WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1872.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Memphis has a "corner" in chickens. The matrimonial market is quoted dull at the watering places this summer.

The New York Herald wants a monument to Dr. Livingston in Central Park.

A monkey in a Paris zoological garden slugs a beautiful tennis. This is a man, for Darwin.

St. Louis begins to contemplate wonderingly the proportions of its big bridge across the Mississippi.

An Iowa woman has realized $50,000 from the insurance on the lives of two husbands, and they weren't very good husbands either.

Wisconsin has got 106 in the shade. This is a temperance, that makes one indifferent about the price of coal, and calls for the warning of the clergy.

Nelson's husband excommunicated himself from the Catholic Church by being buried in an Episcopal sanctuary. Nelson himself is a Lutheran.

Everything is now ready for the reconstruction of the Vendome Column in the Place Vendome, at Paris. The plans are all prepared, the expenses being calculated at ten thousand dollars, and the architect is only waiting for orders to commence operations.

A correspondent of the London Times tells a story of how he has been visiting at the house of a friend in that city, who with his wife and children, are devotedly fond of snakes. They have a pet boa constrictor, a python and several small snakes, all perfectly tame and allowed them to play about the rooms and their persons like birds or kittens. The children fondle them with perfect confidence, twine them around their necks and kiss them.

W. W. Corcoran has sold his beautiful country seat adjoining Washington, known as HOWWOOD, for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, to an English gentleman, who contemplates making it his principal residence. The proceeds of the sale, with other benefactions, are to be bestowed upon the gallery of art which he has already presented to the City of Washington, and which has been the recipient of his munificence in other ways.

The year seems to be a most unusually hot one everywhere. In India the heat has been "scorching" a hot place always—marking occasionally 107 deg., and 103 deg. for fifteen consecutive days. In Paris old residents declare that they are grilling, and can only live by bathing; from Brussels we hear of 95 deg. in the shade, and in London it has been 88 deg., while the water in the public baths, without aid from furnaces, has been 76 deg.

The freaks of lightning grow more and more remarkable every year. In Alabama it struck and killed a lady, leaving uninjured a child in her arms. In the same State two buzzards high up in the air were struck, and their flight momentarily arrested. But the greatest achievement in this line yet reported occurred in Tennessee, where a man was struck by lightning and driven into the ground up to his neck, without being materially injured. Perhaps the electric fluid will open an air line to China yet in this way.

A new metallic compound, which bears the somewhat fanciful name of Abyssinian, or "Taint Gold," has lately been manufactured in large quantities in Germany, for the purpose of falsifying imitation gold jewelry and other objects. This is a brass composed of about ninety-one parts of copper and eight of zinc. The appearance of gold is obtained by causing a very thin sheet of gold to adhere by passing it through rollers. This gilded sheet is then cut and formed into ornamental articles by means of ingeniously constructed tool instruments.

There is a horrid thing in Nashville. It is a white "something," which glides through a certain ravine near the city from nine P. M. to early morning. It has been repeatedly chased, both by boys and policemen, but manages to elude capture—how we are not told. The negroes are greatly excited by its appearance. They declare it to be the ghost of a colored woman who was burned to death last fall. A hearse living near the ravine says that two headless persons came to her house repeatedly and danced a demoniac waltz, which results in overturning all her furniture. Two colored women who went by the haunted spot about midnight saw the ghost, and were so terrified that they ran half a mile. One of them is expected to survive the fright.

The criminal authorities of Jackson, Miss., made an important discovery and arrest last Thursday morning, by which it is supposed that a gigantic swindle upon the State of Mississippi had been prevented. A deputy United States marshal, J. F. Cunningham by name, having been suspected of some financial conspiracy, was arrested just as he had received a large box by express from New York. The box being seized, was found to contain two large books of counterfeit State warrants, a copper cut facsimile of the State seal, the signatures, and a facsimile of the great seal of the State. The plates and securities were all engraved in the best style by a bank note company in New York, and if the bonds had been put upon the market, the fraud would have been exceedingly difficult to detect. It is thought that this discovery may throw some light upon the history of the millions of spurious bonds of Georgia, South Carolina and other Southern States that are now afloat upon the market.

The escape of the Philadelphia ruffian, Marrs, who shot Alderman McMillen, has been a remarkable and adventurous one, and it is now improbable that he will ever be captured. He has been at large about a fortnight, and, although his whereabouts have been from time to time discovered, no one seems able or willing to apprehend him. After shooting Alderman McMillen, he plunged southward into Maryland, and, while in a swamp near Harreville, he was captured by some citizens, who public-spiritedly undertook to arrest him and secure the $2000 reward. Fully armed and provisioned, they marched to the swamp about one o'clock on Sunday morning, determined to take the man prisoner or die in the attempt. When the party approached the swamp the leader stationed his men around to prevent an escape, and then cautiously entered the thicket. He got within a few feet of the lair of his intended prisoner, when he found that there were two instead of one. While reflecting a moment as to how to proceed, the sharp report of a pistol shot rang out on the midnight air. Nothing daunted, our hero instantly returned the fire, when the besieged made tracks in another direction. The valiant assailant ran around and met them and gave them another shot, when finding his aids demoralized, and himself alone in a jungle with two assassins, he self concluded that discretion was the better part of valor, and left the desperado masters part of the situation. The villains no doubt speedily hunted another place of refuge, and have not been seen since.

The Weekly News.

The weekly edition of THE CHARLESTON NEWS, published every Wednesday morning, is a paper which can fairly claim to be one of the largest, most enterprising and most valuable weekly newspapers published in the Southern States. It is much larger in size than the daily edition, printed on clear white paper, with large and new type, and presents each week thirty-two columns of varied and valuable reading matter. The issue for this week contains a careful summary of all the news of the week, important letters from THE NEWS corps of correspondents in all parts of the State, particulars of the recent startling revelations of the frauds of the Columbia Ring thieves, latest news from North Carolina, Charleston City returns, a variety of special articles on seasonal topics, and the latest, fullest and most accurate market and crop reports of any weekly paper in the State. It is the only weekly edition of a daily newspaper published in this city, and with the aid of all the facilities and resources of THE NEWS establishment it is becoming, with every issue, more and more of a necessity to the planters, merchants and other residents of South Carolina and the adjoining States.

A Glance at the Field.

The Boston Post, the leading Democratic paper of New England, whose columns reflect the views and are adorned by the pens of the brightest minds in Massachusetts, gives a coup d'oeil of the present situation in the following stirring style:

"What a running and fro there is, from end to end of the Radical camp. All is commotion and confusion—Grant rushing forth from his gift-cottage at Long Branch northward, Wilson tearing from Virginia to North Carolina and thence across to Indiana, the members of the Cabinet flying in different ways between Oregon and Maine, Colfax coming out only to run in again out of the storm, Speaker Blaine cramming the mails with pleading letters for help in his own district, Conkling bowing and smiling at the Democrats in hopes to propitiate them, Forney leading and firing his battery with terrible precision into the ranks of his own party in Pennsylvania, a blue Saturday in Boston for the assembled managers of Massachusetts Grantism, Dawes offering all most any terms to Butler in hopes of pacifying the party in his own district, and the whole administration, in a desperate effort to union to make the laugh fit the opposite corner of its mouth. Greeley is running like wildfire everywhere. Whether North Carolina will give this time for Grant or not, the four thousand warrants held over the heads of as many white men, and the emptying of a quarter of a million dollars from the treasury into the State, with half the Cabinet and the candidate for the Vice-Presidency following after, have not accomplished what was hoped for, and thus are broken the hopes of the administration at the start. The feeling uppermost is that all is lost. Summer discharges his columnials, and the effect of his explosive shot is visible all over the country. Blaine tries to reply, Garrison drags up his rusty gun for a return fire, and the small arms of the melting Grant force pepper away with all the spite possible; but the noise ends, the air clears, and the havoc in the Radical camp is unmistakable. Banks sends a round-shot that tears an ugly hole straight through the ranks. One wing cries out 'Ku-Klux!' in utter despair, and the other responds 'treason' in accents equally deplorable. Colfax declares he never called 'copperhead' in his life, and Porter says he is not at liberty to tell how many Democrats are ready to pronounce for his master when the right time comes. 'Grant's Own' is confident that no self-respecting Democrats are going to vote for Greeley, though it said the Democracy were dead years ago.

"The President has taken the stump for short experimental speeches, writes letters to Chattanooga, and all about, and freely consents to be interviewed on the subject of his sentiments. He says he never wanted a second nomination, though Forney declares it was a part of the original bargain in 1869 that he should have it. East and West is in a perfect political uproar; North and South are completely alive. The Germans are coming over to Greeley by thousands, with a steady tramp, from Wisconsin to New York. Maine is cutting loose from the rotten hull of a ring Administration, New Hampshire is walking straight out of meeting; Vermont is on its feet; little Rhode Island entertains Uncle Horace with its champion clam-bakes and biggest head-foremost into the 'mid-summer madness'; and Massachusetts fairly luns with the buzzing in the party whose leaders are gladly leaving it every day. Over the rest of the Union the tide is roaring in and threatening to submerge the last vestiges of corruption, nepotism, and political chicanery. Liberals of both parties are all awake to the issue in New York, and organizing for a sure victory. Cameron is pushing and pulling Haurantr in Pennsylvania, while Forney assures them both that Buckalew will carry all before him in October. The mass conventions of Democrats and Liberal Republicans in Ohio are something stupendous, reverberating in thunder tones across the noble Buckeye State. Morton is fairly stunned by the shouts of the people for Greeley in Indiana, and begins to lose heart in the result. The great commotion sends back its echoes from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, the ocean tide of revolution pouring over the whole Northwest in a resistless flood.

"Will may the party that is fast going into permanent eclipse manifest all this commotion. The managers find no comfort in Kansas or in Carolina; they see their fruit prematurely dropping everywhere. They know that a withering frost awaits their remaining loaves in October. Conkling is as anxious as Cameron; Morton is as much bewildered as Wilson; Boutwell directs his accountants to figure up as heavy payments on the debt as they can, and count in all the candle-ends and cheese-parings ever sold for the government, while he runs off to Groton to see how many potatoes there are to a hill on his farm. Agitation and alarm prevail everywhere among the Radicals. Even Chandler and Ben Wade have already begun to swear. Blaine wishes he had let Sumner alone, for the latter knows more than the Speaker would care to have him tell aloud. The leaky old craft is being abandoned by all the sagacious passengers, who are jumping on board the new Liberal ship by scores. The tide has turned and is pouring in all one way. There is no more help for Radicalism. It has courted defeat by deceiving all sides, and it is likely to get more of it than any party that was ever lurid under American soil."

What Carpet-Baggers Cost.

The World compiles from official sources a table showing the cost of carpet-bag officials compared with natives:

Internal Cost of States.	lected in 1871.	Percentage collected.
Alabama.....	$363,758 37	$33,093 Frac'n over 14%
Arkansas.....	130,524 47	46,000 Frac'n over 27
Florida.....	121,030 56	22,000 Frac'n over 18%

IT IS DIFFICULT TO GIVE IN a dozen lines the reasons why SIMMONS'S HEPATOCOMPOUND, OF LIVER CURE, should be preferred as a corrective and alternative to every other medicine in use. Firstly, it always fever; secondly, it cleanses the bowels without violence or pain; thirdly, it tones the stomach; fourthly, it regulates the flow of bile; fifthly, it promotes healthy perspiration; sixthly, it relieves the system from unwholesome humors; seventhly, it tranquilizes the nerves; eighthly, it acts upon the blood as a depurative, and, lastly, it forms one of the most certain Liver Regulators known.

COLLIER'S REMEDY FOR MAN AND BEAST.

This Liniment has gained a lasting reputation for it has been used in almost every case which require an external remedy, such as Rheumatism, Soreness and Swelling of the Breast, Pain and Weakness in the Back and Limbs, Sprains, Bruises, Gout, Stitches, Rashes, Itches, Bites of Insects, Old Sores, Fever Sores, Gout, or Swollen Neck, Paralysis, Wounds, Erysipelas, Scalds, Burns, and all other eruptions of the Skin, Poisons, Burns, all swellings, Salt Rheum, Corns, Warts, Sore Eyes, Run Roads, &c., &c.

FOR HOARSE.

It is warranted to cure Lameness, Spavin, Big Head, Big Jaw, Founder, Sprains of the Shoulder, Leg, Lock, Stitches, Strains, Swollen Feet, Swollen Hocks, Swelled Legs, Fretted Feet, Tarrah, Pol. Evil, Saddle Galls, Old Sores, Strains of the Round Bone and other joints, enlargement of the Back Joint, and all Diseases of Horses which are caused by Inflammation of the Muscles.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 17, 1872. Messrs. DOWIE, MOISE & DAVIS: Gentlemen—I have used a number of bottles of your Collier's Remedy for Horses, and from my experience believe it to be the best Liniment ever offered to the public. I have had for the past five years a member of my staff, called "The Tetter" on my head and arm, which has been treated by the most skilled Physicians of Georgia and South Carolina without success. Collier's Remedy for the Human Family has effected a cure. I was cured of it. A. WILSON, Proprietor of Livestock Stables, No. 145 Meeting street, Opposite Pavilion Hotel.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1860. ISAAC COLLIER, Esq., Glasgow, C. Y., Warren Co., Ky. I take great pleasure in recommending Collier's Remedy as an almost indispensable article, and very valuable to all who own or have charge of stock. It is the best I have ever used for Sprains, Soreness, or Galls on Horses. Some of the men connected with the Company used it for severe Burns and Sores as well as Rheumatic Pains, and for Bruises, &c., and all say it acts like magic. In scratches on Horses it is invaluable. We use no other Liniment.

J. K. BURNS, For Adams's Express Company.

F. A. MINOR, of York County, S. C., writes us, under date of October, 1869, as follows: "My horse was considered worthless, (his case was Sprain) but since he has used your Collier's Remedy I have sold him for $150. Your remedy is doing wonders up here on man and beast."

DIAMOND HILL, ABBEVILLE DIST. S. C. June 7, 1870. Messrs. DOWIE, MOISE & DAVIS, Charleston, S. C.: Gentlemen.—The box of drugs ordered on 31st May has just arrived. We are anxiously awaiting it, particularly the Collier's Remedy. We have had twenty calls for it in the last twenty days. It is decidedly the best medicine that ever was compounded for what it professes to do. It has been used in this vicinity for Rheumatism, and has proved more efficacious than anything else. I am suffering from a severe case of Rheumatism in the use of two bottles. He has been laid up over three months. He is now able to pursue his usual mode of life. We are all praising your Collier's Remedy, and we write this from a sense of duty to you.
