

THE PHOENIX,

Editor and Proprietor,

An obliging gentleman, who thinks that personal favors do not cost much, while they make friends, was applied to by a colored man for a certificate of character by which he might get a situation. The testimonial proved to be more complimentary than Scipio himself had expected; and that worthy, on recovering from his astonishment, exclaimed: "Say, Mr.—, won't you gib me something to do yourself on dat recommendation?"

A gentleman was endeavoring to enjoy an evening in company of a young lady upon whom he called, but found a serious obstacle in the person of a stern father, who at length very plainly intimated that the hour for retiring had arrived. "I think you are correct, my dear sir," returned the unabashed young man. "We have been waiting to have you go to bed for over an hour."

It is astonishing how much more a man who is not a journalist knows about journalism than one who has labored years at the work. He will confess his inability to knock a box together without some sort of an apprenticeship, but he will undertake a double-headed leader with a serene confidence which the regularly apprenticed journalist never knows.

A slate-pencil was lately extracted from an Indianapolis lawyer's ear, after having nestled in his head for seventeen years. The slate has not been found yet, but it is barely possible that the man lost the pencil while doing a sum in his head.

He blushed fiery red, her heart went pit-a-pat; she gently hung her head, and looked down at the mat. He trembled in his speech; he rose from where he sat, and shouted with a screech, "You're sitting on my hat!"

We are authoritatively informed that bustles are coming in fashion again. [Old newspapers for sale at this office at 50 cents a hundred.]

"No have, how can?" said a Los Angeles Chinaman, when asked to pay a debt.

If you can't get a good education and a white plug hat, get the hat.
