CANO, August 6.—Daisy Breeze killed his brother Dan Breeze, near Hazlet, Alexander County, Thursday night. Both were rather notorious characters and had stolen some horses, and after hiding them, were proceeding to the house of Oscar Greenlee, with the intention, it is said, of carrying out a previously arranged plan to kill him (Greenlee). Dan showed an inclination to back out, and when the brothers were last seen together they were quarreling, Daisy carrying a heavy club and threatening Dan. Daisy came home alone, bringing Dan's shoes, and remarked to his wife, "If you hear me accused of murder, don't go back on me." Officers started from here last night in pursuit of the murderer.

RICHMOND, August 7.—2 A. M.—After the merits of the two candidates had been discussed at length, and no other nominations being made, the roll of Counties was called, and resulted in a large majority for Gen. Kemper, which was greatly increased by delegations changing their votes solidly from Withers to Kemper. Before the announcement of the vote, Gen. Early moved that the nomination of Gen. James L. Kemper be made unanimous, which was agreed to, amid great applause. The convention then adjourned till 10 A. M.

RICHMOND, August 7.—The convention opened this morning with prayer by Rev. Dr. J. B. Jeter, of the Baptist Church. A committee of three was appointed to wait on Col. Robert E. Withers, to invite him to the privileges of a seat, and ascertain if he will consent to accept the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. During the absence of the committee, Col. S. Keen, of Alleghany, stated that the convention had not approached Col. Withers properly; that if they desired him to serve on the ticket, they should nominate him by acclamation, and then ascertain if he would consent. Amid the applause which ensued, General J. A. Walker, of Palaski, the most prominent candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, took the stand, and stated that, although not a delegate, he desired the indulgence of the convention to second the nomination of Col. Withers, which he proceeded to do in graceful and eloquent language, and withdrawing his own name. At this state of the proceedings, Col. Withers, accompanied by the committee, made his appearance in the building, and was greeted enthusiastically; the convention en masse rising and cheering him to the echo. On reaching the platform, Col. Withers, being introduced, said he felt totally incapable of giving expression to his feelings. When first approached upon the subject of accepting the second position, he peremptorily declined; although he intended to use every emotion of his heart and every effort of his intellect to promote, as he had heretofore done, the success of the Conservative cause. When he came to the building, his mind had not changed, and he still expected to decline; but when friend after friend approached him, and he was besieged with earnest requests to serve his people, he felt he could hold out no longer, and must surrender. If he would listen to his heart and feelings, he would still refuse, but he was willing to work anywhere and in any position to defeat the enemies of the Conservative party in Virginia. The enthusiasm which ensued was of the wildest description, delegates and spectators joining in the tremendous and continuous applause. A similar attempt was made to nominate General J. A. Walker, who had withdrawn his name in favor of Colonel Withers, for Attorney-General, but General Walker positively declining, the attempt failed. P. W. McKinney, of Prince Edward County, and Hon. R. T. Daniel, of Richmond, were then nominated for Attorney-General, and their several claims and merits ably endorsed.

LATER.—Mr. Daniel received 46,236; Walker, 38,604; McKinney, 33,701. A number of Counties changed their votes solidly to Daniel, when a motion to make his nomination unanimous was carried, amid great applause. Mr. Daniel accepted in a stirring speech; after which a recess was taken till 8 P. M., when the platform will be reported. The utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed during the day, and the proceedings were conducted amid much enthusiasm.

The case, therefore, is a crucial test of the purity of the court.

AN AUCTION SALE OF THE LOTS OF SENECA CITY, BEAUTIFULLY laid out at the crossing of the Air Line and Blue Ridge Railroads, will be commenced on the premises, on THURSDAY, AUGUST 14, 1873.

It is now accessible to the best markets of the world, by means of the Railroads about completed. Other Railroads are projected. The adaptability of the surrounding country to the successful cultivation of cotton has been recently demonstrated. The trade of the entire Fork country, between and including the rich Valleys of the Tugaloo and Seneca Rivers, as well as of the fine and extensive region towards and beyond the mountains, will naturally seek this channel. Numerous and extensive water powers, found within a few miles of this place, are offered for sale at low prices, and will probably be soon improved. Considerable beds of iron ore and rich gold mines are found near by. The neighboring population is remarkably orderly and moral. An abundance of pure cold water, and a climate most delightful and healthy, add to the attractions of the location. Building material is plentiful and cheap.
