A little volume of Fables in verse, and in the Spanish language, by Jose Rosas, has met with such favor in Mexico, that the city authorities have adopted it as a reading book for schools. The following is a translation of one

Beautiful Truth once in the days of yore, Put on the brave array
Which then the goddesses of Hellas wore,
And issued to the day,
Robed in such sort, with graces so divine,
That men, adoring, built to her a shrine.
The gods, indignant at the sight,
Rose in defence of their invaded right.
"Horror and infamy," they cried,
And "profanation" and they came and went,
Pacing the ambrosial courts from side to side Till a wild tumult filled the firmament.

Jove, to appease their fury, left the skies, Jove, to appease their fury, left the skies,
And quickly stood before The shrine of Truth, determined to chastise
The sacrliege: he tore
From her the regal mantle which she wore,
And stripped the robe away,
And fung to Falsehood's hand Mantle and robe to serve for her array,
And gave to Truth this terrible command:
"Be thou forever naked from this day."

And therefore, reader, let not truth be blamed, If evermore since then, She hides in corners, humbled and ashamed, And rarely seen of men.

THE HON. JAMES L. ORR AND "THE HAYNE FAMILY." A Reply from the Hon. I. W. Hayne

Judge Orr the Hayne family in this astounding nnouncement.

There were but two "branches" of the Hayne family under the old regime. One 1781 as a rebel and secessionist; the "branch" were descendants of my grand father, Colonel Isaac Hayne, hung by the Brit ish in 1781 as a rebel and secessionist; the other, the descendants of Abram Hayne, who died about the same time in a British prison ship. He, too, like his kinsman, being charged with disloyalty and treason by those who were then in power. These two were the only male adult Haynes of their day. For more than a quarter of a century after their death, there was no Hayne in office in South Carolina; and during the ninety odd years which have elapsed since the death of these two, the Haynes who have beld office State and Federal, all who have held office, State and Federal, al told, do not number fifteen. Instead of twelve or fifteen at all times in office, we have, all old, less than that number in a period of nine ty years.

The "Hayne family" have, at all events, left room enough for Judge Orr. That gentleman, though considerably my junior, has himself been a member of the State Legislature, a member of the United States Congress, speaker of the House of Representatives of that heads member of the Secession Convention, commissioner from seceded South Carolina to the government at Washington, Confederate which, however, he never led into battle, enator from South Carolina to the Congres

National Democratic Convention at Philadel-phia, head centre of Andy Johnston's Recon-struction Convention, first governor under the constitution then adopted, holding on by tolerance of General Sickles after the antinal Democratic Convention at Philadel

Johnston reconstruction act, helving in the formation of the constitution now of force, and now a judge under it.

I am surprised that a gentleman so various and so versatile—as the Germans say, so "many sided"—and successful in every change—a man so eminently a live man as Judge Orr—should be raking among fossils and dead men's bones. If the "Hayne family" affords no good excuse for needlessly and unprovokedly pitching into those who have only these memories left to cherish. Atall vents, he should have been "sure he was same thing eleven years ago to the interest-ing regiment he then commanded, and whose fate was soon after so melancholy. He told them that he was more than satisfied with public honors, and had outlived ambition.

His only care, he said, was to do his auty to them and to his country. Within six months after this speech his regiment was turned over to his brother-ln-law, Colonel Marshall, who, with all the field officers, half the regi-

who, with all the head officers, and the next ment were killed in Virginia, and the next campaign ex-Colonel Orr lived to be Confed-erate States senator, governor, judge, &c., and "John Brown's soul goes marching on." His last career is, with the aid of Corbin, Bowen and President Grant, to scourge the money-changers from the Temple, and money-changers from the Paulic, at a to send packing the thleves whom he Corbin, Bowen and Grant helped to put in office. In this work may God speed him. I would help a good work though the devil bid, and there is no telling whom the Lord may choose as His total may be a sense.

HORSE POWER. PATENTED OCTOBER 10, 1871.

We take pleasure in presenting to the planters and public a Horse Power gotten up by Messrs.

WRIGHT & WARNOCK, of Barnwell and Beaufort Counties, S. C., which is a most perfect machine. The said Power will give greater speed at the expense of less power than anything vet in use; is strong, simple and durable. Can be used with equal ease for ginging cotton, threshing grain, pumping water, &c. Will, on a forty-saw gin in good order, with two mules, moderate gait, gin 1500 pounds lint cotton per day; brisk driving 2000 pounds. One mule can pull it; light for two. It sits in a frame in the house; can be arranged to gin with the gin and gear sitting on the ground.

Another important feature of this Power is that the rising or falling of the floor of the house does not affect the working of the gear in any
