NEWS OF THE DAY.

Gold closed in New York yesterday, at 12 1/2. Cotton closed firm but quiet at 21 cents; sales 3040 bales. In Liverpool, cotton closed buoyant; uplands 24, Orleans 24 1/2; sales 25,000 bales.

The United States and Canada now have 6942 newspapers and periodicals. Valparaiso, in Chile, has a German newspaper, "Deutsche Nachrichten für Sudamerika."

After July 1st the pay of private soldiers in the United States army is to be $1 a month.

There were manufactured in the United States last year over half a million sewing machines.

Aloys Sennefelder, of Munich, was the inventor of the lithographic art. On the 5th of November next the people of that city will celebrate the centenary of his birth.

The schools in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, are attended by 7635 pupils, 3546 of whom study German, which is taught in all the schools there.

The father of Dr. Dollinger, whose protest against Papal infallibility has lately made considerable noise in the world, was a distinguished professor of anatomy and physiology in the beginning of the present century.

The brother of Heinrich Heine is the proprietor of a very prosperous journal in Vienna, the possessor of an ample fortune, and the bearer of a title conferred on him by the Emperor of Austria. He has the reputation of his deceased brother's wit and genius, which may partially account for his success.

The German Reichstag has passed the military pension bill, which provides for adequate compensation and pensions to various officers and soldiers who have been wounded or partially incapacitated for work by wounds received or diseases contracted during the Franco-German war.

Intelligence from Paris gives the curious piece of information that, owing to the great suffering now prevailing in that country, from famine, and the stagnation in all departments of trade, Gypsy tribes there, who suffer with the rest, are selling their young women, who are remarkable for their personal charms, at prices ranging from five dollars upwards. Sad, but cheap.

Professor Frederick von Raumer, of the University of Berlin, now over 90 years of age, has only recently consented to be relieved of the active duties of his chair. He will not lecture again. The Baron, it will be remembered, is a distinguished historian, and visited this country some thirty years ago. Both Charleston and Columbia are honorably mentioned in his work on America.

Among the princesses of Europe the Empress of Russia and the Princess Frederick Charles are the best painters, the Princess of Wales the best performer on the piano, the Queen of Holland the best poet and author, the Empress of Germany the best chess player, and the Queen of Denmark the best housewife.

Notwithstanding the determined effort of the Communists to destroy utterly the columns of the Place Vendôme, the Vendôme troops, on their entry into the city, found intact most of the pieces of bronze has-reliefs which adorned the column. As these were the really valuable and interesting relics associated with the column, it is gratifying to know that they have been preserved. The National Assembly has decreed that the column shall be speedily erected again, and thus Paris will once more rejoice in one of her noblest architectural monuments.

A Paris correspondent, who visited the cemetery of Père-la-Chaise, the scene of the last conflict between the Communists and the Versailles, gives a fearful description of the appearance of the spot, as he saw it after the battle. The monuments were generally injured by the firing; coffins were broken open, and the remains lay scattered over the ground. The recent dead were very numerous, lying in a double tier on the grass for many rods, and covered over with a coating of lime. There were many women among them, and faces, the features of which, he said, made one sick to look upon them.

The German Government has constant application for pieces of the captured French guns, out of which to cast church bells. So numerous are these requests that the Emperor has given orders that the metal shall be furnished only to such communities as are too poor to purchase a bell for their churches, and to buildings of national importance, such as cathedrals. A captured mitrailleuse has been shipped from Berlin to the Germans of San Francisco, in answer to their special request, in return for the large sum of money which they transmitted to Germany for the benefit of the German wounded, widows and orphans. Two French ministers were also given to M. Von Roon, the Prussian Minister of War, by the Emperor, as a mark of the latter's regard and appreciation of his services.

Now that the war between France and Prussia is over, the German heroes who carried away from the occupied French districts such war "trophies" as cloaks, bronzes, clothing, gold and silver watches, jewelry and other handy relics, whereby to remember the days of conflict, will be compelled, by official decree, to surrender these articles to the German authorities. Rigorous search will be made where it is suspected that articles are concealed. Only articles taken on the battle field or in arsenals will be permitted to remain in private possession, as souvenirs of the campaign, and even these will have to be paid for at a valuation to be fixed by the authorities. It is not stated, however, that these captured spoils are to be restored to their French owners.

Count Motke has written a letter on the German successes, addressed to the poet Oscar von Redwitz, who dedicated to him his "Song of the New German Empire." Count Motke says: "To the poet it is permitted to be prodigal. He sows with full hands diamonds and pearls, the stars of Heaven and the flowers of the earth; and in the same spirit he bestows his praises. In this sense only can I receive your song comparing me to the great men of the past. These have been great also in adversity, and especially in adversity. We have had nothing but successes. Let it be called chance, destiny, fortune, or the ways of Providence—men alone have no done it. Conquests so great are essentially the result of a state of things which we can neither create nor dominate. The "Bramah" but unfortunate Pope Adrian had the following words engraved on his tomb: "How different is the action of events, the best of men according to the times in which he lives! More than once the most capable has failed, owing to the intricate force of circumstances, while a less capable has been carried by it to success." If I see myself constrained, not by a false and vain modesty, to consider as not deserved part of the praises bestowed on me, I am not the less indebted for them; for verily like yours may last longer than many a bronze or marble monument.

An English newspaper gives the following interesting account of the Bramah lock and its downfall: "Joseph Bramah patented in 1784 a lock containing a series of slides, each of which has to be pressed down to a certain position, so as to pass the locking plate, before the bolt can be moved. Although this invention was but the revival of an ancient Chinese lock, it proved to be one of the most successful and famous patents in the history of the trade. The lock retained the name of its inventor during the great exhibition of 1851; but it proved to be the prey of its sudden fall. Mr. Bramah had for many years exhibited a lock in his shop window, in Piccadilly, attached to which was the offer of a reward of two hundred guineas to the inventor of an instrument to open it. Everybody remembers how this boastful challenge was accepted by Hobbs, a young American mechanic who had come over to the World's Fair, and who, after sixteen days of patient effort, he succeeded in dispelling the fond dream of an 'unpickable' lock. This astonishing feat was the great event of the exhibition, and it lifted Hobbs into fame, and established a new and successful era in the production of locks and keys."

The City Election.

The activity of the various wards in the movement to secure a good City Government has at length aroused the Radical managers to action. A caucus of these managers has been called for next Thursday evening to decide what shall be done. The list of signers to the call is largely made up of the names of those disinterested gentlemen the dearest ties of home and kindred, have magnanimously consented to relieve South Carolina of the burden of self-government by gobbling her State and Federal offices, and who seem not unwilling to lend a helping hand to our good old city in her present straits. In truth, the caucus is likely to include whatever of brains or respectability the Radical party in this city can boast; and we are ready to believe that most of its members, heartily sick of living under a municipal organization for which nobody has any respect, are really desirous to bring about a change for the better. The action of the caucus will, therefore, be looked for with interest by the citizens at large. Two problems are to be solved: 1. Whether the caucus can devise any practicable plan, that will be acceptable to the mass of the people, for choosing a Mayor and Aldermen without a party contest. 2. Whether such a plan, if devised, can obtain a sufficient support among the colored voters to render its success a reasonable certainty.

On both of these points we must in candor say that we are skeptics. But we shall be glad indeed should our doubts turn out to be without foundation.

Corruption.

The Radical organ, in replying to some remarks in The News on the City Election, says: "The Radical organ, in replying to some remarks in The News on the City Election, says: 'This is not the first time that such insinuations have been made—and we repeat them squarely now, as we repeated them during the Reform canvass. This is a matter on which The News has never asked or given "quarter," and our Radical contemporary is very much mistaken if it fancies that we are going to ask for "quarter" now.'

The Smithsonian Institution.

For a real first-class old fogey concern, give us the Smithsonian—an institution whose aim and end would appear to be "how not to die." Through the courtesy of Senator Sawyer, we have just received the annual report for 1869. Professor Henry, the secretary, may be presumed to be a safe man, determined to have his figures properly verified. Time certainly is no object with him. Your scribe who scans the stately heavens and "triangles" the vast immensity of space, takes no thought of time. So his work is well done, what does it matter whether the world gets it two or three years sooner or later? Our readers pretty generally, we presume, know the origin of this institution: how a wealthy Englishman named Smithson, about twenty years ago, bequeathed his vast fortune, consisting of over $700,000, to the United States of America, to found at Washington an establishment "for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men;" also how this splendid endowment has been frittered away, year after year, doing little, if any good, beyond issuing a ponderous volume every twelve months, which makes the tour of the country in Uncle Sam's canvas mail bags, dead-headed by the Honorable Members and Senators. This "Pub. Doc." like all its sisters and brothers, is put on the top shelf of the library; or else, and this by no means unfrequently, finds its way to the junkshop, to be bolted down into pulp and reappear on this mundane stage in the form of wrapping paper or pasteboard. And yet we would not be understood as reflecting on the labors of Professor Joseph Henry; for a taking man, of science is not to be found in the United States. The fault lies in the organization, and in the Board of Regents. A great deal of its energy has been frittered away in laboriously doing very trifling things—"breaking a butterfly on the wheel"—conducting the "international exchanges"—that is sending a "public document" to Austria, France, or England, and receiving in exchange a "Yellow," "Red" or "Blue" Book. To be sure, this is "diffusing knowledge among men," that is, after a fashion. How long it will take, by this process, to get the little knowledge now in the possession of the world generally diffused, we are unable to say; but we doubt not, that the pundits of the Smithsonian, with the help of Babbage's Logarithms, might work it out to the seventh decimal, say in the course of about four hundred and thirty-seven years.

The income of the fund, during 1869, was $49,515—the capital being at present $710,200.80. During 1869, the following "quarterly publications" were printed by the Institution:

1. On the Gray Substance of the Brain, by John D. Dana, M. D. 2. On the Sublimation Phenomena of a Meteoric First Fall, seen July 20, 1869, by Professor J. H. Comins, LL. D. 3. On the Trans-Atlantic Longitude, by Benjamin A. Gould. 4. The Indians of Cape Flattery, at the entrance of the Strait of Fuca, Washington Territory, by J. G. Swan. 5. Systems of Consanguinity and Affinity of the Human Family, by Lewis H. Morgan. 6. On the Gliddon Mummy case in the Museum of the Smithsonian Institution, by Chas. Pickering. 7. A new edition of Brewster's North American Oology. The eminently conservative character of the Smithsonian will be observed in all these. No "new departure" here—all "old issues." In addition to the above-mentioned quartos, the Institution also published a few "octavos," of even less importance or interest.

There are in connection with the Institution a library, a museum and art gallery, which occupy much of the attention of its officers. The National Museum is getting to be a huge affair, the catalogue already counting 158,682 entries; 16,265 of which were made in 1869.

Appropos of the recent ovation to Professor Morse, it may not be known to many of our readers that Professor Henry is entitled to a large share of the honor of the invention of telegraphy. Long before Professor Morse took the matter in hand, Professor Henry, then of Princeton College, in New Jersey, had his poles and wires, and sent messages all over the college campus. This we have from gentlemen in this State who were students at the college at the time. Honor to whom honor is due.

Valuable Hints.

A REGULAR habit of body is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the vital air of the city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants. Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the disorganizing organs, and one of its most common results is constipation. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants—such as an unpleasant breath, a sallow skin, contaminating blood and bile, hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory, and general debility. HOSSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs, and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant or a tonic, or an antispasmodic, or a nerve, or a blood purifier, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves, and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger. HOSSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are sold in bottles, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label is the true genuineness. Beware of counterfeits. Jun17-stub3ac

READ CAREFULLY. PEPPER AND GAGE. The only preventive known for Chills and Fever is the use of Wolfe's Scliedam Schnapps. WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS is good for all Kidney and Bladder Complaints, WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS is used all over the World by Physicians in their practice. WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS is good for Gout. WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS is good for all Urinary complaints. WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS is recommended by all the Medical Faculty. WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS is good for Colic and pain in the stomach. WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS is limited and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing. See testimonials in favor of the Schnapps: I feel bound to say that I regard your Schnapps as being in every respect pre-eminently pure, and deserving of medical patronage. At all events it is the purest possible article of Holland gin, heretofore unobtainable, and as such may be safely prescribed by physicians. DAVID P. MOY, M. D., Pharmaceutical Chemist, New York. LOUISVILLE, Ky., September 1. I feel that we have now an article of gin suitable for such cases as that remedy is advised to. Dr. J. W. BRIGHT. "Schnapps" is a remedy in chronic catarrhal complaints, &c. I take great pleasure in bearing highly creditable testimony to its efficacy as a remedial agent in the diseases for which you recommend it. Having a natural tendency to the mucous surfaces, with a slight degree of stimulation, I regard it as one of the most important remedies in chronic catarrhal affections, particularly those of the genito-urinary apparatus. With much respect, your obedient servant. CHAS. A. LEAS, M. D., New York. No. 26 Park Street, N. Y., Nov. 21, 1867. UDOLPHO WOLFE, Esq., Present: Dear Sir, I have made a chemical examination of a sample of your "Scliedam Schnapps," with the intent of determining if any foreign or injurious substance had been added to the simple distilled spirits. The examination has resulted in the conclusion that the sample contained no poisonous or harmful admixtures. I have been unable to discover any trace of the deleterious substances which are sometimes employed in the adulteration of liquors. I would not hesitate to use myself, nor to recommend to others, for medicinal purposes, the "Scliedam Schnapps" as an excellent and unobjectionable variety of gin. Very respectfully yours, (Signed) CHAS. A. SEELY, Chemist, CHEMICAL AND TECHNICAL LABORATORY, is Exchange Place, New York, Nov. 29, 1867. UDOLPHO WOLFE, Esq.: Dear Sir—The undersigned have carefully and thoroughly analyzed a sample of your "Aromatic Scliedam Schnapps," selected by ourselves, and have found the same free from all organic or inorganic substances, more or less injurious to health. From the result of our examination we consider the article one of superior quality, healthful as a beverage, and effectual in its medicinal qualities. Respectfully yours, (Signed) ALEX. TRIPP, Chemist. FRANCIS E. ENGELHARD, M. D. For sale by all respectable Grocers and Druggists. UDOLPHO WOLFE'S EST., mar21-3mos No. 22 BEAVER STREET, N. Y.
