COURTS OF LAW.

Taxing Charitable Associations. The question as to the constitutionality of the Legislature of 1868, which inhibits the courts from issuing writs of injunction or prohibition to stay the collection of taxes, ha been made and argued before Judge Graham at the present term of the Circuit Court. It came up in the cases of the State ex relatione the South Carolina Society, and the State ex relatione "Abee Yetomim Ubne Elyonim," or the Society for the Relief of Orphans and Children of Indigent Parents, vs. the county treasurer and county auditor.

These cases had been previously argued before the Supreme Court upon a case stated and agreed by counsel, but the motion was dismissed upon the ground that the code had provided, by section 475, that proceedings by mandamus or prohibition should not be affected by any of its provisions until the Legislature should otherwise provide, and therefore the proper mode of procedure was by a suggestion for prohibition, and rule to show cause, with an intimation of the constitutional right of the court to issue such writs. It was contended on behalf of the relator: 1st. That prohibition was a well established remedy in this State to prevent the collection of illegal or unjust taxes. 2d. That section 15 of article 4 of the constitution giving to Courts of Common Pleas the right to issue prohibition and other writs necessary to carry their powers into effect, must be construed with reference to the law existing at the time of the adoption of the constitution, and that the power to issue prohibition must be measured by the practice then existing. The real question at issue and thus sought to be reached is whether the South Carolina and the Hebrew Orphan Societies are not public charities, and, therefore, exempt from taxation.

The arguments were heard upon the 4th instant, and yesterday Judge Graham gave his decision at length. It concludes by ordering that the prayer of the relators be granted, and that a writ of prohibition do issue against the said county treasurer and auditor restraining them from collecting the taxes erroneously and illegally assessed and charged against the said relators. The question is to be taken before the Supreme Court on appeal.

United States Court.

In the District Court yesterday, before Judge Bryan, the petition of Clarissa McMahon to establish a lieu against L. J. McMahon, bankrupt, was reterred to Registrar Clawson to report.

A writ of habeas corpus was applied for in the case of Wm. H. Trezevant, examined before and committed by United States Commissioner Boozer, to which the sheriff made a return in court. Upon hearing the whole pro ceedings and the arguments of counsel, the court ordered the case to be referred back to Commissioner Boozer to take further testimony, both for the prosecution and defence, and report the same to the court. During the investigation the defendant was admitted to bail in the sum of $3000, to appear upon the return of the new testimony by Commissioner Boozer. Mr. Trezevant gave the required sureties, and was discharged. The court then adjourned until ten o'clock this morning.

The Court of Common Pleas was opened at ten o'clock yesterday morning by Juoge Graham.

The Issue docket was sounded, and the cases assigned for trial in order. The trials will begin on Monday, and eight cases will be taken up each day until the docket is disposed of. The following cases are fixed for Monday, after which printed dockets will be prepared for the bar: 1, McCord vs. Rhett; 2, Russel vs. Cantwell; 3, Bank of the State vs. Whaley and Tobias; 4, Campbell vs. Home Insurance Company; 5, Cantwell vs. Reeder; 6, Kenny vs. Phillips; 7, McLeish vs. Hall; 8, Marzyck & Duensing vs. Home Insurance Company. FOR THE SAVANNAH SCHUTZENFEST .- The delegation of the German R fle Club of this city which will attend] the festival of their brethren in Savannah, will leave for that city on Sunday morning on the Savannah and Charleston Railroad. Over fitty members are already on the list of the delegation, and it is supposed that about sixty will go. They will be accompanied by Metz's Brass and String Band, and will bear the handsome sliver chain and golden medal as presents from their club to their hosts, which have been already described at length in THE NEWS.

The arrangements for the festival are being pushed forward with all energy in Savannah. A long list of valuable - 17es will be contested for, and the several crac. shots which accomlinquent taxpayers was resumed yesterday at pany the Charleston delegation will countless show their markmanship to advantage. These, however, must bear in mind that the targets are two hundred yards from the shooting boxes, which is about twenty or twenty-five yards further than those at the Cnarleston Platz. Everything promises a brave show, a happy reunion among the brethren of the rifle, and a gala time generally.

THE MARKET STREET HOMICIDE.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury-Valdez Released on Bail,

The inquest upon the body of Raphael Perez, who was shot by F. V. Valdez, in Market street, on Wednesday night, was resumed persons in the vicinity were examined, and tneir evidence established the facts that Perez had a grudge against Valdez for having been turned out of the cigar factory of Mantoue & Co. by Valdez, who was foreman; that he followed him on the night of the shooting, provoked the quarrel, and fired the first shot, The jury returned a verdict that Perez had been shot and killed by Valdez as above stated, but found that the killing was in selfdefence and excusable.

Vaidez was forthwith brought before Judge Graham on a writ of habeas corpus, and discharged upon his giving bond, well secured, for $500 for his appearance at the next term of the Court of General Sessions.

THE WAGENER ARTILLERY PICNIC.

This fine club assembled early yesterday morning to the number of about forty at Lindstedt's Hali, and, preceded by Metz's Brass Band, paraded through the principal streets down to the wharf at the foot of Market street. The Ciub presented a galiant appearance as they marched in their handsome dark blue uniforms, and on their way from Broad street up East Bay saluted THE NEWS Office in a manner which was fully appreciated. They proceeded by steamer, accompanied by an imposing array of the softer sex, to Mount Pleasant, where everything had been arranged for their reception, and all partook of an appetizing collation. With a fine band of music, a large hall, rifles, fine weather, &c., a most delightful day was enjoyed by the participants. In the evening a moonlight excursion gave a fitting termination to the pleasures of the day, and landed the club and their friends in the city, highly pleased with the success of their maroon, about eleven o'clock. Among the many prizes shot for was a handsome golden medal, in the form of a Maltese cross, with a fine likeness of Mayor Wagener in the centre, which was presented to the club in an eloquent speech by Captain James Armstrong, Jr., one of the guests, in behalf of the donor, Captain Henry Wagener. This was shot for at the target of honor, and, together with a handsomely embroidered shot pouch, was won by Captain Wagener himself. As he had presented the prize to the club, he gracefully gave way, and, at his instance, the two prizes were awarded to the next best shots on the target.

The shooting was with the short Enfield rifles of the club, the targets being one hundred and fifty yards off, and was far above the average. The prizes were awarded as follows for the best average, each man having three

LADIES' MEMORIAL SOCIETY.

An Interesting Review of the Past Year's Labors.

The sixth annual meeting of the Ladies Memorial Association was held last Thursday alternoon at the Confederate Widows' Home, and the following ladies were re-elected officers for the ensuing year : Mrs. M. A. Snowden, president; Miss E. C. Palmer, vice-president; Miss A. Simpson, secretary, and Miss Adger, treasurer. The following interesting report was read :

The sixth anniversary of our association finds us, unfortunately, with but little to record as the work of the past year. From various causes we have met but rarely, and accomplished but sittle, though not from a diminuion of interest in the sacred task for which we associated ourselves together; nor yer, we truet, from flagging energy for our holy work. Our members are out few; possibly yearly they grow less; yet greater will be the triumph and gratification to that faithful few when we can at last exclaim, "Excelsior!"
It should not be discouraging, but rather arouse us to renewed emulation, to learn that our sister associations, in the neighboring cities, are rapidly moving on to the completion of their labors; though checked and hampered by local disadvantages beyond our coutrol, still, by keeping stending in view our great obsent, by keeping strainty in view out great of ject, we shall move on and finally succeed. But we must not insten to the whisperings of of ease and !ndoler.ce, or yet to that shameless ory, "It is one to forget;" "Let the dead past bury its dead." We have buried our dead, but not to forget them, or their claims on our memories or gratitude; and, in token of such, we urge our members to renewed exertions for the succeeding year. Having adopted the design, and signed the contract for the building of our monument, (which, doubtless, ere this has been commenced,) we shall have to tudy and devise means wherewith to meet study and devise means wherewith to meet the grain upon our coffers; and it is pleasing to record the many cheering promises of help that have been accorded to us to encourage and stimulate hope in our future labors. Let it not be said that Charleston was the last, the very last, to accomplish that which can alone testify to future ages her grateful remem-brance and love for our heroic dead. Taolets, corresponding with the others, have been placed at the mounds which cover the remains of our Gettysburg martyrs, who now seleep quietly with their comrades at Magnolia; and no grave there (under our charge) is now unmarked but that of the galiant young hero, Captain Mitchel, whose claims are too well known to be reiterated here, and to whom we owe more than a mere tablet. We trust a kind Providence will smile upon our city, and enable us, in the advancing year, to accom-plish our aim and object. A cordial note of thanks was extended to Mr. Burns, keeper of Hibernian Hall, and his son, for kind assistance rendered on Memoria

THE ENTERPRISE RAILROAD, AGAIN.

OFFICE ENTERPRISE BAILROAD COMPANY, CHARLESTON, S. C., June 14, 1872. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS.

Dr. Pelzer, as city registrar, has made certain statements, which I, as engineer of this road, wish to correct. The work on the road, yesterday at the coroner's office. All of the since the first of June, has been cleaning out the trenches, putting down cross ties and stringers, and filling in. There have been two exceptions, one of flity-six, the other of thirty six feet, Previous to the first of June the trenches as to depth, width and direction, were complete, leaving only the usual small connections here and there, necessary to precision. I have worked four nights in five weeks. On the 4th of June there were thirty-eight men at work on the road, sufficient lumber, &c., on the ground, ready for use, and also at the South Carolina Railroad Depot, with the ability to obtain more when wanted. There is no need, at any point, to deepen the trenches, either six or eight inches below my original excavations. Dr. Pelzer's partisan heat has no doubt led him into misstatements and coloring of facts-a thing that seldom happens here to men of correct feeling, especially in a confidential officer, and certainly not without its becoming a source of regret to them in their calmer moments, which I sincerely hope may be his case. His criticism on the engineering of the road shows that he did not understand the matter-s thing perfectly excusable in him; and his prompter was not more fortunate. The whole style of Dr. Pelzer's letters on this subject is that of a hot-headed partisan, verging, in one case, to coarseness. A health officer should exhibit calm intelligence and deliberate wisdom, which would tend to encourage and instruct those under his care, and not indulge in promiscueus use of hot adjectives, which tend to conjuse the matter under discussion. Respectfully,

JOHN K. GOURDIN. Engineer Enterprise Railroad.

Wilmington Market—Weekly Review.

WILMINGTON, June 13.

SPIRITS TUBPENTINE.—Has shown a decided improvement during the past week, and the market has advanced steadily, as follows: Saturday, %: Monday, 1c; Tuesday, 1c; Wednessiay, 2c; and to-day at the time of closing our report the market is unsettled. The export demand has to a large extent abated; and the purchases during the week have been purely for speculation. The sales for June, July and August delivery during the month at prices that are within a range of the present figures, have given strength to the tone of the market, and receivers are keeping back their stock awaiting the result. The receipts for the week are 4328 bbis, and with only maderate shipments, the stock has been increased. The market closes weak at 500 per gallon, a decline of 2c.

GRUDE TUMPENTINE.—We have to report very little change in the general polition of the market. Wilmington Market-Weekly Review tle change in the general position of the market Receivers have been asking about the former the change in the general polition of the market. Receivers have been asking about the former rates except for virgin, which has declined 40c, buyers submitted fairly and the feeling has appeared steady and uniform throughout. The receipts have been quite large and the wants of the distiller and exporter have been met freily, although their purchases have been based in the main for their immediate wants. The stock is on the increase, and to-day as taken is 2188 bols. The market closes steady to-day at $2 50 for hard, $3.75 for ye low dip, and $4.50 for virgin. The receipts and sales for the week reach 10,000 bbls. R. SIN.—The market has been very inactive and dull and the lower qualities are a fittle off Strained opened in the early period of the week with a good demand from exporters, and last week's prices were fully sustained, but on Monday the market became less active and declined 25 cents, and closed on Wednesday evening at a further decline of 10 cents. To-day the market closes with no improved feeling at $2.50 per bbl. No 2 has also declined. The slock is moderately large, but the inquiry is light, and the market No 2 has also declined. The stock is moderately large, but the inquiry is lish, and the market may be quoted at $2.90 to $3 for extra quality. No 1 and pales shi w no change as far as regards prices. The receipts as compared with the previous week, show a decided improvement, and the atock has increased, although the shipments have been quite heavy. The stock, as taken today, reaches 31,325 bbls, against 24,331 last week.

Savannah Market-Weekly Review.

SAVANNAH, June 18.
COTTON.—Our market has during the week under review harely maintained the name of a market. The faulness in New York and Liverpool, and particularly the great decline in futures, has ket. The duiness in New York and Liverpool, and particularly the great decilie in futures, has stagnated operations here and the few transactions reported have been generally on local account, and even those cannot be resold, as there are not Low, nor have there been for some days, any buyers for export in the market. The cottons offering are of a quality held too high for any market, and the sepression and want of sales of cott-ns previously sent to other domestic markets from sheer lack of demand there, induces caution in present purchases here. We quoie: For middings, 22c offered; low middings, 23c offered; good ordinary, 22c offered; ordinary, 20% offered.
