NEWS OF THE DAY.

Gold at New York closed at 124 1/2. Cotton closed dull and lower; uplands 24 cents; sales 3021 bales. In Liverpool cotton closed flat; uplands 9d, Orleans 9 3/4; sales 8000 bales.

Connecticut has ordained that railway companies shall erect a fence along the line of their roads, which reminds the stockholders of the legend, "Not assent for tribute, but millions for the fence."

It is said in Paris, both by Legationists and Orleansists, that the proclamation of the Count de Chambord has ruined by far the best chance the Monarchical party has had since 1848, and that the hopes of the elder branch must now be set at rest for several years to come.

In driving a London underground railway tunnel we are told that in one part of the line the cuttings were made through a mass of skulls and bones sixteen feet in thickness, the remains of an old burial ground.

Koopmanschap, the famous importer of heathen Chinese, has been to Tuscaloosa, Ala., to look after the interests of about 350 Chinese men who were taken there to work on a railroad and received no pay. He found them living on blackberries and crawfish, and probably deemed the diet healthy for the Mongolian constitution, as he left them to continue the same regimen.

A piece of "iron paper," a thousand of which were required to make a layer an inch thick, was sent from this country to the International Exhibition at London, in 1851. But English workmanship has now attained a far more remarkable result, in the production of a sheet of iron so thin that it requires four thousand eight hundred sheets to form an inch in thickness. It is the thinnest sheet-iron ever rolled, and measures ten inches in length, by five and a half in width. It weighs only twenty grains.

George H. Miles, the Maryland poet and playwright, died on the 24th instant, at "Thornton," his country residence, about four miles south of Emmetsburg, Frederick county, Maryland, of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Mr. Miles is best known to the public for his magnificent prize play of "Mohammed," which he wrote for Edwin Forrest, then in the zenith of his histrionic success. Mr. Forrest paid the writer $1000 for this work. The play is full of rich imagery and gorgeous oriental scenes, but its production on the stage was attended with too much cost to make it popular with managers.

The disaster which has overtaken an island of the Philippine group, as reported by cable dispatches recently, is a comparatively familiar one in the history of that beautiful but unfortunate portion of the Malay Archipelago. The islands were all of volcanic formation; and abundant with active as well as extinct craters, and it is in such regions that earthquakes occur with greatest frequency and in the most violent forms. It is only eight years since Manila, the chief town of Luzon, and capital of the group, was almost obliterated by one of these natural convulsions, and a year later there was a terrible earthquake in the island of Mindanao, which swept away villages and destroyed numbers of lives; at the same time some of the smaller islands disappeared entirely.

Peabody Square, London, another block of model dwellings erected under the bequest of George Peabody, will be formally opened on August 1. The square contains two fine quadrangles of light airy-looking buildings, the white and red brick-work of which is relieved by the clusters of trees. The rooms are described as well lighted, well ventilated, and thoroughly comfortable. Water pipes run through the buildings, bath-rooms are provided in abundance, and the staircases and passages are lighted with gas. The two quadrangles afford accommodations for three hundred and twenty tenants, who pay sixty-two cents a week for one room, one dollar for two rooms, and one dollar and a quarter for three rooms. At these rates, it is stated, all the rooms in the buildings have been taken, the applicants being twice as many as the premises could accommodate. Every effort, it is said, was made to insure that the tenants should only belong to the deserving industrious poor, whom the trust is charged to benefit.

The marriage of the Princess Louise with the Marquis of Lorne was not, according to late English gossip, by any means the love match it has been popularly supposed to be, and the wedded pair are now far from happy together. The story is that the Princess inherits her mother's quick and impetuous temper, and the two women had such frequent quarrels that the peace of the royal domestic circle was quite destroyed. The marriage of the Princess and her residence elsewhere being the only resource in the emergency, a certain number of young noblemen were selected and invited to Windsor Castle, and the Princess required to choose a husband from among them. She obeyed, and her choice fell on the young Marquis, but there was no more love between them than usually attends such business-like arrangements. The result has been that the Princess's temper is as bad as ever, only it is exercised on a new object. The exclusion of the Marquis from the royal circle, and the consequent separation of him from his wife on state occasions, is said to be owing to these conjugal differences, and not to any law of etiquette. It is even reported that not long ago the Queen was sent for, and went down to Claremont, the residence of the young couple, to prevent a complete rupture.

A cargo of elephants, such as a fancy of Dean Swift or DeFoe, but this was what actually arrived at New York a day or two ago, direct from Ceylon. There were eleven of the intelligent animals, and owing to the precautions taken for their proper feeding and stabling, only one died on the passage, and the remaining ten were hoisted upon the New York dock, in the best of health and spirits, and to the great delight of a large and enthusiastic but respectful audience. Ceylon was left on the 20th of March, and the weather remained favorable until passing the Cape of Good Hope. Most of the elephants, however, became sea-sick, and went through the agony in the most orthodox fashion, recovering at last like members of the human family. After passing the Cape a series of terrific gales were encountered, and the situation of the animals was rendered more uncomfortable; but beyond giving vent to a fearful roaring, they endured the ordeal with exemplary fortitude. They used 26,000 gallons of water on the passage, and 125 bales of hay, averaging 375 pounds per day, which food was in addition to two bushels of gramma and "paddy," the last rolled up in the form of little balls or cakes, and fed to them from the hands of their Singhalese keepers. Those on board would occasionally give them a sea-biscuit, which was esteemed by the elephants a great luxury. They seemed to comprehend and mourn over the decease of their companion, and in various ways gave token of that wonderful intelligence so long noticed as being possessed by this noble animal.

Who is Responsible? We hold that Mayor Pillsbury is responsible for the terrible abuses which make the City Government of Charleston a shame and a reproach. He has not attempted to correct them. He has not raised his voice in protest. Mr. Pillsbury cannot run with the Ring and hold with the advocates of Reform.

CHARLESTONIANS! register to-day, one and all of you! Economy with a Vengeance: The city is supporting some sixteen hundred paupers, many of whom are declared to be persons in vigorous health. It is right to care for the infirm and poor. But they who can work should be made to support themselves under the direction of the city. Money is wasted by the peck in this and other ways. How, then, can the Pillsbury Ring claim that there has been, and is, an economical administration?

Of what? Ten million dozen were imported last year. It is a large number. It is a very large number. Number of what? It amounts to one hundred and twenty millions. Millions of what? It is estimated that the sale in the United States increases five per cent. every year. What increases? The annual domestic production last year was one million five hundred thousand pairs. What sort of pairs? In the same year, were imported about two hundred dozen for the use of males. What kind of males? To this last query, a prompt and satisfactory reply can be made. The males are males of the human species. It follows, of course, that the ten million dozen foreign and the fifteen hundred thousand domestic were for the use of females, also of the human species. Now the population of the United States, at a liberal estimate, is forty millions. Of these, one-half are males. Of the remaining twenty millions of females, one-half are too young to need the article in question. Deducting negro and poor white females, who never use the article, there will be left not above eight millions who do use the article. Divide one hundred and twenty-one millions five hundred thousand by eight millions, and it will be perceived that each woman in the United States who ever used the article uses fifteen and a fraction of the article every year. And the article, we are assured, washes. But what is the article? As we do not use invisible ink, we are unable to say. It may be hinted, though, that the article is something in the nature of what carpenters would call a strut. It may incline the wearer to strut, but it is not a strut. Nor is it, properly speaking, a prop, a ring-post, a trestle-work, though its operation is analogous to these. In a barrel factory, it might be called a hoop, but it is not a hoop. Sailors who are familiar with main-stays and back-stays might tell what manner of article this article is. We dare not whisper its mysterious name. Ten million dozen of the article are imported annually, and each year sees a considerable increase not only of the imported, but of the home-made article. What wasteful extravagance! What all-embracing prodigality! What a numerous article!

ALL adopted citizens, as well as native-born citizens, must register if they cannot vote.

Defrauding the Taxpayers or Robbing the Poor.

We are informed that City Inspector Jinks, the son-in-law of Mayor Pillsbury, claims, and receives, a discount upon all claims against the city which receive his approval. Such a practice is a fraud upon the taxpayers, or upon the laborers who do the city work. If those who present the bills add on to their charges enough to cover the discount which they take off, the taxing public are cozened out of the difference between the fair cost of what is done and the price actually charged. But, if the prices charged are fair prices, the discount allowed the city officials is as good as filched from the pockets of the mechanics and laborers who get a job from the city. Why should the people pay more than a just compensation for the work which is done, or why should the sons of toil receive one cent less than the full amount of their claims? These are the horns of the dilemma. The Ring may take their choice!

Be sure to take your naturalization papers with you when you go up to register and to vote. You must be prepared to show your naturalization papers—nothing else will do. All naturalization papers issued by the United States Court, or by any State Court, or by the City Court, before December 20, 1856, will be accepted as valid. Papers issued by the City Court after December 20, 1856, are of no earthly use. This is the decision of the Commissioners of Election. Bear it in mind.

IRISH citizens of Charleston! register this day!

One Thing in His Favor.

All the available members of the Pillsbury household are handsomely provided for, at the expense of the citizens of Charleston. This is a point to be scored in favor of the present Mayor. Although a Know-Nothing and a Do-Nothing, he is not "worse than an infidel."

EVEN if you have voted in Charleston, without challenge, for a quarter of a century, you will not be allowed to vote on Wednesday unless your name is registered to-day, and is continued on Monday and Tuesday.

The Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting held yesterday, adopted unanimously a vote of thanks to his Excellency Governor Scott for his prompt and judicious action in relation to the important subject of pilotage.

REMEMBER that no man can vote on Wednesday who does not register his name, as a voter, to-day, or on Monday or Tuesday. Time is precious. Register at once!

THE President of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad writes to Mr. Hudson, of Bennettsville, to say that, if the citizens of that place will grade a road to Laurinburg, and furnish cross-ties and iron, his company will, no doubt, lease the road at six per cent., and furnish their own locomotives and cars. It is proposed that the new road be a three foot gauge. Mr. Hudson, in communicating this proposition to the Marlboro' Times, says that, in his opinion, the route to Society Hill is more advantageous, but, if that road cannot be built, the community should do all in their power to meet the offer of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad.

REMINISCENCES OF FIFTY YEARS. By Mark Boyd. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Price $1 50.

Mr. Boyd is a Scotchman who has lived for nearly half a century in London, and has in that time moved in "the best society," of which it is evident that, in his own opinion at least, magna pars fuit. His reminiscences of the people he has met and known form a curious olla-podrida of things wise and unwisely, amusing and stupid. His style is slipshod and inelegant; and many of his anecdotes are so Scotchly told as to be almost "caviare to the general." But here and there one stumbles over something that repays search; and, taken altogether, the book is chatty and agreeable enough.

THE POSTHUMOUS PAPERS OF THE PICKWICK CLUB. By Charles Dickens. New York: D. Appleton & Co.

The Appletons are issuing their cheap edition of Dickens's novels singly, in a new dress, at 75 cents a volume, and the series of course opens with the immortal Pickwick. The edition is handsomely and strongly bound, but the type is exceedingly Lilliputian.

LITTLE SUNSHINE'S HOLIDAY. A Picture from Life. By the author of "John Halifax." New York: Harper & Bros. Price 90 cents.

WILSON'S GROCERY. COFFEES! COFFEES! COFFEES! ROASTED AND GREEN COFFEES, of all grades. RIO, LAQUAYRA, MARACAIBO, JAVA, MOCHA, &c. We are now purchasing our own Coffees, and can safely recommend them for their fine flavor and purity. We wish it distinctly understood that we do not keep any Ground Coffees on hand, preferring to grind them at the time of purchase, and in the presence of purchasers, thus insuring a pure and fresh article. Our Coffees are now considered by connoisseurs the BEST sold. Give them a trial. WILSON'S GROCERY, Box No. 388, Charleston.
