THE MERCANTILE AGENCY ANNUAL .-- We have received a copy of this annual from R. G. Dun & Co., No. 5 Hayne street. It contains a mass of valuable information in regard to the mercantile laws of the different States, and has besides, a variety of miscellaneous information of importance to business men. Published by Dun, Barlow & Co., New York.

SUDDEN DEATH .- Mr. Porter B. Burnham well-known in Greenville, was found dead near I the gate of his mother's residence, in that place on Sunday morning last, about 5 o'clock. Th jury of inquest empanelled in the case, rendered a verdict of death from congestion of the brain. The deceased was quite dead when discovered, no one knowing how long the unfortunate man had lain when found.

CAUCUS MEETINGS .- In anticipation of the coming municipal election, a batch of ducky politicians are already on the qui vive, and several caucus meetings have been held at the Workhouse lately. These, it is understood, are presided over by the colored keeper, Wm. Dart, and are held on the principle of 'no white men need apply." This corps count certainly, and with some reason, on the support of the prisoners who pass through the House of Correction.

St. MARK'S FAIR. - The handsome manner in which this fair has been got up and conducted is bringing its own reward, and the brautiful hal was filled last evening with a large assemblage of visitors. The tables were well patronized, and the raffling went on with more than usual spirit. Once more the Chicara Cornet and String Band had offered their services and regaled the numer ous visitors with a succession of sparkling and popular airs. The fair was kept open until a late

CLUBS AND STARS.—Sarah Reed and Priscilla Davis, two colored nymphs of the pavement, and J. J. THE NILSSON CONCERT.-The fair Swede has arrived, and the concert excitement is at its height. In Richmond the enthusiasm was so great, that ladies blistered their hands and young men stamped off their soles. And, allowing for the difference of latitude, it will be the same thing in Charleston. It may be many years be fore we have another opportunity of hearing, in this city, on the same a sat, the prestest of price, the greatest tener as the greatest violinist in the country. Those, and they are lew, who de not go to the Nusson concerts will regret their emission for the rest of their natural floor. If an the sitting seats are taken, it is benity to take a standing seat than to may the Misson concerts.

THE DEATH OF JUDGE PLATT.

A special telegram to Tor. News, trum Aken, Hon. Zephaniah Platt, judge of the Second Circuit, embracing the Counties of Barnwell, Colleton and Beaufort.

Born three quarters of a century ago, in the State of New York, Judge Platt, within the past fifty years, has filled many honorable positions. As a lawyer, he was employed by the General Gov erament in settling the complicated claims of the United States on the Pacific coast. He served with distinction as the attorney-general of the State of Michigan, and in all the relations of Mfe appears to have won that credit which attaches to high integrity in the discharge of official duty. Judge Platt was descended from the oldest families of New York. His grandfather was a signe of the Declaration of Independence. His father was one of the supreme judges of the State, a compeer and friend of DeWitt Clinton, and, as ac knowledged by Governor Clinton in one of his public documents, the originator of the great Erie Canal. His connections on both sides have left their hand-mark on the history of their State, and Judge Platt himself exhibited in his career, both here and elsewhere, those strong elements of char acter which have identified the name with many of the public events of the past. He was a Christian, and a gentleman in every sense of the word. Honest in his convictions, he sought to do right. Justice was the watchword of his life. Tender hearted, with impulses as warm as those of youth, and yet fearless in the performance of what he conceived to be his duty; courteous alike to friend and foe; exhibiting at times the highest type of moral courage, and in all the relationships of life conscientiously obeying, as he understood them, the precepts of law, society and nature.

Judge Platt came to South Carolina after the war, and, in 1868, was elected by the General Assembly to the position which he held at the time of his death. He resided in Aiken, where he had perchased the home which sie intended should be

THE GRANITEVILLE MANUPACTURING COM-PANY .- At a meeting of the stockholders of the Graniteville Manufacturing Company, held in Augusta, on Thursday, considerably more than one-third of the stock was represented in person, and a heavy representation by proxies. The election resulted in the choice of the following named gentlemen : President-H. H. Hickman. Directors-James P. Boyce, W. L. Trenholm, A. S. Johnston, John M. Glark, H. Beattle, A. B. Davidson. Alexander Macbeth. The entire old board were re-elected, excep Captain J. J. Gregg, who, having retired, Mr. Macbeth, of Charleston, was elected in his stead. All the old executive officers were continued in office, viz: W. E. McCoy, cashler; James H. Giles, se-retary; George Kelly, manager; John Knott, manufacturer.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER .- Cyrus Fraser, yet another of Congress Middleton's multis company, was brought before Commissloner Porteous yesterday morning, and examined on the charge of voting under age at the Blufton poll, Beaufort County, during the Gubernatorial election last October. Cyrus failed to squeeze out more than twenty years at the preent time, and he was forthwith bound over for trial at the May term of the United States Disrict Court.

Frank Sinclair was also examined on the charge of being one of the softers at Biggin Church at the same section. The evidence show ed that he was among the inveding party from Strategry armed with an old raste; and one of the winesses. Steaten Brown aword that he would have been infect but for Frank's timely in-tervention in the favor. The prisoner was bound over like the allows mentioned militiaman.

THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT .- In this ourt on Friday, the 21st, (Hous. Hugh L. Bond and Geo. S. Bryan presiding,) the following business was transacted: IN EQUITY.

A MAN RUN OVER ON THE RAILROAD TRACK. an inquest was held yesterday morning over the body of a colored man, named John Graham, who was killed by the locomotive of the outward bound train on the Northeastern Railroad, just after dark on Thursday evening. The deceased was the captain of a raft on its way down the Ashley from near Summerville, and being obliged to wait for the tide he had anchored at Happoidt's Farm. From this place he walked to the city to get a fresh supply of provisions, and was on his way back when the accident occurred. Just opposite the Four Mile House, and about one hundred yards the side of the scene of the accident, he was overtaken by Affy Drayton and another colored person, who admonished him of the apreach of the train, and told him to get off of the track upon which he was walking. They had not left him far hefore the train went by, and the engineer called out to them that the man had been knocked over by the locomotive on their rourn, the deceased war found on one side oathe track, perfectly dead with his head crushed, and his brains literary knocked out. He was brought to the city, and on the oxamination of the lary-of inquest the above facts were elicited. The deceased was thought by the witnesses to have been in an intoxicated condition, and no provisions were found about him, but a 10 cent toil of breat was on the track. It is supposed that he bat droppe I this as the train turned the bend, and while stooping to pick it up was struck in the head by the cow-catcher. Owing to the absence of several material wit ne-ses the inquest was continued until this morning at it o'clock, when the examination will

EXTRAORDINARY LIFTING. - Nilsson and troupe arrived at the Milis House yesterday afternoon, accompanied by two large wagon-loads of the most Saratogish looking trunks that ever excited the envy of a Flora Mofilmsey. Amon baggage were several Noah's arks large enough to accommodate a moderately-sized famlly. Several of these trunks weighed not less than soo pounds, and Con, the porter at the Mills House, who is a sort of modern Hercules, won a wager by shouldering the heaviest, and alone and unaided carrying them, in turn, to their destination. It is a feat of strength which few men in Charleston would attempt to rival. BUILDING AT THE CITADEL. -The large quantity of lumber, noticeable for the past few days, piled up on the green at the burnt wing of the Citadel, is at last being put to use, and the car penters are hard at work upon it. They are about to construct a line of stables around the outer edge of the northwest corner of the green, on the hree eides of the parallelogram of which the west wing of the Citadel forms the forth. These stable are built for the accommodation of the eighty or ninety horses belonging to Company C of the Third Artillery, which is expected here about the let of May. The company will bring their battery of light guns, and will be stationed here. : Company I, a part of which is now on duty at the

the city and harbor, will also remain

PAINFUL ACCIDENT .- Another accident of an almost fatal character was added yesterday evening, between eight and nine o'clock, to the numerous ones already caused by explosions of keroseneoil. A colored nurse, with a white child in her arms, was walking across the apartment just over Mr. F. L. O'Neill's grocery store on King street, with a lighted kerosene lemp in her hand. The wick, it seems, did not fit the lamp tightly, and there being no lever to raise it or keep it in its place, the jarring made it fall through into the amp. A terrific explosion followed, and in a moment the woman was in fiames. She fortu nately threw down the child as the lamp exploied, and it escaped without injury from the flames. The cries of the woman quickly brought assis tance, and in a short time the dames were extinguished. Her clothing was burned from her arm and side, and her flesh was badly burned from her neck down, the skin hanging on her arm. Dr. Raoul was quickly summoned, and everything done to relieve her sufferings. Her burns, it is thought, will not prove fatal, although of a very serious nature.

A DEAD THING ON THE TIGER. -Jacob Bryant was tried before Trial Justice McKinlay yes terday on the charge of swindling a colored woman out of $5. It seems that Jacob, who is one of your cute darkles, met his friend, Ned Walker, on the street, and displaying a large roll of greenbacks, hinted that there were plenty mere where that came from. A confidential talk followed, in which Jacob disclosed to his credulous hearer that he had "the dead thing on the Tiger," and that if Walker would furnish a V he, Jacob, would go and bust up Ben. Riols, and divide the proceeds. The latter jumped at the idea, but had ne funds. Upon reflection, however, he thought he could squeeze it out of his sister-in-law. The two went to her house, and she having produced the required sum in small bills, Bryant grabbed the same, and leaving Walker behind, lest Riols should "smell a mice," he walked of with the money, and was heard of no more by his dupe. The sister-in-law, knowing nothing about the Tiger business, and, upon her complaint, Bryant was arrested. He was found guilty, and sent to the House of Correction for thirty days. A charge of the like nature as the above awaits him at the termination of his pre sent term.

THE CATHOLIC FAIR-FIFTH EVENING .- The umber of visitors at the fair last evening was as large as cn any of the preceding evenings, and a dense mass of human beings awayed slowly around the hall during the time the fair was kept open. To cross the room was a tack attended with difficulty, and only to be accomplished by patience, perseverance, and an expenditure of small change. Diminutive beings were constantly in the was and every advantage was taken of a pause to invite the visitor to inspect a raffie list. The number of these deluding papers which were being carried around exceeded all calculation, and a young lady without one was a curiosity. Several impromptu lotteries of trifling articles were got up on the spur of the moment and proved themselves handsome speculations. Among the vest crowd that filled the hall many new and welcome faces were to be seen, and the evening was without doubt one of the most profitable of the fair. On Saturday evening there is no for staying away, and it is expected that all who have not done so will now come forward and give their countenance, if nothing else, to the efforts of the ladies and managers. The following prizes were won last evening: Velvet vest, C. M. Townsend; cigar stand, G. Collins; fine canary bird, Miss Relle Harvey; handsome fruit cake, Mr. M Cochrane; pair pictures L. J. Blane; handspme butter-dish, Mr. Maloney; fruit cake, J. H. BUSINESS NOTICES. ROSADALIS .- Many of our readers have doubtless noticed, in their daily perusal of this journal, that there is a medicine known as "Rosa dalis," which, if the advertisement is to be believ ed, will work wonderful cures. Had we no other authority for the truth of these claims we might perhaps hesitate to give it our entire confidence. But we know from reliable druggists in this city that Rosadalis has been extensively tried through out the South, and been found admirably adapted to the diseases incident to this climate. It is be lieve i to be one of the best alteratives and blood purifiers ever put forth in this age teeming with nostrums and panaceas. We have it also upon positive and trustworthy authority that many of the physicians, both in city and country, use it regularly in their practice; although some, with the fear of the Medical Society before their eyes, timidly empty the contents of the Rosada is bottle into a common vial, before they give it to their patients Rosadalis is not a secret remedy, as the ingred ents are given on the wrapper with every
