

THE DAILY PHOENIX.

"Let our Just Censure Attend the True Event."

BY J. A. SELBY. COLUMBIA, S. C., SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 14, 1875. VOL. X—NO. 305.

A New York... taken advantage of the presence of the newly-elected Senators in Washington, to obtain from them their views upon the important political questions of the day. A number of them were inclined to be reticent, while others were talkative and outspoken. It is a significant fact, that all the new Senators express themselves as unalterably opposed to extreme measures in the government of the South, believing rather in a policy which will encourage industry and establish prosperity in that section: Senators Cameron, of Wisconsin; Paddock, of Nebraska; and Christiancy, of Michigan, were emphatic on these questions, the latter gentleman saying that he was opposed to any legislation for Louisiana which might not be applied to Michigan. Senator Withers, of Virginia, regards the Civil Rights Bill as a measure of no benefit at all to the colored race, and likely to increase antagonism between the whites and blacks. The force bill he also regards as an unequivocal indication of a purpose on the part of Grant and the extremists of the Republican party to control the election in the Southern States, so as to secure their votes in 1876 for Gen. Grant. Senators Kernan, of New York; Eaton, of Connecticut; and McDougal, of Indiana, are still strong in their convictions of the right of the Democratic party to promote peace and prosperity in all sections of the country. All favor the early resumption of specie payments, and declare their intention not to countenance inflation in any form. In regard to the political outlook, the Democratic Senators think it is not yet time to predict what will take place, or speculate as to who will be the nominee of the next Democratic National Convention. Everything looked bright for Democracy success next year, and they did not doubt that wisdom would guide the friends of the party, and prudently enable them to garner the fruits of their industry and patience.

THE INEVITABLE BUTLER.—The death of Representative Buffington, of Massachusetts, leaves a vacancy to be filled by a new election prior to the meeting of the next Congress. It is thought that Gen. Butler will pop up again at Washington through Buffington's exit. Apropos of this, the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun thus speaks: "A few days before the adjournment of Congress, Gen. Butler, who was displeased by the conservative course of his colleague on the force bill and other partisan measures, went over to his seat and said: 'But, if you don't behave yourself, I will move over in your District and beat you.' This remark was half in joke and half in earnest. Mr. Buffington regarded it as more of the latter, and spoke to several friends about it, not forgetting that Gen. Butler was not a resident of the Essex District when first elected to represent it in Congress. To-day, his remark, even if meant as a joke, at the time, will now probably be realized in a way not then anticipated. They say that he will now move over to the Fall River District and endeavor to secure the nomination. The same correspondent verifies the fact that in the Greeley campaign of 1872, Mr. S. S. Cox, of New York, who ran for Congress at large on the Democratic ticket, was defeated. Then when Mr. James Brooks died, Mr. Cox was elected in his stead. The first bill that Gen. Butler had with Mr. Cox after this he taunted him with standing in the shoes of a dead man. It would be somewhat of a coincidence if Mr. Cox should be able to retort in kind next winter.

There are indications of some revival of business among cotton manufacturers in New England and iron manufacturers in Pennsylvania and elsewhere, with anticipations of improving prospects as the season advances. There are many works, however, still idle, owing mainly to strikes to prevent increase of operations and decrease of wages. One drawback in some quarters, too, is owing to want of coal caused by coal miners' strikes, while the freshets and ice in some sections are preventing a resumption of work. The woolen mills in the North are not very active. There is much encouragement, nevertheless, in the prospect that, as the season advances and travel and communication become regular, with an adjustment of the strikes to their workings, with a return to full employment, can have the means to purchase more freely the necessities of life, a substantial revival of all industries may be established.

Merrivale's Case.—A singular incident is related by the local press of Washington City, that "W. L. Providence had been of the assembled wisdom of the Supreme Court, and other decisions of these meditative birds suddenly appeared in their midst. It came down the chimney and perched itself at the feet of the Chief Justice without any regard, and there it sat all day, blinking, looking, and generally listening to the proceedings, and stopping occasionally to utter a few words, which were not understood by the court. It was immediately stopped up the first place and put up a notice. No outside visits were permitted in the Supreme Court chambers."

John W. Long, for five years past Judge of the District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, and acting United States Circuit Judge, died very suddenly, last night, aged fifty-five years.

A fire in Blackshear, Ga., yesterday morning, destroyed the Court House and several stores and dwellings. Heavy loss; small insurance.

Mr. A. V. Sullivan, of High Point, N. C., committed suicide, a few days ago—a pistol and an ounce of laudanum.

Minister Schenck requests his recall from St. James, on account of pressing private business.

Dr. A. P. Cater, an old and highly respected citizen of Anderson, died a few days ago.
