My Choice.
Yes, I know there are stains on my carpet,
The traces of small muddy boots,
And I see your fair tapestry glowing,
All spotted, with blossoms and fruits;
And I know that my walls are disfigured
With prints of small fingers and hands;
And I see your own household whiteness
All fresh in its purity stands.
Yes, I know my "black walnut" is battered
And dented by many small heels;
While your own polished stairway, all perfect,
Its smooth, shining surface reveals;
And I know that my parlor is littered
With many odd treasures and toys,
While your own is in daintiest order,
Unharmful by the presence of boys.
And I know that my room is invaded
Quite boldly, all hours of the day,
While you sit in your own unmolested,
And dream soft quiet away.
Yes, I know that I have jackets that wear out,
And buttons that never will stay,
While you can embroider at leisure,
And learn pretty arts of "crochet."
And I know there are lessons of spelling,
Which I must be patient to hear,
While you may sit down to your novel,
Or turn the last magazine near;
Yes, I know there are four little bed-sides,
Where I must stand watchful each night,
While you go out in your carriage,
And flash in your dresses so bright.
Now, I think I'm a neat little woman,
I like my house orderly, too,
And I'm fond of all dainty belongings;
Yet I would not change places with you!
No! keep your fair home, with its order,
Its freedom from trouble and noise,
And keep your own fanciful leisure—
But give me my four splendid boys!

A new method of preparing coffee is becoming popular in France. After roasting, the coffee is ground to a very fine flour, which is then slightly moistened, mixed with twice its weight of powdered sugar and pressed into tablets. Coffee prepared in this manner is claimed, pound for pound, to be susceptible of far more complete utilization.

A GIRL LEAPS TEN FEET.—A Boston servant girl who thought she heard a burglar in the house, jumped from a window across an alley more than ten feet wide into a window of another building, the other night, and there was no burlap round, after all.

There are in England and Wales two churches with only two members each, one with three, three with five, eight with six, eighteen with ten, and 160 numbering from eleven to twenty each. One church of ten boasts of nine lay preachers.

An old lady, hearing some one reading about a Congressman-at-large, rushed to the kitchen door, shouting: "Sarah Jane, Sarah Jane, don't you leave the clothes out all night; mind, I tell you; there is a Congressman at large!"

A cremationist asks, wouldn't it be pleasant to receive a despatch something like this, some day:
DEAR MOTHER—William died at noon to-day. Ashes by mail. Yours in sorrow,
JOHN SMITH.

A Troy editor who wished to express his pleasure at the nomination of Mr. Wallace for United States Judge, wrote, "Bah for Wallace!" His countenance fell on reading, "Bah for Wallace!"

A Maine debating society is now wrestling with the question: "Is a Sabbath school superintendent justified in wearing a red neck-tie?"

A son has just shot his father in Missouri, a nephew his uncle in Texas, and a brother his sister in Maine, and yet there is more joy over the birth of one boy-baby than ninety-nine girls!

Seegers' vs. Cincinnati Beer.
THE Cincinnati Gazette makes the astonishing announcement that Cincinnati beer is no longer pure, but adulterated with molasses, sugar of starch, and other poisonous elements. The Commissioner of Agriculture, in his report for 1865, says that Prof. Mapes, of New York, analyzed the beer from a dozen different breweries, and found all of it adulterated. Cocculus Indicus and nuxvomica entered largely into its composition.

J. C. SFEEDERS guarantees his beer to be pure and reliable. He does not adulterate it, but brews from the best barley, malt and hops.
