NEWS OF THE DAY.

Gold closed in New York yesterday at 124 1/2.

Cotton closed more active at a decline of one-quarter of a cent; uplands 19 cents; sales 3862 bales.

In Liverpool cotton closed dull; uplands 8 1/2 @ 9 1/2, Orleans 8 @ 9 1/2; sales 8000 bales.

Paris is threatened with a lack of Cologne water in addition to her other misfortunes.

The French Government, accepting the situation in full, will shortly appoint consuls in the principal towns of Alsace and German Lorraine.

John Stuart Mill has been astonishing his Scottish friends by the versatility of his accomplishments.

A letter has been received from Parris describing the effects of the famine in that country.

A poor woman in Belleville, Paris, whose son is a prisoner among the insurgents in Versailles, wrote to the Empress (thinking she was still on the throne) to beg her to grant a pardon to the prisoner.

It is a curious fact that the cotton crop in the United States is estimated to be worth $100,000,000, and that the total value of the cotton crop in all the countries of the world is $1,000,000,000.

Francisco and the Eastern cities are becoming very important agents in the transportation of gold in bullion or coin, which was hitherto monopolized by the express companies.

The demand of the Massachusetts boot and shoemakers for free trade in the materials and products of their industry has led to an investigation into the subject of cotton manufacture, and the result is the discovery of facts which show that the only result reached by the tariff, which was ostensibly intended to foster and enlarge that important branch of industry, is the exclusion of American cotton fabrics from several important markets which they once practically monopolized.

Previous to 1861, the cotton manufacturers of the United States enjoyed a practical monopoly of the South American and West Indian markets, and even sent large quantities of their fabrics to India and China; but, under the tariff which taxes the machinery employed, and so many of the materials entering into the production of cotton goods, and the high wages which they are now forced to pay for labor, the trade of these markets has been transferred to the English manufacturers, who now have a monopoly of them.

Thus it will be seen that while the British manufacturers, under a system of free trade, increased 35 per cent, our "protected" manufacturers lost 65 per cent on their export trade. Our exports to China have fallen off during the ten years under review from $3,897,300 to $436,200; to Chili, from $1,351,300 to $47,500; to Africa, from $931,000 to $370,000; to the British Indies, from $496,300 to $190,000; to Mexico, from $651,500 to $59,700, and to Brazil, from $611,500 to $39,300.

What compensating advantages have our "protected" cotton manufacturers gained at home? Statistics show that whereas we consumed in cotton fabrics 987,000 bales of the staple in 1859-60, the consumption in 1869-70 was only 896,000 bales—a reduction of 10 per cent, when there should have been an increase of at least 20 per cent, considering the increase of population.

It is absurd to boast of industrial prosperity in the presence of such demonstrated facts as these. The exactions required by the national debt do, indeed, spur the people to violent exertions to meet the demands of their government. They are more industrious than they ever were before, and they work harder than at any previous period of their history.

Under the resolution, the chair appointed Dr. J. M. Sullivan, Dr. J. P. Latimer, Thomas Steen, Colonel G. F. Townes, General W. K. Basley and T. Q. Donaldson as a committee to draw up a memorial, to be sent to the next Legislature, asking a modification or repeal of the Code.

The Edgefield Advertiser prints a notice that application will be made to the Legislature at its next session for a charter for a railroad from Laurens Courthouse, via Ninety-Six and Edgefield Courthouse, to Augusta, Ga., or some point on the Columbia and Augusta Railroad, south of Pine House Depot.

It is hardly credible, so accustomed are the Southern as well as the Northern people to thinking that the North far exceeds the South in all matters of business, yet it is a fact that it appears that the value of domestic exports during the fiscal year last ended was $239,128,730 from the great Northern ports of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, and $108,801,651 from the insignificant Southern ports of Baltimore, Charleston, Savannah, Mobile, Galveston and New Orleans.
