The re-organization of the army in Catalonia is actively going on. The Intransigentes have sent commissions into the provinces to incite insurrection among the soldiers. A despatch from Barcelona reports heavy cannonading in the direction of Berga.

VALENCIA, August 9.—Previous to the surrender, 10,000 troops were concentrated before the city, under the command of Martinez, Comandante, Velarde and Valcama, with eighteen siege guns in position. The Junta proposed to surrender the city, on the condition that the commander of the troops guarantee a full pardon to all the insurgents, and expressed the apprehension that the insurgents would burn the city, if these terms were not conceded. This proposition was made on the 5th, and on the same day occurred a stampede from the city of the frightened people, who were equally alarmed at the prospects of a bombardment or of the excesses of the insurgents. After two days' parley and deliberation, the commander of the troops rejected the terms; whereupon the Junta and the more violent Intransigentes to fight at midnight to the port of Valencia, and then embarked on the steamer for Carthage, hooted by the people. Out of fifteen battalions of volunteers, three only remained in the surrendered city. 300 killed and wounded covered the losses on both sides, but the injury to the city and commerce is very great. 100 houses were damaged by the bombardment.

PARIS, August 11.—Reports of the harvest in France show that the yield generally is only middling, both as regards quality and quantity. In the South, the quality of the wheat is good, but the crop is scarce and prices have advanced. The millers are now using foreign wheat, and they expect soon to experience difficulty in running the mills, in consequence of the low condition of the streams, caused by a continued drought.

DUBLIN, August 12.—A desperate riot occurred yesterday in the military camp in Curraugh of Kildare, between two English regiments. Several of the participants were killed and many received injuries.

TELEGRAPHIC—AMERICAN MATTERS. NEW YORK, August 11.—At 8 o'clock, this morning, at the cigar manufactory of Steinhart Bros. & Schoniak, in Vesey street, a young man, named Ephraim Steinhart, brother of one of the partners, stood behind Samuel Schoniak and shot him with a pistol, under the ear, then swallowed a bottle of poison and shot himself under the left nipple. Schoniak is conscious and will probably recover. Steinhart will not survive today.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., August 11.—The Tribune's special says that in the decoration of the Court House for aazaar, in a spirit of courtesy to the American citizens, the stars and stripes were suspended side by side with the British flag. Upon the entrance of Attorney-General Clark, on beholding the flags thus placed, he ordered the ladies in charge to haul it down. No one obeyed his command, and he retired. The Sheriff will not allow the wives of the American prisoners to visit their husbands but twice during the week.

Full-bloods are said to be indignant and aroused, and that Ross and Jones must go to the brush to save their lives. It is also asserted that the death sentence has been issued by certain Indians upon Colonel Boudinot, James Bell and others of the progressive and reform party. There is no question but anarchy and crime are largely on the increase, and many of the best men in that locality begin to believe their only safety lies in strong central territorial form of government, under the protection of the United States.

WASHINGTON, August 12.—The following telegram was received to-day, at headquarters of the army: CHICAGO, ILL., August 11.—General W. T. Sherman: There is now sufficient evidence to confirm the unofficial report of the fight between the Sioux and the Pawnees on the Republican River, in the South-west corner of Nebraska. The Pawnees were utterly defeated. Their loss is greater than at first reported. The Sioux engaged were, I think, Ogallales, Brules and Red Clouds.

Additional reports from the scene of the Wawasset disaster now place the loss at seventy-two. The friends of Daniel Lynch, a tailor doing business in this city, are certain that he was among the lost, judging from the description of an unknown man, published yesterday. Lynch was engaged to be married to a widow lady, who, with her two children, were also among the lost.

The investigation in the case of the disaster will begin to-morrow, and will assume the form of a suit against the owners of the Wawasset, by the Supervising Inspector of Steamboats of Treasury Department. It appears that on her last eventful trip, the owners of the Wawasset failed to ask or receive a special permit to carry more passengers than her certificate of inspection allowed. If the owners had been granted such a request, they would have been compelled to have procured an additional outfit. In the matter of an extra license, the owners, having neglected to procure that necessary paper, violated the law. The penalty is a fine of $10 per passenger and to refund the passage money. It is stated the owners will also be prosecuted for carrying excursionists without a license.

Commodore Rose, Inspector of Hulls, will conduct the investigation. Mr. Rose will be assisted by John E. Edgar, Inspector of Boilers at Norfolk, both of whom are old and experienced inspectors, and entirely disinterested in the case.

In this connection, the following order was issued to-day, to John Men-shaw, Supervising Inspector at Baltimore: TREASURY DEPARTMENT, August 12, 1873.—Sir: In view of the fact that the local inspectors at Baltimore made the last inspection of the ill-fated steamer Wawasset, and in order that the Government may avail itself of their services as witnesses in the investigation, to be made concerning the disaster to the steamer in question, it is deemed expedient that one of the other local boards of your district be detailed to conduct such investigation. You will please be governed accordingly. Very respectfully,

W. A. RICHARDSON, Sec'y. The investigation will be held in the office of the Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats in the Treasury Department, and will continue several days.

TAKEN AT HIS WORD.—A correspondent of the Knoxville Press and Herald writes: "The cholera at Greenville has developed a few cases of monstrous depravity, one of which I will relate, without mentioning names. An old gentleman, probably nearly seventy years of age, who lived a mile or two in the country, and is noted for his recklessness and utter defiance of the laws of God, came into town one day, and, passing down the street, cried out that he intended to spread the cholera over the town. He then went to an undertaker, and wanted to know if he could make him a coffin, and what he would charge. The reply was, that if he wanted it before his death, he would charge him $25; but if after, he would charge only $14. He told him to proceed with the matter, but to be sure to make it out of two-inch plank, and leave it open at both ends, so that if the devil came in at one end, he could escape at the other. That night he was stricken down with the cholera, and by morning was a corpse."

THE NEW GERMAN COIN.—The whole of the detailed arrangements for the new German coinage are said to have been completed some time ago by a committee of the States-Council, and approved at a full sitting of that body. The front of the coins will vary with the State or sovereign issuing it. The gold five-shilling piece is to have on the reverse—which may be called the imperial side of the coinage—nothing more than the German eagle, with the words "Five marks." The silver piece of the same value is to bear the words "Gott mit uns" in an outer circle, and "Five marks," "German Empire" within. The much-disputed two-shilling piece, which the will of the Diet forced upon the Government and States-Council, will be struck in fair proportion, and is to have on its reverse the year, with the words "German Empire" and "Two marks." The one-shilling piece will be similar.

M. ODILON BARROT.—M. I. Camille Hyacinthe Odillon, better known to the world under the name of Odillon Barrot, Vice-President of the Council of State of France, died yesterday, at the age of eighty-two years. He was the son of a member of the famous French Convention, and was born at Villefort (Lozere), on the 19th of July, in the year 1791. His father was an active politician, and the youth inherited, as it were, a taste for politics.

The New York World, in an article on the extravagance of the times, says: "The difficulty about this and so many other matters in this free country is that we all want to be equal now-a-days, although we are dreadfully unequal in purse. 'When I dine with a man with $6,000 a year,' said a millionaire, 'he gives me just the same dinner as when I dine with one who has $60,000 a year, though how he manages it I don't know.'"

DEATH.—We are pained to hear of the death, on Friday evening, of a daughter of Mr. Joseph Ratterree, from a disease somewhat similar to the yellow fever; black vomit being one of the symptoms. A second daughter of Mr. Ratterree is very ill with the same disease.—Wilmington News.
