

Reduce the Debt and Reduce the Taxes.

A bill to reduce the volume of the public debt, and provide for the payment of the same, is now on its passage in the House of Representatives. On Wednesday evening there was some discussion on the first section, which, after enumerating the several classes of bonds and certificates of stock, which constitute what is known as the bonded debt of the State, enacts that the Treasurer shall issue to the holders, in lieu of them when surrendered, other bonds or certificates of stock, equal in amount to forty per centum of the face value of the stocks and certificates so surrendered. In the second section it is provided, that the Treasurer shall, in like manner, issue bonds or certificates of stock in exchange for coupons or interest orders, which shall have accrued and be due on January 1, 1874, as the interest on the bonds, at the same rate of forty per centum of their face value. In the discussion, very little opposition was made to these sections. It came from Mr. Hurley, who expressed a hope that some discrimination in favor of the valid debt of the State would be made; and from Mr. Jos. Crows, upon the ground that the State cannot afford to pay as much as forty cents on the dollar on bonds which are worth in the market not more than an average of fifteen. Mr. Meets offered an amendment to the first section, that the bonds known as the conversion bonds, and amounting to $5,065,000, having been issued without authority of law, be declared absolutely null and void; provided, that no tax shall be levied to pay the interest on any other bonds or stocks than those herein enumerated, and hereinbefore provided for. The section, with the amendment, passed the House by a very decisive vote. It is provided further on in the bill, that the new bonds and certificates shall bear six per cent. interest, payable annually, and shall be redeemable in eighteen years, and that a tax of three mills on the dollar, of each dollar's worth of taxable property of the State, in addition to all other taxes, shall be annually levied, collected, and paid in to extinguish them.

In the reduction of the debt thus proposed and adopted, in the repudiation and rejection of the conversion bonds, in the promise which is held out in the bill that the taxes will not be exorbitantly high, the House has pointed the way to a solution of our greatest trouble, which, while we cannot say it is the best and fairest, or statesmanlike, is, in a measure, satisfactory. A proper discrimination between the classes of the bonds, a recognition of the higher value which some possess over others, the old over the more recent and more doubtful, was hardly to be expected. To attempt it would have required elaborate research; and to have made it would have been tantamount to branding the Republican party of the State with questionable dealings. The declaration that the conversion bonds have no authority of law, and are absolutely null and void, and will never be paid, a direct censure of officials, but only impliedly against the party, goes as far as it could venture in that direction. Dangers are thickening over their heads, the admitted failures and abuses of Republican administrations of the State are gradually, but surely, undermining the foundations of their power. In the stress to which they are subjected, in the vast difficulties which beset their path, they could not safely inflict any more blows upon their organization of a suicidal character. Let us be thankful, then, for what they have done, or promise more fully to do. Whatever were the motives which actuated them—and we have no doubt that they were commendable in many instances, and we try to think favorably of them in others—the result, which it appears is likely to be reached, is one that will lift a grievous load from the shoulders of our people. And it is worthy of notice that the House cuts loose from its old moorings. While adopting the recommendation of the Governor to scale the debt, it does not follow his advice in the way of doing it.

If the friends of reform and decency in the Republican party will follow up the good blow already delivered in reducing the current expenses, in lopping off extravagant appropriations, in making just assessments, and in placing the taxes at the lowest possible figure, they will greatly improve their position before the country. They should remember that their party does not own the property or pay the taxes of the State.

Mr. Nathan Bodie died at his residence in the vicinity of Bethlehem Church, Edgefield County, on Saturday last. Mr. Bodie had lived a long and useful life.

Hickory nuts are quoted in the New York market at one dollar and a half to one and seventy-five cents per bushel.

Mr. Birnie and his child died at Greenville this week, of diphtheria.

Circumstances have, however, placed the imposition of the taxes, as well as the general administration of affairs, in their hands. It may, therefore, be regarded as a trust for the time being, and it will be worth while for those who administer it to be moderate and conciliatory, and to remember that their tenure of power rests upon no broad or substantial basis. The people have groaned under the burden of heavy taxes long enough. They have felt the weight of the bonded debt in the amount of taxes levied to pay the interest, and in the gnawing conviction that it has been dishonestly increased. All just and valid claims of the floating debt should, of course, be paid; but pay certificates and such like barnacles fastened upon the ship of State, are particularly odious. They breed an unscrupulous class of greedy placemen, utterly worthless in themselves, and of fatal influence on the commonwealth. They should be made to let go their hold upon its vitals. Poverty, destitution and hardships are hard to bear, particularly by those who have been used to better things. But wise men accept their fate with resignation, hoping and toiling, with God's help, to make it more tolerable. We consider the extravagance and corruptions of bad government as sent by the same chastening hand which takes from us homes and comforts, which removes the idols of affection and plants lifelong grief in the heart. As we bear up against the one class of afflictions, summoning our philosophy and religion to our aid, so against the other are we bound by the very constitution of our nature to contend unceasingly. Patriotism, instinct, duty, all summon us to the conflict. This is a matter in which all good men can engage heartily, irrespective of race, color or previous condition. We trust that those who have made a good beginning in it in the Republican party, will not falter in the other steps necessary to take, nor weary in well-doing.

EXTRA SESSION OF LEGISLATURE. SENATE.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1873. The Senate assembled at 7 P. M., President Gleaves in the chair.

Mr. Hope introduced a bill to incorporate the town of Leesville, in Lexington County.

Mr. Dunn—Bill to prevent unjust discrimination by railroad corporations in their charges for the transportation of passengers and freight over their respective roads in this State.

Mr. Nash introduced a resolution that, owing to the stringency of the money market, the Secretary of State be directed not to press the collection of dues to the State arising from the sale of land under the provisions of the Land Commission for the present year.

The following were passed: Bills to recharter Swaney's Ferry; to amend Section 25, Chapter CXXXII, Title 5, of the Revised Statutes, relating to the time for holding the Courts of Common Pleas and General Sessions in the Eighth Judicial Circuit; to repeal an Act to provide for the issue of bills receivable in payment of indebtedness to the State to the amount of $500,000.

A House bill to make an appropriation to pay the claims of the South Carolina Bank and Trust Company against the State of South Carolina was ordered to lie on the table.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House met at 12 M., Speaker Lee in the Chair.

Mr. Bowley, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported unfavorably on a bill to make appropriation for the payment of expenses for the extra session of the General Assembly, and for other purposes; and a joint resolution to provide for the payment of the expenses of the General Assembly.

The House then, at 12:20 P. M., adjourned until 7:30 P. M.

Mr. Dancan introduced a bill to alter and amend Section 25 of Chapter XXV, Title 6, of Part I of the General Statutes, relating to the civil jurisdiction of Trial Justices; also, joint resolution to relieve Tarleton McGrew, of Orangeburg County, from legal disabilities.

The House agreed to adjourn to meet to-morrow, at 10 A. M., and adjourn at pleasure.

Mr. Mills introduced a joint resolution authorizing the Sheriff, Clerk of Court and County Auditor of Laurens County to draw a jury for said County.

Mr. Crows—Bill to establish and regulate business hours for State and County officers.

Mr. Thomas—Bill to repeal an Act to recharter the Cypress Causeway. Adjourned.

Mr. Mary E. Hoff, at Spartanburg, is anxious to see or learn something concerning the whereabouts of her brother, Mr. Harvey M. Skinner. When last heard from he was in Edgefield County.

Night before last, two freight trains on the Air-Line Railroad collided near Westminster, Ga. The engines were slight damaged, but no person was injured.

Mr. Nathan Bodie died at his residence in the vicinity of Bethlehem Church, Edgefield County, on Saturday last. Mr. Bodie had lived a long and useful life.

Hickory nuts are quoted in the New York market at one dollar and a half to one and seventy-five cents per bushel.

Mr. Birnie and his child died at Greenville this week, of diphtheria.

Does it pay?—This question is asked about many investments, but the case is so clear as to tickets for the gift concert of the Public Library of Kentucky, to come off December 3, that there is not room for a doubt on the subject. It does pay! When whole tickets are only $50 and tenths $5. When $1,500,000 is distributed in cash, in gifts varying in size from $250,000, the highest, to $50, the lowest, and there is one gift to every five tickets; there is no problem about the matter. It does pay.

SAD STATE OF AFFAIRS.—We are informed that Mr. Reuben Gollins, who died some days since, had been prevented by illness from even commencing to gather his cotton, which was going to waste in the fields. Every member of his family was prostrated on their beds. Several younger members of the family had been called to their long last home previous to the death of Mr. G.

DEATH.—We regret to announce the demise of Mr. Wm. C. Davis, of the firm of Dowie, Moise & Davis, of Charleston, who has been an invalid for some time. He was at Anderson on a visit to his father-in-law, Hon. J. P. Reed. He leaves a wife and many kindred and friends to mourn his loss.

The villain who attempted to do violence to Mrs. Gray Utly last night, was a white man of medium height, red face and whiskers; and he was dressed in a suit of homespun clothes. He wore a light hat. Look out for him.

In the United States District Court, yesterday, Judge Bryan presiding, Richard Norris & Son filed a petition to set up a lien against the Blue Ridge Railroad Company, and it was referred to Registrar J. C. Carpenter.

Chinamen are now raising rice near New Orleans. They are well acquainted with the culture of this crop, and hence can add to its productiveness.

OBITUARY.

Died, in Columbia, S. C., of diphtheria, on Tuesday, September 30, 1873, FRANK ALTON, son of F. W. and M. C. Wing, aged five years, ten months and ten days. The death of little Frank has left a vacancy in the family circle, where he was a general favorite. He possessed amiability of disposition in a marked degree for his age; was intelligent and obedient to all. His bereaved parents have the heart-felt sympathy of a very large circle of friends, but their true consolation is in the knowledge that he has gone to Him who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." In Memoriam.

At a special meeting of the Warden and Vestry of Trinity congregation, Columbia, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Our Heavenly Father has manifested His divine will—which is ever wise and unerring—in summoning hence our late lamented colleague, Dr. MAX (MILLIAN) LABORDE, from the scenes of his earthly labors and usefulness. No one could have passed away from us whose life and character were more entitled to our warmest admiration, and whose example was more deserving of our closest imitation. With virtues shining out in every department of religious, moral and social progress; with the uniform exhibition of an amiable heart, an inflexible integrity and an unvarying devotion to duty, he made himself, everywhere, beloved and esteemed; and none more extensively than he was valued and revered as a member of our community, and an ornament to society. He has gone down to the grave, amid the sympathies of our whole people, leaving behind him a name of great worth and of irrefragable honor. To the congregation of this church, and especially to us of the Vestry and Warden, he was much endeared by the practical evidence he afforded of the value of the church, and the carrying out of her holy teachings through his daily walk and conduct, and in the faithful and diligent administration for several years of the office of Chairman of our Board. We must long and sorely feel his loss in the absence of his judicious counsel and his active co-operation with us in the fulfillment of our work for the church, and can never think of him but with affectionate remembrance of his many kind and attractive qualities of mind and disposition, evinced in his intercourse with us, and as a pattern of religious excellence. But, while we mourn his departure, we are, at the same time, comforted by the conviction that he is now at rest from all subsidiary anxieties and cares, in the bosom of the church, and can never be separated from us, and that, from the church militant on earth, he has been translated to the church triumphant above, and to the company of the just made perfect in the Paradise of God. Be it, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Warden and Vestry of Trinity Church, bowing in humble submission to this bereaving dispensation, recognize the goodness and merciful kindness of an all-wise God for making known unto us, for more than thirty years, the earnest and devout labors of the deceased for the advancement of the church and the interests of its people.

Resolved, That we, the Warden and Vestry of Trinity congregation, and in their behalf, acknowledge our indebtedness to our late Senior Warden, Dr. M. Laborde, for the devotion, diligence and practical usefulness ever manifested in all that concerned the welfare of the church.

Resolved, That we do deeply sympathize with the bereaved family of the deceased, and feel the consciousness of the great loss sustained. And, whilst we bear mournful testimony to the worth of the upright man, our late Senior Warden, we trust that the spirit he exhibited may be with us, infusing in us new life and energy in the work of the church, and preparing us, through Christ, for our new and increased responsibilities.

Resolved, That, in token of our heart-felt sorrow and unfeigned condolence with the family of the deceased, a copy of the proceedings be sent to them by the Secretary.

Resolved, That those proceedings be recorded on the Minutes of the Vestry of this Parish.

Resolved, That the above preamble and resolutions be published.

A. B. TAYLOR, Chairman. E. H. HEINTZ, Secretary.

To Members of the Bar.

CITY MATTERS.—Subscribe for the PHOENIX.

Refreshments of all kinds—fluid and solid—at all hours, at the Pollock House. Until financial matters improve, purchase only what you need.

There were many persons on the street last night afflicted with the benzine distemper.

Persons indebted to the PHOENIX office are requested to call and settle, as money is needed. The cash rule will be strictly adhered to hereafter.

Fine's large Norfolk oysters, on the half shell, are all the rage. A half dozen is a good mess for an ordinary eater.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of Williamsburg Female College, on the 19th and 20th inst.

Pickpockets were busy on the Fair Grounds yesterday. One gentleman lost a fine gold watch and chain. Capt. Jackson subsequently arrested several suspicious parties.

Mr. G. A. Adams, color bearer of the Palmetto Sabre Club, of Edgefield, has left a beautiful wreath at Rawls' Music Store, one door below the PHOENIX office, for inspection. It was presented to the club by two Columbia ladies.

A young man had his arrior considerably dampened a day or two ago. He was blowing heavily on Bagon's horse, Frank Hampton, and offering to bet $50 on him against the field, when his father cut him short by saying, he couldn't do anything of the kind when cotton was only twelve cents a pound.

Mr. Lewis Bagar will open a dancing school in Columbia in a few days. Young ladies and gentlemen will make engagements at Rawls' Music Store. Mr. Bagar taught dancing at Barhamville, during the days of Dr. Marks, and will be well remembered by many of our old citizens.

NECESSARY ARTICLES FOR THE FAIR.—Messrs. E. E. Davies & Co. are prepared to supply hotels, restaurants and families with the best Norfolk oysters and fresh fish, received daily. They have also a large supply of turkeys, poultry and game, foreign and domestic fruits of all kinds. Oysters, fish and fruits a specialty. Orders delivered promptly. Just received a shipment of dressed poultry and partridges.

We had never seen the rendition of "New Magdalen," hence cannot speak by comparison, but unhesitatingly assert that the character of Mercy Murdock, essayed by Mrs. Watkins was true ideal acting, which would have made the great novelist himself believe, had he seen it, that Mercy herself stood before him. We quote from an exchange:

The plot conclusively shows that society is a living, breathing lie, and many a whitened sepulchre that would laugh to scorn the deep remorse and contrition of the poor Magdalen, is far worse in every attribute that makes deception keep up appearances "by assuming virtue if they have it not." It shows also that the cold charity of this wicked world has no sympathy for fallen woman, but man, vain man, can rise and fall as often as his depraved inclination determines, and shall be an honored member of society if he has the magic power of gold and assurance to back him. The piece is a sad commentary of man's inhumanity to fallen mortality, and teaches a moral of daily occurrence; therefore, in our opinion, worth twenty whang-doodle sermons, preached more for scientific display and rhetorical flourishes, than any purpose of virtuous enlightenment or charitable considerations for poor fallen humanity.

MR. VAN WINKLE—Harry Watkins will appear at Irwin's Hall, this evening, as Rip Van Winkle. We clip the following in reference to the play from a Raleigh paper:

The bare announcement that Rose and Harry Watkins appear this evening, in the above grand drama, is sufficient of itself to fill the hall, were it double its present size. When Washington Irving wrote his celebrated legend, he little dreamed that it would be known beyond the student's library, but the dramatist in search of novelty for the stage soon put the novelist's whimsical idea into dramatic form, and the actor's art, that art which embraces all arts, soon gave to Rip Van Winkle a new vitality, and made the sleepy hero a household word wherever the English language is spoken. The original impersonation of Rip was J. H. Hackett, who produced it at the Park Theatre, New York, about the year 1823, but his success not being a marked one, it remained for the late Charles Burke, a man of extraordinary histrionic genius, to demonstrate that the eccentric Rip Van Winkle could be elevated into a prominence second to no other character in the drama. Since Burke's decease, Mr. Joseph Jefferson, (a half brother,) has achieved both fame and fortune by confining himself solely to the performance of this one character, yet adhering closely to Mr. Burke's style, photographing, as it were, the admirable impersonation of his distinguished predecessor. The character has become a favorite one with comedians, but none have attempted it more successfully than Harry Watkins.

THE FAIR.—The grounds were literally crowded yesterday.

The gate receipts indicate nearly double the number of visitors, of any previous day. The premiums will be awarded to-day at 12 o'clock, when the Fair will close.

THE TREMAINE BROTHERS AND PIERSON.—Referring to the concert of the Tremaine Brothers and John G. Pierson, at Newbern, on Saturday night, the Times, of that city, says: "The concert at the theatre, last night, was a success of the first magnitude, and those who did not go, missed one of the richest treats that they could imagine in the musical line." The Tremaine's will give two entertainments in Parker's Hall, this (Friday) and Saturday evenings. The box sheet will be open at LyBrand's this morning, at 9 o'clock.

CORRECTION.—In our issue of yesterday, in speaking of the undecided contest between Logan's sorrel gelding and Langford's Spotted Tail, we erred by stating that Spotted Tail soon took the lead, and that the sorrel made several bad breaks and ran a portion of the way, and the judges awarded the heat and run to Spotted Tail. We inadvertently reversed the positions of the horses in the race. The sorrel took the lead at once, and gained several lengths on Spotted Tail. Spotted Tail then broke, overtook and passed the sorrel several lengths, on a run, before his driver pulled him down to a trot. He kept ahead by occasionally making a run all round the track, and consequently came in ahead of the sorrel. The rules of trotting require the judges to take off from the running horse, at the coming out, double the distance he may gain by the run. This being done, the heat and the race were given to the sorrel, and not to Spotted Tail. Out of the five heats trotted to decide the race, Spotted Tail put in several good runs in each heat; while the sorrel, in every heat awarded him, trotted fair and square, and when he broke, was pulled promptly to a trot by his driver. Mr. Charles Logan's sorrel is South Carolina raised.

THE RACES AND THE TILTING.—Although the attendance upon the races has been large, there was a visible increase yesterday—there was scarcely standing room on either of the stands. At 12 o'clock, the tilting by the Palmetto Sabre Club was commenced, and, for more than one hour, the crowds of spectators were delighted with the attempts—many of them successful—of the sabreurs to take off a head, catch a ring or make an impressionable downward stroke. In justice to the contestants, we must say that none of the posts were properly prepared, and that the crowd gathered so near that it was difficult to keep the horses from bolting. The following was the result of the tilt: First prize, third steward, John Adkins, who retains the white feather, the distinguishing mark of the highest score at the last public tournament. Second prize, first steward, Stephen L. Hughes. Third prize, color-bearer, George Adams.

The club return to Edgefield by this morning's train.

The following is the record of the racing:

The first race was a three-mile dash, which was won by Prussian—time 5.44. The entries were "Prussian," by F. H. Gant; "Lady Washington," by F. H. Gant; "Jalia Hinton," by H. Woods.

The second race was a three-quarter mile heat—best two in three—for which there were the following entries: L. C. Bulow, "Lone Star," Fludd & Cash, "Rutledge," R. Franklin, "John Kendrick." There was a false start, and the horses were recalled. Lone Star and Kendrick were withdrawn—the latter having broken a blood vessel, while Rutledge galloped around the course. The judges decided that Rutledge had won the purse, but that bets were off between the other horses.

The next was a trotting match, three-fourths of a mile—best three in five. The entries were Mr. Rannell's, "Goshen Maid;" Mr. Daly's, "Cassian," and Mr. Langford's "Spotted Tail." The three heats were won by Goshen Maid—time 2.06, 1.59 and 2.00. Cassian distanced.

This was followed by a foot race of three-quarters of a mile. Entrees—O'Hara and Breckley—the former being the winner in 7.35. O'Hara came in on a brisk walk, and apparently not fatigued, while his competitor was considerably the worse for wear.

A race of 600 yards was the next feature, between Trebble's roan and Saunders' bay—the latter the winner.

The following is the programme for to-day:

FIRST RACE—Open to all—1¼ mile dash; 100 pounds up; $200 to winner; for which there was only one entry—Frank Hampton, T. G. Bacon.

SECOND RACE—Consolation purse, for beaten horses only—1¼ mile dash; $100 for first horse; $50 for second horse. Entries—Jim Hinton, H. Woods; Girl of My Heart, Fludd & Cash; Lady Washington, John H. Gant.

THIRD RACE—¾ mile, best two in three—trotting horses who have never beat three minutes; $100 to first horse; $15 to second. Entries—Sorrel horse Jupiter, C. Logan; Cassian, Owen Daly; sorrel colt, C. Logan; sorrel gelding Billy, John Agnew, Sr.; Spotted Tail, H. Langford.

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.—We are informed that all unsold tickets to the fourth concert of this enterprise, in the hands of agents, will be returned on 25th instant. Remember this, and form your clubs and secure tickets while they can be had. N2+13

As applicable to the time and occasion, our State Fair being now at hand, we publish in our columns, this morning, "The Farmer's Song;" the words and music of which a recently took the first premium awarded by a committee appointed by the National Grange at Georgetown, D. C., of which O. H. Kelly is Secretary. This latter gentleman has got out the song in handsome style; the frontispiece having the photograph of our active and useful agricultural friend, Col. D. Wyatt Aiken, on it, and below it four small pictures, marking the four first degrees in the order of the now celebrated Patrons of Husbandry, an order which is now steadily making its way, and gaining a remarkable ascendancy in many Southern and Western States.
