rad Jakob, a German, who had been spending a few days in the Blackwell's Island Insane Asylum, that throws into real life what was supposed to belong to romance alone.

The fair is managed by a joint stock company, consisting of citizens of Chesterfield and Marlboro' Counties, in South Carolina, and of Anson County in North Carolina.

Upon the advantages of fairs to the mercantile and agricultural community we need not dwell. Suffice it to say that there is not in South Carolina a more cheering sign of activity and progress than the new interest taken in all that pertains to scientific cultivation of the soil.

The tact of Burgomaster Fischer, of Augsburg, in his speech welcoming the Crown Prince of Prussia to the hospitality of that city, drew from the future Emperor of Germany an important assurance against imperial centralization.

We have pointed out that, in regard to the fraudulent debt, the promises of the Regulators will, as soon as they have a chance, play the validating game again, and make a handsome operation in South Carolina bonds.

A French newspaper having said that M. Gambetta possessed only one wash-basin, and that a cracked one, admiring friends, in a very short time, sent him seventeen toilet sets, some of very fine workmanship.

Another marriage has been contracted between two telegraph operators who had never met before, stationed at London and Berlin, according to the report of Mr. Soudamoro, British director of telegraphy, and society is much electrified at the occurrence.

A Berlin letter says that, during the reception of the late imperial pair, eight persons were suffocated and trampled to death on one night, and fifteen more were mortally wounded by the mounted police, who charged the masses at one time with drawn sabres.

Although there was an election held for Congressmen in West Virginia on the 23d of August last, the same election will be held again for Congressmen on the 24th of this month. The dual elections are the result of a partisan construction of the election law of that State, the same candidates contesting in both.

The cable connecting Australia with England and America gave brief congratulatory messages and went into a trance. That is the way with cables. It will be remembered that the Atlantic cable behaved in the same manner, and incredulous people by thousands believed there had never been communication between the two nations through its agency.

A good many years ago a Kentuckian went to Cincinnati and drove a cart to lowland ways until he had saved up seven hundred dollars. With this he bought a large load of coal which sunk at the landing the night it was delivered, and he had to sell it for four hundred dollars. The party who bought it failed before paying, but finally compromised by giving two and a half acres of land for the debt.

The Norfolk Virginian, noticing the arrival of the steamship Peruvian at that port, with a number of English emigrants, thus chronicles a pleasing incident: "The passenger list was composed largely of females, the men being merchants, mechanics and bookkeepers. Among the passengers were three young ladies, who were met at the wharf by three young gentlemen, who arrived here some time since, and who had made all arrangements to be united to the ladies of their choice, who were expected upon this ship. Last night the services of the Rev. Mr. Barton, rector of Christ Church, were put in requisition and six hearts were made happy." Girls who would thus brave the perils of the deep to join their lovers will assuredly make good wives.

The Imperial meeting at Berlin has been marked by one continual season of splendor and glittering show. Like the luxurious French monarch, Louis Fourteenth, William, with the newly-crowned title of His Majesty the Emperor and King, seems to try to charm his people out of discontent by the magnificence of his entertainments, and it can be done by honoring his brother Sovereigns, so much the better. The fireworks of the late at Potsdam were more beautiful than were ever witnessed before, and the natural advantages of the place, supplemented by a lavish expense of money, the Prussian Court fetes being, as an observer remarks, strongly impregnated with the essence of the "five milliards." The prettiest complement of the whole category of successful entertaining device was the resolve of the two Emperors to celebrate the Czar's birthday. Francis Joseph did so at the express desire of Empress Augusta, and Vienna and St. Petersburg hail the event as strongest proof of re-established harmony between the two courts. Berlin had a dark side to the season of rejoicing in the crush of the torchlight processions. Eight persons were killed, and a number of others were seriously injured. The stupidity and humanity of the police were in a large measure responsible for this, falling in the first place to prevent a jam, and when it came using their old barbarity in their treatment of the masses.
