June 17, 1875:

To the Hon. E. P. Smith: I have discovered gold in small quantities on the North bend of Castle Creek, in terraces or bars of quartz gravel. Arrived here yesterday. About fifteen miners have located camp on the creek above here, and have commenced working. Gold is found from Castle Creek Southward to French Creek at this paint and the defound from Castle Creek Southward to French Creek at this point, and the deposits are almost wholly in Cacotah. The region has not been fully explored, but the yield of gold thus far has been quite small, and the reports of the richness of the gravel bars are greatly exaggerated. On French Creek the deposits of gravel are very unfavorably situated, the water supply is small and failing, and the grade too little to admit of the tailings being carried off by the stream. The prospect at present is not such as to warrant extended explorations in mining.

New York, June 24.—The steamship

Cucuta and all the surrounding villages within the radius of twenty miles were completely destroyed by the severity of the shock. Many serious losses of life and property were also occasioned by the rain and by bands of robbers, who organized immediately after the shock had passed away, for the purpose of plundering. The custom house and coffee warehouses, situated in Los Cachos, were first attacked by the macoffee warehouses, situated in Los Cachos, were first attacked by the marauders, but they were driven off before any serious damage had been done by them, and forces have been organized in most of the neighboring cities and towns and sent to the scene of the disorder, for the purpose of protecting the lives and property of those who had escaped the effects of the shock.

The Indian Bureau does not credit the report that all the Sioux are on the war-path. They believe that neither Spotted Tail's or Red Cloud's men are engaged in any warlike demonstrations, and feel confident that if any Sioux are mixed up with the lawless movements, that it is only a few roaming raiders, who are not under the control of those chiefs, and it would hardly be fair to hold the Sioux, as a nation, responsible for any raids or depredations committed by these lawless bands.

AN ECCENTRIC RUSSIAN COUNT.-It may be perhaps new to many to learn that the late Comte Paul Demidoff, whose wealth was immense, passed for a savage at St. Petersburg. He lived quite alone. He never allowed his servants to handle anything interests. never allowed his servants to handle anything intended for him unless they were gloved, and his valets had to wear gloves when dressing him. He even washed the bank notes in a golden vase, and hung them up to dry on a line, as would a laundry-maid her linen, before putting them into his pocket-book. An attachee of the French Embassy on one occasion dined with the Comte, and when tea was served in the salon, he was so occupied in a discussion on magnetism; that he unconsciously placed his hand in the sugar-bowl when handed to him by the servant, and took a morsel of sugar; the servant, and took a morsel of sugar; the Comte called the servant and ordered him to throw the bowl and its contents out of the window; the attachee was the least disconcerted among the consterned company, and when the discussion was
