De Mortuis.
This friend now—a month or so only Ago, and you smiled in his smile; And when he grew weary or lonely, You jested, to cheer him the while. He prized the sweet solace you proffered, When for gloom you gave laughter instead; You are glad of the gift that you offered, Because—he is dead.

And because he is dead, shall we gather The humanest relics there be, (All tenderer, dearer, the rather) And pile up a Pagan stuttee? Shall we speak of him, brows bending lowly? Shall we whisper his name under breath? Is not life, in its living, as holy And solemn as death?

As death. What is death but the ending Of all that the mortal can claim? The drop of the mantle descending From the soul's mounting chariot of flame! Who wept for the prophet when guerdon So grand was requiring all loss? Only grief for the lost, with the Jordan Of trial to cross!

Ah! surely the angels, who love us, Must yearn with an ache of desire To point us the pathway above us, Still bright with the trail of the fire—Must burn with compassion to urge us, As hopeless we gaze on the tide, To smite, till the faith-smitten surges Of doubt shall divide.

So speak of our friend, who is walking In his choicest garments of white, With the calm that would mellow your talking. If he sat in your presence to-night; Yea, name him with gladder elation, With prouder contentment—and shroud No brightness from out the narration, Because he is dead!

Mr. Sackville Gwynne, known in Liverpool, England, as the "gentleman cab driver," is dead. He was the son of Col. Gwynne, of Carmarthenhire, where his family possessed valuable estates. Some years ago, to end some harassing difficulty with his family, Mr. Gwynne became a "whip," and continued in that capacity almost until the day of his death.

VALUABLE IS THE WORLD'S AWARD!
As shown by sales—proved by sworn returns to the owners of the principal Sewing Machine Patents—which last year amounted to 219,735 Machines, nine out of ten of them being for family use. This is over 45,000 more Sewing Machines than were sold by any other company during the same period, and over one-quarter of all the Machines sold in 1872. These enormous sales are owing to the long-tested merits of the SINGER Machine, which meet the wants of the public in superiority and simplicity of construction, and capability for great variety and excellence of work.

Flour Made by the New Process.

STOVALL & HULL,
Proprietors of
Stovall's Excelsior Mills,
253 BROAD STREET, AUGUSTA, GA.

AMONG late improvements in the manufacture of FLOUR, by far the most important is the recently-discovered method of PURIFYING MIDDLINGS. This wonderful invention is destined to revolutionize the entire Milling system in this country. By it a more thorough separation is effected between the outer husk and the farinaceous portion of the grain, and a Flour is produced of greater and more uniform purity and sweetness than can be made in the old style, and with no increase in cost. We have, at heavy expense, introduced this NEW PROCESS into our Mill, and are prepared to offer Flour greatly improved in color and quality over corresponding grades made in the usual method.

Liberal deductions made on car-load lots. Aug 29 3mo
