"Væ Victis."

Nothe present excited state of the advertising mania, we scarcely know how to address our friends. "Unprecedented Rushes," "Enormous Increase of Biz," advaptandum cigar puffs, a liberal profusion of superlatives, together with the quietly-whispered-in-your-ear assurance that it is astonishing how the young men stand up to the grave demands upon their physical endurance—really have left our modest style in the shade. We have, however, no desire or love for the sensational. "Water always finds its level," and purchasers of 10 cent hams and cooking butter vamped under the name of "Gilt Edge," soon find their way back to where good goods only are kept; and where no promises are made which are not meant to be performed. Our stock is full, our business fair, (not unprecedented,) terms are cash, and our goods are up to the standard we have always maintained. We can promise no more. Verbum sap.
