THROUGH TRAVEL NORTH .- As a statement has been put forth that persons from Charleston will be subjected to inconvenience and delay at Washington, we have been requested to state that such is not the case-the trains passing around Wilmington, and not through that city. The only change made by recent events is that cars are changed at Florence. and that the sleeping cars have been taken from the line.

THE CROPS.—We make the following extract from a letter received by a prominent factoragethouse in this city:

ORANGEBURG, August 25.
We still continue to have a great deal of ain, but not so violent. The rains prior have we still continue to violent. The rains prior have rain, but not so violent. The rains prior have been heavy, accompanied with high winus, almost gales, and have done a large amount of damage to our crops. The writer now estimates, from information gathered, it will affect us fully one-third from the June and July prospects. We do not feel disposed to complain, but a great deal of damage is done.

THE SCHOONER WM. B. MANN .- The revenue cutter Racer, Captain Sands, took charge of the schooner Wm. B. Mann, previously reported water-logged off Edisto on Thursday at 2 P. M., and drifted her up to Brick Yard Creek and chartered the tug Ida to tow her through to Resufort, S. C. Her hold is full of lumber; spars and sails gone; standing rigging good. The deck is somewhat broken by the centre board being forced through it. The officers and men of the Racer were employed two days in securing her.

THE RICE CROP.—The New York Daily Bul.

letin of Saturday, August 25, says:

The steamer James Adger brought to Messrs. Dan Talmage's Sons, of this city, the first shipment of the 'new crop' Carolina rice. The parcel was grown on the Ashepoo River. In poll of arrival it is about the same as last year, which was fully three weeks in advance of average season. It is bright and pearly in appearance, though considerably broken, as is common with new rice, its soft condition rendering it impossible to dress without breaking, as the milling of the body of the crop is not regularly commenced until the latter part of September or the first of October. We learn from Messrs. Talmage's Sons that the Cooper. Ashepoo, Santee and Savannah Rivers will show increased production, and from Georgetown a very much larger yield than last year is looked for. Everything has been favorable for the planter. Even the drought in the latter part of July and 1st of the present month has, by subsequent rains, been of great and lasting advantage. The harvesting has commenced, and the results promise to yield up to the greatest anticipae letin of Saturday, August 25, says: harvesting has commenced, and the results promise to yield up to the greatest anticipae tions of the planters unless some untoward event should occur, as heavy rains or high winds. As to the general quality of the year's crop, it is expected that with the better carwhich is bestowed from year to year proportionate improvement will be noted.

THE TRIAL JUSTICE WAR.

"Let Us Have Peace"-Startling Developments. The arrest of the sailor James Nash, on the charge of desertion from the schooner Edle Walters, and the subsequent proceedings in his case, have thrown the fraternity of trial justices into a state of excitement which, on the the ravages of lever. The prisoner, as already reported in THE NEWS, was arrested on a warrant issued by Trial Justice Levy, and was about to be turned over to his captain, when his counsel sued out a writ of habeas corpus and brought him before Trial Justices Brennan and Magrath, on the ground that he was illegally held by a trial justice, and had withwhich, it was asserted, he had deserted. The hearing took place on Saturday morning, and afthe prisoner should have a trial on the original charge, and referred him back to Trial Justice Levy for trial.

In the meantime, Nash, whose sole object the captain of the vessel that he was approachsea, if the trial went against him, he must assault some one and beat him badly-the scheme being that, as soon as this was done, Nash would be arrested, taken before a trial justice, and, not being able to give bail, be committed to fall to await his trial at the Court of General Sessions. By the time the court met the schooner would be far away, and Nash would have accomplished his object of staying

At five o'clock, the hour appointed, the trial Justice Brennan and Mackey being present to assist. The prisoner's counsel was not present. The evidence showed that Nash was an treated him. In view of this, the prisoner was ordered to be committed to jail to await the requisition of the captain on sailing. The con-Mable then proceeded to conduct the prisoner to fall.

Mindful of the advice of his wily friend, Nash began to look around for some subject upon which he could operate to advantage before his incarceration. In the door of the trial justice's office, and with his back turned, stood the bulky form of the lieutenant himself, and Nash, seizing the propitious moment, and not recognizing his friend, applied his City Council should be recommended to take heavy brogan to the most inviting spot, with | with regard to the yellow fever in Charleston, a vigor which sent the chief of detectives flying into the street. THE HEALTH OF THE CITY.

The Yellow Fever Reports and their Effect-Progress of the Disease-Santtary Precautions-The Great Radical Higeira-"Devil Take the Hindmost" -The Cold Shoulder from our Neighbors-A Clean Bill of Health for the

To unaccustomed ears there is something so awe inspiring in the very name of Yellow Fever that it is not surprising that the strangers within our gates have been considerably alarmed, some of them having moved bag and baggage upon the first wild reports that fever had made its appearance. There was a reason for this demoralization; and those who have homes elsewhere, or who have no duties to discharge in Charleston, were, perhaps, right if they did not delay in winging their flight to the pine-lands of Summerville, the magnificent distances of Columbia, or the bustling cities of the North and West. Self-preservation is the first law of nature, and the refugees had no idea of being caught napping. And yet, while there is abundant reason for care and precaution, there is no cause for mortal alarm. The disease, if spreading at all, is moving with a slowness which contrasts auspiciously with the usual rapidity of its strides. The number of new cases is insignificant, and the deaths, from all causes, are below the average. This is encouraging. and should serve to disabuse the timid ones of the idea that, because there is fever in the city, half the resident population are doomed to die. A few days ago it was reported in Augusta that Charleston had hardly enough healthy inhabitants to nurse the sick and bury the dead. This, as we know, was a fearful exaggeration, considering that from the beginning, more than a month ago, we have had less than a dozen deaths by fever; but the tendency of the alarmed mind is to magnify the danger a hundred-told, if only as an excuse for its own fears, and this disposition should be carefully guarded against. At this moment the situation is grave, but there is still room for the hope that the disease will not be widespread, and that it will not become a serious PROGRESS OF THE DISEASE.

Since the publication of the report of the Medical Society, dated Friday noon, a few new cases of yellow fever have been reported to the health officer, and one or two deaths. As is usual at such times, almost every case of illness, from any cause whatever, is looked upon with suspicion, if not with alarm. This disposition to be frightened, however, we are glad to see, is diminishing, and the public mind is in a fair way, we think, to look calmly and hopefully even at the visitation, and manfully frown down all unnecessary scare, and all disposition to exaggeration.

GOLDEN RULES. Every resident of Charleston who is not ac climatized, or who is likely to have lost his ac climatization, should be careful to avoid, as far as possible, all occasions of danger. The general rules may be summed up thus:

1. Keep your lot clean, and make a liberal use of disinfectants.

2. Avoid the night air, and stay within doors after sunset. When obliged to go out at night, use an umbrella. 3. Be temperate in eating and drinking, particularly the latter. 4. Be cleanly in your habits. Cold water never kills. 5. As soon as you feel unwell, send for your physician. The usual symptoms of fever are: An acute pain in the head, of the kind known as sick headache; a severe pain in the back; a chill, such as the Chickshominy swamps gave the bare-footed boys in war times. When you have the chill, or the back-ache or the headache, send for the physician post-haste. Better cry Wolf than be too late in sounding the

6. Keep cool. Any person who follows these general rules stands a good chance of escaping from the clutches of fever. For this fever, with early medical attendance and good nursing, is not as fatal as small-pox, or cholera, or "country fever" early cases are the worst, because the sick, unconscious of the gravity of the case, are tardy in taking the proper remedies, but, unless the disease is of a peculiarly malignant type, the actual mortality, where proper care is taken, is extremely small.

This official has charge of him that if he wanted to get off from going to the streets. It is his duty to keep the city clean and wholesome. By neglecting this work, while "grinding axes" for Mayor Pillsbury, he allowed Charleston to become indes cribably fithy. Upon his shoulders rests the main responsibility for that wanton disregard of the plainest sanitary rules which brought the fever upon us. Immediately after the election he went to the North, where he stays. As for the city he leaves her, like a castoff mistress, to perish from the disease which he has given her. These Radical officials are came off before Trial Justice Levy, Trial fine-weather birds. They will draw their pay while the sun shines, but they flee like the wind at the first note of danger. Shall not this be remembered at the next election day?

THE TIDINGS ABROAD. In Augusta, Savannah and Wilmington the tidings that the fever was in Charleston created a wild excitement.

Augusta has established a rigid quarantine, and all the cars for that city, coming from Charleston, are opened and ventilated before they enter the corporate limits. A meeting of citizens is to be held this morning "for the purpose of considering what action, if any, the and the intercourse between that city and this." The Constitutionalist suggests that Augusta follow the example of Wilmington, and bar out all persons coming from Charleston. The city is in a cleanly condition, and a general cleaning up goes on.

Savannah has put on her armor of proof. We understand that the trains for Savannah from Charleston, are stopped at Montelth movements on the way, Nash was safely lodg- Station, where the passengers are subjected to a large pocket knife and began to cut at Kelly. ed in jail. A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Two Stores Destroyed and One Serious ly Damaged.

Between half-past 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday night, a fire broke out on the west side of Meeting treet, three doors below Hasel, which resulted in the total destruction of the two fine buildings owned by Messrs. Jennings, Thomlinson & Co., and then occupied by Mr. J. C. Madsen as a tobacco store, and by Mr. Lengnick as a fancy goods and notion establishment. The fire originated in the back part of Madsen's store, and owing to the inflammable nature of the stock, was well under way when the engines arrived. The flames then communicated to the adjoining store of Mr. Lengnick, and, being fed by light and inflammable articles composing the stock, both buildings were soon enveloped in a tremendous blaze. The engines, although they had been at work all day on the streets, pumping out, were worked with vigor and alacrity, and by their efforts the fire was confined to the two buildings already named. These, with the stock contained in them, were totally destroyed. The wholesale shoe store of Messrs. E. B. Stoddard & Co., adjoining Madsen's cigar store on the north, was also considerably damaged by the heat. It was broken into, to afford a stand from which the streams from the engines could be brought to play upon the fire, and the water thrown into it to prevent its taking fire did much damage to the stock. The insurance, as iar as we have been able to learn, is as follows:

E. B. Stoddard & Co., building insured for $5000 in the Home Insurance Company, of New York, Major Hutson Lee, agent. Stock insured for $25,000 in the Germania, Colburn & Howell, agents; the North British Mercan tile, E. B. Sebring & Co, agents; and the Georgia Home Insurance Company, Hutson Lee, agent.

C. A. Lengnick, fancy goods, notions, &c Stock, total loss. Insured for $5000 in Mr. A. L. Tobias's agency.

J. C. Madsen, cigars and tobacco, total loss. Insured for $6000 in the agency of Messrs. Ravenel & Huger. . The building in which the two last mentioned stores were established was owned by Messrs. Jennings, Tomlinson & Co., and was insured for $5000. Of this, there were $2000, upon the store occupied by Mr. Lengnick, in the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance Company, Lowndes & Co., agents.

In addition to his stock, Mr. Madsen had $100 in cash in his money drawer, which was TRUNES! TRUNKS! TRUNKS! lost with the rest. The origin of the fire is a mystery. It certainly began in the back part of Mr. Madsen's store, but that gentleman says that he shut up at 10 o'clock, and had no fire on the premises. The gas jet was in the tront of the store. During the confusion the usual hangers-on were present, on the lookout for an opportunity of plundering, and much stealing went on. Three colored youths, named Thomas Perry, Prince Johnson and George Bryan, were detected in the act of making their escape with a lot of fine boots, shoes, straw hats and fancy goods, and having been turned over to a policeman, were taken with or other diseases which might be named. BLOODY AFFRAY .- Saturday evening, about half-past seven o'clock, two young men, -Kelly and George Burke, the latter a constable of one of our numerous trial justices, became engaged in an altercation, which ended in a sharp quarrel. Burke put his hand to his back as if to draw a weapon, when Kelly told him if he was a man they would settle it by a fair fight. The two then went in, when Kelly knocked down his antagonist, and was about to give him a good beating when Burke drew The bystanders interfered, but not before Kelly had received several severe cuts. The undersigned, late principal bu-iness manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, tal., has been appointed Agent and Manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The Drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the first tag drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000, as announced. 14,364 TICKETS DISPOSED OF IN JULY.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

To insure ticket-holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awaried, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold, the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizens' Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of printing, advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutny as to the reliability of the entire affair.
