-Speaking of the cosmopolitan character of New York, the Post, of that city, says: "There is a Norwegian community, and a Swedish community, and a Polish community in this city, 10 say nothing of a Bussian church and of a Swiss military and charitable organization And besides all this, we have a Welch place of came a joint resolution imposing a modest worship, where a clergyman from Grythblwry- tax of eight mills for the counties and three lid can preach in his native consonants to the exiles from the banks of the flowing Ap-Llog- Ridge tax, could be borne, and the public liwrygwith, or from the breezy heights of Wrythwggldydidodd.

-The feat of "Herr Holtum the Prusslan Hercules," who is astonishing the British by catching a ball fired from a cannon, is said to be neither novel nor difficult. The fact is that about two ounces of powder are placed in the gun, then the ball is rammed home, then the balance of the charge is put in. When the gua is fired all the powder is ignited, and the "levied upon the property of the State " flash, smoke and report are orthodox, but the ball receives propulsion only from the small quantity of powder behind it, and is thrown force be estimated that at an experiment is Englandin 1846 a twelve pound ball was thrown against a board fence so as to leave a slight dent on it without knocking it down, Over two-thousand persons of various shades assembled in Steinway Hall, New York, a few evenings ago, to listen to the sweet carolings of Miss Neille Brown and Miss Marianne Williams, the two African-American prime donnes, who have lately magnetized fashionable colored society in that city by their musical talents. Miss Nellie Brown is an rarely sweet voice, of rather small compass at cent.; so that the annual interest is about present, but capable of fine cultivation. Miss $954,000. For the payment of this interest Brown has enjoyed the attention of the highest colored families of New York for some time past, and she is now about to proceed to Italy, to study music and improve her voice under the great masters of song. She has all the material to become a fine singer, and will no doubt succeed in her laudable effort to ascend the ladder of fame. Miss Williams sang in several concerted pieces, and displayed remarkable talent as a vocalist.

-News continues to arrive from Cape Colony and the wonderful diamond fields of South Airica; and its general tenor is beginning to be somewhat more mournful than form riy. The precious stones; no doubt, abound, but, as might have been expected, they are attracting the rowdy and savage elements from every direction, and transforming the quiet diggings into a scene of robbery, lawlessness, confualon and violence, so that the gentler of the adventurers wish they were well away from the place, and advise their friends to "stay at home." There is now at the fields a population of about 30,000. Of these at least a half are black-Hottentots, negroes, or Kaffirs. Men whose tribes have been at deadly feud for ages work side by side. Most of them are naked savages, unable to speak any language but their own. The diggers are not particular in such trifles. Any one who can handle a pick, has quick eyes to sort, or knows the rudimentary principles of mule-tending, is welcome. They arrive by hundreds; but there is room for hundreds more. The price of ground at the diggings is going up rapidly. The rich spots are not to be bought, save for more sovereigns than would cover the surface. As an instance, it is related that a man gave £900 for a bit of ground just the size of a grave; £500 for a quarter of a claim that measures thirty feet by five and a hall feet, is considered very reasonable; and when only £150 or £200 is asked, the seller is regarded with suspicion. Capital, evidently, is a desideratum in the South Africa diamond business.

-A St. John, N. B., correspondent of the New York Sun tells a strange story of the disease, suffering and death which prevail throughout a small place in Gloucester County, N. B., called Tracadle. The popular distemper has been known to the physicians for a long time, but they have been baffled in their efforts to counteract and eradicate it. According to the correspondent, the disease is the genuine ancient leprosy, which was communicated to the vicinity years and years ago by the wrecking of an infected vessel from the Levant on the Tracadie shore. At any rate, all the Tracadians have it, and. singularly enough, are not able to transfer it to any other persons or localities, which would seem to be fortunate for said persons and localities. The symptoms of the disease are reculiar, not to say startling. The patient begins by experiencing a burning fever and superior old whiskey in this country.

racking ague, a stimess and weakness in the joints, a heaviness in the chest, rushings of blood to the head; and many other sensations of langour. The most remarkable symptom, however, is an utter insensibility to pain. The latter, which might seem at first to be a sweet boon, may be readily seen to be a disadvantage, when it is considered that the invalids are in the habit of burning or freezing off their hands and feet without knowing it The latter stages of the malady are attended by frightful and disgusting manifestations and finally death supervenes and rids the victim of his greatest curse-life. If this story be wholly correct, the real estate market in Tracadle must be singularly devoid of fluctua-

Validation and Taxation.

The fourth section of the Validation act

voking pazzle. At the beginning of the legislative session it was well understood that the State officials, for their own protection, would attempt to pass a bill declaring all the bonds and stocks of the State, already issued, legal and binding; and that they would, for their own penefit, levy a tax sufficient to meet the overdue and accruing interest, and the deficiencies in the appropriations of previous years. The tax bill, in all its naked deformity, came first before the people. Although the taxes of 1870 and 1871 had been collected between January, 1874, and January, 1872, it was shown by the Comptroller-General that more than two million dollars were required to meet the liabilities of the State Government for the year 1872. During the year 1871 the State levied taxes amounting to over four million dollars; and, neverthe less, 1872 would require nearly three millions. It was proposed to levy a tax of sixteen mills for State purposes and three mills for county purposes, which would give the State (upon taxable property amounting to $150,000,000) a nominal sum of $2,400,000, and the counties a nominal sum of $450,000. This proposition caused some show of resistance to be made by the virtuous Republicans who declars that "they must draw the "line somewhere," and who do it by levying any tax needful to pay their six dollars a day and mileage, and by refusing any pecuniary solace to those "victims of misplaced confi-"dence," as Governor Scott calls them, the public creditors of the State. Behind all this was the serious fact that the tax assessments of previous years could not be collect ed in full. The delinquent tax lists were intaxation does not double income. All that the taxpayers could do was to wait. They waited; and, to their astonishment, the sixteen mills tax bill was put out of sight. The Blue Ridge swindle bribed its way through the Legislature, involving a tax of three mills on the dollar; but on the heels of this mills for the State. This, with the Blue began to breathe more easily. Alas! for them who hoped for either wise counsel or prudent action on the part of our Radical General Assembly. As soon as the tax of eleven mills was safe, the Validation bill was brought from its hiding place, which bill includes the provision that "an annual "tax, in addition to all other taxes, shall be " * sufficient to pay the interest on the "bonds named in, or provided for in, this Revs. E. J. ADAMS, W. A. PATTON, and others. "act." This is the famous fourth section of at a very few feet. So accurately could the the Validation bill, which explains the mysterious conduct of the Legislature in levying a tax of only eleven mills when Comptroller Neagle and the rest were pleading piteously for a tax of nineteen mills or more.

The sum total of the debt acknowledged in the Validation bill is $15,851,327. Of this debt a sum of $38,836 bears three per cent. interest, a sum of $481,944 bears five per cent. interest, and a sum of $899,000 bears seven per cent. interest. The remainder bears interest at the rate of six per an additional tax is to be levied, at the rate. we will say, of four mills on the dollar; which, with the tax for redeeming the revenue scrip, issued to the Blue Ridge road, will make the taxation of the year : 8 mills for State purposes......$1,200,000 3 mills for county purposes...... 450,000 4 mills for interest on debt...... 600,000 3 mil's for Blue Ridge..... 450,000 18 mills amounting to.....$2,700,000

This is exclusive of the stamp and license bills, which are expected to produce a revenue of $200,000 or more.

We make no other comment than is expressed in the statement that the average taxation for ten years before the war was $400,000 a year; that the State debt, under three years of Radical rule, is increased from $7,000,000 to $16,000,000, and that the taxable property of the State, valued in 1800 at $489,000,000, is now assessed beyond its value at $150,000,000.

D.vorce Made Easy.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature allowing as a cause for limited divorce "such conduct on the part of the husband towards the wife as shall, without just cause, deprive her of the society of her rela-"tives, or friends, or of attendance upon pub-"lic worship, or shall designedly render her "life unhappy or uncomfortable." "Relatives" is a comprehensive word, applying not merely to mothers in law, and it would seem that a husband has only, under this bill, to shut out his wife's second cousin, who may want to make a boarding house of his residence-and there is cause for a divorce. The want of a carriage, or a box at the opera, or a set of diamonds or furs, might, in the absence of more serious grounds of discomfort, cause a decidedly "uncomfortable" sensation with some wives, and backed by a few tears and an able lawyer, sufficiently answer as a plea for di-

"Cornering" Corn Whiskey.

A certain firm in Louisville, we are told, have effectually cornered the market in old whiskey by buying up all of the article in the country, the aggregate purchases having reached $3,000,000. It is very likely that the Louisville firm has made large purchases of certain brands of Bourbon whiskey; but it is folly to talk of cornering the market, even on that article, when any desired brand of choice old Bourbon can be manufactured and supplied on forty-eight hours' notice. So long as rectified spirits are plenty and drug stores are ac- payer to five per cent. discount. cessible, there will never be any scarcity o

The Great Sen Tunnel.

After a delay of some ten years, a company has actually been organized in London for the purpose of building a tunnel under the Straits of Dover, and opening railroad communication between England and the Continent. The New York Bulletin, in an exhaustive article on the subject, says: "Should the experiment, which is certainly a bold one, succeed, it is "probable that other works of a like character will soon be projected. England and Ire-"land would next be united; a tunnel would probably be cut under the North Sea in the course of time; and thus, between the tunnels, ship canals, railway bridges and telegraph, the crooked paths of commerce will be made straight, the widely separated na-"tions brought into closer and more intimate intercommunication, and great material results achieved, in comparison with which what engineering science has already accom-"plished will seem as nothing."

The Middies Indignant.

The same system of favoritism which made the concluding year of Cadet Grant' at West Point so unpleasantly notorious has found an example in the naval service. The case is that of the son of Admiral Porter and his crony, Midshipman Richman, graduate of the class of 1870, who have been selected for pro motion in advance of all others of their class. This is made the subject of a petition to the Senate signed by all the members of the class of 1870 within reach, and recently forwarded to Washington. The midshipmen do not use sugared language, but blurt their grievance right out. They say that young Porter and his friend were both "turned back" for deficiency in studies while at the academy, and in spite or their five years' tuition, fell far below the average, one being graduated in the last half and the other only three from the end, being found deficient at five separate examinations. Further they say that "improper influence has been largely used to accom plish results so subversive of justice and "destructive of discipline," and therefore they complain of the injury done more worthy midshipmen, and ask that all future promotions in their class may be dated back to coincide with those of the young favorites.
