One hundred years ago, and something more, In Queen street, Portsmonth, at her tavern door, One hundred Portsmogth, at her taken In Queen street, Portsmogth, at her taken Keat as a pin and blooming as a rose. Stood Mistress Stavers in her furbelows. Just as her cuckoo clock was striking nine. Just as her head, respiendent on the sign, Just as her cuckoo clock was striking nine.
Above her head, resplendent on the sign,
The portratt of the Larl of Hallfax,
In scarlet coat and periwig of dax.
Surveyed at leisure at her varied charms,
Her cap, her bodice, for white folded arms,
And half resolved, though he was past his prime,
And rather damaged by the lapse of time,
To fall down at her feet, and to deciare
The passion that had driven him to despair.
For from his lofty station he had seen
Stavers, her husband, dressed in bottle green,
Drive his new Flying Stag-coach, four-in-hand,
Down the long lane and out into the land,
And knew that he was far upon the way.
To inswich and to B. ston on the bay! To Ipswich and to B. ston on the bay

Just then the meditations of the earl
Were interrupted by a little girl,
Barefooted, ragged, with neglected hair,
Eyes full of laughter, neck and shoulders bare—
A thin silo of a girl, like a new moon,
Sure to be rounded it to beauty soon;
A creature men would worship and adore,
Though now in mean habiliments she bore
A pail of water dripping through the street,
And bathing, as she went, her naked feet.

It was a pretty picture, full of grad The stender form, the delicate, thin face The swaying motion, as she hurried by; The shining feet, the laughter in her eye shining 'eer, the laughter in her eye,
o'er her face in tipples gleamed

glanced.

As in her pail the shifting sunbeams danced,
And with uncommon feelings of delight And with uncommon feelings of delight The farl of Halifax beheld the sight. Not so Dame Stavers: for he heard her say These words, or though he did, as piain as day: "O! Martha Hilton! Fie! how dare you 20 About the town half dressed and looking so!" At which the gypsy laughed, and straight re plied:

"No matter how I look; I yet shall ride
In my own charlot, ma'am." And on the child
The Earl of Hallfax benignly smiled.
As with her heavy burden she passed on,
Looked back, then turned the corner, and was

what next upon that memorable day
Drew his august attention, was a gay
And brilliant equipage, that flashed and spun,
The sliver harness glittering in the sun,
Outriders with red jackets, lithe and lank,
Pounding the saddles as they rose and sank,
While all alone within the charlot sat
A portiy person with three-cornered hat,
A crimson veivet coat, head high in air,
Gold-headed cane, and nicely powdered hair,
And diamond buckles sparkling at his knees,
Dignified, stately, florid, much at ease.
Onward the pageant swept, and as it passed
Far Mistress Stavers courtested low and fast;
For this was Governor Wentworth, driving down
To Little Barbor, just beyond the town,
Where his great house stord looking out to sea—
A goodly place, where it was good to be.

It was a pleasant mansion, an abo Near and yet hidden from the great high road. Sequestered among t.ee, a noble pile, Baronial and colonial in its style; Gab es and dormer windows everywhere, And stacks and chimneys rising high in air;
Pandean pipes, on which all winds that blew
Made mourn ul music the whole winter through
Within, unwonted splendors met the eye,
Panels and flows of oak, and tacestry; Carved chimney-pieces, where on brazen dogs Revelled and roared the Christmas fire of logs; Doors opening into darkness unawares.
My terious passages, and flights of stairs;
And on the walls, in heavy glided frames,
The ancestral Wentworths with old co.lpture

names.

Such was the mansion where the great man dwelt,
A wi-lower and childless; and he leit
The loneliness, the uncongenial gloom
That like a rresence haunted every room;
For though not given to weakness, he could feel
The pain of woun, that ache because they heal.

The years came and the years went—seven in all— And passed in cloud and sunshine o'er the hall; The dawns their spiendor through its chamber shed,

The sunsets fushed its western windows red.
The snow was on its roofs, the wind, the rain,
Its woodlands were in leaf and bare again: ons waxed and waned, the lilacs bloomed and In the broad river flowed and ebbed the tide, And the slow years sailed by and ceased to be.

And all these years had Martha Hilton served In the great house not who ly unobserved:
By day, by night, the silver crescent grew,
Th. uga hidden by clouds, her light still shining
through;

through; A maid of all wo k. whether coarse or fine, A maid of all work, whether observe or the A servant who made service seem divine! Through her each room was fair to look upon, The mirrors glistened and the brasses shone, The very knocker of the outer door.

If she but passe!, was brighter than before.

and now the ceaseless turning of the mill And now the cesseless turning of the mill of Time, that never for an hour stands still, Ground out the governor's statieth birthday, And powdered his brown hair with sliver gray. The robin, the forerunner of the spring. The bine bird with his jocund carofing. The restless swallows building in the eves, The graden buttercups, the graden buttercups, the graden buttercups, the liak tossing in the winds of May—All welcome this majestic hollday. He gave a splendid banquer, served on plate, Such as became the governor of the State, Who represented England and the king, And was magnificent in everything. He had invited all his friends and peers— The Pepperels, the Langdons, and the Lears, The Spathaw's, the Peuhallows, and the rest-For why repeat the name of every guest?

But I must mention one, in bands and gown. The rector there, the Reverend Arthur Brown Of the Established Church; with smiling face

The rector there, the Reverend Arthur Brown
Of the Established Church; wi h smilling face
He sat beside the givernor and said grace;
And then the feast went on, as others do,
But ended as none other I e'er knew.
When they had drunk the king with many a cheer.
The governor whispered in a servant's ear.
Who disappeared, and presently there stoo!
Within the room, in puffect womanhood,
A maiden, modest and yet self-pusse-sed,
Youthful and beautiful, and simply dressed.
Can this be Mar ha Hilton? It must be!
Yes, Martha Hilton, and no other she!
Dowered with the beauty of her twenty years,
How lady like, how queen like she appears;
The pale, thin crescent of the dars gone by
Is Dian now in all her maj'sty!
Yet starce a guest perceived that she was there.
Until the givernor, rising from his chair.
Played slightly with his roffis, then looked down,
And said unto the Reverend Arthur Brown:
"This is my birthday; it shall likewise be
My wedding-day, and you shal in arry me!"
The listening guests were greatly mystified,
None more so than the rector, who replied:
"Marry you? Yes, that was a pleasant task,
Your excellency; but to whom, I ask?"
The governor answered. "To this lady here;"
And beckoned Martha Hilton to draw near.
She came and stood, all blushes, at his side.
The rector paused. The impatient governor cried:
"This is the lady; do you hesitate?

The rector patasta cried:

"This is the lady; do you hesitate?

Then I command you as the finagistrate."

The rector read the service loud and clear;

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered here,"

And so on to the end. At his command,
On the fourth finger of her fair left hand

The governor placed the ring, and that was all;

Martha was Lady Wentworth of the Hall!

New York Coffee Market.

From the Daily Bulletin, Friday, December 22: We have to note a continued strong and buysent market, with a good demand prevailing and buysers fully convinced of the general strength of the position. Brazils have sold with considerable freedom, minly to the trade, and commanded very ful prices; in eed, another 1/20 improvement in gold from the lowest point. The advance, however, does not increase the desire of holders to realize, the feeling of confidence remaining as strong as ever, and from the reduced stocks on hand the offerings are extremely m derate and good selections difficult to find. Other descriptions also are attracting attention, and in fact all coffee worth handling is now in demand. The jobing distribution has also been first-rate, and the stock in first hands reduced. Sales of 2660 bags Rio ter Merrimse; 3500 do per Chowan, to arrive from Hampton Roads: at faltimore, 2047 per Aquidneck and 5000 per Gray Eagle. OFFICE OF AUDITOR OF STATE, COLUMBIA, S. C., December 20, 1871. The question having been raised as to whether the law authorizes the State Auditor, upon the approval of the Governor, to extend the time for the payment of Taxes, after a careful examination of all the acts be ring upon the subject, and being unable to fin I any authority for such action, but at the same time knowing that ext nsions have been granted in previous years, I submitted the matter to the Atto ney-General for a legal opinion.

In reply to the question alluded to, the Attornoy-General answers: "I have the honor to say that the only section under which it is claimed, so far as I am aware, that the State Auditor, with the approval of the Governor, may extend the time for the collection of taxes, is the 147th section of the Tax Act. That section is in these words: 'If any of the duties required to be performed in this act on or before a certain day by any officer here n named cannot, for went of proper time, be so performe I, the State Auditor, with the approval of the Governor, upon proper evidence of the necessity of the same, may extend the time as long as may be necessary therefor. An examination of this s ctio ; will, I think, lead at 10a17%C.
ABREVILLE, December 23.—Cotton buoyant at to the conclusion that it has reference simply and only to an extension of time necessary for the tax officers to perform the g duties, and was not intended to, and does not in terus, authorize an

> The law as construed by the Attorney-General, in whose opinion I fully concur, does not allow the exercise of discretionary power to any officer in this matter. I would therefore once more bring to the notice of all the importance of prompt and punctual PAYMENT OF TAXES, as under the decision above quoted I cannot do otherwise than execute the law, as provide I for in the 97th section of the Tax Act, passed September 15, 1868, which says that the penalty shall attach upon all taxes and as essments not paid on or before the 15TH DAY OF JANUARY. It is entirely harmless, and perfectly free from any pois nous substance, and will therefore take the place of all the dirty and unpleasant preparations now in use. Numerous testimonia s have been sent us from many of our most prominent citizens, some of which are subjoined. In everything in which the articles now in use are objectionable, CRYSTAL DISCOVERY is perfect. It is warranted to contain neither Sugar of Lead, Sulphur or Nitrate of Silver, it does not soil t'e clothes or scalp, is agreeably perfumed, and makes one of the b st dressings for the Hair in use. It restores the color of the Hair "more perfect and uniformly than any other preparation," and always does so in from three to ten days, virtually feeding the roots of the Hair with all the nourishing qualities necessary to its growth and healthy condition; it restores the decayed and induces a new growth of the Hair more posi tively than anything else. The application of this won terful discovery also produces a pleasant X MAS CHEER! an I cooling effect on the scalp and gives the Hair a pleasing and elegant appearance.
