The Charleston Market. FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, JUNE 8. THE CROPS .- The weather was too wet for cotton during the early part of the week, and if general and continued during this month must have a damaging influence on the plant. The characterof the season from day to day will now be watched with anxiety. Hot suns and dry weather is what cotton stands in need of for a successful growth. The grain crops, of which an abundance has been planted, is reported in a good condition. THE RECEIPTS .- The arrivals at the cotton ports for the week ending on Friday last were 36,402 bales, against 40,178 the previous week, and 22,441 bales for the time last season. The total receipts at the cotton ports from September 1, 1870, up to the latest mail dates, were 3,784,425 bales, in contrast with 2,776.232 the year before, showing an increase of 1.007,993 bales. The supplies at the
