

"Let our Just Censures"

Attend the True Event."

BY JULIAN A. SELBY.

COLUMBIA, S. C., FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 26, 1875.

VOLUME XI—NUMBER 5.

CRIME IN NEW YORK.—The New York Express has an admirable condensation of the first annual report of the Board of Police Justices, embracing the time between November 12, 1873, and October 31, 1874; and from this record we get a very excellent idea of the detected crime that stalks gigantically abroad in the Northern metropolis. Before the Police Courts of New York city, during the time above specified, 84,821 prisoners were arraigned, of whom 60,213 were males and 24,608 females. Of this host of criminals 35,565 were discharged, either on account of police blunders or failure of parties aggrieved to prosecute. Eliminating the element discharged, the startling truth is revealed, that of the 49,257 held to answer, 16,845 were females, the larger number of whom were arrested for crimes against temperance and decency. To the fall spirit of intoxication must be attributed more than half the causes of sin and punishment, the list of "drunk and disorderly" being 27,208 males and 18,574 females. This statement only includes those drunkards who "violated public decency," and does not embrace the thousands who get drunk and contrive to keep free from a row and out of the gutter. It is shown that 71 per cent. of crime in New York city can be directly traced to the abuse of spirituous liquors.

The great lock-out in South Wales is now in the third month of its progress, and both sides are represented as firm as ever. The English papers come freighted with stories of distress in the mining districts. Thousands are on the verge of starvation, but are just saved from it by the contributions of trades unions all over the Kingdom. When these fail there will be a terrible state of things. The London Illustrated News gives a foretaste of what is to happen, in a painful illustration of scenes about a pawnbroker's shop in Merthyr. A hundred men, women and children are jostling each other in the attempt to get into the shop and pledge their effects. They carry the family pots, kettles, washstands, feather beds, crockery, cooking utensils and other articles of domestic use, down to the humblest. And still the men refuse all terms of compromise. They have rejected the offers of the clergy and all overtures looking to arbitration. Some of the men, it is said, would be happy to stop the quarrel, but they fear punishment from the more furious of their associates in the union. The proprietors even show more signs of firmness, and it is believed they will carry their point, which demands a reduction from the rate of wages forced upon them by former strikes.

Mr. Rosenthal, the celebrated French chess-player, recently played at the Palais Royal, twenty-seven games of chess at once with that number of the best French and foreign players. It stipulated that Mr. Rosenthal should have only one minute for each move, passing along the twenty-seven tables in order. Of course, each of his antagonists had time to study the game while Mr. Rosenthal was busy at the other twenty-six tables. The contest lasted from 9 o'clock at night till 2 o'clock in the morning. The result was marvellous. Mr. Rosenthal won 23 games, three were drawn, and he lost one, which was gained by a Hungarian player named Rakowski.

A Deputy Marshal of Asheville, N. C., while searching for illicit distilleries in Yancey County, came across one superintended by a woman, who stoutly resisted the officer in levying on the contraband property. She denounced the revenue laws as oppressive and the tax as a fraud. The officer attempted to reason the matter with her, by stating that the distilleries consumed what little was raised in the country, and thereby snatched the bread from the mouths of starving women and children. "Sir," exclaimed the she-boss of the boiling cauldron, "bread may be the staff of life, but whiskey is life itself." This was a stunner, but her life-preserver was destroyed.

In Spain, rooms are not warmed by stoves or fire-places, as there are not brains enough in that country to understand these contrivances. They use braziers' brass dishes full of coals, and all the gas remains in the room. Alfonso's room was warmed this way at Avila, and His Majesty was partly asphyxiated, but recovered.

"No, Joe, no," said a man of principle and compassion, as with his teeth chattering, he leaned against the bar; "no hot Scotch for me, I couldn't swallow it while hundreds of wretched people are freezing at this moment. Give me a whiskey sour and plenty of ice. God pity the poor!"

"Thou art so near and yet so far," is what a young man, who attended a hop a few nights ago, mentally remarked to his bottle of fire-water which lay concealed in a bush. He was strolling up and down the walk with a young lady, at the time.

The papers tell of one Katharine McCall, who lost her speech forty years ago and last week recovered it. And now won't there be some talking in that house? Just think of a woman being forty years behind on talk!

INDUCEMENT FOR A WIDOW TO MARRY.—The will of Benjamin F. Beekman, of New York city, which has just been probated, gives the widow the interest on $10,000 while she is his widow and the entire $10,000 if she marries again.

Hepworth Dixon talks about the fascination of Niagara in impelling women to suicide. A knowledge of this fact would seem likely to make Niagara popular with husbands, not so much for wedding trips as wedding anniversaries.

"How charmingly naive she is," said a young beau to a crusty old gentleman. "Knavel!" exclaimed the latter, gazing through his spectacles toward the coquettish beauty indicated. "I should say more of a fool."

At Zinnwaid, in Germany, a widow of 103 has just married a man of sixty. One of the bride's children, aged eighty, was present at the wedding.

Since that young woman died in Canada from the effects of sleeping in corsets, the girls can't determine whether to abandon sleep or corsets.

A Cleveland man puts waste paper into his letters so as to make them weigh all that will pass for three cents. He does this for revenge on Uncle Sam.

Sambo will please bear in mind that though he can now stop at the hotel with the white folks, the law in regard to chicken stealing remains unchanged.

From all recent accounts of life in Florida, the abbreviation Fla. would be more significant with the insertion of the vowel E.

A Chicago paper reverently calls its public servants "the city daddies."

New Bedford has but one whaler left—a schoolmaster.

The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels, in general, constive, sometimes alternating with lax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with something of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved.
