A Colored Man Accidentally Shot-Riot in the Country-Arrest of the Parties

S. C. Brown and S. O. Wiggins, two white men, were brought to the city yesterday afternoon under arrest and taken before a trial justice on the charge of being implicated in the killing of a colored man named Tharin Grant, on last Monday, in St. James Goosecreek. From the affidavits upon which the prisoners are confined and their own statements the following facts are taken: Last Monday afternoon, about two o'clock, Brown and Wiggins, who are planting a place on Goosecreek belonging to the Rev. Mr. Miles, went out shooting fish in the creek. After they had been gone some time their powder gave out and they returned to the house for more. While returning they met Grant and talked with him some time, he laughing with them and claiming the load in the gun as his own, as he had loaded it with his own ammunition in Mr. Wiggins's absence. The two prisoners proceeded on their hunt and captured a large fish. They then started back, and the gun was placed in the bottom of the boat. They soon got back to where Grant was sitting on the edge of the canal, and Brown states that he was busily pushing the boat along when suddenly the gun was discharged and he saw Grant double up and fall over. Wiggins states that he had the gun, without knowing it was loaded, pointed towards Grant, who told him to be careful and hold the muzzle down. He was doing this when the piece was discharged. Wiggins then jumped out of the boat and waded to Grant, put his arm around him and said, "Oh, Grant, you know it was an accident." Grant merely sald "Oh, my God, I am shot," and died almost immediately. The load of shot had gone clear through his breast. The prisoners, seeing he was dead, leit the body where it fell, and, taking a wagon at the house, drove to Porcher's Station, on the Northeastern Railroad, for the purpose of taking the train to the city and delivering themselves up to the proper authorities. In the meantime the body was found by some colored people, who speedily spread the news abroad. The colored people were highly excited, and a large crowd armed with guns, knives, poles, &c., started in pursuit of the prisoners. The latter were found at the station, and were immediately taken into custody by the mob. The more infuriated presented their guns and knives, and wanted to kill the two prisoners outright, but fortunately others who were more moderate in their views succeeded in restraining the mob. Surrounded by the crowd, the two white men were then taken from the depot towards the scene of the accident. Their captors pressed upon them on every side, and, while passing through a field, Brown was struck and knocked senseless by a blow upon the back of the head. The crowd carried the men before the father of the deceased Grant, and they here stated how the killing had been the result of accident. The father heard their statement, and must have been persuaded it was an accident, as for the time he was judge and jury, and any extreme sentence from him would, doubtlessly, have been executed by the inturiated crowd. Yesterday morning the prisoners were conveyed by their captors to the depot,

An inquest will probably be held over the body of Grant, and the prisoners are held to await the result of the investigation. THE BIEL OF HEALTH .- The city registrar

Tickets can be procured from the pastors of the several Catholic Churches, cr at the depot. The picule will probably te th. largest and one of the most enjoyable of the season.

THE NEW CLOCK .- The first object of interest which met the view of our business community yesterday, as they came down Broad street, was the ladder in front of the Postoffice, and the workmen at the top of it engaged in closing up the ugly orifice in the front of the renovated building with the dial of a handsome clock. After considerable delay, the public will be gratified to learn that a standard clock is at length being placed in the front pediment of the Postoffice, and in a few days standard time will be once more re-established in Charleston. The clock is the munificent gift of the Chamber of Commerce. Their committee have been persevering in their efforts, and their final success will be hailed with unleigned satisfaction by the

Of A. McLeish, for the remission of the penalty for not paying taxes promptly for the year 1870. Referred to the committee on retrenchment and relief. Of numerous citizens, praying Council to resist the injunction which had been taken out to prevent the removal of the Artesian Well troughs to the south side of Pinckney street, between Church and Anson, as, in the estimation of the petitioners, the location chosen by the committee was most eligible, and the best suited to the convenience of the public. Referred to the Mayor to transmit to the city at-

Alderman Pelzer stated as information that the proposed change was objected to by the congregation of Trinity Church, and Alderman Johnston stated that it was objected to by George W. Williams & Co.

Of John F. Taylor & Co., for permission to make a one story addition to the western side of their machine shop in Pritchard street. Petition granted.

Of C. Dryer, offering to sell to the Council copies of his "Birds-eye Views of the City of Charleston," particularly of the schools and public buildings. -Referred to the Mayor, with nower to act.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES. On retrenchment and relief, reported unfor a reduction of his license tax. Adopted. The same committee reported favorably on the petition of Mr. Bredeman for the remission of two-thirds of his taxes for 1871 in consequence of his property having been destroyed by fire. Adopted. . The same committee reported unfavorably on the petition of Rev. John Moore, D. D., to have the pastoral residence attached to St. Patrick's Church relieved from the payment of taxes. The attention of the committee was called to the fact that the penalty for not paying the tax promptly had been attached, and they suggested its remission. Report adopted, and penalty remitted.

The same committee reported unfavorably on the petition of D. L. Glen to be refunded the taxes paid on his unfinished building. Adopted.

The same committee recommended additional compensation to be paid James Allen for cleaning out the drain in Burns lane, it having been filled by a storm, before being inspected, which necessitated another cleaning. Report agreed to, and referred to the Mayor for settlement.

On accounts, reported bills of the Gas Company and Almshouse, amounting to $2390 77, as correct, and recommended they be referred to the city treasurer for verification and set_ tlement. Adopted. On public buildings, institutions and grounds, reported that they had carefully examined the Charleston College building and approved of the repairs recommended in the report of the surgeons read at the last meet. ing. They recommend that the engineer prepare the details of the repairs required, with specifications, to be approved of by the committee, and also that an observatory, not to cost more than one hundred dollars, be erected on the top of the colle lilding. Adopted. The committee also stated that they had engaged to have the High School painted and repaired as recommended at the last meeting of Council.

Upon assessments, reported unfavorably on found Rutledge avenue in the bad condition described in the petition of numerous residents for its repair, and recommended that the matter be referred to the Mayor, with power to confer with the city attorney, to ascertain the duties of railway companies to keep their track in repair preparatory to placing the avenue in a condition becoming one of the most popular streets in the city. Adopted. BILLS.

Alderman Kenny brought up a bill to abolish the detective force and provide for its duties being performed by the regular po- New York; Wm. A. Righton, Newark, N. J.; J. lice. The bill took its first reading. Alderman Moran read a bill to alter and amend the ordinance to regulate licenses for 1872, so as to make the City Railway Company pay one hundred dollars for each car running instead of a gross sum of one thousand dollars. Bill ordered to be printed. MISCELLANEOUS.

The Mayor read an invitation extended to the Council by the committee of arrangements of the Steam Fire Department to witness their parade on the 7th instant. Accepted.

Alderman Voigt called attention to the nu merous complaints of citizens caused by the fast driving along the streets, and respectfully requested the Mayor to see that the ordinance on the subject be enforced by the police.

Pursuant to resolution, the city sheriff re ported tax executions in his office to tue amount of $100,000 for taxes due on property in the city. Referred to the committee on ways and means with power to act. RESOLUTIONS.

Alderman O'Neill moved that the city treasurer be authorized to pay, from the funds in the treasury, the tax for State licenses due by the city officials.

Alderman Simonds objected, as he did not see how the city officials could be lawfully required by the State to take out licenses. Alderman Pelzer moved, as an amendment, that the payment be made provided that the city attorney deems the officials liable. Alderman Voigt objected to the resolution in toto, as he did not see why the city should advance money to pay the taxes of its officials, who were quite as well able to pay for their licenses as any other citizens. He moved that table. Carried.

both resolution and amendment be laid on the On motion of Alderman Bowen, it was resolved that hereafter it shall be the duty of the city recorder, in conjunction with the chief of the fire department, to investigate the origin of all fires which may occur within the corporate limits of the city, and make detailed reports of the same to the Mayor. Adjourned. G. W. WILLIAMS & CO .- M. SSIS. G. W. WIIliams, Wm. Birnle and J. R. Bobertson, the ated with them, as partners in their Charles-

THE FLORAL FAIR.

The Floral Exhibition, under the auspices of the Agricultural Society of South Carolina, opens at four o'clock this afternoon at the Ryan Villa, at the corner of Calhoun and Butledge streets. A large number of choice plants have already been received, and the collection of paintings, hung in the villa, promises to be especially fine. The Post band will be in attendance during the evening, and when the exhibition, closes the street cars, on both lines, will, by the courtesy of President Riggs, be in walting to carry the visitors home. A more delightful spot than the Ryan Villa cannot be found in Charleston, and the arrangements of the committee are so admirable that both visitors and exhibitors will certainly be satisfied. The plants in pots are placed under the awn ings on the grounds, where they will receive careful attention, and cannot be injured; and the cut flowers will give their lustre to the suite of rooms in the villa.

The committee will send for any flowers or objects of art which it may be desired to exhibit, if word be sent to them, this morning, at the Ryan Villa or at Holmes's Book House. Charleston is overflowing with flowers, and it is hoped that the exhibition will be worthy of the floral reputation of the city. If all who have choice flowers will contribute a small contingent, the exhibition cannot fail to be successful.

THE CHARLESTON SCHOOLS .- By the tax imposed upon the property in the city by the school commissioners $31,979 40 have been collected for the support of the city schools, and along with the other city taxes paid into favorably on the petition of John Christopher the city treasury. $15,000 of this amount has cents. Brocade Striped Piques and Yosemite already been paid out, and the balance is on Stripes-beautiful article, all cheap. deposit in bank awaiting the disposal of the superintendent.

> THE RURAL CAROLINIAN FOR MAY .- This sterling agricultural magazine has a very attractive table of contents. The proprietors mention the fact that they have distributed a quantity of cuttings of the white fig, which they obtained at great expense from Symrna. These trees yield the well-known "Symrna fig" of commerce. If the cuttings which have been planted grow as they ought to do, the rooted trees will be distributed next winter mong the friends of the Rural Carolinian.

> THE INFERIOR COURT-BEFORE JUDGE LEE. The sealed verdict in the case of Jas. Ladson, indicted for assault with intent to kill and asseult and battery, was not opened on account of the absence of one of the jury through sickness. The court was occupied all day in the trial of the cases against Romeo Green and Henry Draine for grand larceny. Both cases were at length given to the respective juries with instructions to bring in sealed verdicts.

OWENS AT THE ACADEMY. -Seldom have we seen a more delighted audience than that which emerged last night from our bright little theatre after witnessing the Ollapod and Solon Shingle of Mr. John E. Owens. The charm of Mr. Owens's acting lies in its exceeding naturainess. Not a taint of exaggeration was to be detected throughout the performance, and the mellow humor of the star awoke a genuine response alike from the brilliant and crowded pit, and from the tickled throng in the heights of "Mount Rascal." The support was exceptionally good in both pieces; and the overflowing house is, in itself, a guarantee that this brief first engagement of Mr. Owens in Charleston will prove a signal triumph. For to-night we have the great bill of the Heir-at-Law and Toodles.

PRESENTATION .- A handsome gold-headed cane was presented to Captain W. H. Gannon, commander of the steamer Pocosin, last Monday afternoon, by Messrs. C. & F.
