COLUMBIA, S. C.

Wednes lay Morning, Nov. 11, 1874.

The Rebuke of Rampant Radicalism country are engaged in the edifying task of accounting for the tremendous defeats which their party has encountered in so many States. The explatrations are such generally as not to militate against the principles they profess, not in the judgment of many of them to threaten their continued predominance in American politics. The New York Times, to which we owe some good lessons and staunch advice given to those in the South who profees the same doctrine, and some earnset words of pport to the true interests of the people, regards the disaster which has befallen its side as Dancan, Union. Starke, Richiand and S home attributes the result to a struggle of the elements inside the Republican party to throw off the incubus of the cancus, and the corruption of certain leaders, who have made politics a trade. And so they go on, in one way and another, trying to account in the most soothing way for the flow of the great tidal wave which has swept them from power. It would be cruel to deny them the poor consolation which they pick up out of the debris of their calamity. It does not matter much how many crumbs of comfort they may gather, so the vic- B. C.
