OUR DESTINY-OUR DUTY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. The events of the present week, throughout the length and breadth of our land, demand of every rational Southerner the important inquiry, How far the errors of his judgment, Inquiry, How far the errors of his judgment, based upon his own opinions, have combined against him in causing the verdict of his countrymen; and the appailing defeat of his champion? We neither entertain the craven feeling of the defested, nor yet the self-opinionated views of the vanquished, that "major-ities are fools and we the wise." But we would take a retrospect and see wherein we may have errod in our political course. The war, with "its terrible results, has left us with mo adequate solution of its effects, with memory to admonish us of the changes of earth and the "upor and downe" of our egistence. As brave men we should beed these samonitions, and as wise and prudest ones we should shape our course to attain the end that the premonitions of Providence indicate as our destiny. We would not for one moment desire that the principles and policy which have been the britrhight of our people, and which have "grown with their growth" and been inherited by a long line of ancestore, should be suddenly relinquished; but we would sake some toleration of opinion in others as we deem ourselves entitled to, and accord to them the right to think and, act for themselves, without casting upon them the opprobrious epithets which cause we have erred and endeavor to amend our policy? If we are to live and element in our political momenclature. Some of our former friends, those with whom "we fook sweet counsel," have chosen to follow ideas and courses in opposition to our views. We have denonneed them, and yet he, "rerdict of the nation" is against us. Shall we still replace, or shall we, as men, examine wherein we have erred and endeavor to amend our policy? If we are to live and the right of missing the provides of our strainty pligrimage and the resting place of our boces, then should we cherish its laws and be subservient to its decrees. As members of a republican government we admit the right of missing the provides of the based upon his own opinions, have combined against him in causing the verdict of his

THE LISTS IN LAURENS COUNTY.

A Merry Season of Tilting, Feasting and Dancing. A grand tournament, pienic and fancy costume ball came off at Mollohon, Laurens County, on the 24th ultimo, and proved an enjoyable and elegant affair. The attendance included a large number of young ladies and gentlemen from the three adjoining countles of Laurens, Newberry and Union, and the tilting was participated in by twenty-rix knights in full costume and with nine foot lances commanded by Marshals M. M. Buford, L. H. Sims and Dr. T. C. Brown. The riding was very spirited and exhibited much mettle, skill and courage. Mr. J. L. Johnson, "Knight Shacklinburg," took nine rings, and was declared the champion of the day. Messrs. T. W. Abrams, "Knight Mollohon," W. C. Cromer, "Knight of the Golden Cross," and Sammie Young, "Night Hawk," won the remaining prizes. Miss Mattle A. McCrackin was chosen the Queen of Love and Beauty, Miss Nannie Mims, Miss Sallie C. Riser and Miss Mollie T. Sims, first, second and third Malds of Honor. The coronation took place on the field. At three o'clock a magnificent ovation was served, which was enthusiastically enjoyed. The royal and merry party was then escorted to the residence of Captain William Young, where all faces looked supremely radiant and still expectant. The dance was splendid as the sweet smiles of the ladies, until at a late hour of the night the notes of the violin died away, the fairy forms of the dancing nymphs faded in the evening's mist, and the knights melted like dreams of the past. in full costume and with nine foot lances

A KNOTTY QUESTION.

The Most Passing Riddle of the Grammarians Solved.

an exchange disposes of a much vexed canter, W A cappelmann, F H Kuck, H An exchange disposes of a much vexed question of grammar in this humorous style:

A searcher after truth writes to us, "Which is grammatically correct, to say 'The house is building,' or 'The house is being built;' The street is paying,' or 'The street is being payed?'" There is a wide diversity of opinion upon this subject, but we incline to favor "is being built," for the following reasons: Suppose you wish to express another kind of an idea would you say, for instance, "Johnny is sranking," or "Johnny is being spanked?" The difference to you may seem immaterial, but it is a matter of considerable importance to Johnny; and it is probable that, if any choice were given him, he would suddenly select the former alternative. You say, again, that the "missionary is eating." Certainly this expresses a very different and much pleasanter idea than the form, "The missionary is being eaten," and the sensation is very different for the missionary, too. We have consulted several missionaries about it, and they all seem to think that the two things are somehow not the same, no matter what the grammarians say.

But it is to be confessed that there are occaand the same, are comehow not the same, are comehow not the same, and the grammarians say.

But it is to be confessed that there are occasions when the difference in the form is not so marked. You assert, we say, that "Hannah is hugging"—which, by the way, would be a very improper thing for Hannah to do; it would be positively scandalous, indeed. Precisely a similar idea is conveyed if you say, cisely a similar idea is conveyed if you say, cisely a similar idea is conveyed in you say. would be positively scandardice, interest it is a peculiarity of the act that it is hardly ever one-sided; there is no selfishness about it. And it is the same with kissing. "Jane is kissing"—and her mother 'ought to know about it is being kissed;" and the sensation is the same, although none of the grammars, by a single inadvertence, mention the fact. It will not be necessary, however, for our correspondent to attempt to prove these last-mentioned facts by practice. He must take our word for them. Unless he does so we shall answer no more questions in syntax for him or any one else. Our duty is to conserve the morals of the community, not to start the people to playing private games of Copenhagen.
