upon Car No. 1 of the King street line, on Monday night, printed in THE NEWS of yesterday, attracted general atention, and it was a common remark that, under the present regime, a white man has no rights which a colored militiaman is bound to respect A full investigation of the affair shows that our statement of the facts was correct, with the exception that the attack was not made by a militia company, but by some scattering negro militiamen armed with rifles, who were banging on the flanks of, or were in the procession with, a colored fire company.

There was nothing whatever in the developents of yesterday in regard to the bloody affair which need cause us to withdraw one word of our indemnation of the acrostous policy of allowing excited and vindictive negroes to parade the public streets with arms in their hands. As long as this practice is permitted to continue, there must be occasional collisions, in which, as long as they remain unarmed, the whites must be at a fearful

The following is a statement of 'the circumstant es and result of the attack: After the disturbance had in a manner subsided the car proceeded o the terminus, and, on its way back, stopped at the Guardhouse, where a complaint for reckless driving had been lodged against the driver, J. W. Davis. Upon depositing $20 he was released, and, having appeared before the Mayor yesterday morning, the case was turned over to the State for examination. The examination took place shortly afterward before Trial Justices Northrop The evidence before these official established the following facts: Between 7.30 and 8 o'clock on Monday evening Car No. 1, of the King street line, was proceeding up King street, being driven by J. W Davis, of the Rutedge street line. As the car approached John street two colored fire companies filed out of the latter street and marched up King street, on the east side, directly upon the track of the car. The car came up to the rear of the company, and the driver recognizing Captain Lockwood, one of the company's officers, stopped the car, and requested him to give way. The conductor, finding the car stopped, and seeing no passengers, struck the bell to meve on. The car moved close up to the rear of the company and again halted. The conductor again struck the bell and called out to the driver to go ahead, as they were behind time, he not knowing then the cause of the stoppage. The car again moved up alouly, and was moving at a walk close to the rear of the company. One of the firemen here stated that the horse struck him, and also the dashboard of the car. The horse committed to jail for trial at the next term of the was now seized, and several men, armed with Court of General Sessions. The prisoner Cook makets or rifles, rushed forward, and one of has been before concerned in a cotton thieving them knocked the driver down with his musici. scrape, and was arrested last year for stealing a The windows of the car, on the right side, near the driver, were smashed in with butt ends of musices or rules. The conductor came forward through the car to find out the reason of the stoppage, and saw his vriver knocked down. He dragged him inside the car, and taking the reins was struck himself. Policeman Riley was present and now took the reins, and, with the aid of Captain Lockwood, who did his best to quell the dis turbance, succeeded in restoring quiet. It was quite dark at the time, and the men who were on the car, seeing their assailants armed with muskets, concluded that it was a militia company, and so reported it. It is well known that the fire and militis companies separated at the Cuadel Square Baptist Church, the Bremen going np-town, and the militia down. This evidence being given, the trial justices dis-Pompey Virgin, lodged for entering the store missed the case against Driver Davis. None of the of Mrs. Myers, No. 679 St. Philip street, and at armed negroes who committed the murderous sed the case against Driver Davis. None of the assault have been arrested. Here, we suppose was attracted to the Washington Race Course vesterday evening to witness a promised treat in the county. Before 3 o'clock, the time generally understood to be fixed for the first race, the large merous vehicles of all descriptions, from the gocart to the handsome phæton, were crowded together near the starting point. The huge oval enclosed by the track has been well farmed during the spring, and its level surface covered with sprouting vegstables of every variety presented no obstacle to the sight, as hundreds of eyes followed the swift course of the running horses. The first was a running race the best two in three. The following entries were made : A handsome sorrel mare, by Mr. Hogan; a little bay mare, by James Mosely; a neat bay gelding, by W. Hockaday; "Bell," by J. A. Christopher; "Civil Rights," by J. Royle; and "George," by D. Cooper.

THE BUNNING The six horses were soon in line, and as they went off at the tap of the drum an involuntary cheer broke from the crowd at the admirable start. The horses ran well together, Mosely's horse taking the lead at the quarter-post, and everything put out, Hogan's sorrel mare racing up to the little bay passed her, and won the heat by several lengths. No time kept, but put at 1:47%. The three horses last mentioned wer

At the second heat the little bay mare was lame, but full of spirit, and the sorrel was fresh, with out a hair turned. The heat was run in fine style, Hockaday's bay making a fine run, and leading to within two hundred yards of the stand, when the little bay shot past him and won the heat by a couple of lengths. Time-1:57. The bay gelding

The third heat was similar to the second, an was won by the little bay mare by several lengths, the position of the horses and their running being much like the last. Time-2m. 4s. The prize of $50 was awarded to Mosely's little mare, and the econd prize of $10 to Hockaday's bay, he being second in two heats.

There were two entries for this race-first. Wil son's black mare; second, Wagener's roan gelding. They made a fine start, and the mare taking the lead, kept a clean distance ahead the whole mile, and won by several lengths in 3 min. 12 sec., without breaking once. The roan broke several times, and the last time not one hundred vards the stand. A charge of foul driving part of the mare was not sustained by the driver of the roan.

In the second heat the black led off in fine style but the roan settling to his work so n overhauled him, and a fine contest ensued on the half mile stretch. The rosn, however, got shead and won the heat by several lengths. In the third heat the roan had it pretty much his own way, and won easily by fifty yards, taking the prize. This was a signal for breaking up, and the crowd began to

THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT OF THE COL-LEGE OF CHARLESTON .- A crowded audience, including a large proportion of the beauty and in telligence of the city, gathered together in the Hi ernian Hall last evening to participate in the exercises of the commencement of our city college. Seldom have we of late seen so large and appreciative an assemblage. The old and young, fair maidens and their attentive gallants, crowded in, to attest by their presence their interest in the time-honored institution, which was about to urn into the busy arena of life a new list of comhatants in the strife.

The exercises of the evening were opened by prayer from the Rev. C. C. Pinckney. The salu atory addresses were delivered by Mr. Affred Hanckel, who spoke with great firmness and conidence. Mr. Hanckel then pronounced an ore tion on the delusive struggles for liberty. This effort evinced careful preparation, and bore the marks of profound and well disciplined thought. Mr. D. E. Huger Wilkinson, also a membe of the graduating class, followed in an oration on Mahomet, which was a most mesitorious production, showing not only a thorough acquaintance with his great subject, but a high appreciation of he magnificent triumphs which belong to a deter nined will and an irrepressible zeal. Mr. Wilkinson's delivery was exceedingly animated. An oration of mathematical science was next pronounced by Mr. Langdon Cheves, who treated a masterly manner his abstruse theme. This address was a most creditable effort, and showed that the orator has learned the force of true logic. Mr. Cheves also delivered, with much feeling, the valedictory address, after which the diplomas were presented to the graduates by Dr. N. Russe Middleton, the esteemed president of the college It was also announced that the degree of Mas ter of Arts had been conferred upon Dr. John W Caldwell tormerly of our city, but now of New Orieans, and upon Virgil C. Dibble, Esq. The Hon. William D. Porter was next introduced as the annual orator of the Society of the Alumni. It would be impossible to do justice to his oration. Mr. Porter was, as isual with him on such occasious, exceedingly happy. This address was listened to with wrapt attention, and we sincerely hope that he will be prevailed upon to allow the same to be published. At the close of the commencement exercises the annual meeting of the Society of the Alumni took place. The occasion was quite an event in our city, and gave strong evidence that literature is still asserting in our midst its grand in-
