A Sudden Calm in Municipal Matters-Democratic Leaders Consulting-Tammany to be Thrown Overboard-The Republican Troubles-Furious Struggle for Convention Delegates Between the Grant and Greeley Factions-Ben. Butler's Triumphant Progress in Massachusetts-Alarm of the Silk Stocking Republicans.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT]

NEW YORK, September 20. The municipal gale has subsided, and the waters are going down. Mayor Hall found his position untenable, and taking advantage of the advice of Corporation Counsel O'Gorman, has backed completely out. The situation at this writing is that Connolly remains nominal comptroller; Andrew H. Greene is nominal deputy, but virtual comptroller, and is in possession of the office. O'Gorman, as the head of the law department, is about to institute suits against the Courthouse contractors to test the validity of their accounts; and Hall, Tweed and Swearn are walling. and Sweeps are waiting for the next move of the enemy. Mr. Sweeny has gone off to his country residence in Westchester County; the Mayor sticks to routine business at the City Hall; and Tweed may be found, smiling and imper-turbable, at his desk in the department of pub-lic works.

lic works. The cltizens are now anxiously awaiting the result of Mr. Greene's investigations in the Comptroller's office. Greene is an honest, prac-tical and clear headed business man, and possesses the entire confidence of the compossesses the entire confidence of the com-munity. We may be certain that all the facts about the alleged swindles will be rooted up and made known. The citizens' committee of eventy are in daily consultation with Greene. Another investigation is being made by the joint aldermanic supervisors and citizens' committee. It is certain, therefore, that everything the "ring" has done in the past four years will be laid bare. The Republican members of the ring will be exposed equally with the Democratic triumvirate.

with the Democratic triumvirate. There has been some lively political cau-cussing within the past few days. It is evi-dent to the country Democrats that something dent to the country Democrats that something must be done at once to rid the party of re-sponsibility for the Tammany leaders, or the State will be lost in November. There have been frequent consultations at the house of Hon. Samuel J. Tilden, chairman of the Dem-ocratic State central committee, in Grammer-cy Park. It is understood that the conclusion has been reached to cut loose from Tweed & Co. and repuddate them in the State Convenby Park. It is induction to be from Tweed & Co., and repudiate them in the State Conven-tion. If they send delegates they will not be admitted. There was a conference meeting of the leaders of the several anti-Demo-cratic factions on Monday night. The Ger-man Denocrats, the Democratic Union party, the Young Democracy and the Mozart Democrats were represented. Among the politicians present were Congressman Roosevelt, ex-Congressman Ben Wood, and ex-Sheriff Jimmy O'Brien. It was resolv-ed to form a coalition against Tammany and try conclusions with it at the coming fail elec-tion. It is probable that if these factions merge into a compact party their delegates will be recognized as regular by the State Con-vention.

merge 1710 a compact party then detailed will be recognized as regular by the State Con-vention. The Democrats are not alone in having in-ternal troubles. The Bepublican State Con-vention meets at Syracuse next week, and a furious struggle is going on all over the State between the Grant-Conkling and Greeley-Fen-ton factions to elect a majority of the delegates. So far, most of the county conventions in the inteaior have quarrelled and split on the Fen-ton vs. Conkling issue, and two sets of dele-gates have been chosen. This city will send two hostile delegations to Syracuse. The Greeley city conventions were held last Satur-day night, and the Grant conventions last night. Across the river, in Brooklyn, the office-holders, in their zeal to secure the Kings County delegation for Grant, have actually formed an alliance with the heavy whiskey distillers, who are pouring out money like water for the cause, the distilleries in the meantime running tull blast. The Tribune and Times, as the representatives of the two factions, are calling each other very bad mames, and showing up the rascalities of lead-ers on the opposite sides. The Tribune to-day devotes itself to an excortation of Grant's friend, Collector Marphy. It would not be strange if there was an ac-

ers on the opposite sides. The Thome to-day derotes itself to an excortation of Grant's friend, Collector Mnrphy. It would not be strange if there was an ac-tual riot in the Syracuse Convention. At last year's convention the factions came to blows, and the feelings of bitterness and anger are more intense this year than last. Whicherer crowd succeeds in controlling the convention, the other will be disatisfied, and a separate convention is probable. The prospects are that the Grant men will triumph. The Demo-cratic State Convention will be held at Roches-ter on Wednesday of the following week. The only matter of difference will be the method of deshing with the Tammany leaders, and, as I have before remarked, they will probably be thrown overboard. I learn that it is on the state to nominate a German to head the ticket. The most prominent German Democrat in the State is Oswald Ottendorffer, publisher of the State Seitung, and perhaps he will be the man. The ticket must necessarily be a strong one, for the Democrats will have a harder fight to keep their supremacy this year than ever before. An effort will be made to induce Charles O'Connor, the head of the bar in New York, to accept a place on the ticket as candi-date for attorney-general. In our neighboring State of Massachusetts the political cauldron literally seethes. Butler is vigorously stumping the State in every di-rection. He speaks every night, and sour-times in the afternoon as well. His meetings are always attended by tremendous audiences, and he is invaliably received with the wildest enthusiasm. At Fall River the mob almost devoured him. His style of oratory is taking with the ball-educated element. He is brazen, boastful and aggressive; he heaitates at no lie, no with the half-educated element. He is brazen, boastful and aggressive; he hesitates at no lle, no matter how preposterous; he tears to pieces the purest reputations in the State; he orags about himseli incessantly, and predicts his election; he defies his enemies; he threatens to bott the convention if he is not nominated. These ingredients make a splcy speech. The general is a consummate actor, too. On seve-ral occasions, when alluding to the slander circulated by his enemies that his father was inged for piracy, his voice faitered, and he protended to burst into tears. "Thank God," he exclaimed, in a choking voice and thowing ore of his eyes up to the celling, "my mother died last year." last year." The alarm among the respectable Republi-cans at the procress Butler is making in the State is taking the shape of a panic. The Re-publican press, with only a few unimportant exceptions, is frantically opposed to Butler. The Springfield Republican declares that if Buyler receives the convention nomination his opponents in the party will defeat him at the polls. The Boston Journal says the nomina-tion of Butler will be equivalent to the election polls. The Boston Journal says the nomina-tion of Butler will be equivalent to the election of Adams. The danger of Butler's triumph at Worcester has increased so rapidly that Har-vey Jewell withdrew from the canvass last week in favor of ex-Congressman Rice, so as to close up the opposition columns, and Sena-tors Sumner and Wilson have been induced to come out mublicly and declare that the nomitors Summer and Wilson have been induced to come out publicly and declare that the nomi-nation of Butler would jeopardize the best in-terest of the party in the State and nation. The convention will be held on Wednesday, the 27th instant. It will be very lively. At Fall Biver, Butler announced that he would boil if there was any attempt made to cheat him out of the argumentation of course he will saw of the nomination. Of course he will sa there was cheating, if he fails. It is under stood that he will continue to be a candidat under any circumstances. NTM.

THE KU-KLUX TRIALS IN RALEIGH.

RALEIGH, N. C., September 25. The Circuit Court has been engaged since Saturday in the trial of the United States against Amos Owens and about thirty others against Amos Owens and about thirty others for whipping one Auron Biggerstaff some time in April last, at a place called Grassy Branch, Cleveland County, on account of his politics. One of Biggerstaff's own brothers is among the defendants. There is a good deal of con-flict in the testimony of the prosecution. Big-gerstaff swearing to the identity of the men before the court who he swore before the mag-istrate at first that he did not recognize on the night the party assulted him. The testimony of himself and daughter is greatly at variance. of himself and daughter is greatly at variance At this hour, 7 P. M., the examination of the witnesses for the defence is progressing. It is rumored that the United States district atis removed that the onice states and torney, Storbach, is to be removed. The dis-trict judge, Brooks, has been compelled to re-turn home on account of illness, and Judge Bond now presides alone.

THE BARNWELL TURF.

[From the Barnwell Sentine!.]

[From the Barnwell Sentine!.] We learn that our turfmen, Messrs. Hagood, Bichardson, and Altred Aldrich, have taken up their horses and commenced training. They begin thus early, we understand, as they con-template competing in some ot the trials of speed to be contested for at the approaching fairs. Good sport may therefore be expected at the annual meeting over the Sherwood Track, near Barnwell Village. In addition to the regular races, several matches have been made for various distances. Jonce Hooper, Bill Stoney and Stonelands may increase their racing reputations, or have the laurels gained in past contests shorn irom their their racing reputations, or have the laurels gained in past contests shorn irom their brews. The prospects for a good meeting and good racing over Sherwood was never better. We wish much success and good sport to the public spirited gentlemen who have establish-ed and sustained this club. We understand that that veteran of the turf, Colonel Tom Bacon, will send a representative from his stable.

THE QUEER STORY OF THE STOLEN VOUCHERS. Latest Incidents of the War on the Ring.

The New York papers continue to be laden with facts, rumors, interviews and speculations connected with the great municipal reform squabble now in progress in that city. The Sun gives the following account of the de. tection of the burglars who stole and destroyed

THE MISSING VOUCHERS.

THE MISSING VOTCHERS. Edwin M. Hagerty is the janitor of the new courthouse. He lives in the courthouse, and nis wile has for a long time kept a vegetable stand in Washington market. Their rooms in the courthouse are on the second floor above the Comptroller's office, and immediately above the Common Pleas court-room. They occupy four rooms, splendidly furnished by Ingersoll & Co., at the "xpense of the city. On Sunday morning, September 10. Mary Con-way, a servant employed by Mrs. Hagerty, who slept in one of these rooms with Mrs. Hagerty's child, awoke between six and seven o'clock. While she was endeavoring to quiet the child she heard the slamming of a door, followed by a crash. She got up in her nightclothes, and went out into the corridor. Hearing a noise, she went down two flights of stairs to the floor below, and saw Charles Baulch, the head watchman, knocking at a door and calling for Murphy, another watchman. She noticed Murphy, another watchman. She noticed that the door of the auditor's room was open.

She then went back to her room, and began to dress herself. Mrs. Hagerty came into the apart-ment, and told her that it was early and that the held tester not be in a ment, and told her that it was early and that she had better not be in a hurry about getting up. She answered that as long as she was up she might as well dress herself, and Mrs. Hag-erty left.

THE ROBBERS. After she was dressed she went down stairs

a second time and saw Mr. Hagery coming out of the auditor's office with his arms full of papers, and Charles Baulch holding the door papers, and Charles Bauich holding the door open. These papers she describes as being thick bundles, and tled with black ribbon or tape. Mr. Hagerty brought them up stairs and threw them into the range. Mrs. Hagerty made the remark that these were some old papers that Ed. was burning. She then went to her room. Soon alterward, going out in the hall to get a scuttle of coal, she saw a man roing down stairs with a pillow-case filled with the hall to get a scuttle of coal, she saw a man going down stairs with a pillow-case filled with similar bundles. Baulch was acting as con-ductor to the man, who didn't seem to know his way out of the building. Soon afterward she noticed the corridor full of smoke, and went into the kitchen. The walls were black-ened with smoke, and are blackened to this day. She found the range jammed with docu-ments which had not been torn from their bundles. They were packed so tight that day. She found the range jammed with docu-ments which had not been torn from their bundles. They were packed so tight that they would not burn. Mrs. Hagerty stood in front of the range raking them out with a po-ker and endeavoring to reduce them to ashes. She complained to Miss Conway of the mees they made. She alterward saw Mrs. Hagerty take three or four palls of burned papers from the range and emply them on a pile of ashes in the attic. Miss Conway had no idea but what everything was all right. She was not erren suspicious that anything was wrong. On the following day, however, she learned of the robbery in the comp-troller's office. She made up her mind that Mr. Hagerty and Mr. Baulch were the robbers, and on Tuesday erening intimated as much to Mrs. Hagerty. The latter asked her what she had seen, and she told her. She then urged her to keep still, and threatened her if she should tell auybody what she had seen. Meanwhile Mr. Hagerty had gone to Saratoga, in company with oue of the police commission-ers. He returned on Wednesday night. His wife told him what Mary Conway had seen. On Thursday morning he went to Miss Conway and told her that he did not want her to tell any of the old men or women about the build ing what she had seen, as Baulch was only doing what he did for him, and he was doing it for another man.

it for another man. ANOTHER WITNESS.

Miss Conway was terrified. She knew that the comptroller was accused of stealing the papers, and she had reason to believe that she was the only person besides the thieves who knew anything about the real perpetrators. On Friday, however, Mr. Murphy, the night watchman in the comptroller's office, came up stairs and asked her it she knew anything about the robbery. Murphy had his suspicions aroused by the extraordinary actions of Hager-

The mayor has made no reply as yet, but the understanding is that he will accede to the re-quest-thus, for the first time, officially recognizing Greene.

-The half-crown, two shillings and six-pence, made memorable alike by prose and poetry, that convenient subdivision of British currency, which slways came in so handy where a shilling would be too little and a crown too much; the old, the glorious half crown, which might well deserve the name of crown, which might well deserve the name of a British institution in itself, will, alas ! soon be a thing of the rast. According to the London Times, the two and a hait shilling plece has ceased to be coined at the British mint. The discussion caused by the proposed modification of the Eaglish currency has, it is stated, revived the proposition that a tenpenny plece, corresponding in value to the French iranc, should be coined instead. Three of these new coins would be equal to the exist-ing helf corown and fixe would be equal to the ing half-crown, and five would be equal to the American dollar. But the Britisher's don't see it. They have a natural fondness for the timeonored crown and halt-crown, which they nonored crown and hait-crown, which they cannot get over, and the Times says that it is evident that the iceling against the abolition of "two-six" is very strong among a large por-tion of the English public.

THE WEATHER AND THE TIDAL WAVE.

WASHINGTON, September 25.

WASHINGTON, September 25. Cloudiness will probably extend very gene-rally, on Tuesday, along the entire Atlantic coast and on the lower lakes, with light rains in some localities, as Virginia and Lake Erie. A rising barometer, with clearing weather and falling temperature, is probable from Michigan and Superior westward, and southward to the Gulf.

No predictions have been issued from this office respecting the so-called tidal wave, nor is any such wave anticipated.

Miss Conway was afraid to commit herself, but she threw out some hints which caused Murphy to believe himself on the right track. He pressed her for more information, but at that moment she thought she heard Mr. Hagerty's step on the stairs, and the two hastly separat-ed, she going into her room, and Murphy re-treating down to the comptroller's office. He afterward returned up stairs, and asked Miss Conway to mention the subject to no one until she saw him again. Miss Conway became more and more troubled over the affair the more she thought of it. That same afternoon she met Mr. Hagerty's brother Mark, who is an employee of the mayor's office, in the she met Mr. Hagerty's orother Mark, who is an employee of the mayor's office, in the building, and told him the whole story. He begged her to keep quiet about it or they would all be arrested. But on Saturday night last she could stand it no longer. She went to Mrs. Hagerty's stall in the market, and told her that she was going to leave for a few dars her that she was going to leave for a few days until the trouble would blow over, for fear there would be an arrest, and she would be held as a witness. Mrs. Hagerty tried to reason with her, but she was obstinate, and tak-ing a few clothes, she went to the house of a friend at No. 95 Washington street. WHERE THE POLICE COME IN. upon the assumption that the comptroller was guilty of the robbery, and asking for his resig-nation. Mary Conway is an honest Irish girl. She is a devoted Roman Catholic. Her con-science troubled her. She knew that Mr. Con-nolly was a Catholic, and that he was unjustly charged with the abstraction of the vouch-ers. She determined to let him know the whole truth. With this object in view, she sent for Mr. Murphy, told him what she knew, and expressed her readiness to go to Mr. Connolly and give him all the ln-formation in her power. On Tuesday Mary Conway met Comptroller Connolly according to appointment. The comptroller was aston-ished. On Wednesday Miss Conway was taken before Judge Ledwith, where she and Murphy made affidavits to the facts in the case. Judge made affidavits to the facts in the case. Judge Ledwith granted warrants for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Hagerty and Baulch, and detained both witnesses. The excitement throughout the city was very great when the arrest of the voucher thieves was announced. Some of the papers issued extras, and all through the afternoon but little else was talked of in the street, at the hotels, and in places of public business. LATEST REPORTS.

A New York letter, of the 221, says: A no-tice was issued this afternoon, signed by Wm. M. Tweed, summoning a special meeting of the Democratic general committee, at Tam-many Hall, on Monday evening, for the trans-action of "important business." The "impor-tant business" is understood to be the devising of the and meets to check make the allocad tant business is understoot to be the devising of ways and means to checkmake the alleged plotting of Mr. Samuel J. Tilden, (chairman o the State committee,) to have Tammany shut out of the Rochester Convention. A lively time is expected, both inside and outside the wigwam. Tweed's friends are drumming up their forces for a mass meeting this evening, at the junction of East Broadway and Essex street, not only to vindicate his character, but to re nominate him to the State Senate. The de monstration is designed as a foil to the crimi nal charge preteried against him, and at the same time as an admonition to his political opponents that he does not intend to be crowded off the track. Governor Hoffman, it is understood, is in entire sympathy with Mr. Tilden in his more-the conviction that the State convention can-not go before the people with any prospect of success, quiess the whole concern is unconditionally thrown overboard. The joint committee of aldermen and citi-

gens met this afternoon, and submitted for publication a report on the city debt, the
