NEWS OF THE DAY. ששורם וכד כן לבנדפעפה.

-No appointment of minister to St. Peters burg is contemplated until the Senate shall be in session to confirm it.

-The government has taken no recent action under the Ku-Klux law, no complaints which would authorize it having been recelved. -There are now ninety cadet midshipmen at the Naval Academy from the June and September examinations, including one Japanese and one colored boy. -Minister Nelson has lately informed the department of State that there is a prospect of the Mexican Government soon appointing a commissioner in order that the business before the United States and Mexican Claims Commission may be resumed.

It is rumored that at the meeting of the Baptist Association, which is to take place in a few days, on Long Island, the Rev. S. J. Hyatt Smith and George S. Pentecost, of Brooklyn, will be put on trial for radicalism on the subject of open communion. Smith's views have caused a great deal of interest among Baptists.

Madame Pauline Lucca on Friday called on the Indian chiefs who are now at the Grand Central Hotel, the Indians returning the visit in the evening. All the chiefs but one were very affable with the little woman, but she, woman like, set herself at once to the task of acquiring the good will of this one, in which she was successful. Medicine Bear and Black Eye each gave her a claw of a grizzly bear as memorials of her visit.

the award made by the Geneva tribunal will be paid before the expiration of twelve months from the time of its announcement, this being the treaty limit. The money will be paid to the department of State, and as there is now no law concerning the disposal of it, legislation by Congress becomes necessary for that purpose. The only official information concerning the San Juan arbitration is that a decision would be made early this

-A dispatch from Governor McCormick Arizona Territory, says the attack of Colone MESON On the Apache Mohaves to the most in portant blow ever dealt to hostile Indians in that Territory. It is now known that most of the murders and robberies are to be charged to them, and that at least two of the killed participated in the massacre of the Loring party. A number of those who lately left Dale Creek reservation were found among the slain. The attack on the hostile Indians was made by three companies of cavalry and friendly Indians in the mountains. Forty Indians were killed and many wounded and captured.

ing, an explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred on the Central Raliroad, where some caboose laborers had been at work track-building. The glycerine was applied for an experimental blast. The quarrymen were ensconced behind boulders. After the blast, Patrick Mc-Flynn, who was not more than forty feet distant, was found horribly mangled, with his right arm torn off by a piece of rock. Another laborer, struck in the bowels, is in a dving condition; and another lifted into the air is dangerously hurt. A residence two hundred feet distant, had its roof crushed through by a boulder weighing one thousand pounds.

By advices from Calcutta we are informed that Russian troops were advancing on Khiva and Kandar on the 27th of August, and that the soldiers of the Czar had previously occupied Urgenj and razed it to the ground-There are two towns named Urgenj in the dominion of the Kahn of Khiva. One is situated on the banks of a capal near the Oxus: the other some miles northwest of Khiva. The first enjoyed great commercial importance at one period, and is, no doubt, the objective point of the present march of the soldiers of the northern Emperor. The movement is of very great importance. Russia wishes, it may be, to seize the great Eastern hive of manufacture for silk, cotton and yarn, and thus become, to a very great extent, independent of the looms of France and England, besides obtaining a good strategic foothold for her armies in the event of a war clash with the power of Britain in the East. -The Escurial, after all, will not take its place among the notable ruins of Europe. The huge structure still stands, only two towers and a portion of the roofing having been destroyed, and the whole damage being included in the pitifully small amount of 3,000,000 reals. Amadeus may repair it from his privy purse, and not feel the expense. But the most gratifying consideration is the safety of the works of art stored within its massive stone walls. The Murillos, the Velasquezes, the Raphaels, the treasures of canvas and marble and bronze and plate that form one of the most noted galleries of Europe have been untouched by the flames, and still remain the greatest riches of the Spanish Kingdom. Their loss would impoverish the world of art, and it is with a sense of personal relief from impending disaster that lovers of the beautiful, the world over, will learn that the dre was stayed before it destroyed these relics. The building itself, representing the labor of more than a score of years, could be better spared and more easily replaced than these unique productions of a genius now forever gone; and if the cold stones of the Escurial are likely to attract fire in this alarming manner very often, it would be a matter of prudence with the free-handed young King to effect at least a partial insurance upon the perishable treasures. For their money value would pay off spain's entire debt and leave a good working capital over. -A spiritualistic seance was held in New York a few days ago over the body of the late owner of the celebrated trotter, Ethan Allen -a sporting gentleman who departed this life on Wednesday last and was buried oh Friday. The seance was held at the request of the people may see and judge for themselves: of it!

widow of the deceased, who is a strong believer in spiritualism, and who desired to know whether his spirit had taken its flight to the spirit land. Mrs. Kane, widow of Dr. T. HURLEY, Kane, and who was one of the celebrated Fox sisters, conducted the ghostly proceedings. A select circle of invited spiritualists sat around the coffin in an unlighted room, and, O. R. Levy, amid an awful and impressive silence, the spirit of the departed was called on by the medium H. H. HUNTER, to state whether the deceased was in the ABE SMITH, spirit land. After being thrice called upon A. P. FORD, the dilatory spirit manifested itself in what the reporter calls "a soft, clear, musical voice," and gave a negative reply-an answer which, the medium explained, meant that the spirit of the deceased had not yet leit his body. Then the candles were lighted, and some very poor verses, in the shape of a hymn, were sung by all present. Thereafter, availing herself of the opportunity, the medium called on the spirits of some recently deceased notabilities—among them Professor Morse, James Fisk, Jr., Judge Mc-Cunn and James Gordon Bennett—to respond. Mr. Bennett's spirit answered the call, and, after listening to some objurgatory remarks from the medium, retired with the theatrical remark: "Thy will is granted. Farewell. Come and join us in the spirit land." Take it for all in all, this occurrence was one of the ghastliest and grimmest tissues of absurdities -not to say sacrileges-that has ever come before the public, even in connection with this incomprehensible belief in what is called Spiritualism.

Let Us Reason Together.

A leading article in the Courier of yesterday is devoted to an exposition of the manner in which the Tomlinson and the Moses Radicals have broken their pledge that they would improve the character of the members of the Legislature and the county officers to be elected next Wednesday. The strictures of the Courier, while proper in the main, are not altogether just; nor can this paper admit that the Conservatives acted unwisely in adhering to their determination not to nominate a State ticket. With "the "intelligence and the capital of the State" moving in "solid column," there would be a prospect of accomplishing a thorough reform; but this is a combination, which has not been made since the war, and of which there is no present prospect. Practical men do not waste time in talking of what might have been, or of what they could do were the circumstances of the case wholly different. They take things as they are, and make the best of them. This is the point to which, it is hoped, the Conservatives may be brought between this and election day.

Upon the subject of the two legislative tickets nominated by the Charleston County Radicals, the Courier says:

In reference to the two tickets for the Legislature, judged by acts and not by words, there is no hope of reform in either, or in a combination of both. We cannot support either or both. The time is too short for a convention of the people of the county. If there had been united counsel and action, this, in our judgment, could have been accomplished, and victory attained. The question is, therefore, one exclusively for the people. It is for them to say whether there shall be any other nominations or not. If they choose, they can either by a call for a mass meeting or otherwise, present a ticket which will indeed be the sign and the assurance of a real reform and good government. The whole matter is in the hands of the people. It is for them to determine whether an honest effort shall be made to rescue the legislative councils from the incomptent and in many instances corrupt hands into which otherwise it must fall if the taxpaying citizens do not present some ticket which will afford security for right and hope for the future. To the passages which are italicised, it is They contain two postulates: 1. That the people of Charleston County can, in mass meeting or otherwise, present a legislative ticket which will be "the sign and the assurance of a real reform and good gov-"ernment." 2. That there is no hope of reform in either the Bowen or the Mackey legislative ticket, or in a combination of both tickets. Before going further, it is necessary to clear up some ambiguous expressions. It is assumed by THE NEWS that "the people" spoken of by the Courier are the Conservative citizens of Charleston County; it is also assumed that the Courier believes that a ticket can be nominated by the Conservative citizens which can be elected. The Conservatives must be "the "people" spoken of; because the Republicans have already made their nominations. There must be a belief that a Conservative ticket can be elected; because, unless actually elected, that ticket would be neither "the "sign" nor "the assurance" of "a real re-

The fallacy of the first postulate is easily seen. In 1870 Charleston County was thoroughly canvassed; every ward in the city was well organized; stump-speakers aroused the enthusiasm of the people; there were Republicans on the Conservative ticket; the Radicals were divided, as they are now; money was freely spent on the day of election; there was a full vote, and a fair count. The result was that the average vote polled by the six highest candidates for the Legislature, upon the Reform ticket, was 6741; while the average vote of the Bowen candidates was 11,050, and of the DeLarge candidates 3459. In taking the average, any candidates who were nominated upon more than one ticket are omitted. The total Radical vote, adding the DeLarge and Bowen votes together, was 14,509, which was more than double the Reform vote. Does the Courier believe, and can it give any good reason for believing. that the Conservatives in 1872-without Time, Money or Organization-can poll a considerably higher vote than they obtained two years ago? Unless the Courter can prove this, it must admit that a Conservative ticket, however composed and nomi-

The second postulate of the Courier is even more of a gratuitous assumption than the first; so far as it conveys the idea that "a combination of both" the Mackey and Bowen Legislative tickets "holds out no "hope of reform." THE NEWS has presented to the Conservative voters a ticket, selected from the Bowen and Macket tickets, which is better than either of the "straight" Radical tickets, and is considerably better than the legislative ticket elected in 1870. The two nated, would be defeated, and would not, therefore, be either "the sign" or "the as-

"surance" of "a real reform and good gov"ernment"

The Old and the New. 1872.

1870. Hobson's Choice. Bowen Radicals T. HURLEY, J. F. GREENE. JOHN B. DENNIS. H. C. MINOTT. J. J. HARDY. C. J. ANDELL, C. J. ANDELL O. B. LEVY, N. T. SPENCER W. R. JERVEY JOHN E. CLYDE. E. J. ADAMS. STEPHEN BROWN. S D. BUSSELL. B. A. BOSEMON, B. A. BOSEMON. G. CANNON, J. L. WALKER, W. E. ELLIOTT R. B. ARTSON, LOGAN. C. F. NORTH, E. MICKEY. C. H. VANDERHORST, R. BRYAN. J. A. WILLIAMS, W. C. GLOVER. W. G. PINCKNEY. P P- HEDGES.

A glance at the two tickets is sufficient to show that Hobson's Choice is superior to the Bowen ticket of 1870. It has six whites in place of four. Four of the candidates-Messrs. Hurley, Levy, Bosemon and Andellare renominated. The remainder are head and shoulders above the same number of candidates on the ticket of 1870. Hobson's Choice has a fair prospect of being elected, and the names upon it indicate that it does hold out a "hope of reform." There is another consideration. The casting of the Conservative vote for any candidates other than those who, being upon a Republican ticket, will receive the Mackey or the Bowen vote, ensures the election of the straight Bowen or Mackey ticket. That of Mackey is bad enough; that of Bowen, as a whole, is infamous. To defeat them both, as wholes, and elect their best men is, in itself, substantial and practical reform—it is improving the character of the Charleston delegation to the General Assembly, and, if that s not reform, and a "hope of reform," it is hard to say what is. THE NEWS cannot think that the Courier opposes the Hobson's Choice ticket because t was proposed by this paper, without consultation with any candidate, and without conferring with any old or young politician, Conservative or Radical: nor can it be supposed that the Courier is so impracticable. or so prejudiced, as to refuse to support the only candidates who can be elected-merely because those candidates are not everything the people could wish. This paper has spoken frankly and deliberately, and if the Courier cannot answer the reasons which THE NEWS gives for opposing a Conservative nomination, and for advocating Hobson's Choice, it is reasonable to expect that it will give THE NEWS its valuable aid in the effort to secure what is "the largest practi-'cal measure of local and legislative reform."

The Powers of Federal Supervisors o

There is some misapprehension as to the powers of Federal supervisors of election inder the new bayonet law, and a statement has obtained currency that the same authority to order arrests by the Federal deputy marshals, which was granted under the acts of 1870 and 1871, is conferred upon the additional supervisors appointed in conformity with the supplementary provisions of 1872.

This is a serious mistake, and we dvise our friends throughout the State to see that no power is usurped on election day by the Federal authorities. The old enforcement laws authorized the appointment of supervisors and deputy marshals in cities having twenty thousand inhabitants. The supplementary provision, smuggled into the sundry civil service appropriation bill, while extending the power to appoint supervisors to all counties and sired to call the attention of the public. enacts "that nothing in this section shall be 'so construed as to authorize the appointment of any marshals or deputy marshals in addition to those heretofore authorized 'by law," and that "the supervisors herein 'provided for shall have no power or authority to make arrests or to perform other duties than to be in the immediate presence of the officers holding the election and to witness all their proceedings, in-'cluding the counting of the votes and the 'making of a return thereof."

The Recalcitrant Seven.

The following card is printed in the Renublican of yesterday evening : SIR—We, the undersigned, whose names appear upon a county legislative ticket, published in The Daily News of the 7th instant, beg most respectfully, but firmly, to state that our names were used by the parties originating names were used by the parties originating said ticket without our knowledge or consent, no one having been authorized to use our names in any such connection whatever.

Having been nominated by the Republican Convention that assembled at Hibernian Hali on the 25th uit., we feel it to be our bounden duty to support the ticket nominated at that convention, and that alone. We therefore wholly disavow any sympathy with the movement set on toot in The News of yesterday, and decline to suffer or permit our names to be placed on any ticket other than that put forth by the Convention of the 25th of September.

(Bigned) O. R. LEVY. B. A. BOSEMON, C J. ANDELL, JAMES F. GREENE, TIMOTHY HURLEY, N. T. SPENCER,

Charleston, B. C., October 7, 1872. THE News did not ask any candidate upon the Hobson's Choice ticket to support that ticket; nor did it expect that either Bowenites or Mackevites would look with favorable eye upon a proposition which may consign all but their least objectionable nominees to a political death from which there is no resurrection. The Bolters' Choice is the best ticket that there is any chance of electing, and it is put forward as a suggestion and guide to the Conservatives-not to please the Radicals. The Conservatives will vote for whom they please, whether the seven signers of the card like it or not THE News desires to see the seven elected next Wednesday, together with the other candidates of Hobson's Choice, and if they then do their duty faithfully, as public officers, THE News will rest content.

Fas est ab Hoste.

The Beaufort-Republican offered this advice to the Beaufort Conservative meeting : "If the meeting will select from the several "county and State tickets such names as seem to them to be the best, and earnestly recommend such to the Democrats and "Conservatives of the county, the effect may "be to elect such, and thus prove to nominating conventions the value of careful seelection. This is what THE NEWS did in tickets are placed side by side, that the making up Hobson's Choice. Take note Some Good News at Last.

CHARLESTON, October 8. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS.

Observing my name proposed for the Legis lature upon the "People's Ticket," published this morning, you will oblige me by stating that I beg leave respectfully to decline being a candidate. Yours, very respectfully,

JAMES BIMONS, Jr. AND YET ONE MORE.

Mr. C. W. Seignious Declines to be Candidate.

CHARLESTON, October 7. Noticing in your issue of yesterday my name among the Representatives, I respectfully decline the nomination.

C. W. SEIGNIOUS. William J. DeTreville.

It may not be known to all our unprefessional citizens that there is before them for their suffrages the name of the gentleman heading this communication. Mr. DeTreville has been selected by the bar of Orangeburg as a most suitable person for the office of Solicitor of the First Judicial Circuit, which is composed of the Counties of Orangeburg

As this gentleman is not a resident Charleston, it will not be amiss to say who he is. He is a native of Beaufort, in this State; a graduate with distinguished honors of Prince ton College, New Jersey; a married man of about forty years of age; a lawyer of ability practicing at Orangeburg Courthouse; a citizen exemplary in all the relations of life.

Our people, therefore, of all parties have now the opportunity of electing to this important office one who will shed lustre upon the place he may fill by doing to all alike that bright justice which stands high above fear, favoritism or hope of reward. It is a duty we owe to ourselves and the public to support this gentleman, unless another name is presented us of equal or superior fitness. CHARLESTONIAN

BARGAIN—PORT ROYAL RAILROAD.—
The subscriber, being about to leave the State, offers for sale that valuable PLANTATION, called the "Yeoman's Tract," situated in Barnwell County, near Jackson's Branch, waters of Lower Three Runs, containing 919 acres.

The line of the Port Royal Railroad is in close proximity to it, and the splendid circular Saw Mill of Dr. J. C. Miller not more than a mile from the richly-timbered portion of the estate.

There are about 200 acres cleared, producing splendid crops of cotton and corn.

Last year 4 comfortable frame houses were erected by the proprietor on the outer edge of the body of timber, and the locality is remarkably healthy.

The timbered portion (719 acres) presents as fine a body of virgin forest as the eye can meet with in this State, varying from the smallest sized cap timber to the large is ranging size.

To railroad contractors, lumbermen and turpentine distillers, no finer opportunity has everbeen presented of realizing a fortune, as they have the option of shipping to Savannah or Port Royal, either by water of rail.

For further particulars, apply to the subscriber, or to H. M. THOMPSON, Esg., Attorney at Law, Williston, So. Ca., August 1st, 1872.
