The Two Glasses. BY ELLA WHERLER.

There est two glasses, filled to the brim, On a rich man's table, rim to rim, One was ruddy, and red as blood, And one was clear as the crystal flood. Said the glass of wine to his paler brother:

"Let us tell tales of the past to each I can tell of banquet, and revel, and

And the proudest and grandest souls on earth

Fell under my touch, as though struck with blight,
Where I was king, for I ruled in might.
From the heads of kings I have torn

From the heights of fame I have hurled men down, I have blasted many an honored name, I have taken virtue and given shame, I have tempted the youth with a sip, a taste, That has made his future a barren waste.

Far greater than any king am I, Or than any army beneath the sky.

I have made the arm of the driver fail,
And sent the train from the iron rail, I have made good ships go down at sea, And 'the shricks of the lost were sweet to me:

For they said: Behold how great you Fame, strength, wealth, genius, before you fall,

And your might and power are over all.'
Ho! ho! pale brother, laughed the wine,
Can you boast of deeds as great as

Said the water glass: "I cannot boast Of king dethroned or a murdered host; But I can tell of hearts that once were

But my crystal drops made light and Of thirsts I've quenched and brows I've laved: hands I've cooled, and souls I've Saved.

I have leaped through the valley, dashed down the mountain; Slept in the sun-shine, and dripped from the fountain;

I have burst my cloud fetters, and dropped from the sky.

And everythere gladdened the land-seapers they.

I have eased the hot forehead of fever

I have made the parched meadows grow fertile with grain; I can tell of the powerful wheel of the

That ground out the flour and turned at my will; I can tell of manhood debased by you, That I have lifted and crowned anew. I cheer, I help, I strengthen and aid, I gladden the heart of man and maid; I set the chained wine-captive free, And all are better for knowing me."

These are the tales they told each other. The glass of wine and its paler brother, As they sat together, filled to the brim, On the rich man's table, rim to rim.

An exchange says that "a Chicago murderer, who was to have been hanged the other day, was reprieved for one week, to allow him to 'get religion.'" What a mockery! Why, it would take a man forty years to pick up enough religion in Chicago to save an ordinary Christian, much less a murderer.
