Love's Queen.

He loves not well whose love is bold!

I would not have thee come too nigh.

The sun's gold would not seem pure gold

Unless the sun were in the sky; To take him thence and chain him near Would make his beauty disappear.

He keeps his state-do thou keep thine, And shine upon me from afar!
So shall I bask in light divine,
That falls from Love's own guiding-star.
So shall thy eminence be high.
And so my passion shall not die.

But all my life shall reach its hands Of lofty longing toward thy face, And be as one who speechless stands In rapture at some perfect grace. My love, my hope, my all shall be To look to heaven and look to thee.

Thine eyes shall be the heavenly lights; Thy voice shall be the summer breeze,
What time it swars, on monilight nights,
The murmuring tops of leafy trees;
And I will touch thy beauteous form

In June's red roses rich and warm.

But thou thyself shalt not come down But thou thyself shalt hos come own

From that pure region far above;

But keep thy throne and wear thy crown,
Queen of my heart and queen of lo e!

A monarch in thy realm complete,

And I a monarch—at thy feet!

From the Daily Bulletin, Monday, October 23: If the entire present demand could be satisfied, we should undoubtedly have quite an active market, as onyers are plenty and whing to pay well for goods could they find them. The amount available, however, is too smail to admit of any life, and orders are filled with dimently. The late advance on Brazil is sustained wit out the least particle of trouble, and the que tion now s, when does the next addition to cost take place, it being so well understood by the trade that importers control the position completely, that higher prices every day or two are looked upon as a matter of course. The steamer's advices the more they are looked into the stronger they appear, and buyers who must have supplies at present will be obliged to gay extreme rates. East and West India at ck partakes of all the firm ess of Brazils, and not only is the sapply in 17st hands very much reduced, but a great many jobbers have scarcely anything but samples lett. To-day's movement has been good, and extreme prices were rearzed on all lots sold. The transactions include 500 bags Rio, per steamer Alor. Story and 2507 bags.
