THE VIRGINIA DEBT—CONFERENCE OF THE BOND-HOLDERS.—The Governor and Treasurer of Virginia met the bond holders of that State in conference in Richmond, on Tuesday, as announced by telegraph. The amount of bonds represented by actual holders of authorized proxies is not definitely ascertained. Mr. Hugh McCulloch, representative of the British bondholders' council, did not claim to have power to do anything to bind his principles. The Dispatch says: "Governor Kemper read to the conference a long communication. It showed that Governor Walker, in his messages previous to the adoption of the funding bill, had misstated the condition and resources of the State, and misled bond-holders. It also gave his (Governor Kemper's) views of the State's present financial condition, which were not cheering.

"The committee appointed to consider Governor Kemper's address on the financial condition of the State reported a resolution, which was adopted, recommending the State to provide, by appropriate legislation, by permanently setting apart a specific portion of its accruing revenue for the prompt payment of two per cent. interest semi-annually at London, New York and Baltimore, and the Treasury of the State, and the issue of certificates for the unpaid interest, payable at the pleasure of the State at any time within ten years; and if not paid within ten years, then such certificates ought to be fundable in four per cent. bonds; that the State ought to resume payment at full six per cent. interest at the earliest practicable moment."

The Dispatch adds: "It is stated that the agent of responsible English capitalists was in the city with a proposition to fund the entire debt of Virginia in four per cent. bonds, having ten years to run, or in five per cent. bonds, having twenty years to run. It is required that the interest shall be invariably guaranteed to be paid in London, New York and Richmond."

Wilkins Micawber Jones is of a statistical turn of mind. It occurred to Jones, the other day, that Mary is a very common name, and, after careful study, he hit upon an original plan for ascertaining the proportionate number of women bearing it. This plan was to station himself at an advantageous position on one of our thoroughfares, address by that name every woman who passed in an hour, and then compare the number who answered to the name with the whole number passing. Nothing could be simpler, thought Wilkins, and accordingly he began his experiment the other evening just as the theatre-going tide was flowing along the street. First came two demure-looking damsels, "timid and stopping fast." Jones let them get by and then called out, suddenly, "Mary!"

But the young women only hurried a little faster, and the ingenious Wilkins put down two marks on the right side of his tally paper. Just as he lifted his eyes, he saw a lady with an escort just in front of him, and blurted out, "Good evening, Mary!" Greatly to Jones' astonishment, the gentleman, and not the lady, responded; and these are what Jones saw: * * * He concluded to give up the experiment, because there were too many risks about it—especially aste risks. THE VICE-PRESIDENT ON THE ELECTION.—Vice-President Wilson gives the New York Tribune his views on the Republican defeat, and says the result shows the necessity for a liberal and magnanimous policy. With statesmen for Republican leaders, he believes the party will recover itself two years hence. He believes the Democrats will, by their blundering policy, contribute to that end. As to the cause of the late defeat, he said thousands of Republicans did not vote or voted against the party to check some of its tendencies, and if the party adopt a prudent, liberal and lofty course it will sweep the country again. Among the other causes were the dissatisfaction of the unemployed, who had lost work from the effects of the panic; the burden of the Louisiana matter, (and he didn't think either party right in Louisiana,) and the third term question. He does not believe a third term candidate could carry any of the Northern and but few of the Southern States.

We are sorry to learn that a Germ in chemist has succeeded in making a first-rate brandy out of sawdust. We are a friend of the temperance movement, and we want it to succeed; but what chances will it have when a man can take a rip-saw and go out and get drunk with a fence rail? What is the use of a prohibitory liquor law if a man is able to make brandy smashes out of the shingles of his roof, or if he can get delirium tremens by drinking the legs of his kitchen chairs? You may shut an inebriate out of a gin shop, and keep him away from taverns, but if he can become uproarious on boiled sawdust and desecrated window-sills any effort at reform must necessarily be a failure. It will be wise, therefore, if temperance societies will butcher the German chemist before he goes any further.

A Milwaukee man is bent on going to sea. He has been reading the Enoch Arden class of stories till his soul is fired with an ambition to be wrecked and come home and find his wife married to some other fellow.

There is a good story current of an Englishman in France, who, a short time ago, became hopelessly enamored with an actress. She reminded him very quickly that her weakness was for a set of diamonds, to be seen in the Rue de la Paix. Off they started to the jeweler; the price was 20,000. The gentleman remarked to the siren that was too dear; so they retired, he promising to buy it for 14,000 francs. Later, the actress called on the jeweler, avowed she wished the set, and would pay the difference, 6,000 francs, on condition that the gentleman be allowed to have it at his own price. It was agreed to. Next day the Englishman called, and after the usual farce on the part of the shopman, the set of diamonds were delivered to him for the 14,000 francs. On his way to his hotel he met a friend, and related his good luck, &c. The friend laughed at his folly, and related his own repentance, and never left him till he saw him off to London, with the jewels as a present for his wife. The tradesman has since presented his little bill of 6,000 francs to the actress.

EIGHT CHILDREN NEARLY KILLED BY GAS FROM A STOVE.—On Monday morning, before daylight, J. A. Dunst, residing on Easton avenue, New Brunswick, N. J., was awakened by hearing one of his daughters fall from her bed to the floor in the room above that in which he was sleeping, and on going up stairs, found that eight children, all of whom slept in rooms connecting with each other, were unconscious from the effects of coal gas escaping from a stove in one of the rooms. Had not one of them had strength enough to attempt to get up, and in the attempt fallen on the floor, awakening her father, probably the entire eight would have been dead before daylight. Dr. English was called, and pronounced all of them probably out of danger, though the effects did not pass off immediately, and some of them were seriously ill.

FAILURE OF A GOVERNMENT ENVELOPE CONTRACTOR.—Financial and commercial circles in New York were somewhat excited on Tuesday by hearing that Geo. H. Reay, the largest envelope maker in that city, and possibly in the country, had failed. They had just completed a contract with the Government, and were superseded by the Plimpton Company. The suspension throws some 350 persons out of employment. Mr. Reay's liabilities are estimated at from $200,000 to $250,000. The assets are $150,000 worth of machinery. Mr. Reay expresses dissatisfaction with the preference of the Postmaster-General in awarding the contract to the Plimpton Company, and, although his bid was $11,000 more, claims that the difference in advantages more than offsets that.

NOT PARTISAN.—The Boston News congratulates the citizens of Massachusetts on the excellent character of the Democrats sent to represent them in Congress, and predicts that they will not act as partisans. The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, referring to the election of Mr. Frost, Republican, in the 4th Massachusetts Congressional District, by one vote, ironically remarks that "if it were last year instead of this, and Mr. Frost were a Democratic Congressman from Louisiana instead of a Republican Congressman from Massachusetts, he would be unseated. As it is, he is probably all right."

FIRE IN FAIR PLAY.—We regret to learn that a destructive fire occurred at Fair Play, in this County, on the night of the 31st ult. The store of Mr. L. L. Jarrard was burned. His loss is $1,000 to $1,500. The Masons and Grangers lost their hall, regalia and furniture. The building belonged to Mr. Dean, and is a total loss. The carriage repository of Messrs. Reed & Stephens, the shop of Dr. McCurry, and a building occupied by Mr. R. E. Mason, were burned. The total loss is between $2,000 and $3,000. The fire was the result of accident. [Knoxville Courier.]

The Greensboro (N. C.) State says that several of the counterfeiters were tried at Asheville, last week, and convicted. Among them was Dr. Blackburne, who pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the Albany Penitentiary. This is the same man who jumped out of the car window between Greensboro and Charlotte, trying to escape from the custody of the Deputy Marshals having him in charge. That leap broke his leg. After that, he escaped from the Asheville jail, but was recaptured. John L. Crane was sent for two years to the penitentiary.

A Mississippi local editor says: "Once more the Anglo Saxon walks erect, his eye proudly beaming with the glad light of triumph, and his breast heaving with the undying spirit of freedom. Once more the children of the conqueror and the descendants of Alfred and Edward glory in their ancestry and fling the standards of white supremacy to the fragrant breezes of the Southland, and the shouts of the victorious and unconquerable Caucasian ascend in a grand diapason to the eternal throne of liberty."

You may brag as you please of the red, red rose. But redder, by far, is an Omaha nose. Red is the sun, as you may suppose, When down to the misty horizon he goes; Red is the peony in spring-time that blows; Red is the sumac that shines through the snows; Red is the cherry in sunlight that grows; Red is the ruby that sparkles and glows; And many things red, as every one knows, Are sung of in rhyme and talked of in prose; But richer, and redder, and riper than those Is a beautiful, blossomy Omaha nose.

CABIN PASSAGE TO EUROPE REDUCED.—The State line of steamships between New York and Liverpool have made a general reduction of their rates of passage, the first cabin passage being reduced from $70 to $60, the second cabin from $50 to $40, and the steerage to $15. The trans-Atlantic lines are all selling tickets to Europe at low rates. The fast lines charge from $17 to $20, and the slow lines from $15 to $17.

The Chicago Tribune makes a classification of the members elect to Congress so far, from which it appears that 170 are new and 105 old members. Of the old members retired, 50 declined a renomination, 63 were beaten in the party nominating convention, and 52 were defeated before the people after they had been renominated. It is seldom that so many old members are retired at a time.

Thomas Jefferson for President in 1803, Marcus Morton for Governor in 1839 and Wm. Gaston in 1874, are the only Democrats that ever carried the State of Massachusetts. It is curious to note the gap in each case was exactly thirty-five years. We, therefore, predict for the benefit of posterity that the old Bay State will again go Democratic Anno Domino 1909.

A young lady in a Pennsylvania town experienced a great sensation in the upper part of her nose a few days ago.
