

Foreign Affairs.

PARIS, November 19.—In the Assembly, yesterday, a motion was made concerning Gambetta for inflammatory speeches, and complaining of the laxity of the Government in dealing with increasingly audacious Radicals.

LONDON, November 19.—The dismissal of eighty members of the police for insubordination yesterday caused dissatisfaction among their fellows, who made strong manifestations.

NEW ORLEANS, November 19.—An injunction has been issued restraining Longstreet, Lynch, Herron and Jacob from acting as members of the election returning board; and upon the affidavit of Gov. Warmoth, the same parties were arrested for violation of the State election laws.

NEW YORK, November 19.—Schooner Belle R. Hull, from Virginia, and John B. Myers, hence for Richmond, collided near Barnegate. The Myers was sunk. The crew were saved. The Hull's forward works were badly damaged.

ST. LOUIS, November 19.—John J. P. & Co.'s pork packing house was burned. Loss roughly stated at $100,000.

BOSTON, November 19.—A fire occurred in State street. Loss $100,000 to $200,000. It is thought to be caused by wires brought from the burned district.

MEMPHIS, November 19.—The malady is here, but mild.

PORTSMOUTH, PA., November 19.—Buck Shultz, a colored desperado, was arrested for causing the death of Mrs. Slater, by kicks.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL., November 19.—The college belonging to the Methodist Church was burned; loss $50,000; insurance $95,000; sixty girls escaped with their wardrobes. This is the second time the college has been burned within nine years.

BOSTON, November 19.—The Legislature has been convened in extra session. The Governor, in his message, hopes that legislation will be confined to the matters growing out of the recent calamity, and suggests as topics for consideration the proposed loan of the credit of the city to parties wishing to rebuild, the re-chartering of insurance companies, and the amendment of the Betterment Act and the building laws.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 19.—Four other Conservatives arrived and enrolled their names at the Capitol, and one Republican, making fifty, which is one less than a quorum. In the Senate, nineteen Senators were present; two less than a quorum. Both Houses adjourned to morning.

MOBILE, November 19.—The Conservative delegation from Marengo County, who were arrested by the United States Marshal while on their way to Montgomery, upon the plea of violation of the Enforcement Act, arrived here this morning, and were carried before United States Commissioner Gillette, who released them upon giving bond in the sum of $3,000 each for their appearance at the next term of the United States Court. They leave for Montgomery today.

NEW YORK, November 19.—Evening.—George Wood, the alleged prize concert swindler, has been arrested.

WASHINGTON, November 19.—Hay Cook, E. H. O. Fahnestock and Gov. H. D. Cooke, had a long consultation with Boutwell today.

PHILADELPHIA, November 19.—The report of Major McFarland, engineer in charge of the surveys for a canal route to connect the Tennessee

River with the Atlantic Ocean, at or near Savannah, Ga., will be transmitted to Congress, along with the report of the Secretary of War. The report is exhaustive, and fully establishes the feasibility of the project.

The Collector of the First Georgia District is ordered to make a new investigation of the case against the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company of Augusta.

Probabilities.—Over the North-west, the upper lakes, and thence to the Ohio Valley, Northerly to Westerly winds, occasional snow, cold, partly cloudy and clearing weather. In the Gulf States, falling barometer, winds becoming Westerly to Northerly, colder and cloudy weather and light rain. In the South Atlantic States, South-westerly winds, veering to-morrow to North-westerly, with partly cloudy weather. On the lower lakes, and thence over the Middle and Eastern States, South-westerly to North-westerly winds, cloudy weather and occasional belts of snow and rain.

There is nothing more absurd, not to say ungentlemanly, than what is called, in college, "hazing." This term is applied to those annoyances which the older students are in the habit of inflicting upon freshmen. But this year, in Amherst College, "the dog" (so to speak) "is a lecture ahead," for the eighty-two freshmen have reversed the usual order, and are "hazing" the sixty sophomores without the least respect for their dignity. If there must be "hazing," this is the kind which we prefer. For the tough old birds of the college to be pecking at the poor little home-sick chickens, is neither brave, polite, nor wise.—New York Tribune.

The Titusville Press generously notices a catching case of Western progress: "A St. Louis man has invented a peculiar sort of a trap for catching tapeworms. It is a widdow with steel trap attached, and if you think you have 'got 'em,' you set the trap in your mouth when you retire for the night. If you feel the trap spring, seize the crank and wind up your worms."

Milledgeville (Ga.) lodge has seceded from the I. O. G. T. They propose falling in with the move to consolidate a Georgia order for whites, adapted to the institutional wants of the people, on the 30th instant, at Atlanta.

The light of the great conflagration in Boston, on Saturday night, was distinctly visible and attracted the observation of people resident sixty miles from Boston along the Eastern coast, and also seventy miles in the interior country.

Horace Greeley spent thirty years of his life in making the nigger the political equal of the white man. He will find by this day's vote that his "colored brudder is a werry ungrateful critter."

[Martinsburg Statesman.]

A recently employed local editor on an Indianapolis paper was annoyed by a seedy looking fellow who, sat by the stove one cold night last week, and warmed himself. "See here, old fellow," said he, finally, "hadn't you better go home?" The "old fellow" glared at him, but said nothing. After a few minutes the editor took the old fellow by the shoulders to lead him out, remarking that it was no place for loafers. "See here, young man," roared the old fellow, "you evidently don't know who you're talking to. My name is —, and I am one of the proprietors of this paper." The astounded editor plunged headlong into a gimlet hole.

A little Danbury boy ran away from school Monday, to go chesnutting. During the expedition he fell twice out of one tree to the imminent danger of breaking his neck, was licked by one of the other boys whose breath he materially lessened by stumbling against his stomach, ran a siver into his knee and was bitten violently on the neck by a new kind of bug. When he got home his father anointed him with the boss end of a billiard cue, and the next day at school the teacher escorted him twice around the room by his poorest ear. He says that chestnuts are so worny this year that it don't pay to go after them.

Dean Swift bequeathed a mad-house to Ireland because, as an epigram relates, no country wanted it so much. According to the French papers, an Englishman, who recently died at Armentieres, has followed that eccentric divine's example, by leaving $80,000 for building a lunatic asylum in France. "This preference does us much honor," says La Liberté, "and probably no similar insult has been paid to this country since old Bedlam was built on the plan of the Tuileries, a fact which greatly irritated the French monarch of that day."

The Atlanta Herald says under Federal law, which allows each State $5,000 a year for arms, Georgia is now entitled to $25,000, as she has had none in five years. By the Georgia law these arms are to be distributed to companies first organized. The gun that the Governor has ordered is called the Springfield rifle musket. It costs twenty-two dollars, the accoutrements cost three dollars, the outfit for each man thus reaching twenty-five dollars. At this rate the amount now due will only equip about six companies of infantry and two of cavalry.

Darwin has been snubbed by the French Academy, which has rejected his application for admission by a large majority. The reasons for his rejection were solely scientific. M. Mirque said: "The author of the Origin of Species and the Descent of Man has too far sacrificed science to renown, reason and imagination, to deserve a place in the front rank of scientists. He has fallen too low—especially in his last work—has too much belittled himself, not to be made to expiate it."

TYPOGRAPHICAL BLUNDERS.—Both the dailies in Montgomery, Ala., suffer from typographical blunders. In the Advertiser office the intelligent compositor butchered a piece of fine writing by substituting "intellectual petroleum" for "intellectual pabulum." The I. O. C. of the State Journal, in an article "Appeal from frauds," set up "apples and oranges" for "alpha and omega," being evidently not as well posted in classics as on pomology. The situations are vacant on those papers.

A Colorado man, a few days since, turned out his two horses, tied together with a rope around the neck of each. The next day one of them came home, dragging the head of the other. The last heard of the owner, he was wandering over the prairie, saying he "supposed the d-d animal was dead some where." That is just like some men. They always jump to conclusions without waiting for evidence.

[St. Louis Democrat.]

Marietta, Ga., enjoys a ghost. The Journal says: "When he enters the house loud noises are heard, the cat is kicked from one part of the house to another, the dog howls and raps, and the crockery ware is broken, tables and chairs are turned over, hot brick-bats are pitched at the servant and hot words at the wife of the household, and a demoniac yell falls upon the children's ears. 'Clear out, dad's come home drunk.'"

A rather ludicrous scene was exhibited on the occasion of a recent funeral at Pittsfield. As the procession was moving toward the cemetery a man joined the funeral cortege with a young child under his arm and a pig under the other, the latter squealing as only a pig can, and the child following suit to the best of its ability.

Two young Britons laid a wager as to which could produce the fastest spider, the trial to take place on plates, each spider to have a plate. One of the insects would hardly stir, while the other ran with great speed. The proposer of the bet had heated his plate and won the wager.

A Pomfret, Connecticut, woman recently lost a favorite hen, and revenged herself by poisoning the corpse with strychnine, the result being a dead owl, one of the largest varieties known in New England, with a six-foot spread of wings, a dead fox and a skunk.

There are thirteen shot-guns, with women at their butt-ends, prowling around the Western States, looking for truant husbands and their naughty feminine companions. Thunder from the West may be expected soon.

Ancient manuscripts were written without accents, stops or separation between the words; nor was it until after the ninth century that copyists began to leave spaces between the words.

An intoxicated man was detected in an attempt to pick the pocket of a billiard table.

A Terro Haute girl exclaimed, when she saw a Thomas felino cleave his back: "Oh! wouldn't he make a lovely bustle!"

THE NEW FRENCH ARMY.—The entire army consists of twelve complete army corps, including one in Algeria. Each corps is composed of three infantry divisions, each containing two brigades of two regiments each, a battalion of chasseurs on foot, with the requisite engineer, cavalry and artillery force. The army of Algeria consists of four regiments of tirailleurs, a foreign regiment, three infantry regiments and three battalions of chasseurs, also three battalions of African light infantry. The entire army numbers 135 regiments of infantry, four regiments of zouaves, four regiments of tirailleurs, a foreign regiment and thirty-six battalions of chasseurs.

THE SAME OLD STORY.—Another bank cashier has turned up a defaulter to the amount of $15,000. This time it is the New York Gold Exchange Bank which suffers, and as it makes good the loss and lets the offender off scot-free, the affair, as Mr. Toots would say, is "of no consequence." The defaulting cashier, when confronted by his President, and asked for an explanation, owned the truth, and said: "It's the same old story. I've been speculating in stocks, and that's how the money has gone." What a volume of wailing to the victims of "the street" is conveyed in these few words! [New York Herald.]

MRS. FAIR WANTS THAT PISTOL AGAIN.—Laura D. Fair made application, on Saturday, to the Clerk of the Fifteenth District Court for the return of the pistol used in evidence against her in the two murder trials. The gentle creature became emphatic in her language when the weapon was not immediately forthcoming, but it will be returned to her today. The pistol is the same with which Laura killed Mr. Crittenden, and she prizes it very highly as a memento. [San Francisco Bulletin, Ath.]

A delegation of thirty of the leading Republicans of Pennsylvania, including Simon Cameron, Hartranft, and Mayor Stokely, called on the President to induce him to appoint Mr. Truman as postmaster, contrary to the civil service rules. After hearing their arguments through, General Grant refused the application, very much to the surprise and disgust of his disappointed Pennsylvania friends and supporters.

DEATH FROM SUDDEN ALARM.—The Lancaster (Pa.) Express says that Miss Mary E. Grubb, a lady of that city, aged about thirty-three years, was suddenly alarmed by a cry of fire on Friday night. The suddenness of the alarm, and the nearness of apparent danger, gave her such a shock that, after uttering an exclamation, she sank down and expired immediately.

SALMON IN THE DELAWARE.—Dr. Slack, one of the fish commissioners of this State, has received 250,000 salmon eggs for the purpose of stocking the Delaware. The eggs were obtained from the Sacramento River salmon, and the doctor thinks there is every prospect of the experiment proving successful. [Bridgeton (N. J.) Chronicle.]

Mr. Greeley is represented as taking comfort from the reflection that the New York Tribune office will no longer be "a sort of Federal employment agency to get places under Government for those who were indisposed to work for a living." We congratulate the sage on this fact, and only regret that he ever permitted the past abuse.

The prevalence of the epizootic in New York has been death on aristocratic funerals, and the snobs are opposed to kicking the bucket and being hauled to the bone-yard by an ox team, and it is feared if the epidemic is not arrested death will reap a very poor harvest of fools this fall in Gotham.

The Raleigh Era says: Mr. Andrew Smith, who resides some seven miles South of Raleigh, while on his way home on Tuesday night last, had his pocket-knife open in his pocket, and unfortunately stumbled and fell, inflicting a severe wound in the abdomen, which resulted in his death this morning.

A rumor prevailed Friday, in Madrid, that the Central Junta of the Carlist organization were to hold a meeting on that day for the purpose of discussing the means to carry out an insurrection in Catalonia. Bands of Carlists are also reported as committing outrages upon travelers between France and Spain.

A young woman has poisoned herself in Vienna, and in a note which she had left on a table near the bed on which she lay, she had written: "My last cigar draws very badly; therefore, I am tired of life. Good night."

Mrs. S. M. Smith and her daughter, Miss Fannie Smith, of Columbus, Ohio, had recently a narrow escape from death at Berlin, Germany, their room becoming, before they were aware, full of carbonic acid gas from an open coal fire.

Mlle. Berlon, a French dress-maker, tired of oppression, plunged into the Seine with the words "We have no liberties." When she was promptly pulled out, she finished the idea, "They don't even allow us to drown ourselves."

The transports Guerriere and Garonne have arrived at the French penal colony of New Caledonia, with the first lots of Communists who have been sentenced to undergo imprisonment there.

The Baptist State Convention for South Carolina is appointed to meet at Darlington Thursday, the 21st instant. Rev. Dr. Winkler is to preach the introductory sermon.

Miss Tenuis Clafin is said by reporters to talk 315 words a minute. That, of course, is a rough estimate, but its somewhere in that neighborhood.

The wife of Jaak Grant, late Representative from Polk County in the Oregon Legislature, last year shot and trapped 358 squirrels.

The track of the Charleston Euterprise Railway is being worked. The iron was laid below Broad street yesterday.

RUBIES IN NEW MEXICO.—Reports received in Denver City from Santa Fe, N. M., state that a ruby was brought in on the 14th inst., which is pronounced by those who claim to be judges to be worth $75,000. It weighs sixteen carats in the rough, and will weigh about twelve carats when cut. The same party is reported to have had other stones which are considered very valuable, and it is said that the people of Santa Fe are greatly excited. This man claimed that he was offered $25,000 for the ruby mentioned.

A MILL STOPPED BY EELS.—Last week a most remarkable stoppage of a mill by eels clogging the wheel occurred at Handley's mill, below Spring Hill, in this County. The mill stopped, and the miller, upon searching out the cause, found the wheel was clogged by eels to the quantity of several bushels, which had gotten into it and stopped it from turning. It was cleaned out, and was clogged several times again during the day. Some of the eels were two or three feet long.—Staunton (Va.) Vindicator.

FIRE IN CHARLOTTE.—The office of Dr. Gregory, on the corner of Third and Tryon streets, was burned on Saturday night. Owing to the efficiency of the fire companies, Dr. Bratton's house was saved, and the fire did not spread. The building was once the law office of W. J. Alexander, Esq., and was one of the old landmarks of Charlotte.

A lady traveling on the Macon and Western Railroad, last week, got into a jower with Harkie, the conductor. "This company," said she, "will never get another cent of my money as long as I live." "How will you prevent it?" asked Harkie, falling placidly into the trap. "Why, I'll pay it to you," rejoined the lady, "and then I'm sure they won't get it." There are dark rumors afloat that Harkie intends to resign.

On the 11th instant, the gin house of Mrs. Moss, six miles from Washington, Ga., was burned, together with a large quantity of cotton. This is the second fire on the place within some two months. The barn and stables were burnt a short time ago, destroying the entire crop of corn and forage, the loss amounting to $1,200. Both fires are believed to have been incendiary.

COTTON BURNED.—Seven or eight bales of cotton were discovered to be on fire on Sunday last, on the platform of the freight depot of the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad. Fortunately, it was discovered in time to save the depot. It is supposed that the cotton was fired by some malicious person or persons.—Winnsboro News.

A negro man named Elias Winfrey has been lodged in jail at Macon, Ga., charged with committing a rape upon a little white girl named Flannagan, only twelve years old. There is said to be sufficient proof to convict the villain. This is the second case of the kind which has occurred in Bibb County in two weeks.

Charlotte Cushman, the famous tragedienne, has with her a faithful colored servant, named Sally, who has been in her service over thirty years. The closeness with which this woman follows the fortunes of her renowned mistress is shown in the fact that she has crossed the Atlantic with Miss Cushman no less than fourteen times.

THE DESPECIATION OF QUEBEC.—It is reported that Quebec is about to pull down its ramparts, throw its citadel into the river, remove the gates which still picturesquely obstruct its precipitous streets, and obliterate the last traces of the martial grandeur which make it today one of the most attractive cities in America.

One or two off-hand hangings are greatly needed in Georgia to stop the gin burning business. The last case is that of Mr. John Graham, of Milton County, whose gin house was set on fire Tuesday, and ten bales of cotton and 500 bushels of wheat burned. Loss over $3,000.

The near approach of Thanksgiving Day will make the tidings unwelcome that an epidemic has broken out among the poultry and game throughout the country. In Pennsylvania it is reported as very severe, and all along the banks of the Susquehanna the poultry are dying by thousands.

SMALL-POX IN CHARLOTTE.—Two cases were reported last week. Messrs. Martin Wolfe and James Wilson, living in the Eastern suburbs of the town, have had a mild attack. The disease has not spread, and as the houses are guarded, there is no panic.—Southern Home.

The following is the most startling composition "hine to fill out a column" we have seen for a month: "Does not a young mother's heart leap 4th with joy when she beholds her darling babe's 1st 2th."

The Connecticut agriculturist who, last week, found a five dollar gold piece in the crop of one of his chickens, remarks that for its size it's the most profitable crop ever produced on his farm.

The Washington Star says: The Capital publishing company have bought out the Patriot printing establishment—type, Hoe press and all—and will move at once into their new quarters.
