AMUSEMENTS.

Ball of the German Rifle Club. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather the ball of the German Schutzen-Gesellschaft, at the Hibernian Hall, was well attended last night. Muller's band furnished the music, and the merry dance was kept up until near morning. Representatives from other clubs were present in uniform, and the fair sex attended in goodly number and gave zest to the eveming's enjoyment. The refreshments were turnished by Mrs. Tork.

Solree of Hook and Ladder, No. 1. This popular truck company gave one of their periodical entertainments at their hall lest evening. The entire upper portion of the building was devoted to Terpsichore, and the merry strains of music caused the spacious floor to be soon occupied with dancers, who kept up the reputation of the company until a late hour.

THE CITY COUNCIL. An Important Meeting—Election of City Officers.

A regular meeting of the City Council was held yesterday afternoon with the following members present: The Mayor, Aldermen O'Nelll, Bowen, Volgt, Gage, Garrett, Kenny, Sweegan, Glover, Johnston, Moran, Brown, Simonds and Pelzer. A number of candidates for the vacant offices were also present. The following petitions were presented:

Of H. Tlencken to be allowed to move a building through Meeting street, in the vicinity of Spring street. Granted. Of seventy-five prominent merchants of Meeting, Hayne and East Bay streets asking for an amendment of the ordinance regulat ing the licensing of travelling salesmen so as to exempt the agents of manufacturers, importers and commission merchants who sell only by package. Referred to the committee on ways and means. Of E. J. Moody, agent of the estate of H. T.

Strohecker, for remission of certain taxes levied upon the estate through an error made in the assessor's office during the Pillsbury administration. Referred to the committee on retrenchment and reilef.

Of E. J. Motte for remission of taxes. Refered to the same committee. Of B. F. Whilden, agent of Mrs. Magwood, for remission of penalties. Likewise disposed of. Of J. F. Taylor & Co. to have a street lamp lit in Pritchard street, opposite the Phœnix Iron Works. Granted. Of W. J. England for reduction of assess ment. Referred to the committee on assessments. Of residents of Line street to have an additional lamp lit in that street. Granted.

A communication from the board of Fire Masters submitting the resolutions passed at their recent meeting was read by the Mayor, and received as information. Another communication from the same calling attention to the dangerous condition of the north wall of the Eagle Engine-House was referred to City Engineer Barbot for a report at the next meet Alderman O'Neill, chairman of the committee on streets, which was authorized at the last meeting of Council to confer with the officers of the Enterprise Ballroad Company relative to the iron to be used for the railroad track, reported that he had repeatedly called at the company's office and made appointments to meet the officers, but the latter had avoided him on every occasion. The committee had therefore instructed the city attorney to institute proceedings against the company. The report was adopted.

Alderman Sweegan gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill at the next meeting to regulate the pay of the Fire Department, to define the duties of the chief, and for other purposes. His bill regulating the pay of the police was passed to its third reading, and was ordered to be engrossed among the city ordinances.

Alderman O'Neill introduced the following resolution, which had been postponed at the last meeting, and amended it slightly by striking out the word "Mayor," and inserting instead the words Committee of Ways and Means:

Resolved. That it be referred to the Mayor, with power to act, to employ counsel to pros-cute to final issue the cause of City Council vs. South Carolina and Northeastern Bailroads now pending in the United States Supreme Court, provided the expense shall not exceed wo thousand dollars.

Alderman Volgt moved as an amendmen that City Attorney Corbin be appointed counsel, and that the Mayor be anthorized to designate some other lawyer who should be retained as associate counsel, with the same compensation that Mr. Corbin would receive. Alderman O'Neil said tha a had found on examination that there were about forty thousand dollars due the city for taxes from the South Carolina Railroad Company, and about ten thousand dollars from the Northeastern Bailroad Company. Mr. Simonds, the chaftmanof the committee on railroads, was of the opinion that the case against the compathat committee, disagreed with Mr. Simonds. As the only question left was who should be the attorney, he would have to side with the Alderman Simonds said the question was not whether the railroad companies owed the city money for taxes, but whether the peoples' money should be wasted in a hopeless cause. If there was any chance of gaining the cases no one would be more heartily in favor of pushing the suits than he. He then cited a similar case where the State of North Carolina had endeavored to tax a railroad within her boundaries, which had been decided against the State. Instead of costing $2000 to push the suits to a successful issue it would cost $20,000.

Alderman O'Nelil said he was assured the suit could be prosecuted for $700. Alderman Simends said that if the alderman would guarantee that it should not cost more than $700 he would advocate pushing it. Aldermad Sweegan thought it would pay the city to expend twenty thousand dollars in the case, and hoped that Mr. Corbin would be appointed.

Alderman Volgt followed and endeavored to demonstrate how it would pay the city to expend ten or even twenty thousand dollars in gaining the suit.

The question on Alderman Voigt's amendment was called for, and the amendment was adopted by a large majority.

Alderman O'Neill offered a resolution to the effect that the scavenger work of the city be done in the future by the street department, under the supervision of the Mayor, the latter being empowered to employ additional carts whenever necessary. The resolution was adopted.

Alderman Bowen moved that the election for city attorney be suspended, and that the duties of the office be allowed to devolve upon the city recorder until further action should be taken.

Alderman Voigt amended by moving to strike out the clause, devolving the duties of the office to the city recorder.

Alderman Simonds wanted to know whether, if the amendment was carried, Mr. Corbin would not continue to act as city attorney. Alderman Volgt said he had offered the amendment with that intention. He contended that the recorder was debarred by law from performing the duties of the attorney, and referred to the ordinance creating the office of city attorney to substantlate his position. Alderman O'Neill said that Mr. Corbin had proved a whistle for which the city had paid too much already, and it was now time to get rid of him. At the last meeting of Council Mr. Corbin had been held up for the admiration of the members as a model of backbone. He was prepared to show that Mr. Corbin's backbone had been well greased. He then read out a list, copied from the treasurer's books, of the sums paid Mr. Corbin, besides his regular salary, since the 5th of April. 1870. The amount aggregated five thousand nine hundred and forty dollars. Alderman Voigt did not care what THE News had said in the morning about Mr. Corbin. That gentleman had attacked and successfully combated with owners of city stock, road and banking corporations and other moneyed associations, and the result was that cash, balance payable in one and two years. | the city was receiving about one hundred and | he goes.

forty thousand dollars per year as the fruits of his efforts. Why had not some of Charleston's legal sons done as much for her? None of them had courage enough to venture on the undertaking. He concluded by saying that he was in favor of reducing Mr. Corbin's salary if he was re-elected.

Alderman Sweegan thought that if no native lawyer had reposed sufficient confidence in Council to submit his name as a candidate for the office of city attorney, the consequence should be visited upon the people in the reelection of Mr. Corbin. He announced his intention to vote for Mr. Corbin. Alderman Simonds said that the reason why no candidate had been presented to oppose Mr. Corbin was that the impression had gone abroad that no election would be held for that office. Alderman Gage agreed with Alderman Simonds, and said that he would vote for Mr. Bowen's resolution. The Mayor said that Mr. Corbin had not regularly applied for the office, but that he (the Mayor) had instructed the clerk of Council on that morning to include Mr. Corbin's name in the list of candidates. Alderman Moran sald there were some present, he among the number, who did not understand the matter perfectly, and he therefore moved that action on the resolution and amendment be deferred until the next meeting. By that time the recorder could be consuited as to whether the law allowed him to perform the duties of city attorney in conjunction with those of recorder. Alderman Bowen said that the recorder had already been consulted on that point, and hoped that immediate action would be taken. Alderman Moran's motion was overruled, and the ayes and noes on Alderman Volgt's amendment were called for, with the following result: Ayes-Volgt, Garrett, Sweegan, Glover, Kenny, Brown-6. Noes-O'Neill, Bowen, Michaels, Gage, Johnston, Moran, Simonds, Pelzer, the Mayor-9.

Aldermen Moran and Brown asked to be excused from voting, but were overruled. The ayes and noes were next called for on the resolution, and resulted as follows: Ayes-O'Neld, Bowen, Michaels, Gage, Sweegan, Glover, Brown, Simonds, Pelzer, Johnston, Moran, and the Mayor-12. Noes-Voigt, Garrett and Kenny-3.

Alderman Volgt protested against the action of Council, and desired that it should be recorded.

Alderman Gage offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That Council instruct the city re-Resoured, That Council instruct the city re-corder to prepare a bill, and the Mayor to pro-cure the passage of the rame by the State Legislature, to iscillate the straightening, widening and opening of new streets, em-bracing the provisions of the betterment law now in force in the City of Boston, Mass., as far as the same may be applicable to our own

The Mayor announced that the election of fficers was next in order.

To the clerk of Council, W. W. Simons nessenger of Council, O. W. Matthews; city inspectors, Benjamin Lucas and Hugh Ferguon, and harbormaster, James Atmstrong, there was no opposition and they were accord ingly re-elected by acclamation.

The candidates for portwardens were C. T. Kinloch, Theodore Cordes, C. P. Frazer, A. Foster Black, N. L. Coste, William M. Sage William Bird, B. K. Kinloch, Nathaniel Fields, Charles Lining, F. B. Maxwell, J. Alired Cay, Burrows Palmer and R. M. Gilbreth. There being fifteen votes, it required eight to elect, Messrs. Bird, Kinloch and Maxwell were leclared elected. The second ballot falled to elect any; on the third ballot Mr. Theodore Cordes and Mr. Nathaniel Fields were declared elected. The next election in order was for city gaugers. REV. WHITEFOORD SMITH, D. D.

Our readers will learn with regret that this estimable gentleman and learned divine is about to leave our city. During the past year he was the pastor of Trinity (Methodist) Church, where his numerous friends and admirers frequently availed themselves of the opportunity afforded them to hear the lervid strains of eloquence they had first heard from those lips thirty and forty years ago. The year is now nearly closed, and Dr. Smith, in accordance with the economy of his church, yields his post to whatever successor the bishop may appoint at the approaching conference. We are informed that the reverend gentleman will return to Spartanburg, where he will resume the duties of his professorial chair in Wofford College, which he had occupied with eminent success for a number of years, till he came to this city last winter. This chair the board of trustees left unfilled, doubtless with a view to Dr. Smith's probable return and at the meeting of the board in July last it was their unanimous wish that he should return to the college this fall. Dr. Smith has very many friends in our community, whose best wishes he will carry with him wherever

CHEAP RATES BY STEAM FOR EU-ROPE.

Messrs. Roach & Moffett, of our city, give notice of an important reduction in the price of passage from Europe in the well known Cunard steam line. This facility, which will enable those having friends in Europe to bring them over at a mere nominal sum in the steerage, is a step in advance of all previous rates. Passengers can now come from Liverpool, Queenstown or London for twenty tollars, children ten dollars, and from most points in the north of Europe for twenty-six dollars. This reasonable charge must lead to an immense increase in the patronage enjoyed by these fine ships. Messrs. Roach & Moffett will give all the requisite information in regard to this matter.

A New FIRM .- Mr. Charles D. McCoy, the well-known proprietor of the Kentucky Sale Stables, No. 89 Church street, has sold a half interest in his business to Mr. F. M. Bamberg, of Bamberg, S. C. "TOO SMALL."

CHARLESTON, November 26, 1872. TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS.

We did not expect that a little item of local business information, the correctness of which can be confirmed by the proper certificates of measurement and inspection in our possession, would have provoked a controversy, in which the readers of a public journal can surely feel no interest. Of such as do, however, we ask a careful comparison of the terms and floures employed in this discussion. and by the result thus reached we will cheerfully abide.

The matter contained in the card of R. R. Hudgins & Co. this morning is mostly irrelvelant, and the disposition evinced by them such as to forbid one further pursuing the Respectfully, aublect.
