DEATH .- Captain James Johnston, for number of years the ordinary of Fairfield District, died on Wednesday last.

THE LATEST WAIF .- A little before twelve o'clock, on Friday night, Will Kennedy, a gtalon formed a separate congregation under small colored boy, was found sitting on the Market steps by a policeman. He was taken to the Guardhouse, and told the Mayor he "had no home." He was sent to the Colored Orphanhouse.

IN THE BLANKET BUSINESS .- Bandall Cowan, a colored man, was arrested on Saturday morning by the detectives, charged with buying a lot of blankets, ten in number, from party who had stolen them from the Citadel. The blankets were the property of the government. Cowan was referred at once to Trial Justice A. M. Mackey, who, after hearing the evidence offered, committed the prisoner for further examination. Cowan, the same day, was also arrested and brought before Trial Justice Magrath, for forcibly entering and trespassing upon certain premises in King

THE CITY TREASURY .- At the request of Mr. Thomas, the committee of ways and means assembled at the City Hall on Saturday afternoon, and at four o'clock they were received in the office of the city treasurer. The task of looking into the accounts, making inventories and giving duplicate receipts, was begun without delay, and occupied the committee up to a late hour of the evening. The work is not yet completed, but enough has been done to show that Mr. Thomas intends to obey in good faith the decision of the City Council, and that the installation of the treasurer elect will follow at an early day.

Two CAUGHT.-Between eleven and twelve o'clock on Saturday night a large party of jovial spirits, who did not care to go home till morning, went to the house of a colored woman named Dolly Smith, in Caalmers street, and being refused admittance, burst into the door by force. The proprietress stepped out into the street and began to call for the police. The joylal spirits immediately took to their heels, but Clubs and Stars was on the watch, and as the last two jovial spirits came rushing out, they ran into the arms of the expectant policeman. A crowd now assembled to see the row, but assistance having arrived, the struggling jovial spirits were taken to the Guardhouse and lodged for the night. The other jovial spirits, it is thought, changed their minds and went home before morning, and they could not be found. The matter will be investigated this morning.

THE NORWEGIAN BARK EBENEZER ASHORE. Dispatches received here by C. O. Witte, Esq., from Beaufort, S. C., dated 9th and 10th instants, from Captain Mathiesen, of the Norwegian bark Ebenezer, report that vessel as having been ashore near Beaufort, that she was leaking, and would have to go into the dry dock. The Ebenezer salled from here a few days since for Beaufort, S. C., with one hundred and sixty tons cotton seed, and expected to take in the balance of her cargo at that point, and probably got ashore on the passage, but no further details are given in the telegrams. The captain desired the service of a steamer. Since the above was written, the following

The congregation were for-FIRE IN SAVANNAH .- A fine occurred in Sa vannah on Friday night damaging the stores merly the colored portion of the congregation of the old Circular Church, and refer to their old of Messrs. Baker & Co., W. J. Harty and J. H. connection with evident pride. After the de-Ruwe, on Bay street. The Savannah News struction of the Circular Church in the great During the progress of the fire great con-sternation was created in the large crowd by fire of '61 and the building of the small chapel after the war, the colored portion of the congresternation was created in the large crowd by a loud report, resembling an explosion of some kind. On going to the spot from whence the sound proceeded, we found Washington Steam Engine, No. 9, which was working at the corner of Bay and Lincoln streets, had the pastorship of Mr. Merritt, of Massachusetts. They remained so for several years, looking forward to the time when they could build a blown out her bottom, and was turned nearly upside down by the force of the shock. A number of firemen, who were at work around the engine at the time, were more or less insultable place of worship, using meanwhile the hall at the Avery Institute. Last spring they were ready to begin building their church, and having purchased a spacious lot at the corner of Bull and Pitt streets, the cor-epidemic of last summer intervened, however, and during its existence the work was suspended. It was resumed with fresh energy with the cold weather, and was completed a short time since. The church is a large wooden building with a lofty tin-covered roof. It is neatly painted and well ventilated by windows with Venetian shutters at short intervals along the sides. The main entrance is on the east end towards Pitt street through a bandsome gothic doorway. The pulpit stands on an arched recess, slightly rais... at the west end. The body of the church is about seventy feet long and forty feet wide. It contain fifty-two pews of good size, with a wide central aisle, and one on either side next the walls. It has also a capacious gallery at the east end with tiers of seats rising one above another, and it can seat fully five hundred persons. It is handsomely lighted by a central reflector of thirty-six jets in the roof, while the pulpit and its recess are lighted by gas from handsome bronze burners. This recess is also handsomely carpeted. - In the daytime the side windows give an abundance of light, while a large Gothic window of blue stained glass sheds a soft light over the gallery. The in terior of the church was beautifully decorated yesterday, in honor of the dedication, with festoons of evergreen and flowers along the walls, varied by bright wreaths. The space around the pulpit was also neatly ornamented with flowers and cedar, and a beautiful wreath hanging over the rear of the pulpit enclosed a photograph of the Rev. Mr. Merritt. At the appointed hour the church was filled with a happy assemblage. The services were opened by the Rev. E. J. Adams reading from the Scriptures, &c., and a prayer was offered up by the Rev. W. H. Brown. The dedicatory sermon was next delivered by the Rev. Henry J.

Fox, D. D., from the text, "When I shall be lifted up I shall draw all men after me," and was listened to with much interest. The services were concluded by a prayer from the Rev. T. P. Ford, the pastor of the church, and the assemblage, after inspecting the beautiful place of worship, dispersed. Under the care of its esteemed pastor, the church has prosper-

TO THE PUBLIC.-AFTER MANY years of faithful service in your behalf the volved that it has no course left but to appeal to the generosity of the citiz as of Charleston, to which the Fire Department has never yet turned

For a period of forty years serving as an Engine Company, since the war this organization has been changed to the Hook and Ladder branch of the service, one no less important, yet much harder, as it involves the necessity of attending every fire, no matter in what District it

But owing to the general depression, the mem bers of the Company, while cheerfully and freely contributing their time and labor, have had little else to give, and the Company, depending almost exclusively for support upon the pay received from the city, has found this insufficient to mee the expenses incident to the purchase of a new apparatus, and the maintaining of the same i proper state of efficiency.

Under these circumstances, it has been reluctantly determined to appeal to the public for aid and assistance, and the following Committee will, with that purpose, wait upon the citizens, with the confident hope that those whom they serve will not suffer them to ask in vain: COMMITTEE.

The Hook and Ladder Companies of this Department are of as much importance in time of fires as an Engine, and we are well satisfied their pay does not meet their expenses. We very cheer fally recommend this appeal to our generous com-
