

THE PRESIDENCY.

THE SITUATION VIEWED FROM A NEW YORK STANDPOINT.

Effect of Mr. Adams's Letter—The Candidates Before the Liberal Convention—Adams the First Favorite in the Eastern and Middle States—Germans Deserving the Republican Party En Masse—The Rush for Cincinnati—Alarm of the Administration Organs.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT. NEW YORK, April 25. The coming convention at Cincinnati engrosses the public mind, and this morning the letter of Charles Francis Adams, which appears in the daily journals, is the town talk.

IN FAVOR OF ADAMS.

I have heard many Republicans, who have hitherto been looking upon the Cincinnati movement with coldness and even hostility, declare that, if Mr. Adams shall be the nominee, their consciences will not permit them to vote for General Grant's re-election.

MR. ADAMS'S LETTER.

seems to have given a new impetus to the movement in his favor, and if it takes in the West and South as it has here, it is not at all unlikely that when the Cincinnati Convention meets next Wednesday, the nomination will be tendered to him, amid a whirlwind of acclamation.

THE FENIANS.

fancy that he was elated in effecting the reelection of the naturalized Americans who were Fenian rising. Colonel Warren, one of the Fenian leaders, is bitterly opposed to him.

DAVID DAVIS.

The Judge is a magnetic man, great of bulk and sound of mind, who could make a dozen rattling speeches a day for every day of the campaign without exhausting his strength.

GRATZ BROWN.

The intellectual, courageous and great souled governor of Missouri, is the favorite of the Germans, though it is said that Senator Schurz has a preference for Mr. Adams.

CARRYING PENNSYLVANIA.

For this reason the popular name of Curtin has been put forward. He is still in Europe, but his personal friend, Colonel Aleck McClure, who assumes to speak for him, vouches for his sympathy with the Liberal movement.

THE GERMANS.

of the Republican stripe are almost unanimous for the Cincinnati movement. They are holding mass meetings all over the Northwest and choosing delegates to the convention.

safe to say that the German defection from the Administration party will lose to Grant the States of Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

OFF FOR CINCINNATI.

Mr. Greeley and his party will leave on Saturday. As many of the interior counties are moving, fully a thousand delegates will go from New York State.

GRANT'S FRIENDS.

are certainly worried about the future. The administration organs have blustered a great deal, but within a few days their tone has changed from ridicule of the "sovereigns" to entreaty that honest Republicans will not aid in breaking up the party.

ARBITRATOR ADAMS.

departed on the steamer Russia, for Europe, yesterday. He goes to attend the Geneva Congress.

The excitement concerning the Cincinnati Convention increases hourly all over the country, and even the most radical of Radical papers and politicians are ceasing to sneer and beginning to whistle for the time-honored purpose of keeping up their courage.

THE FEELING IN WASHINGTON.

The Politicians Anxious—The President Deceived as to the Strength of the Liberal Movement. A Washington dispatch, of Thursday, to the New York Tribune says:

No subject is more talked of in Washington than the Cincinnati Convention. Everybody is inquiring of every one else what will be done next week, and no one knows, or is willing to venture an opinion.

THE WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT OF THE BALTIMORE SUN.

There have been some developments made here with reference to the Cincinnati movement, which are calculated to disturb the harmony of the Cincinnati Convention.

THE LATEST.

The interest in the Cincinnati Convention is everywhere on the increase. The latest telegraphic news from Cincinnati is that the grand balloting be avoided, that all arrangements be made before May 1, and that the convention be unanimous.
