Lyle Clarke, a well-known citizen, while at dinner at the St. Clair Hotel in this city, to-day, was shot in the head by one of two brothers named Brewer, of Georgetown, D. C., who made a joint attack on him. The wound is not necessarily fatal, but Clarke is greatly exhausted from loss of blood. The Brewers, who were arrested, say they were avenging a sister's wrongs. BROOKLYN, July 1.—The jury came into Court, when foreman Carpenter stated that they could not agree upon a question of fact. Judge Neilson told them to disregard the affidavits submitted for a re-opening, and sent them back. At twenty-five minutes past 1, Judge Neilson came on the bench, the consultation having broken up, and was followed into Court by the counsel, who were received with the clapping of hands and stamping of feet. They all took seats in their usual places, and conversed with one another. At 1.37 the jury came in and took their seats, looking pale and exhausted. Some of them carried coats and traveling bags, from which the audience ascertained they had come to an agreement, and were prepared to leave Court. Judge Neilson requested that the utmost silence be observed in the Court during the proceedings. Tilton and Beecher were then both absent. The Clerk called the jury, who answered to their names in low tones. Judge Neilson then said he was sorry they could not agree, and asked them if the disputed question was one of fact or law. Mr. Carpenter, speaking with a low voice, stated it was impossible for the jury to agree, and that he regretted it very much. The question of disagreement was one of fact. Judge Neilson then called attention to the length of the trial, and said that was the first intimation he had from the jury. In our embarrassments, said he, various considerations had been pressed on them. Their attention had been called to the fact that after the argument and before the charge, some papers had been handed up to him. He had examined them that evening, and denied the motion for re-opening the case, assuming for the moment that the jury would forget that subject. He would like to know if anything was lingering on their minds with regard to the matter, and asked them if it would be suitable for them to state to him any questions of law or fact which disturbed them. Carpenter repeated that it was solely a question of fact, and no agreement was possible; that in a month they would be no nearer an agreement than they were to-day. He said he spoke for eleven of the jury when he said he believed that an agreement was impossible, and that there was only one man who believed they could ever reach a unanimous conclusion. Judge Neilson spoke to them of the importance of the case, and asked them to give it their further consideration, requesting them for that purpose to retire again to their rooms and deliberate upon it further, and communicate with him about 4 o'clock. Judge Neilson has concluded to lock the jury up for the night. ACROSS THE CONTINENT ON FOOT.—Rudolph Bourman, a young Swiss, arrived in San Francisco, California, last week, in 135 days, from New Jersey, having walked the entire distance. Bourman left New Jersey on the 12th of last January, without a cent in his pocket, determined to reach San Francisco without cost to himself. He walked from the starting-point to Philadelphia, thence to Pittsburg, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and thence along the line of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific Railroads until he arrived here. A VETERAN IN THE PULPIT.—Father Boehm, the oldest living Methodist clergyman, preached his centennial sermon in New York on Sunday. He was born in Philadelphia, June 8, 1775, and began to preach in 1800 as a traveling clergyman. At the conclusion of the sermon Bishop James addressed the audience, alluding to Father Boehm's remarkable mental and physical preservation, and passing an eloquent eulogy upon his life and labors. Lady doctors appear to have a great future before them in India. Dr. Nancie Monelle, whose arrival from New York was announced some time ago, has settled in Hyderabad, where she has already obtained an extensive practice. She lately opened a dispensary in one of the bazaars, and it is now so crowded that she is about to remove it into a much larger house. Among her patients are many native ladies, who come from great distances to avail themselves of her skill. Little Bessie is the five-year-old daughter of a Portland lady who married a clergyman not long since. When her father was away, and she was playing in the yard, a stranger came along and inquired if the minister was home. "No," she replied, "but mother is in the house, and she will pray with you, you poor, miserable sinner." An absent-minded professor, in going out the gateway of his college, ran against a cow. In the confusion of the moment, he raised his hat and exclaimed: "I beg your pardon, madame." Soon after, he stumbled against a lady in the street. In a sudden recollection of his former mishap, he called out, with a look of rage in his countenance, "Is that you again, you brute?" Transfusion is a success. The veins of an Iowa lawyer were recently filled with the fresh blood of a Durham bull. The thing works like a charm. He used to make people shed tears by delivering eloquent 4th of July speeches, and now they shut him up in a four-acre lot, where he bellows and paws the earth, but bothers nobody. Ike Carter, of Arizona, has only been visiting in Massachusetts six months, but he was half drowned at the Mill River disaster, and his hair and eyebrows burned off at Holyoke Church, and Thursday, by the bursting of a cannon in Boston, he had an arm broken, and now he's on his way home, muttering, "I kin defend myself in Arizona." In the official German account of the late war the charge brought against the Bavarian troops of having butchered the inhabitants, men, women and children, of Bazelleis, and which at the time was denied, is fully admitted to be true. It was done on the principle sought to be established as a rule of war at the Brussels conference. The New York Sun gives the following list of available Presidential candidates: Republicans—B. H. Bristow, O. P. Morton, E. B. Washburne, E. D. Morgan, H. Wilson and J. G. Blaine. Democrats—T. A. Hendricks, A. G. Thurman, W. Allen, T. F. Bayard, J. S. Black and S. J. Tilden. Thirty-two car loads of watermelons passed through this city, to-day, en route from the highlands of Florida to Chicago. A delegation of thirty-one Floridians go with them, to make permanent arrangements for trade to and from the North-west. The Raleigh Sentinel says that the deaf mutes and blind have all gone home to take a vacation and mingle among friends, all gone save three—one little girl and two little boys—all blind, no home, no parents and nothing to remember save the poor house they were sent from. The total cost of the St. Louis bridge is but a little less than $7,000,000. Its gross receipts in the last year were $286,000, and its expenses $98,000, leaving $188,000 to pay the interest on the $7,000,000. Bessie Turner is making quite an income out of the scandal trial. Large quantities of her photographs are sold in New York, on each of which she receives a royalty. Bessie would probably like to keep up the excitement on this basis. A farmer complains that a hook and ladder company has been organized in his neighborhood. He states that the ladder is used after dark for climbing into the hen house, after which the hooking is done. Samuel Baker, Esq., of Edgfield, died on Wednesday of last week, at his old homestead, near the head of Horse Creek, in the Aiken-Graniteville country, where he first settled as an immigrant from England. Young Mr. Hardy, of Saluda, an Edgfield man, was tried for murder in Spartanburg last week and acquitted. He killed a negro in a difficulty in Newberry a year or more ago. A negro was arrested in Walhalla, a few days ago, and lodged in jail, who is supposed to be Louis Jones, an ex-convict, who committed a rape in Wilkerson County, Ga., and fled to this State. The Glover trial is to be called in Newberry next Tuesday by Judge Moses. There are but two white officials in Edgfield.

"Well, my son," said a Detroit father to his eight-year-old son, the other night, "what have you done to-day that may be set down as a good deed?" "Gave a poor boy five cents," replied the hopeful. "Ah, ah! that was charity, and charity is always right. He was an orphan, was he?" "I didn't stop to ask," replied the boy; "I gave him the money for licking a boy who upset my dinner basket!" It is all very well to show that the law of the land has no knowledge of Long Branch as the seat of Presidential functions; but then what is the law compared to the personal convenience of a man like Grant? Do you want him to make more sacrifices? You had better be careful or he may resign, and then what would become of the country? It is stated that a Gatling gun can sweep away a regiment in about two minutes, but the most destructive engine of war is a poet. When the fires of patriotism once get started in the poet's bosom he can knock seventeen brigades into eternity, and scare the rest of the enemy into fits, an hour and a half before the first shot is fired. The Nevada ninety-hammer who has just buried his wife in a silver coffin has done a good deal of harm. Other women will now feel that nobody cares a farthing for them if they are not laid away in the same style, and they won't put up with any of your German-silver coffins, either. The authorities of New York are moving in the matter of establishing a house for the special treatment of sun-stroke and cases of accident. A hospital of this character is much needed, and no charge will be made for the use of its privileges. Copy was out. The devil picked up a paper and said, "Here's something 'About a Woman'—must I cut it out?" "No," thundered the editor; "the first disturbance ever created in this world was occasioned by the devil fooling about a woman." A King of the Cannibal Islands has just died in Paris, where he had lived many years comfortably on money earned by exhibiting himself in this country after the English drove him out of his own. Reynolds, the dramatist, observing the thinness of the house at one of his pieces, said: "I suppose it is owing to the war!" "No," was the reply, "it is owing to the piece." "What kind of passages are them?" queried an old lady of the young man of literature and peanuts, as he passed through the train selling bananas. "No," said Mrs. Podgers, very positively, "if I go into the country, Mr. Podgers goes with me. This city ain't no safe place to leave a man alone in." "Mr. D.—if you'll get my coat done by Saturday, I shall be forever indebted to you." "If that's your game it won't be done," said the tailor. How a woman can keep on talking while she twists up her back hair and has her mouth full of hairpins is a mystery not yet explained. An Illinois woman who wanted to go to a masquerade party as Mary Queen of Scots, looked through the Bible to ascertain how the character was dressed. Capt. E. H. Cherry, a worthy citizen who resided near Ebenezer in York County, died of bronchitis on the 23rd ultimo, aged 40 years. It is best for a man to go to church, even if he goes to sleep; but he should not disturb the congregation with a snore-us voice. If you know a man with a beaming face, a kind heart, and a prosperous business, in nine cases out of ten you will find he has a pleasant, cheerful wife. Several colored military companies of Charleston are endeavoring to arrange matters to visit Philadelphia during the centennial. Quills are things that are sometimes taken from the pinions of one goose to spread the opinions of another. Among the degrees conferred by Yale College yesterday was that of D. upon a colored man. One swallow does not make a spring, but a dozen swallows sometimes make one fall. A Schenectady girl at spelling school sat down on "pantaloons." The additional school tax has been voted down in Edgfield. The rival railroads will soon be issuing chromes. R. V. R. Club WILL attend meeting TO-NIGHT, at 8 o'clock, for drill and attention to such business matters as may be brought before you. July 31 R. S. MORRISON, Sec'y. State of South Carolina—Richland Co.
