CRUMBS .- County Treasurer Gurney arrived in Columbia from the North on Monday.

SOUTH CAROLINA COTTON AT THE ST. LOUIS FAIR .- We are informed that premiums have been awarded to Messrs. C. W. Williams & Co., of our city, and Mr. Henderson, of Society Hill, by the St. Louis Fair, for specimens of superior cotton grown in South Carolina.

THE CRANGEBURG FAIR, which opens next Thursday, promises to be highly successful. Orangeburg is a pushing place, and the people have gone to work with a vim to make the fair creditable to the county. Particulars as to the shipment of articles for exhibition will be found in the advertisement of the executive committee

A PERSONAL ENCOUNTER.—The Columbi Union says that an unfortunate difficulty occurred on Monday afternoon, on Richardson street, be tween the well known gentlemen and merchants Mesers. Agnew & Son, and Mr. A. L. Solomon, it which the latter received a cut near the ear wil a hoe, that caused him to bleed profusely. The origin of the difficulty it was unable to learn further than that hard words led to blows.

LUHN'S BROMO CHLORALUM.-The bromo chloralum for which Mr. G. J. Luhn, King stree: is the wholesale agent, is highly recommended a a disinfectant and deodorizer, and has the nota ble quality of being strinles, non-poisonous and non-odorous. It is admirably suited for disinfecing and dec lorizing chambers and utensils. Th bromo chloralum has come out triumphantly from all the tes's which have been applied to i', and we cordially recommend it- general use.

SISHOP HOWE .- The New York Tribune, in noticing the consecration of the Rev. Wm. Fel White Howe assistant Bishop of South Carolica says: "Many years ago, when he was a junior a the University of Vermont, a burle-que programme of the junior exhibition was circulated. in which the classic nomenclature of the triennia catalogues was adhered to in a way that set the town in a roar. In that programme the future bishop appeared as Gulielmus Tintinnabulus Can didus Quomodo."

THE JAWBREAKING RENCONTRE.-James Johnson, the freedman, who split open the cheek and aw of Adam Williams on Sunday last, in a quarrel at Mr. Simons's place on St. Andrews, was arrested and brought to the city yesterday morning. A preliminary examination was held before Trial Justice Magrath, who issued the warrant in the case, and Johnson was remanded to juil for examination on Saturday morning, when the witnesses from the scence of the encoun er would be present. Williams is now at the City Hospital with a painful and ug y-looking woundthe whole side of his face being much swo.len and distorted.

THE ATTUCK FESTIVITY.-The Attuck Light Infantry concluded their festivity at the Military Hail on Monday night with a promenade and ball, which lasted until 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The principal feature of the entertainment was the balloiing for the sword, epaulettes and sash, prizes to be contested for by the various companies of the First Regiment N. G. S. C. At a late hour the ballots were counted, when the Carolina Light Infantry, Captain H. C. Minott, having received eighty-seven votes, were declar ed the winners of the sword. The epaulettes were won by the Randolph Riflemen, Captain R. Barton, and the sash by the Lincoln Republic at mards, Captain Alex. Williams.

CLUBS AND STARS were buoyant yesterday over a single case which had been dished up for the matutinal entertainment of the city judiciary Susan Robinson, a white woman of uncertain age, had partiken too freely of the ardent on the preceding night, and about half-past 11 o'c ock she was discovered by two C. & S. lying in a som noient state on the pavement. After discussing the matter, the two took up the fallen angel and toted her gently to the Guardhouse. Having been brought before the Mayor she expressed her utter obliviousness of all that had occurred; but the two C. & S. were called and, blu-hing with a sense of their anrewarded merit, told their "harrowing tale." The Mayor listened, and having sentenced the prisoner to thirty days in the House of Correction, he broke up the court, and the home of Clubs and Stars resumed its accustomed listless air.

CONFIDING FAITH .- The old man from the country whose hoard of money Thomas Bryant alias Philadelphia, had got possession of, came down to the cl'y yesterday, and, to the surprise of the officials, demanded the release of Philadel-phia, who had been committed for examinat on. The old fellow insisted that Philadelphia was an honest man, and only wanted an opportunity to keep to his word and double the money. Philadelphia's pinniless condition-the money obtained having been made away with before his arrest-had no effect on the old man's resolve, and he insists upon the sherper's liberation. From the evidence it seems that the old man's son borrow ed the mon y from his father to lend Philad ! phia, and these circumstances being submitted to the solicitor, he decide I that an indictment wou'd not lie. It is proable, therefore, that Philadelphia will be discharged.

LOSS OF THE SCHOONER ROBERT CALDWELL .-The steamship Charleston, at this port yesterday frem New York, reports passing and boarding on the 16th instant, in seventeen fathoms of water, the schooner Robert Caldwell, waterlogged and abandoned. She was visited by the Charleston, and her port quarter was found to be badly hoke in, and had apparently been examined premasly, as her running rigging and other movables had been taken. The Caldwell was, we learn, from Sav nuah for New Haven, Connecticut, and had a cargo of lumber. She was an excellent vessel of about four hundred and fifty tons and was built originally about thirteen years age, to run between New York and Charleston, and is well known tere, having been employed for years on Messrs. W. Roach & co's. Merchant's line of New York sailing packets. She had probably been run into by some passing vessel, and so badly damaged as to compelan abandon-

No OUORUM .- The City Hall was duly illuminated last evening in anticipation of a meeting of Council, and a little after 7 o'clock the city step fathers began to drop in. They came but slowly, however, and, although the meeting was called for 7 o'cl ck, a half-past 7 Aldermen E. P. Wal, McKinlay, Cunningham and, perhaps, one or two more form d a little caucus in the club-room. The various topics of the day were discussed, particula ly the fire in Chicago, and apropos of the great calamity, Alderman Wall drew from his pocket a copy of THE NEWS, and with all the dignity characte-latic of that ambitions legislator, read aloud the leading article of yesterday. At the conclusion of the reading the merits of the article were discussed, and the august conclave came to the conclusion that it was all very fine, but a little too hard on the "Old Man " Appraiser Coogan, meantime, had joined the coterie, an | s on after Captain Hendricks likewise came in. Our reporter, who was naturally anxious to be in time, inquired whether anything important was on the tapis, and whether there was any prospect of a quorum A chorus of negatives was the reply, and the little band of distaterested patriots, gaining no accession to their numbers as time wore on, soon after departed for their respective homes. The lights were once more put out, and appropriate darkness reigned aroun the presencts of what for a fortnight longer must be the temple of a Radical municipality.

THE HEALTH OF THE CITY.

The weather was sultry yesterday, but in the afternoon there were indications of a speedy hange for the better or the wo:se. The city registrar reports the receipt of two

THE ADGER LINE OF STEAMSHIPS.

This favorite and long k nown line of steamers, which a e at all times kept in a con ition to give the public the most ample and satisfactory accommodations for freight and passengers, are now in splendil order. During the past summer they received a complete and thorough rett at the hands of carpenters and machinists, large amounts being expended in improving and embellishing them, so that pas engers now have the most luxurious accommodations, with the utmost securi y and speed, while their freight room is equal to the most extended business. This line has enjoyed uninterrupted success from its comb gan with the famous steamship Southerner. built under the care of that model shipmaster, Captain M. Berry, in 1846, it has, we believe, es caped all disasters. The crowded freights which these vessels now transport are indica ive of the universal popularity which they have with the mercantile community. One of the most roted vessels of the line is THE CHARLESTON, which arrived here yesterday from New York in splendi torder, having just left the workshops where she has undergone an entire refit, being now in better condition than m st new vess is. Her hull has been thoroughly examin d and re paired, where necessary, and newly coppered. Her cabins are placed on deck, by which more light and better ventilation is secured, and her freight room is so much enlarged that it is expected that she will be enabled to take about two thousand bales. In speed this elegant vessel has no superior on the coast, and passenge s who know her famous qualities will make a rush to patronise her. Sae is in charge of her wellknown commander, Captain James Berry, whose long and tried career as a successful, careful and attentive officer is known to all. He is prepared now, as ever, to extend a hearty hospitality and a cheerful welcome to the travelling public. THE STEAMSHIP CHAMPION of this line is a first-class vessel in every respect, being constructed with the greatest care, uniting large carrying caracity to light draft and good speed. She is, perhaps, one of the most success ful steamers, financially, coming out of New York, and she is admirably managed by that popular and excellent commander, Captain R. W. Lockwood, whose pleasing address, calm dem anor and excellent seamanship make him a general favorite. The Champion left here on Monday for New York, with an overflowing cargo, among which were over two thousand bales of cotton The third vessel of the line is the favorite

STEAMSHIP MANHATTAN. This popular vessel, which on several occasions has made unusual fast passages from New York to this city, performs her trips with great punctuality. Her appearance on the water is exceedingly favorable, the beauty of her lines and the rise of her bow being particularly noticeable. Her condition is always kept A1 by the able officer in charge, Captain M. S. Woodhull, who has for many years been considered one of the most efficient officers on the coast. His thorough seamanship and commanding bearing gives him the reputation of a model officer, whose skill and efficiency can be relied on under all circumstances. The fourth vessel of the line is the well-known

STEAMSHIP JAMES ADGER, which has been a tried and faithful servant. Built many years since by that great New York shipbuilder, W. H. Webb, for Captain Dickinson, who enjoyed universal popularity, and being named after a gentleman whose long years of practical judgment, skill and suc ess placed him among the first merchants of Charleston, her career has aiways been watched with interest. She is as strong as wood and iron can make her, and the accommodations and management on board are kept in most admirable order by that superior oificer, Captain T. J. Lockwood. This gentleman is universally popular, and is known to all our civi zens, among whom he has been from be yhood. His close attention to his duties, good judgment and gentlemanly demeanor, give general confi-

These ships form one of the best lines running out of New York, and all of their appointments are first class. They can transport from our wharves four thousand bales of cotton weekly, and they now go out jam full of freight.

AFFRAY ON THE WHARF .- A constable, armed with a warrant from Trial Justice Levy, was sent yesterday morning to arrest the mate of the French brig D lphine Melanie, lying at Palmetto wharf, for an assault upon one of the hands. The officer found the mate on the wharf, and the latter upon learning the nature of the warrant, certificates of death from yellow fever for the offered to come along quietly. A practical tar, twenty-four hours; both deaths taking place on however, who was looking on, thought the mate was in distress, and drawing his knife, made a cut at the officer. The latter received the bow upon his left arm, but the blade merely slipped through his coat sleeve, without drawing blood. The belligerent sailor was soon brought before the trial justice on another warrant, when he excused nimse'r by saying he thought the mate in danger, and wanted to assist him. Owing to the fact that the parties could only speak French, the examination proved tedious, and was postp.ned until to-day.

SHOOTING AFFRAY IN HAMBURG .- The Au-The following is the official return of deaths gusta Chronicle says: "A difficulty occurred in the City of Charleston, for the week ending the neighboring Town of Hamburg, South Carolina, on hast Sunday, which resulted in one of the parties receiving what is considered a mortal wound. The parties concerned in the affray were Messrs. William Frint and Pleasant Sharp ton, both well known citizens of the town in which they live. From what we can learn of the affray it seems that the quarrel was the result of an old feud between the combatants. Some time ago there was a quarrel, and they had not been on very good terms since. On last Sunday morn ing, about 11 o'clock, they happened to meet at a place in the street, and high words followed the meeting. Sharpton cursed Flint, and the latter drew his pistol and fired two shots at him. The first ball did not take effect; the last penetrated the back of the neck, inflicting a very dangerouwound. Fears were entertained yesterday that Mr. Sharpton could not recover."

THE OARREY MURDER .- The new developments in this case are full of horrors, and it is now believed that the inhuman murder was effected by a gang of six negroes. The examination, which is being conducted before Trial Justice T. J. Mackey, was suspended yesterday in consequence of certain disclosures made by Ran Bolden. Three witnesses from Matthew's Ferry, four niles from Mount Pleasant, where Sam White was captured, were examined as to White's doings at that place. They were present at the arrival of White, and heard him state that he had just gut back from Columbia. Complaining of being ill he lay down, and soon after the officers captured him. Another strong point against White is, that on the morning after the murder, at 6 o'clock, White and five-fingered Anthony told the pump minier on the railroad, four miks below Oakley, that Mr. Fidea had been murdered and robbed. The store was not entered nor the body of the murdered man discovered until o'clock, three hours after this disclosure. A cart load of goods was carr.ed off from the store by the murderers, and for the recovery of these and the arrest of three other persons implicated the case is now delayed. Bolden has made repeated changes in his statements, and when confronted with the other three persons, for whom warrants have been issued, it is thought that he will bring out the truth.
