The Charleston Rems.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1871.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

-Gold closed yesterday at 121. -Cotton in New York closed weak; uplands

18½c, Orleans 19¼c; sales 2250 bales. In Liverpool cotton closed strong; uplands

91d, Orleans 91d; sales 12,000 bales. -The fire marshal of New York City reports that fourteen per cent. of the fires there are caused by kerosene. -Botts, who shot "Pet" Halstead in the bedroom of his mistress in Newark, some months ago, has been convicted of murder in the first degree. -Madame, the Queen of Denmark, is certainly "a managing mamma." One daughter is the future Empress of Russia, the other the future Queen of England; while one of her sons is King of Greece and the son-in-law of a

-Patriotism in young maidens in Metz is tantamount to all the virtues. A young French lady of that city recently refused a Prussian officer's offer of marriage, and the next day received ten applications for her hand among the richest young men of the town. -The weight of evidence is decidedly in support of the charge that the Chicago fire was from first to last incendiary. It is now authoritatively declared that the story of the cow that was said to have kicked over a kerosene lamp is all a fable. It is said that the family were asleep when the fire broke out, and had not been in the barn after night at all. The fire of the preceding evening is now said to have been clearly incendiary. Thus the accidental appears to drop out of the chapter, and design takes its place.

-The great bridge at St. Louis is progressing rapidly. The concrete or foundation for the last pier, a small one on the Illinois side of the river, has been laid, and the bridge company will have no further use of the airpumps, voltaic armor, &c. The masonry, of which there will be one hundred and three thousand cubic yards, is about two-thirds completed, and the superstructure has already been commenced. The cast iron plates at the piers have been placed and prepared for the reception of the steel tubes forming the spans. It will be completed in about a year from now.

... The most extraordinary delusion on the part of her Britannic Majesty, with which Mr. Gladstone had to contend during his recent visit to Balmoral, was her confirmed opinion Prince Albert was present at the meeting, and occupied his usual seat by her side. Mr. Gladstone in vain attempted to dispel this hallucination. She constantly turned round to the supposed Prince, and asked him if it was not true. She declared that he repiled in the affimative, and for upwards of an hour she persisted in addressing him on every subject on which the Premier consulted her.

-The custom of stealing children from their parents in Italy and taking them to foreign parts to be employed for the benefit of their abductors has become so notorious that the law in that country has finally been compelled to take steps to check the evil. By the new criminal code of Italy those persons who entice children and take them abroad are punished with five years' imprisonment. The minister of justice in his report on the subject estimates that five thousand young Italian children are thus annually sold, as it were, to persons in the United States. These children are those whom we see about the streets playing upon execrable fiddles and collecting precarious contributions for peripatetic organ-grinders.

-Hon. Carl Schurz delivered an eloquent oration on the political questions of the day, at Louisville, a few evenings ago, in which he repeated his able and unanswerable arguments in favor of preserving the libertles of the people, and in opposition to the despotism of the administration. His reception partook of the nature of an ovation. The crowd was tremendous, and thousands were unable to obtain was nearly two hours in length, and was reapproval. As an evidence of the effect produced by his patriotic and masterly effort, it is noticeable that the Louisville Ledger, which is opposed to many of the orator's suggestions. is nevertheless constrained to admit that he is evidently a scholar and a profound thinker, that he "reasons logically and supports his position with arguments which prove him to be a man of thought and calculation"; that he is undoubtedly sincere, and that his great power in American politics "will be exerted in the interest of a magnanimous patriotism." -News of trouble and rumors of possible civil war come to us from Liberia. Some two years ago the present executive of that country, President Roye, was elected for the term of four years Recently, however, the Congress of Liberia passed an act limiting the President's term to two years, and now the partisans of Roberts, who will be remembered as the predecessor of Roye, insist upon the pathy with the Republican party in South Immediate resignation of the latter and a new election by the people, Roberts himself being a candidate for the office. Boye refuses to resign, and declares his intention of serving out the term for which he was elected, in which he is sustained by a considerable party. and this refusal has given rise to a great dea of bitterness between the two factions. Ani affray lately occurred at the seat of govern- cans, and in various degrees of popularity ment between the adherents of Roye and Roberts, in which the collector of the port, a staunch | ple - are living and conspicuous examsupporter of the present incumbent, and one of the most able and prominent men of the that negroes have been whipped and in country, was killed. This occurrence has added fuel to the already existing fire, and it is feared that Roberts, who is said to have quite a formidable backing, will raise the standard of open rebellion.

-The open Polar Sea, reported by the Atlantic cable as having been discovered by one of the German exploring expeditions, has directed attention to the different companies of scientific men now employed in the arduous work of reaching the highest parallel of north latitude. It appears that at the present time there are seven expeditions engaged in Arctic research-two from Germany, under the command of Rosenthal and Payer respectively: one from Sweden, consisting of two government vessels of war; one from Scotland, under Lamont; one irom England, under Leigh loaves and fishes, to discern the beauties of

Smith; one from France, fitted out by Octave Pavy, and the United States expedition, under Captain Hall. The discovery of the open Polar Sea by the German expedition brings to recollection the second Arctic exploration of Dr. E. K. Kane, and his perilous overland jaurney to a point from which he saw, in the inaccessible distance, the unfrozen waters of the circum-polar ocean. This discovery of Dr. Kane, although credited by many persons, was not accepted as an incontrovertible fact. The accuracy of his observations has, however, been established by the recent report from the German expedition. -As the ruins are gradually being cleared away, the extent of the losses by the Chicago fire and the exact condition of affairs in that city at the present time can be estimated with approximate correctness. From a statement in the Chicago Tribune, we gather the facts that over 50,000 persons have left the city, making the remaining population about 280,-000; one-half of the stock of pork products was consumed; 1,600,000 of the 5,000,000 bushels of grain were burned; and about one-fifth of the lumber, one-quarter of the leather, one-half of the coal, and the greater portion of the greceries, dry goods and boots and shoes were also destroyed. A careful average of the larger items shows that the city has suffered a loss of not less than twenty nor more than twentyfive per cent. on her total assets-real and per sonal. The ratio of increase during the past thirty-four years has averaged ten and a half per cent. per annum. This rate would restore the status of a month ago, within three years. Making every due allowance for the terrible set-back experienced, the Tribune thinks there can be no doubt that five years hence, at most, the exhibit of population, wealth, commerce and manufactures will be greater than a month ago.

A Bashful Witness.

The New York Times prints, with editorial comment, some extracts from a private letter, which give a fanciful picture of the perils and privations that any person must face who comes to South Carolina, and "attempts to live there in open, yet unobtru-"sive loyalty to the Constitution and Gov-"ernment of the United States." The Times says:

We are absolutely interdicted from giving the slightes: hint as to the identity of the wri-ter of this letter, for he is still at the South, in the midst of the Ku-Klux, and he was recently the midst of the Ku-Klux, and he was recently in South Carolina, at a place at which his letter is dated. More than this, he is not a Northern man, much less a "carpet-bagger," but a Southern gentleman, of an old and honored family—a family respected through many descents, and honored in its present representatives, who are men of recognized ability and character. "Having had their eyes opened, and their minds enlarged by education and travel, and having also ordinary prudence and good faith, they have perceived and laid to heart the truth that it is better that the late "onpleasantness between the sections" should be regarded as settled, and that the war for slavery and secession came to an end some slavery and secession came to an end some years ago; and that, consequently, the way to prosperity and happiness for the people of the late slave States lies through a submission to the Government of the Union, and a genuine and hearty obedience to the constitution and the laws. This belief they have not hesitated to avow and sustain in a firm but moderate way; and the result is simply that their lives are in hourly peril, and that their families, their very whose and daughters are subject to daily insult. The writer of this letter informs his iriend that the published accounts of Ku-Riux doings, so far from being exaggerated, fall short of the truth. "I am writing," he says, "from a town which has but recently had a visitation from the Ku-Kiux, more than a hundred strong, at dead of night. I am hated here in my native State beyond measure, and have lately received, even from men who hated here in my native State beyond measure, and have lately received, even from men who were once personally my life long friends, nothing but scowls and ill-concealed detestation. I have been amazed to learn that in this band of desperadoes and assassins rode the wealthlest, the most influential, and even the oldest citizens of this county. What a terrible condition of affairs! Sitting here to-night, and feeling myself to be not the impossible subject before morning of a massacre, which might include in my case, as it has done in others, even my innocent babes, I think it a shame that the strong hand of the Federal covernment is not here to protect me and them—shame, a burning shame! * * * I could convince you that my family share my them—shame, a burning shame!
I could convince you that my family share my anxiety by inclosing the latest letter I have received from A. B., (naming a highly respect ed clergyman in one of the principal cities of the South.) who is himself the mark of unspeak

ence, "who was killed in open day, in the presence of a crowd of people on the platform of a railway station, in the county where he was born. His murderers disdained even the disguise of masks, and yet not one of them has even been arrested. I am sick of this," he adds, "wearied of perpetual insult, exhausted by perpetual apprehension. Don't think I am alone in this apprehension. Even the Governor of South Carolina, has, to my own positive knowledge, been compelled to keep armed men in his house at night for months together. I am well acquainted with him and together. I am well acquainted with him and know the fact." The writer of a letter which is maliciously untrue in every particular, may well desire to preserve his incognito ; but The Times, in even standing room. The senator's speech printing what he has written, has innocently advertised his identity, as unmistakably as ceived with the most emphatic expressions of if it had given his name. It needs no especial shrewdness to divine that the letter to which our contemporary pins its faith was written in Orangeburg, and that the "highly "respected clergyman" has his home in Charleston. For while white men, who are avowed Republicans, are numerous enough throughout our State, we are happy to say that South Carolina has not two men within her borders who combine the devilish malice, the reckless falsehood, and the brazen impudence of the author of this letter. But the Times may quiet its apprehensions in his behalf. Renegade and slanderer of our people though he be, he is, and always has been, as safe in Orangeburg, or anywhere else in South Carolina, as the editor of the New able insult, begging me to be cautious in all my utterances; not that I might suffer abridg-ment of my business prospects by imprudence, but that I might lose life itselt." The writer

then goes on to mention the assassination of a man of mark and of growing political influ-ence, "who was killed in open day, in the

York Times himself, in his own cozy office. The assertion that any white man in sym-Carolina is, for that reason "in hourly peril" is, as the Times' informant knows perfectly well, a barefaced untruth. Judge Orr, Judge Graham, Judge Moses, Scott, Neagle, Parker, Crews, the Mackeys, and scores of other officials, or hangers-on of the State Government - all out-spoken Republior odium among the mass of our white peoples of the falsity of the charge. We admit some cases killed, and we condemn the lawlessness of which they were the victims as heartily and sincerely as the Times can do. But even these cases are few in number. We know of but one instance in which a white Radical has suffered an injury at the hands of the so-called Ku-Klux. The man "of mark and of growing political influence," over whose murder, in broad daylight, the letter-writer weeps inky tears, was B. F. Randolph, a colored member of the Legislature. who was killed on the 16th of October, 1868-three years ago, and long before the Times' letter-writer had been led, by the convincing argument of a taste of the official

South Carolina Radicalism. At that time, i we mistake not, he was still glibly speuting at Democratic ward meetings, in behalf of Seymour and Blair. -This, in conclusion, we would say to the New York Times: We flatly deny that any Republican, taciturn or outspoken, is in any more danger, on the score of his politics, in South Carolina than he is in New York. This declaration we set squarely against the fabrications of a writer, the bare mention of whose name would itself be, hereabouts at east, an ample refutation of his slanders.

This Company had, and still has an Assner in Chicago, and is now paying its losses there as promptly as the same can be adjusted. When these are all paid, the HOME'S assets will exceed those of any other New York Company.

Furthermore, the Board of Directors has unanimously resolved to call upon the Stockholders at the earliest practicable moment for enough additional Capital to restore its ASSETS TO NEARLY $4 000,000 AFTER EVERY CHICAGO CLAIM IS FULLY SATISFIED. Will this not furnish ample indemnity to all seeking insurance, and is not that Company entitled to the fullest confidence and support which thus, like 'THE HOME," stands in the breach and fully protects many sufferers in the Chicago calamity, instead o boasting that it has no share in such a disaster? Misrepresentations of the Company are in circulation by interested parties, but ANY STATE-MENTS REFLECTING UPON THE SOLVENCY OF THE HOME ARE WHOLLY UNTRUE.

Your business is respectfully solicited. CHAS. J. MARTIN, President. J. H. WASHBURN, Secretary. New York, 18th October, 1871.
