CORRECTION .- The repairs upon the building occupied by Messrs. E. B. Stoddard & Co. are being made by the Georgia Home Insurance Company, and not by the Home of New York, as stated in our issue of yesterday.

APPOINTMENTS -- The following appointments have been made by Governor Scott : E. W. Shand, commissioner of deeds for the State of South Carolina in Austin, Texas. Jervis Pigate, trial justice, Shiloh, Sumter County.

INSANE.-Thos. McMahon, a white man, was brought to the Guardhouse, by his friends, on Tuesday night and lodged, supposed to be insane. He was perfectly quiet, but the officer, seeing that he was suffering, sent him immediately to the City Hospital, where he is now doing well.

INVESTING IN NEW YORK CITY. -Among the real estate transactions noticed in a late New York paper, we find the following:

V. K. Stevenson & Son have sold 50 by 109 feet on the east side of the Grand Boulevard, 51 feet south of Seventy-second street, to C. P. Leslie, of Charleston, S. C., for $35,000.

FAST DRIVING .- The driver of a bread cart, who despised the snall's pace of his profession, let out his steed on Tuesday morning, and, turning the corner of King and Hasel streets at a rapid pace, ran over a citizen who was not as active as he desired to be. The matter was reported at the Guardhouse, but the citihaving received no other injury than a slight bruise on the ankle, failed to appear as prosecutor, and the driver was discharged.

DEATH OF MR. FRANK SILSBY .- The Couriers of Seneca Falls, N. Y., of the 14th instant, contains an account of the lamentable death of Mr. Frank J. Silsby, of the well-known fire engine company at that place. He was killed while attempting to get on a freight car at Canandiagua, N. Y., the whole train passing over him, causing instant death. He was well known to the firemen of this city, as well as throughout the South, who will join in the grief at his sad end.

ALL IN THE FAMILY .- About half-past seven o'clock yesterday morning the neighborhood was saluted by loud cries and the sound of strife [roceeding from the locality known as Robb's Lot, in King street. A policeman went in and found a colored man named Peter Robinson in a fight with a woman and evidently giving her a bad beating. Peter was arrested and taken before the Mayor. The woman turned out to be his wife, and he was sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars or to go to the House of Correction for five days.

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY AND THE LATE DR. HOLBROOK .- A meeting of the Medical Society of South Carolina, at which the members of the profession generally were present, was held yesterday, at the Medical College, to take action in reference to the decease of the late Dr. J. E. Holbrook. A series of appropriate resolutions were offered by Dr. T. L. Ogier, which elicited remarks from Drs. E. Geddings, L. F. M. Geddings, F. L. Parker and Middle-ton Michel. The resolutions were unanimously adopted and the meeting adjourned.

THAT TIDAL WAVE .- The near approach of the time appointed for the arrival of the problematical tidal wave is beginning to create some excitement in the city. A citizen, residing in the upper part of Cannon street, recently bought a substantial yawl boat, and had it placed in his yard with all secrecy. The manœuvre was discovered yesterday, and great. was the consequent excitement in the neighborhood. The great question is, whether a boat will stand the shock and ride the flood and if this be decided in the affirmative, the boat owners and builders will do a lively bus!-

CLUBS AND STARS .- John Arthur, arrested for raising a disturban ce in a store at the corner of King and Broad streets, was discharged on the non-appearance of the prosecutor.

L. May, reported at 7 P. M. on Tuesday for not removing the offal from Queen street up to that time, was 'ordered to remove it at

John Lillenthal, reported for buying loose cotton without a license, was discharged. Wm. Johnson, lodged for being disorderly and using abusive language to a ludy in Rutledge avenue, was discharged, the prosecutor not appearing against him. IMPROVEMENT ON KING STREET. - The large double front store of Messrs. Stoll, Webb & Co., Nos. 287 and 289 King street, is being repaired, to keep pace with the handsome structures going up in the neighborhood, and will soon appear in all the glories of a stylish modern front. The granite pillars on the front were yesterday knocked away, and will be replaced by neat iron ones, which will give more finish to the front, and allow more space for the large show windows which will adorn the front. The work is in the hands of Mr. G. W. Egan, and is being pushed forward with all energy. THE HAPPOLDT ROBBERY .- Toby Brown and

Wm. Withers, the two colored boys committed for further examination, were again brought before Trial Justice Levy yesterday morning. Three pistols were traced to the possession of Withers, and, from the evidence, it appeared that they had been stolen from Mr. Happoidt of a former occasion. The pistols, however, could not be reached for identification. Withers was committed for trial at the November term of the Court of General Sessions, and Toby Brown, not being inculpated in the present robbery, was sent to jall for thirty days under the vagrant law, in consideration of his notoriously bad character.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM .- Tuesday morning a boat, in which a party of colored men from Wadmalaw Island had come to the city, was spirited off in a mysterious manner from its moorings at Moreland's wharf, and turned up next on the shore of Mr. Hinson's plantation, on James Island. Robt. Simmons, who had the boat in charge, went across for it, but was encountered, as he attempted to shove it off, by Robt. Mikell, who was looking after Mr. Hinson's property. Mikell refused to allow the boat to be moved, alleging that the tide had left it on the shore, and it, of right, belonged to the owner of the land. Simmons, not relishing this logic, persisted in his atagainst Mikell, who was arrested and brought before Trial Justice T. J. Mackey for examination. The defendant there reversed the story about the sail-sprit, and having made an affidavit that Simmons tad assaulted and beat him, the latter was also arrested. The examination in both cases will be had this morning. | enforced strictly.

THE NEW DREDGING MACHINE.

How to Dig Phosphates-Splendid Machinery.

for the Marine and River Phosphate Mining Mr. Wm. Barnes and Mr. Hugo Kloss, all of and Manufacturing Company, was first put upon its triai, yesterday morning, in the dock at Robb's Mill, at the foot of Laurens street. Several of the officers and stockholders of the company were present, all of whom expressed their satisfaction with the complete manner in which the machine performed its work. The dredger is mounted on a flat, and in appearance is similar to other dredging and wrecking hoats. The wooden part of the marchine was built by S. J. Pregnall, a well known ship carpenter and boat builder, upon plans furnished by Mr. Ralph R. Osgood, of Troy, New York. It is eighty-one feet long, twentyeight feet broad, and six feet deep; built somewhat like a common flat, but with a fantall stern and more neatly finished. On the deck is a massive structure built of beams of timber about eight feet six inches high, intended to strengthen the hull and support the crane which hangs over the low of the boat. It is secured by braces and cross beams, and the two beams at the bow of the boat which sustain most of the weight are three feet square. The hull of the flat is built in a substantial manner, with kelson and cross kelsons of large dimensions The machinery was designed by Ralph R. Osgood, the machinist of Troy, New York, and was built by Starbuck Brothers, of the same place. It has a twelve-inch bore and stroke, and the model is admirably adapted for the purpose in view. The rollers around which the huge chain of the crane works and the reversible cranks are compact in form and work to great advantage. The engine was in course of adjustment by Mr. Osgood, who was obliged to leave the city a few days ago. Mr. Fitzsimons, an expert New York engineer, took the affair in hand and finished putting up the engine four days earlier than was expected. Mr. Fitzsimons is at the head of the Marine Company's works, and runs the new machine as if he had made it himself.

The crane of the machine is one of the most perfect of its kind, and its advantages are at once perceptible to the eye of even the uninitiated. It is well balanced, and the two extremitles, the one far over the water and the other away back in the boat, are strengthened and connected by strong iron braces. At the end, on the boat, is a large box in which about three thousand five hundred pounds should be placed. This weight balances the crane exactly, and little or no force is required to push it around. The iron dipper lifts a yard square of rock and earth, which is equal to a ton of matter. The engine is equal to raising a threeyard dipper, or one containing six tons.

The deck structure is neatly roofed over, and is fitted with canvas files, on the side, to make all snug. The roof is covered with tin, and supplies fresh rain-water for the boat. On the roof, at the stern of the flat, is a cabin with wo rooms neatly furnished,

This machine is an improvement on the other dredge boats, being supplied with two distinct engines. One works at hoisting the dipper, and the other is devoted to turning the crane and hoisting and lowering the spuds. The latter articles are two heavy beams, running in grooves along the two upright timbers on each side of the bow of the flat. When in position, the spuds are let go with a rush, the lower ends, which are sharpened, drive into the mud, and retain the machine in position. The dipper is then driven down into the bottom as far as it can reach. The spuds are then ulled up, and the machine le diana up ore the dipper. The spuds once more go down with a run, and the machine is in a new position to scoop out a new semi-circle of rock with its swinging crane. When under way, the machine can make one dip a minute, and with a plenty of rock at the bottom, the affair will soon pay for its cost, which is $20,000. The machine was taken to Bull River last night, and will commence operations at once.

DEATH OF MR. WM. HEYWARD .- This well known and esteemed citizen died vesterday evening, at 9 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Berkley Grimball, in this city, after a short and sudden illness. Mr. Heyward was a Carc. lina gentleman of the old school. He was an extensive and successful rice planter, and owned large tracts of land in the neighborhood of Pocotaligo. His planting operations were always conducted on a large scale, and he took pleasure in making this a success. His aversion to the excitement of a political life was well known, and formed one of the eccentricities of a nature at once warm-hearted and noble. His funeral will take place this afternoon at Grace Church.

Huge "Onions."-Among the merchandise recently brought on by one of our New York steamers were about thirty innocent-looking barrels in the hold marked "onions," and three large boxes of fish. A crack in one of the heads of the barrels showed the "onlons" to be of enormous dimensions, and, on further investigation, they proved to be first-rate New York cabbages. The contents of the barrels were entirely unsuspected by the agents when they were shipped, and the matter was immediately reported to the health officer, Dr. Lebby. The contraband articles were solemnly placed under a guard of police, tempt to take off the boat, when Mikell seized and, after some deliberation, it was deterthe sail-sprit and assaulted him. A scuffle en- mined to dispatch the obnoxious vegetables sued, at the end of which Slamons came back | back to the North on the deck of the steamer to town triumphantly with the boat. He then at the expense and risk of the shipper. The at the expense and list of the shipper. The smell they diffused, and showing that they were decomposing, the boxes were quickly broken open by the officers and their decaying contents dumped into the dock. Shippers and consiguees should understand that the prohibition against imporiting cabbages is to be

THE HEALTH OF THE CITY.

The city registrar, Dr. Lebby, reports the receipt of three certificates of death from yellow fever during the twenty-four hours ending The Osgood Dredging Machine, lately built at noon yesterday, viz: Mrs. Margaret McCabe, whom died on Tuesday last. There is nothing new to report in regard to the fever, which has almost dropped out of sight and thought.

WEDNESDAY'S REPORT. OFFICE OF BOARD OF HEALTH, CHARLESTON, September 20, 1871, 12 M. (Three (3) certificates of death from yellow fever received since last report.

ROBERT LEBBY, M. D.

City Registrar.
In addition to the above, the following certificates have been received since last report:
One for dropsy from hepatic disease, dated

September 18.
One for dysentery, acute, dated September

Two for still-births, dated September 18 and Augusta Removes the Quarantine.

The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, of yes, terday, says: The yellow fever in Charleston seems to be such a small affair, and is reported dying out so rapidly, that the people in Augusta have re-covered from their recent scare. There is so covered from their recent scale. There is so little apprehension of the disease being brought here from that city that the enforcement of the quarantine regulations is no longer considered necessary. On yesterday the inspector of quarantine, whose duty it has been to ventilate cars and baggage from Charleston, was relieved from duty, and we learn that the quarantine has been done away learn that the quarantine has been done away with. We congratuiate the citizens of Charleston upon this event, and trust that Savannah and Wilmington will soon remove all obstruction upon communication with their cities. We can assure them that so far as Augusta is concerned our next with so far as Augusta is concerned our next with so far as Augusta is concerned our next with so far as Augusta is concerned our next with so far as Augusta is concerned our authorities only acted in obedience to the highest of all laws—the law of self-preservation. They believed that there was danger to our citizens from the fever, and they adopted measures to protect them. Believing now that the danger has passed away. the restrictions have been removed. Our in-terests are too nearly identical with those of Charleston for us to wish to injure that city.
