BALTIMORE, February 1.—It is rumored that Joshua Nicholson, one of the three parties arrested for the murder of Mrs. Lampley, turned State's evidence and confessed. He says that while he was up stairs, breaking open the trunk where the money was deposited, his two companions—Whalen and Tucker—whom he had left below, threw a piece of carpet over the head of Mrs. Lampley, to prevent her from giving an alarm, and strangled her.

NEW YORK, February 1.—Counsel in the Stokes case, in the event of a failure to obtain an order for a new trial from Judge Boardman, will apply for a stay of proceedings, and thereby secure a review of the case by a full bench of the Supreme Court; and on a failure there, will go to the Court of Appeals.

THE Cuban Anti-slavery Committee here, of which S. E. Sooton is Chairman, and Rev. H. S. Garnet, Secretary, issued an address to the President and people of the United States, asking support in the movement for the abolition of slavery in Cuba. The gentlemen mentioned will visit the principal cities, for the purpose of holding Cuban anti-slavery meetings, and personally urge attention of the matter upon the President.

Tweed, last evening, said his trial was merely a political one; that they would never get a jury to convict him. He was tired of the business. The prosecuting lawyers claim that the jury was packed. The jurors refuse to reveal what occurred in the jury room.

THE Fire Marshal's investigation of the Broadway fire discloses the losses to be nearly $400,000. Nicoll & Cololisha, (not Cololisha, Ingals & Co., as before stated,) who occupied the second floor, estimate their loss at $300,000 in gold, on which there is an insurance of $350,000 in gold. Wood Brothers' loss is said to be $75,000. Other losses trifling.

Judge Davis denied the motion for a new trial in the Tweed case. This ends the prosecution for the present.

WASHINGTON, February 1.—Boutwell has ordered the redemption of over $500,000 three per cent. certificates—leaving about $750,000 out. The debt statement shows an increase of nearly $500,000 in the Treasury; coin, $62,375,000; currency, $7,000,000.

SAVANNAH, February 1.—The meeting of the Convention of Direct Trade and Immigration, to which delegates from the cities South and West are invited, will be held in Augusta on the 11th instant, instead of the 2d, as before telegraphed. The State Agricultural Society meets at the same time.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 1.—Capt. Hill, Agent of the Southern Express Company here, is dead.

RICHMOND, February 1.—The first train Eastward, over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, through from the Ohio River, arrived this morning, bringing about fifty passengers, mostly West Virginians, and four car loads of Cannel coal, the first of the kind ever received in Richmond.

At a conference of leading citizens, held this afternoon, a committee of fifteen was appointed to ascertain when trains would be run regularly on the road, and to make suitable arrangements for a grand celebration, which will probably embrace an excursion to the Ohio and returning, bringing large delegations from the Western cities to participate in the order of ceremony as here.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., February 1.—At half-past 2 o'clock, the Wharton jury reported that they were unable to agree, and asked to be discharged. The Judge refused.

MONTPELIER, Vt., February 1.—James Gould's Son's Woolen Factory was burned to-day; loss $100,000.

SMALL POX PRECAUTIONS.—Many of the so-called remedies or preventives for this loathsome disease, now so prevalent, are absolutely worthless, if not positively hurtful. The Boston Globe, however, gives the "following suggestions by an eminent physician," which seem to be marked by a degree of common sense and apparent medical knowledge that renders them valuable. The first thing, says this authority, is in all cases to send for a physician; the next, to select a nurse. A mustard plaster, placed on the back at once, will be of service. The patient should be removed, as soon as taken, to the highest room in the house. Such a room is more quiet, the air is fresher and purer, and the risk of infection as to the other parts of the house is much lessened. A sheet now hung before the door, and cloths placed about the room, saturated with bromochloral or carbolic acid—in both cases, one part of the disinfectant to two parts of water—will absorb the poison in a measure, and should never be neglected. Into all the vessels the patient uses, even into the basin that receives his saliva, the mixture should be poured and kept. Keep the room comparatively dark, and at a moderate temperature—about sixty degrees—and remember the sick man must have air. The nurse must not leave the room; all bedding must be burned by her, and all clothes that cannot be boiled. A mattress is far better than a feather bed for the patient to lie on; but if a feather bed is used, it becomes the very rankest poison, saturated, and almost impossible to disinfect, and must be burned immediately on recovery.

THE BONAPARTE FAMILY.—The London correspondent of the New York World has the following to say of the Bonaparte family: An interesting fact connected with the Bonaparte family in their relation by marriage with two Scotch families of Dumfrireshire, Scotland. The Emperor was himself one of these connecting links, through marriage, with the Empress Eugenie, who was a grand-daughter of William Kirkpatrick, of the Kirkpatricks of Closoham of that shire. They were also allied with the Scotch people through Jerome Bonaparte, King of Westphalia, who married Miss Paterson, of Baltimore, grand-daughter of another, but humble Dumfrireshire family—Robert Paterson, described by Sir Walter as "Old Mortality," and who spent a large portion of his life in traveling from place to place and renovating the tombstones of the martyred covenanters.

This Paterson died in 1801, at Bankhead, while, by a curious coincidence, he was on his way to discover, if possible, the burial place of Roger Kirkpatrick, custodian of Carlaverock Castle, who was slain by his guest, James Lindsay, in 1585. What is interesting, also, is the fact that in the same church-yard—that of Carlaverock—lie the remains of Wm. Kirkpatrick, grand-father of the Empress Eugenie, and of Robert Paterson, grand-father of Miss Paterson whom the ex-King Jerome married.

THE RESULT OF THE ABOLITION OF THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.—The Senate has demonstrated to-day how men dislike to yield power. It has been a delightful thing for a Senator to just write his name on a book or a package of seeds or a letter, to insure its free transmission to any post office between Alaska and Key West, or Madawaska and Brownsville. Ladies supplicated for franks, constituents begged them, and even newspaper correspondents were conciliated by them. But public opinion has made the Senators relinquish this cherished "privilege," and great is their wrath. Cresswell did the business by asserting that the abolition would save $3,500,000, and now they mean to make him save this sum. They have cut down his appropriations for clerk hire to-day, and they mean to continue their reforms, even depriving him of his "riding privilege," by which he goes to and from his home in Maryland free, under the department dead-head clause in the contracts for mail service on the railroads. Meanwhile these reforms will benefit the public and warrant a single letter postage rate of two cents, although the Turkey-tops of the upper House may be deprived of their cherished privilege.

A Kentuckian Bluebeard, aged sixty, has been married eight times to seven wives—a clerical error in the marriage license having necessitated two ceremonies in the case of his sixth partner.

By the Mobile Register: "Several mornings since, a gentleman residing—no matter where—bought a fine turkey in the Southern market, and ordered it sent to his home, mentioning the number, as we will say, 46. Now 46 is a few doors from our friend's house, and is occupied by a very pretty and dashing widow of limited means. A little later in the morning, Mrs. — had occasion to go to the market for some celery, when the following confab ensued: Market-man: 'How did you like that turkey?' Mrs. —: 'What turkey?' Market-man: 'Why, the one your husband bought and sent home to No. 46. Wasn't the number right?' Mrs. —: 'Smelled a large-sized mice, but said: 'Oh, yes, that is all right'; and she left, smiling as though some one was boring a half-inch auger hole through the small of her back. At dinner her husband said: 'My dear, will you have some of the roast beef?' Mrs. —: 'No, I'll take turkey.' Husband: 'I don't see any turkey. Where is it?' Mrs. —: 'Why, it's in No. 46, just where you sent it, and you had better go right there now and get your dinner.' The blushes of the culprit were hidden by a scene which occurred at this juncture. His physician says he doesn't think the mark of the plate will remain permanently over his eye, but all the efforts of dermatology will never restore hair that has been removed by boiling coffee. Served him right. He should follow Sam's advice, and beware of vidlers."

THE COMMUNIST VERSION.—The New Orleans Picayune has the following additional paragraph regarding an alleged incendiary plot: The Commune, a French paper, published in this city, says that the president of the firemen companies in this city, received last week an anonymous letter informing him that the International Association had determined to burn both New York and New Orleans. The letter is denounced by the Commune as emanating from the agents of certain European Governments, who are bent upon defaming the International Association.

FOUR PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH.—A distressing accident took place at Ross Station, on the South Carolina Railroad, on Wednesday night last. Four colored men, who were engaged in turpentine distilling, had hastily put up a rough shanty, which they covered over with straw. On Wednesday night they turned in as usual, leaving a fire burning in the middle of the shanty. During the night the rickety concern fell with a crash upon the sleepers. The straw roof instantly caught fire, and before any help could come to the men, or they could rescue themselves, they were burned to death.—Charleston News.

A young man named Migham Watt narrowly escaped death on board a vessel in Charleston, a few days ago. He was standing at the hoisting machine, when one of his arms was caught in the rope and drawn between revolving wheels. The arm, as it was pulled in, was crushed, and this must have been the fate of his whole body, which was gradually being dragged to destruction, when the purser of the steamer, Mr. W. F. Shaw, seeing the fearful condition in which a fellow-being was in, ran to the engine and turned off the steam, stopping the wheels and saving life.

A PESTILENCE.—A disease is prevailing in Crawford County, Ill., from which not a person attacked has recovered. It is called by some the black cholera, and by others malignant spotted fever. In the town of Robinson, of about 800 inhabitants, the deaths average two a day. In a small town near Robinson, of 200 inhabitants, fifteen deaths had occurred, and four corpses were lying unburied in one house. The disease is spreading, losing nothing of its malignant type.

A CLEVER HIT.—Apropos of the late celebration of the birth-day of General Lee, the Pottsville Miners' Journal says: Our Southern brethren who were estranged from us by the "late unpleasantness," haven't come home yet to have the fattened calf killed.

And if "our Southern brethren" did come back in all humility and contrition to enjoy the fattened calf, we fear that some people would only furnish them mighty poor veal.

An engaged young gentleman got rather neatly out of a little scrape with his intended. She taxed him with having kissed two ladies at some party at which she was not present. He owned it, but said that their united ages only made twenty-one. The simple-minded girl thought of ten and eleven, and laughed off her pout. He did not explain that one was nineteen and the other two years of age.

MORTALITY AMONG THE COLORED.—The mortality among the colored of this vicinity, for several days past, has been alarming. Several have died immediately in this village within a few days past, from the disease, it is conceded, called meningitis, so prevalent in other portions of the State. The disease seems to be confined almost entirely to the colored race.—Lawrenceville Herald.

THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.—The movement for the abolition of the franking privilege, the bill for which has just passed, was begun twenty-five years ago in Congress by Horace Greeley. In 1848 he was a member of the House from New York, and he then introduced a bill for the purpose.

A Frenchman cannot talk with his hands tied. Hart and Soule are members of the Legislative Body, in Illinois.

COLORADO CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.—A child of Charles Berry, a colored man living in Charlotte street, was so badly burned on Thursday evening that it died in a few hours after the accident. Its clothes ignited at the fire-place, the flames soon enveloping its form, and placing it beyond recovery. [Charleston Courier.

A woman in Troy, N. Y., thirty-six years old, has just had a needle extracted from her leg. It became embedded there when she was only a year old, and was taken out last week. It was right free from rust, and with commendable economy, on recovering control of it she threaded it and began to sew with it.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We regret to learn that Mr. J. M. Davis died, after a brief illness, on last Tuesday, at his residence, about eight miles from Bennettsville. He was taken sick on Monday night, and died next day about 12 o'clock. [Marlboro News.

Four men have been sentenced within a few days to be hanged for murder, viz: William Foster, in New York; John R. Johnson, in New Haven; Charles A. Russell, in San Francisco; and A. J. Petteck, in Chicago. The gallows is looming up.

INCENDIARISM.—We learn that the storehouse and its contents, located at Mr. Blaney Farnell's place, has been destroyed by fire. The stock was owned by a Mr. Johnson, and the fire was the work of an incendiary. [Darlington Southerner.

We feel sorry for the poor New Yorkers whose butchers fed them recently on the mutton of 400 diseased sheep. They will never be able to hear the old proverb, "We will return to our mutton," without feeling qualms at the stomach. We can't imagine a more sheepish set.

A fatal accident occurred on Tuesday, at Crussell's rock quarry, in Atlanta, which resulted in the blowing up of two men, one of whom is not expected to live. They were packing a heavy charge of powder, when it accidentally blew up. Jonathan says there is but one guide-board in the whole State of Rhode Island, and that points the wrong way; and when a man asks the directions to any place within the State, they set the dogs on him.

There were eighty-five deaths in Newark, N. J., last week, of which fifteen were from small-pox. The proposition to move the capital from Atlanta to Millidgeville seems to be gaining in favor throughout Georgia.
