THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1871.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

-Gold closed yesterday at 112all?. -In New York, cotton closed active and easier; uplands 18%c; sales 5045_bales. -In Liverpool, cotton closed steady; uplands 91d, Orleans 91d; sales 15,000 bales. -A "Panorama of the Chicago Fire" is already announced.

-6rant is being urged to play a little with the workingmen .-

-Some of the most trusted lighthouse keepers on the Atlantic coast are women. -Mrs. Lydia Sherman, the alleged New Haven "Borgia," is very confident of acquittal, though it is said few believe her innocent. Her trial has gone over until the last of De cember. -A Richmond woman voted last week. Her ballot was deposited with this endorsement: "By the Constitution of the United States, I, give my vote at this election, and in vindication of it drop this vote in the ballot-box." -The proposition of all the Democratic and some of the Republican members of the Ku-Rlux committee to recommend Congress to provide general amnesty is not certain to be adopted by the full committee. So far as the President's views are known, he is said to be opposed to general amnesty now, and will not recommend it in the annual message.

-A New York correspondent writes under date of the 10th instant: "About the 20th of this month there will be a conference in New York of as many leading Democratic politicians as can be got together from different sections of the country, to compare notes and take counsel together with reference to the present position and future course of their party, with particular reference to concert of action in the coming Presidential election,"

-- Dr. H. H. Tucker writes a letter from Paris to Hon. David W. Lewis, secretary of the Georgia State Agricultural Society, under date of October 16, in which he says: "I have just had a conversation with M. Edmund Farrene, editor of the official journal of the French Government, in which he assures me that it proper steps were taken a large tide of French immigration could be turned to the State of Georgia. The class of immigrants, too, are the very kind we most need-cultiva tors of the soil-men who are accustomed to work, and who expect to work."

-The new English expedition, which has been in preparation for a considerable time, has just started for the Holy Land. It has been placed under the charge of Captun R. W. Stewart, R. E. Captain Stewart's main work will be the completion of the survey of Palestine. How much this is wanted is only known, perhaps, to map-makers and professional reographers, but every one who has really studied the Old Testament history can tell of undiscovered sites and places whose history seems to be lost altogether. To radis cover those will be one of the aims of the exploring party.

-A Washington paper, generally credited with reflecting the views of the administration, discatisfied with the result of the Virgin election, and in a disquisition thereon uses the to the success of the Wilsons, is Mr. John following language, in which the threat is W. LINLEY. Persistent advertising drew plainly enough implied: "There have been such throngs of customers to his up-town the collection of taxes. And a general few acts of violence in Virginia on account of store that he has been emboldened to open, political opinion, but this is owing to the fact in addition, the spacious bazaar which is that the Democrats have had the State, and no such acts were necessary to enable them to retain or perpetuate their power. The combination or conspiracy referred to by the President as existing in South Carolina is doubtless also in existence in Virginia, but it is, for the present dormant. -The New York Sun reports "on high authority, that the Hon. E. S. Stokes of that city received the sum of seventy thousand dollars in greenbacks for the surrender to the Hon. Peter B. Bweeny of the celebrated correspondence and memoranda relating to the affairs of Colonel James Flak, Jr., Mrs. Josephine L. Mansfield and other speculators and politicians. In this correspondence, Mr. D. P. Ingraham, Jr., is said to have taken a deep interest. Mr. Sweeny and Mr. Tweed were also mentioned in it." The Sun thinks that "Stokes sold it cheap, considering that Judge Ingraham 'had ordered it suppressed; but he is a benevolent man." -A spark arrester for locomotives has recently been invented in Massachusetts, and consists of a curved smoke stack, resembling a cornucopia, with the mouth directly back ward. Near the enlargement of the upper curve a wire screen is placed at an angle of forty-five degrees, and another screen is year round. And there is not one of them, placed over the mouth. Just below the first | we venture to say, that will hesitate to screen a perforated steam pipe is run horizontally through the smoke stack, and is connected with the boiler. As the sparks from the fire box pass through the stack they are moistened by a fine spray of steam issuing from the perforations, and drop to the ground through a tube inserted in the coraucopla between the two screens.

-Five weeks have elapsed since the great fire, and the citizens of Chicago are now able to look around the ruins in a business-like manner, and make a rational estimate of the simution. The Tribune declares that they "have got far enough ahead in the work of re building the city to need no forbearance in a commercial point of view" at the hands of their rivals. They have not much to offer in the way of show. Their architectural exhibition is decidedly poor, and their clothes are shabby, but the same spirit remains that made the former Chicago what it was. They have an unimpaired credit in all the markets of the world, and enlarged and improved experlence in the way of building cities. The railways are as numerous as before the fire, and their trains are as heavily laden. The harbor is as full of shipping as ever. The merchants are te-established, in less commodious homes indeed, but in such quarters that they will be prepared for the exigencies of the coming season. Money is at hand for paying the interest on the city debt and rebuilding the burned bridges and public offices. And more than all, characteristic energy and self-reliance, and, still unconquered souls."

horrors of the famine in Persia. A population of four millions, scattered over an arid country about as large as Great Britain and France together, is being swept away by thousands and tens of thousands. It appears that a large number of the inhabitants of Persia belong to wandering tribes whose sustenance is provided by their flocks and herds, and who are therefore entirely dependent on pasturages. Three years of drought have almost totally destroyed the grass on the mountain sides and in the valleys, and the people and their cattle have been perishing together. The suffering may have been less severe in the cultivated districts, but even there it has been terrible, and the accounts from the cities alone are sufficiently appalling. At Is aban, the capital, 12 000 people have died of want, and more than double that number in the provinces. Out of a population of 10,000 at Kazeroon, as many as 4000 have starved to death, 4000 more have fled the place, and children have been tram. pled to death under foot in the scramble for relief. It impossible to look for any natural recovery until next spring, and the country possesses none of the ordinary means of trans-

The Proof of the Pudding! Everybody, nowadays, hears more or less of the virtues of advertising. The colossal fortunes that have been built up as it were in a day, in the pushing cities of the North, attest the magical influence which may be wielded over individual interest through the columns of the newspaper press; and the Stewarts, the Ayers and the Helmbolds of the day have won a fame rivalling that of with the expression of our confidence that their own prints, pills and potions, as con. spicuous exemplars of the success which invariably rewards the bold, judicious and persistent use of printers' ink. In fact, it not advocate total repudiation. The origihas come to be an accepted business maxim | nators and supporters of that movement are among the shrewdest mercantile men that Senators Nash and Wimbush and other coladvertising bears much the same relation to Mrs. A. Whitehead Bodeker, have a right to trade that the fertilizer does to agriculture. Both are stimulating agencies, the proper use of which demands a wise liberality and a sound discretion; and the returns which both are equally sure to yield are so rich and remunerative that neither planter nor merchant can afford to disregard them.

In the matter of advertising we need not go outside of our own community to find instances in which the fruits of that powerful auxiliary have made themselves unmistakably manifest, and that, too, within a very recent period. The most prominent case that occurs to us, just now, is that of WILSON BROTHERS, whom everybody in South Carolina by this time knows as the famous Charleston grocers and Dollar Tea men. Less than twelve months ago they were still the occupants of a modest corner, in the quiet and retired neighborhood where they began business. There was nothing apparently, at the outset, to give them any advantage over a hundred other corner stores of like humble pretensions. But they had energy, they understood their business, and cution of the laws be obstructed. As the they-advertised. Not by fits and starts, not in the more active weeks of the busy season only, but steadily and perseveringly, in dull times as in brisk times, winter and summer, they kept their names and their specialty always before the public. At first their advertising was limited to two line notices, but finding these so clearly profitable, they gradually increased the space of their announcements, until now they hold the position of the most liberal and constant of all the Charleston advertisers. And their prosperity has steadily kept pace with the laws and the Constitution. And their reprogress of their investments in printers' ink. None of our city readers need be told time to change front. Paying promptly, at that their large and handsome establishment on King street is second to no other in the vited further extravagance. We shall now city, and that their thrift and enterprise are | see what delay will do. rapidly earning the legitimate business reward. Following close in the path which has led | meet the more pressing claims, to silence now so noticeable a feature of the lower part of King street.

In the dry goods line, the most persevering of city advertisers, of late years, have protective measures as are needed for sebeen Messrs. FURCHGOTT, BENEDICT & Co. The consequence has been that their uptown store being too small to accommodate the rush of business, they were compelled, as it were, te open another lower down, and both branches continue to enjoy a flourishing and constantly increasing custom.

We might multiply similar instances of success which has been won right here in our own community by plucky and continued advertising. And it is to be noted that these firms, and others like them, have shrewdly avoided wasting their resources in availing themselves of inferior advertising mediums. Having chosen a journal which goes to every family breakfast table, as well as to every counting-room in the city, and which enjoys, besides, an unrivalled country circulation, they have found their account in keeping their announcements in its columns, omitting not a single issue all the avow that a pleasant experience has taught them the pre-eminent value of the CHARLES-TON NEWS as such a journal. It is with pleasure and pride that we can declare that while bardly a week passes that we do not hear gratifying reports of the effects of advertising in this paper, we have yet to meet the first business man who, having advertised freely in these columns, does not consider the money so spent to have been a paying investment.

The Tax Question.

The Columbia Union does not like the advice which THE CHARLESTON NEWS gives to the honest people of the State, viz: to withhold the payment of taxes, with the object of obtaining a confessedly true statement of the public debt, and of securing satisfactory guarantees against future extravagance and fraud. It savs:

"THE CHARLESTON NEWS, in its issue of Saturday, sounded the key-note of practical repudiation. Under the caption of 'A Plan of 'Campaign,' it advises the people to pay no taxes. In other words, to refuse to meet the demands made upon them for the purpose of paying the LEGITIMATE debt of the State. Folled in their attempts to destroy the credit of the State Government in the financial centres of the inhabitants preserve unimpaired their the country, the conspirators now resort to their last card, and openly advise the people to as the Tribune says, are fully prepared to start | put themselves in antagonism to the State Govanew, "a trifle crippled a little hurt, some- ernment by refusing to pay their taxes. The what untidy in outward seeming, but with animus of the Bourbone in this State is manifest by this article of THE N. ws; but we tell

-Says the London Times of the 26th ult. hem at the very outset, that their's is a game

"There is no longer any doubt respecting the | that the thinking, law-abiding citizens of this State will never sanction. The taxes will be paid at the proper time, or the land will be sold to pay the forieit. The Legislature owes it to itself to see to it that one of the very first acts of the session shall be a tax law, such as will put the purchaser in possession of the property sold at a tax sale, within sixty days after the sale, and everything shall be considered as regular, up to the time of making the title. When that is done, there will be no trouble in obtaining as many purchasers as are necessary to take up all lands sold at tax sale.

We have italicized the passages in this extract to which we particularly desire to direct attention.

The first mis-statement of the Union is in saying that THE NEWS urges the people to "refuse to meet the demands made upon "them for the purpose of paying the legiti-"mate debt of the State." This is the exact reverse of the counsel we have given, which is to postpone the payment of taxes, as a practical way of avoiding the payment of the fraudulent and illegitimate claims which the Scott administration would have the people accept as a moral and legal liability. We advise the people to pay no taxes into the hands of the Scott officials to be used in cancelling fraudulent bonds, or in paying exorbitant commissions to the Financial Agent, or in liquidating the losses of the several members of the Ring. We give, moreover, the advice that the taxpayers, whenever they have the power, recognize and pay no bond which is not proved to be legally issued and used, and we couple this the taxpayers, with equal unanimity, will recognize and pay every dollar of debt which is proved to be legally contracted. We do ored Radicals in the General Assembly.

To speak of THE NEWS and the people wno sustain its policy as conspirators, who openly advise the people to put themselves in antagonism to the State Government, is a stale device. It is a sign of "rebellious "spirit," no doubt, to refuse to hand over the public purse to the official highwaymen. It is a fell conspiracy, of course, to expose fraud and send thieves to the penitentiary. The people do recognize the State Government, and they yield an implicit obedience to the laws. They seek redress by peaceful means, and by taking advantage of the remedies which the laws give them. The law gives the taxpayers until January 15, 1872, to pay the taxes now falling due, and WE URGE THE TAXPAYERS NOT TO PAY THEIR TAXES BEFORE THE LAST DAY WHICH THE LAW GIVES THEM. And it may become necessary for the people to obtain a further delay, and incur the penalty for non-payment. They may be forced to risk the sale of their property under a tax execution. But in no case will, or can, the peaceful exe-New York reformers are conspirators, so are we conspirators. As the officers of police hunt down criminals, so will we hunt down the Ring. And it matters little what is the opinion entertained of us by the "Tweeds" and convicted rogues of the Carolina Ring. For three years and more the people have complied with every demand made upon them. Although without representation, they have borne the burden of taxation. Although the victims of ill-considered legislation, they have obeyed the ward is, more debt and more taxation. It is the call of the tax-collector, has only in-

The truth is, the Ring are sorely alarmed. They counted on the incoming taxes to the Legislature, and to cover up their malversation. No money can be had except by postponement of payment, all over the State, until the extreme limit of the time which the law allows, will break up the Ring, and, we believe, induce the Legislature to adopt such just and necessary curing the people against present rascality and impending ruin.

Work for the Union.

As the Columbia Union, according to its own declarations, is eager to bring derelict officials to the bar of justice, we give it an excellent opportunity of making a beginning in that direction.

-We charge that the State officials, without authority of law, and in violation of a stringent provision of the State Constitution, have paid the bonds of the State, amounting to $250,000, falling due on July 1, 1871. What has the Union to say about it?

hostetter's Bitters.

WHAT DYSPEPSIA MAY END IN .- Indigestion is not dangerous, say the faculty. Perhaps not in itself, while it remains mere indigestion; but look at the consequences to which it may lead, and often does lead when it becomes a chronic disease. A spark of fire is a small thing. A pressure of the foot will put it out; a breath will extinguish it. Yet it may fire a powder mill, or kindle a flame that will consume a city. -In like manner indigestion may produce gastritis, cancer of the stomach, congestion of the bowels, apoplexy, liver disease, and many other dangerous ma'adies. Is it not wise, then to check it in the germ? Nothing is more clearly and indisputably established than that HOSTET TER'S STOMACH BITTERS will eradicate dyspepsia in all its stages. The true policy, however is to extinguish it in the first stages with this wholesome, powerful and infallible tonic and alterative. It is easier to quench a spark than a flame, and it is easier to cure dyspepsia when 1 s first developed than when it has made headway by neglect, and become complicated with other allments. There is not the shadow of a doubt that the Bitters are as directly antagonistic to dyspepsia as water is to fire. The e are thousands of cases on record proving this fact. The remedy is safe and agreeable. All the liquors of commerce prescribed as stimulants, leave a sting behind. But the sting is taken out of the spirituous basis of this great remedy by vegetable medication, and, moreover, the stimulant thus medicated is of exceptional purity. Of all tonics taken as safe guards or remedies for fever and ague billous remittents, and other fall epidemics, it is the only one that can uniformly be depended upon. novil-stuth&D&C
