A COLORED DIPLOMATIST. -The representatives of the United States to the two principal countries Inhabited and governed entirely by the colored race, are themselves colored men, and both these colored diplomatists are at present sojourning in Philadelphia on present sojourning in Philadelphia on leave of absence from their posts. They are Ebenezer D Bassett, a former resident of Philadelphia, who has been Minister resident and Consul-General to Hayti since 1869, and James Milton Turner, of St. Louis, who has been Minister resident and Consul-General to Liberia since February 1871. to Liberia since February, 1871. Mr. Turner, the latest arrival, reached, Philadelphia on Wednesday, and has rooms at the Continental Hotel. He has had quite a checkered career, having been a slave in St. Louis County, Mo., before the war.

The Philadelphia Chronicle publishes the subtance of Gen. Gordon's remarks at the late glorification at Atlanta, Ga., over the Democratic victory, and adds: "Unless faith in human na-ture is to be abandoned, what other conclusion can be reached than that the people of the South are fully prepared to do their part toward the re-storation of national peace and pros-perity. Such statements do not savor of Ka Klux, or of outrage upon the rights of the negro. It would be well for some of our rabid contemporaries to imitate their spirit, and thus assist in allaying strife instead of promoting it, as they are now carnestly endeavor

A simple accident, near Rutland, A simple accident, near Rutland, Vt., had a remarkable semblance to murder. Mrs. McGuire, a farm-wife, took a load of butter to the village, sold it for forty dollars, and started alone to drive home. Afterward she was found lying dead on the floor of her carriage, with her head terribly bruised and her money gone. The theory of robbery and murder found ready credence. Later, the truth explained it all. She had died of heart disease, and had fallen on the wheel of disease, and had fallen on the wheel of the carriage, which had made the bruises, and the money had been spent in paying bills in the village.

A FATAL THANKSGIVING DAY ACCI-DENT.—A crowd of men in fantastic dress paraded the streets in Hoboken, New Jersey, on Thursday, and white passing, a small cannon was brought out and several salutes were fired. A number of children amused themselves by running in front of the cannon and were ordered away. John Sweeny, aged fourteen, ran before the cannon just as it was fired, and his right leg was blown off. He died that evening.
